Foreword

THE REDSKIN REPRESENTS the different phases of life on the Oklahoma A. & M. campus. In it we have attempted to capture the various moods of that life, and we sincerely hope this book will appeal to all of you. A college is much more than an educational institution. It is a motivating factor in the lives of every one of us.

To the freshman, it means the beginning of a life filled with many new and novel experiences. For the first time, he is free to make his own decisions, to sink or swim, depending upon his goals in life. To the senior, it means the closing of one door and the opening of another. He is ready to utilize the benefits to which he has been exposed. To the professor, a university symbolizes guidance in the development of future generations and the opportunity for exploring the realms of the hitherto unknown in his field of concentration. To the alumnus, it means the chance to reminisce — to go back to the youth he remembers only occasionally. And finally, to the parent, it means an opportunity to visualize the environment in which his child lives for four years.

This book is our summation of the achievements of the students, the faculty, the administration . . . of the college in this year of 1955. These days have been the most pleasant and the most exciting of all our lives. But now they are just memories — lingering memories which are to be cherished as long as we live.

We, the staff, present the students and the campus of Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college, and we hope, that throughout these pages you will find some picture or phase that will help you re-live your college days. If you do, our book will have served its principal purpose.

Government

OKLAHOMA'S FIFTEENTH GOVERNOR, Raymond L. Gary, gives his inaugural address on the steps of the state capitol building in Oklahoma City. Despite four inches of snow and a blustery day, the governor was officially inaugurated.

STATE GOVERNOR

Oklahoma's Fifteenth Governor, Raymond Gary, From Madill, Was Inaugurated January, 1955

RAYMOND GARY was officially inaugurated as Oklahoma's 15th governor since statehood on Monday, Jan. 10, 1955. He was born Jan. 21, 1908, on a farm near Madill, Okla. A graduate of Madill high school in 1927, the governor attended summer terms and night school at Southeastern State college, Durant, while teaching in Marshall county schools. He received his county teaching certificate upon graduation from high school and taught for five years until 1932.

He was elected county superintendent of schools in 1932. He served four years before starting a school and office supply business in Madill. In 1946, along with his brother, Joe Gary, he organized the Sooner Oil company at Madill.

His political career began in 1941 when he was elected from Marshall and Johnston counties to serve in the state senate. Governor Gary represented his home district in the state senate for 14 years, until he was elected governor in November, 1954.

Governor Gary holds membership in the Madill Rotary club, the chamber of commerce and he served four years as a member of the board of trustees for Oklahoma Baptist university, Shawnee. A true friend and booster for better schools in the state of Oklahoma, Governor Gary gave his whole-hearted support to passage of the better schools amendment, which was voted on at a special election April 5 and approved by Oklahoma voters.

WILL ROGERS, JR., congratulates Governor Raymond Gary on his newly elected office in the governor's office in the state capitol in Oklahoma City. Also shown are (l. to r.) Harris Hawthorn, Morton Harrison and Clarence Burch.

MR. AND MRS. W. B. HISSOM, Tulsa, talk with President Oliver S. Willham, after showing him the farm which they presented Oklahoma A&M college as a gift. The profitable livestock farm, valued in excess of $250,000, is located in Tulsa county.

THE A&M PRESIDENT

Dr. Oliver S. Willham Believes a Friendly Smile And a Warm Handshake Are Most Important

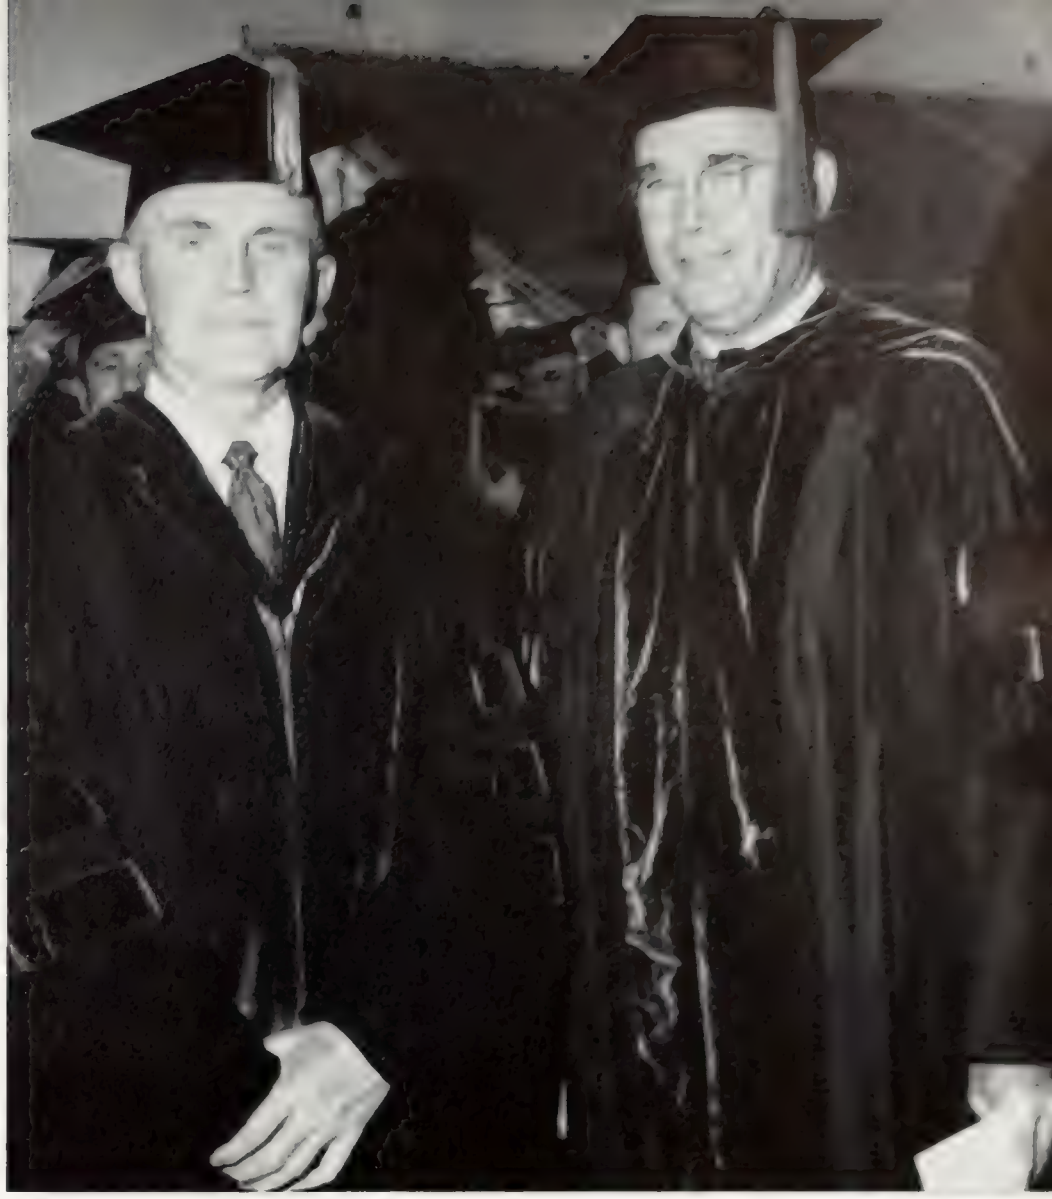

SINCE DR. OLIVER S. WILLHAM became president of Oklahoma A&M college in February, 1952, his energetic personality and thoughtful consideration of all problems submitted to him have made his presence felt by everyone in the college community.

Known as one of the foremost educational leaders of the state, Dr. Willham is the executive officer of a wide-spread institution with branches in many sections of the state. This has required him to be constantly traveling throughout Oklahoma, where his warm friendly smile and generous personality are known to many. Visitors in his office always find a ready welcome, an eager listener and a sincere desire to be of assistance.

As his service to the students of Oklahoma A&M college and to the citizens of Oklahoma has grown, so has been his progress from faculty member to president of this great institution. He earned his master's degree at Iowa State in 1927 following his Oklahoma A&M graduation in 1923. In 1935 he completed his doctorate at Iowa State and during that year returned to Aggieland to join the animal husbandry faculty. He served as executive vice-president of Oklahoma A&M from Dec. 1, 1950, to Feb. 1, 1952, when he was named A&M's 15th president.

Oklahoma State Regents Direct Higher Education

COORDINATING HIGHER EDUCATION in Oklahoma is the function of the Oklahoma State Regents for Higher Education. They are composed of a board of nine members, each of whom serves a nine-year term. Terms overlap, only one expiring each year. Appointment to the board is made by the governor, with approval of the state senate. Present officers of the board are W. D. Little, chairman; Clee O. Doggett, vice-chairman; Wharton Mathies, secretary, and S. A. Bryant, assistant secretary. Full-time administrative officers of the board are Dr. M. A. Nash, chancellor, and T. G. Sexton, administrative assistant.

The board is mostly concerned with finances, purposes and matters of common concern among the 18 state-supported educational institutions under its jurisdiction. While the autonomy of each institution is respected in Oklahoma, there is sufficient supervisory authority to insure the public welfare and safeguard sound practices. The state-owned institutions which are subject to various audits, statutory limitations and supervisory agencies, have maintained an excellent record.

Board of Regents Appointed By Governor

OFFICERS
Earl Russell	Chairman
Elmer Harber	Vice-Chairman
P. E. Harrill	Secretary

Earl Russell

The board of regents for the Oklahoma A&M college supervises eight institutions of higher education in the state. These include Oklahoma A&M college, Panhandle A&M college, Langston university, all four-year schools; and, Cameron State Agricultural college, Conners State Agricultural college, Eastern Oklahoma A&M college, Murray State School of Agriculture, and Northeastern A&M college, which are junior colleges. The board is composed of nine members, with the president of the State Board of Agriculture as an ex-officio member. Appointment to the board is made by the governor, with the approval of the state senate. Term is for eight years and overlap with one member's term expiring each year.

Board officers for the current year have been Earl Russell, chairman; Elmer Harber, vice-chairman, and P. E. Harrill, secretary. Full-time administrative officials are Forrest McIntire, administrative assistant, and Helen Sittel, executive secretary. Oklahoma has been fortunate in securing the services of governing board members who are persons of integrity, ability, successful in their personal affairs as citizens and willing to devote time and work to important business of the state without intrinsic remuneration.

DR. A. E. DARLOW serves as dean of the School of Agriculture and is vice-president of Oklahoma A&M college.

AGRICULTURE DIVISION

The Backbone of the Nation's Economy Is Strengthened by Instruction and Research

THE STATE'S TOP TRAINING GROUND for its leading industry, A&M's School of Agriculture provides not only resident instruction in specialized farm fields but it also works closely with state farmers and ranchers through its extensive extension program.

An experiment station, geared to provide up-to-the-minute information to faculty members here and to agricultural officials and workers over the state, keeps the college in close touch with the farm. In addition, the School of Agriculture works closely with county farm agents, farm bureaus and federal agricultural department agencies throughout the state.

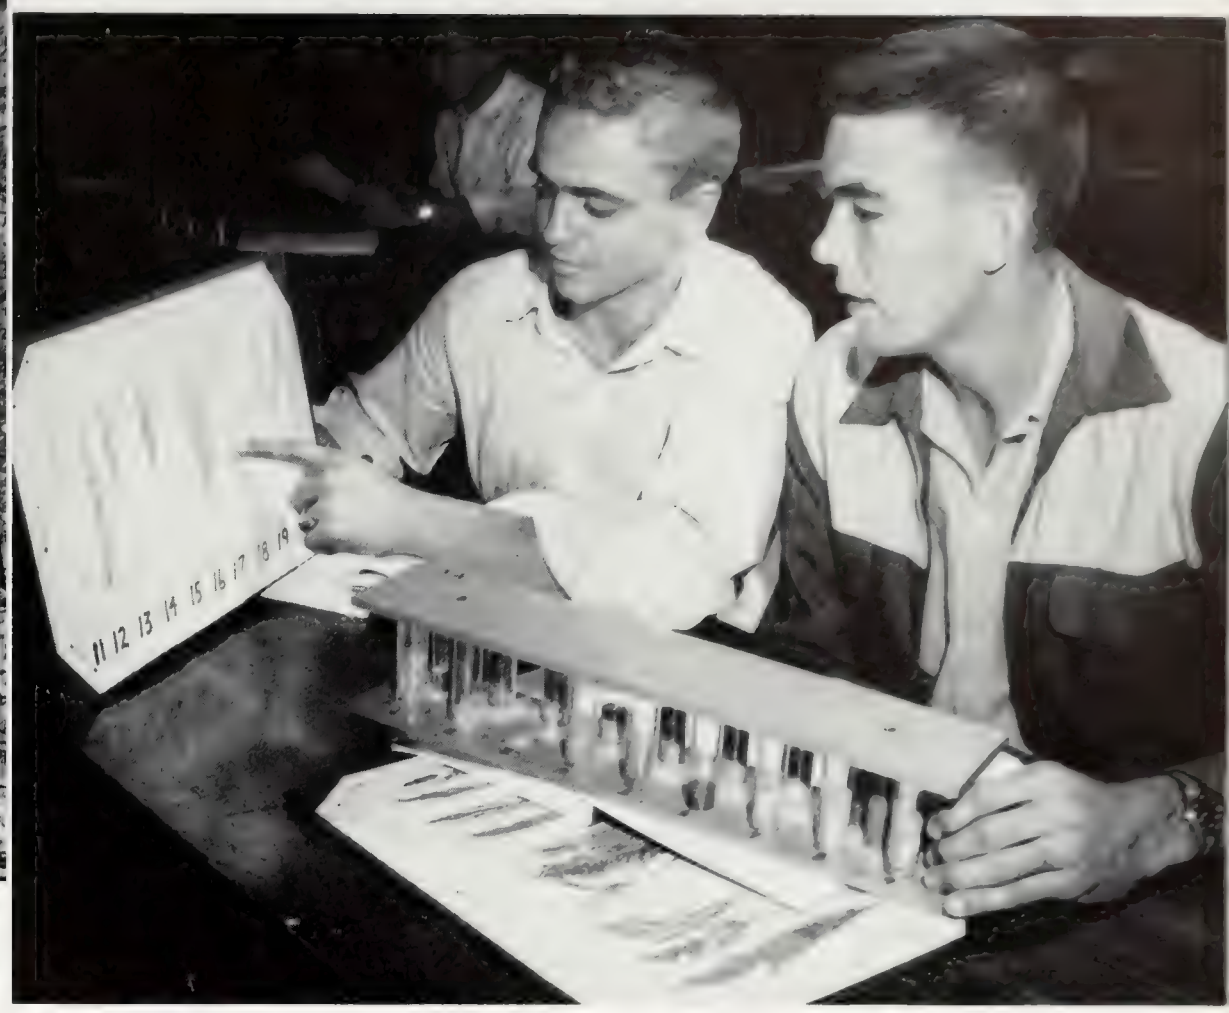

Dr. A. E. Darlow, who is internationally-known as a judge at livestock shows, was named dean of the Division of Agriculture and vice-president of the college by the board of regents in 1953.

FORESTRY STUDENTS have a chance at camp to put into practice what they have learned.

FIELD CROPS seem to be very interesting to these two freshman agriculture students as they compare the plants that grow from different seeds.

AGRICULTURAL FACULTY are: C. A. Roberts, poultry; R. S. Matlock, agronomy; Robert Reed, agronomy; O. D. Duncan, sociology and rural life; H. C. Olson, dairy; Don Orr, education; J. E. Webster, chemistry research.

DR. SCHILLER SCROGGS, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, directs annual conference of deans of A&S.

WHAT IS IT? With the aid of a microscope, arts and science students study microscopic organisms during a bacteriology laboratory class.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

From Aristotle to Atoms, Arts and Sciences Teaches Widest Spread of Subject Matter

THE ARTS AND SCIENCES SCHOOL fills a two-fold purpose: the training of men and women in the proper approaches to learning; and the stimulation in those persons of an interest in learning. The best knowledge and thought in science, politics, philosophy, literature, music and in art are made available.

Particular emphasis is placed on an advisement system headed by Prof. George H. White, director of general education and student personnel.

Almost all of A&M's students take courses in the School of Arts and Sciences during their time here. The school is responsible for providing basic general education to all students.

Completing his 27th year on the A&M campus, Dr. Schiller Scroggs, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, has witnessed a major portion of the school's growth.

ARTS & SCIENCE FACULTY shown are: Harrington, Monnett, Dermer, Keso, Hansen, Scroggs, Kevin, Andersen, Gee, Knight, Duncan, Trout, White, Hawkins, Mitchell, Walker, Lewis, Hilton, Johnson. These faculty members guide A&S students.

SCHOOL OF COMMERCE

From Executives to Secretaries, Accountants To Salesmen, Commerce Trains Them All

ALL GEARED TO SUPPLY OKLAHOMA'S rapidly rising place in the nation's business picture, the School of Commerce provides studies in every business phase of secretarial training to economic thought.

Broad and specialized training is essential to success in modern business, the school believes, and consequently fits its courses to that need.

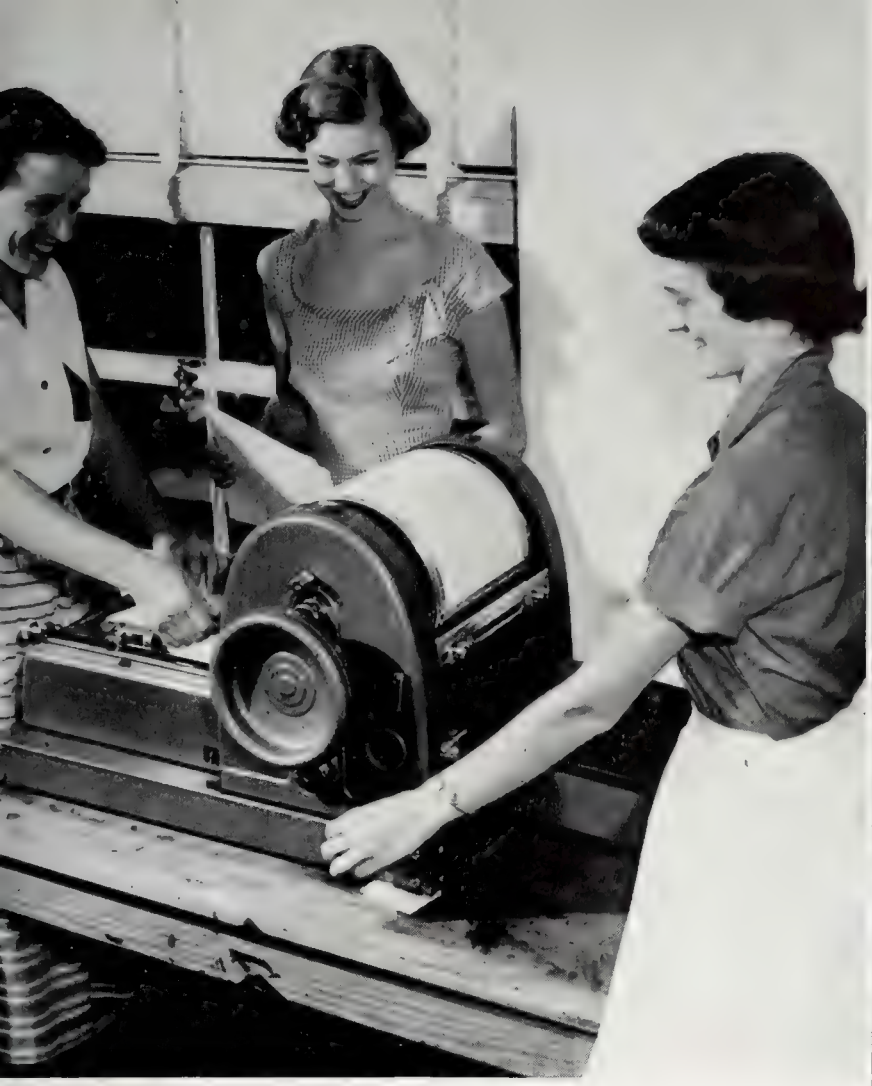

Twenty-six A&M commerce alumni returned to the acmpus to serve as "professors for a day" on March 30 as the school observed Business and Professional day.

Graduates in the school have taken their place as business and industrial leaders in not only Oklahoma, but also the entire southwest and the nation. The school is recognized as a top commerce training ground of the southwest.

Dean Raymond Thomas, who has headed the school since 1929, carries the responsibility for seeing that all graduates in the school obtain the college training necessary to meet the demands of modern business.

EVEN EXPERTS make a few mistakes. Typing is a necessity for most girls and quite a few boys in the School of Commerce at Oklahoma A&M.

COMMERCE FACULTY MEMBERS: Joseph Klos, Burl Austin, Ruth Williams, R. H. Baugh, Eugene Schauer, F. E. Jewett, Robert Lowry, B. F. Harrison, Harold Coonrad, Lloyd Garrison, J. E. Silverthorn, Glen Laughlin, Eugene Swearingen, Robert Erwin.

DR. J. ANDREW HOLLEY, dean of the School of Education, also serves as director of the summer sessions.

A & M'S EDUCATION

Accepts Responsibility for Preparing Primary, Elementary, High School and College Teachers

REALIZING THAT THE NATION'S FUTURE lies in the hands of a well-guided, well-informed next generation, the School of Education has accepted the job of preparing top-flight leadership for these future years.

Primary purpose of the school is the education of primary and secondary teachers. However, the departments of psychology and philosophy are located in this school and provide programs for students enrolled in other schools.

The school's graduates have long been in great demand as instructors in both Oklahoma schools and in other states. Leading school administrators flood the campus each spring to interview students for employment in their schools.

J. Andrew Holley, dean of the school since 1951, came to A&M in 1940 as head of the business education department. Last November he was named "Man of the Year" by the National Association and Council of Business Colleges.

LEARNING THEIR APTITUDES by written examinations, students make use of the School of Education's testing service in Old Central.

DR. ROBERT W. MacVICAR, dean of the A&M Graduate school, is also head of the agricultural chemistry department.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Numerous Fields for Advanced Degrees Offered To Graduate Students Desiring Additional Study

CHARGED WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY of coordinating graduate work among virtually all campus departments, the Graduate School has enjoyed a phenomenal growth since its founding in 1929.

The school confers doctor of education and doctor of philosophy degrees in some of the basic fields of study and a master's degree in virtually every departmentalized field.

A high percentage of persons earning advanced degrees at A&M are found in the teaching profession in high schools and colleges throughout the United States. In addition, many work in business and industry.

Heading the Graduate School for the past two years is Dean Robert MacVicar, who received his master's degree at A&M and a Ph.D. at Wisconsin.

COMBINING THEIR EFFORTS, with the aid of a calculating machine, three graduate students solve a difficult agricultural economic problem.

WHAT A TEMPTING JOB! Graduate students majoring in home economics seem to be very interested in the fascinating art of cake decorating.

GRADUATE SCHOOL FACULTY COUNCIL: H. I. Featherly, O. A. Hilton, M. H. Griffin, G. F. Godfrey, O. H. Hamilton, Loyd Douglas, Paul Arthur, H. E. Sorenson, H. L. Jones, Don Orr. The council directs the activities of the Graduate school.

HOME LIFE students study the "growth spiral" which is presented on one of the many interesting posters that are prepared for the course.

HOME ECONOMICS

RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP home economics schools, the Division of Home Economics offers degrees in almost every phase of work ranging from home life to hotel administration. Commonly thought of as a training ground for coeds only, a good many men are now enrolled in the school, largely in fashion design and hotel administration departments.

In addition to this residence instruction, the division works closely with county home demonstration agents and high school home economics teachers throughout Oklahoma. An intensive research program designed to keep the school abreast of the latest developments in home economic work is maintained at A&M.

Graduates of the school find work not only as instructors but also as dietitians and home demonstration agents and some carry on research work started while in school.

Lela O'Toole has been dean of home economics since 1951. She received B.S. and M.A. degrees from A&M, a Ph.D. from Ohio.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS majoring in hotel and restaurant administration gain much valuable experience working in the Union club.

STUDENTS LEARN what to expect from different materials during a textiles testing experiment.

OKLAHOMA INSTITUTE of Technology students prepare to become diesel mechanics by working with the big engines in the diesel tech school.

O.I.T.: FOR ENGINEERS

Potential Engineers and Technicians Learn How to Keep Wheels of Industry Rolling

ITS RAPID GROWTH keeping abreast with the intensified need of industry for qualified engineers, the Oklahoma Institute of Technology is now by far the largest school on the A&M campus, with more than 2,000 students. Degrees are offered in almost every phase of the engineering field, ranging from architecture to industrial engineering.

As well as providing instruction, the school maintains a vast research department in almost every field of study. Much of its research is carried on with the aid of grants from the government and private industry.

Graduates of the school are in constant demand for work with America's major manufacturing and research concerns.

The Oklahoma Institute of Technology is headed by Dean Edward R. Stapley, who has engineering degrees from Cornell and Harvard universities. Under his direction, the school has grown to be considered one of the finest in the United States. Dean Stapley is completing his 30th year on the Oklahoma A&M college faculty.

MAKING THE SPARKS FLY, an engineering student works on a project with an arc welder in the Industrial Arts building on the campus.

ENGINEERING STUDENTS mix concrete for testing purposes during a strength of materials class.

DR. HARRY W. ORR, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, is currently completing his second year as dean.

VETERINARY MEDICINE

Vet Students at A&M Learn Proper Care Of Ailing Animals—from Birds to Beasts

THE NEWEST of A&M's major divisions, the School of Veterinary Medicine trains its students in a manner which will give them the experience and professional skill which only the most modern veterinary medical education can provide. Oklahoma's only school of veterinary medicine and one of the few in the southwest, the school maintains a complete clinic where actual operations are performed by students taking internship.

Six years of instruction are required to acquire a D.V.M. degree. To be accepted by this school, a student must maintain not only a high grade-point during his preparatory schooling, but he also must be considered "acceptable to the profession."

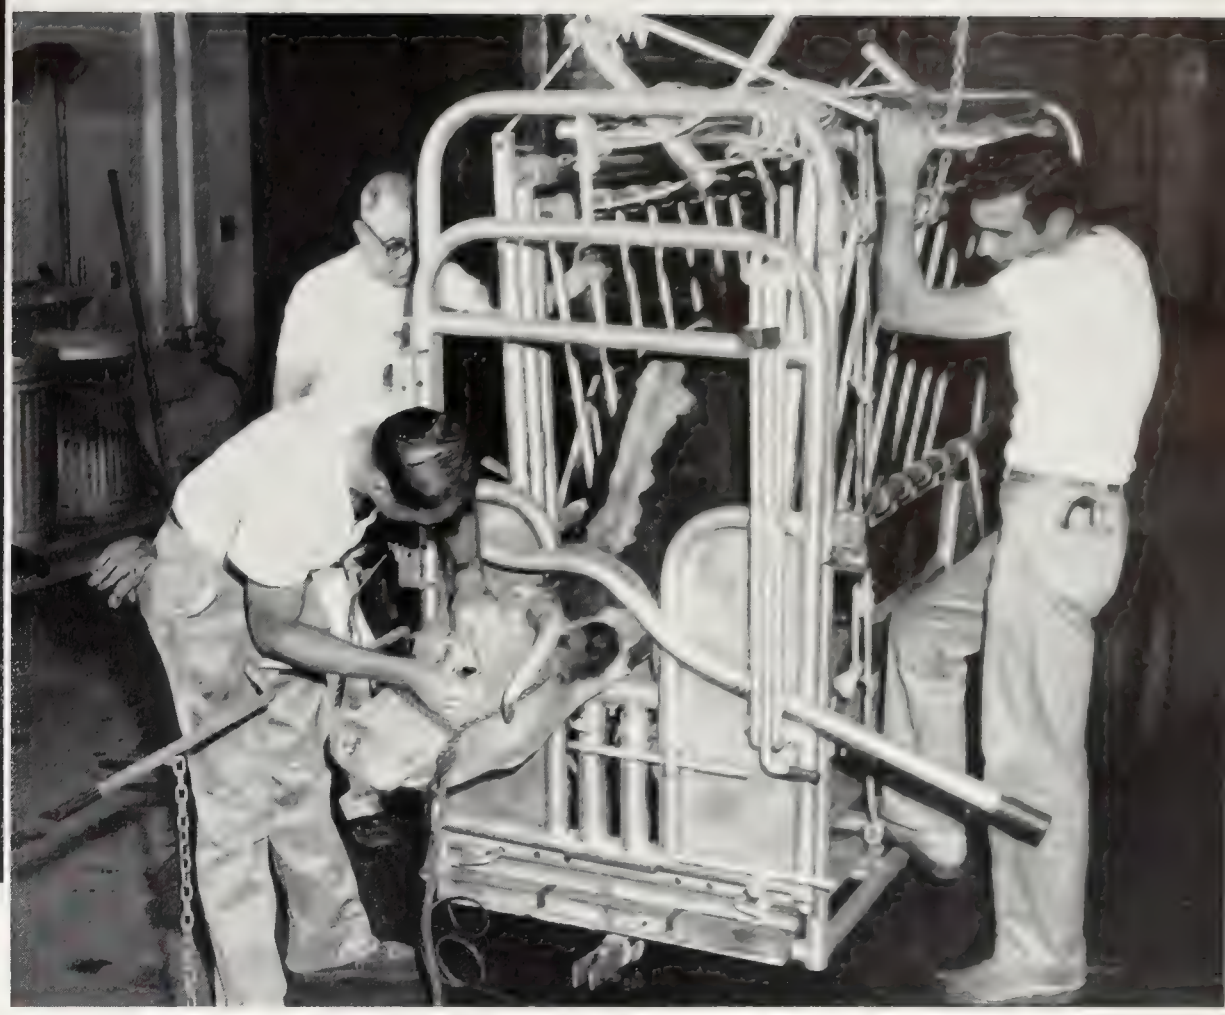

Dr. Harry W. Orr, dean and veteran A&M faculty member, has D.V.M. and M.S. degrees from Iowa State college.

USING AN ELECTRIC SHAVER to remove the hair from a dog's broken leg, two students prepare to set the broken bone at the clinic.

A&M TECH SCHOOL

Students "Learn By Doing" in A&M's Trade School, Which Is the Only One of its Kind in the United States

THE ONLY STATE SCHOOL of its kind in the United States, the Okmulgee branch of the Oklahoma A&M college teaches some 50 trades to students not desiring college work. A vocational school, Oklahoma A&M Tech is in its ninth year of operation. This unique school was designed with the fact in mind that a good many high school graduates have need for training in a specialized occupational field. Rather than learn engineering, these students learn the intricacies of a refrigerator or an automobile.

In addition, an extensive rehabilitation program, designed to meet the needs of physically handicapped, is maintained at the school.

L. K. Covelle has been director of the school since it was started in 1946.

For more information concerning A&M Tech, see pages 380 through 383.

JOHN DAY . . . . . President

FRANKLIN FORNEY . . . . Vice-President

CAROL LARKIN . . . Secretary-Treasurer

DR. MILLARD SCHERICH . . . . . Advisor

SINCE ITS FOUNDING in the year 1925, the student senate has served in an advisory capacity both to students and the administration. Its main function is to make the wishes of the students known to the administration and to protect the just rights and privileges of the student body.

Under the leadership of John Day, the senate this year has sponsored the annual homecoming and Junior-Senior prom. Other special projects of this year's senate include student representation on the athletic council, student-handled concessions at the athletic events, a revised holiday proposal which was submitted to the student body for voting in the spring elections and adoption of a student group insurance plan.

Besides these special contributions to the welfare of the student body, senators worked hard on individual projects, planning and sponsoring senate elections, reexamining all senate chartered organizations to determine their contribution to the welfare of the campus and working with the other student senates of Oklahoma colleges.

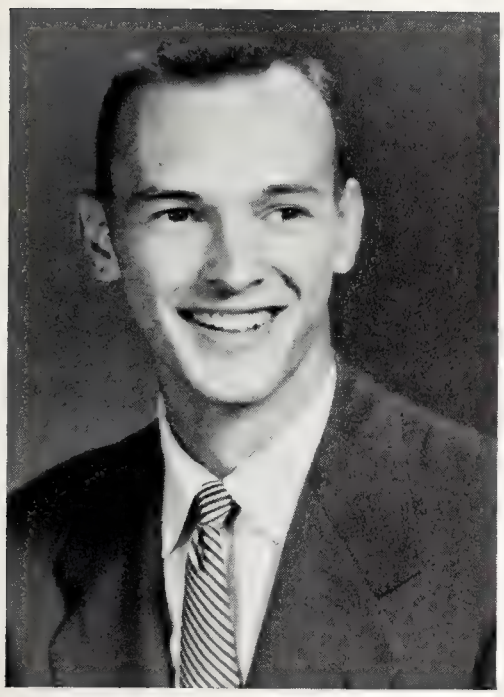

Dr. Millard Scherich acted as student senate advisor this year.

EVERY WOMAN STUDENT enrolled at Oklahoma A&M is a member of the Association of Women Students. The AWS serves as a coordinator for the other women's organizations on the campus through the legislative, executive and judicial boards.

AWS honors and welcomes the freshmen and other new students with the howdy picnic in the fall and the matinee tea in the spring. They sponsored the Maid of Cotton preliminary judging contest for the Oklahoma Maid of Cotton contest. Winner this year was DeLois Faulkner.

Career clinic, which informs students of different professions; the Campus Chest drive; the Reed and Barton silver display and Reed and Barton's scholarship contest are all sponsored by AWS. They give two $150 undergraduate scholarships each year. The scholarships were given this year to Twila Barnes and Shirley Barnes. The company publishes several booklets for the benefit of women students, which include "Keys to the Kampus," especially for freshmen, "Paint System" and "Queen's Agreement."

This year AWS sent five members of the executive board, which included the out-going president and four of the new officers, to the intercollegiate AWS convention at Lawrence, Kan.

MORTAR BOARD

OFFICERS

MIKE WHITAKER	President
DORIS BEARD	Vice-President
JEAN EMBRY	Secretary
BERNARD KIRBY	Treasurer

MORTAR BOARD WAS ORGANIZED on the A&M campus as Achafoa in 1930. In 1940 the group became Achafoa chapter of national Mortar Board. There are 18 members of the chapter this year.

Activities this year included sponsoring Orange Quill, Orange and Black Quill and the AWS election. Jean Guerkink and Jean Simpson were in charge of preparing the Mortar Board calendar which is sold every year by Mortar Board, Orange Quill and Orange and Black Quill. Proceeds from the sales are used to provide a scholarship for an outstanding sophomore.

Dr. J. N. Baker, dean of students, addressed the leadership forum composed of campus leaders which was sponsored by Mortar Board this year.

Membership in Mortar Board is the highest status attainable to a senior woman on any campus. This honor is based on scholarship, leadership and service on completion of five-eighths of the college curriculum.

Mortar Board strives to "provide for loyalty; to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women; to maintain a high standard of scholarship; to recognize and encourage leadership and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

TOP ROW: Joy Alexander, Haroldine Amis, Doris Beard, Patricia Dryden, Jean Embry, Betty Green.

BLUE KEY

BLUE KEY, NATIONAL HONORARY leadership fraternity for men, was organized on the campus of the University of Florida in 1924. The man who conceived the idea for Blue Key, and who led in its organization, was Maj. B. C. Riley, then on the university faculty, and now the national executive secretary of the fraternity.

Major Riley felt that college men had ability and sincerity that was not being put to proper use, and that a fraternity was needed to bind college men together in serving their particular school. The first service rendered by the organization at Florida was the sponsoring of Dad's day and homecoming. After the success of these two undertakings, the same students met regularly to discuss other ways of improving student life and participation in student activities.

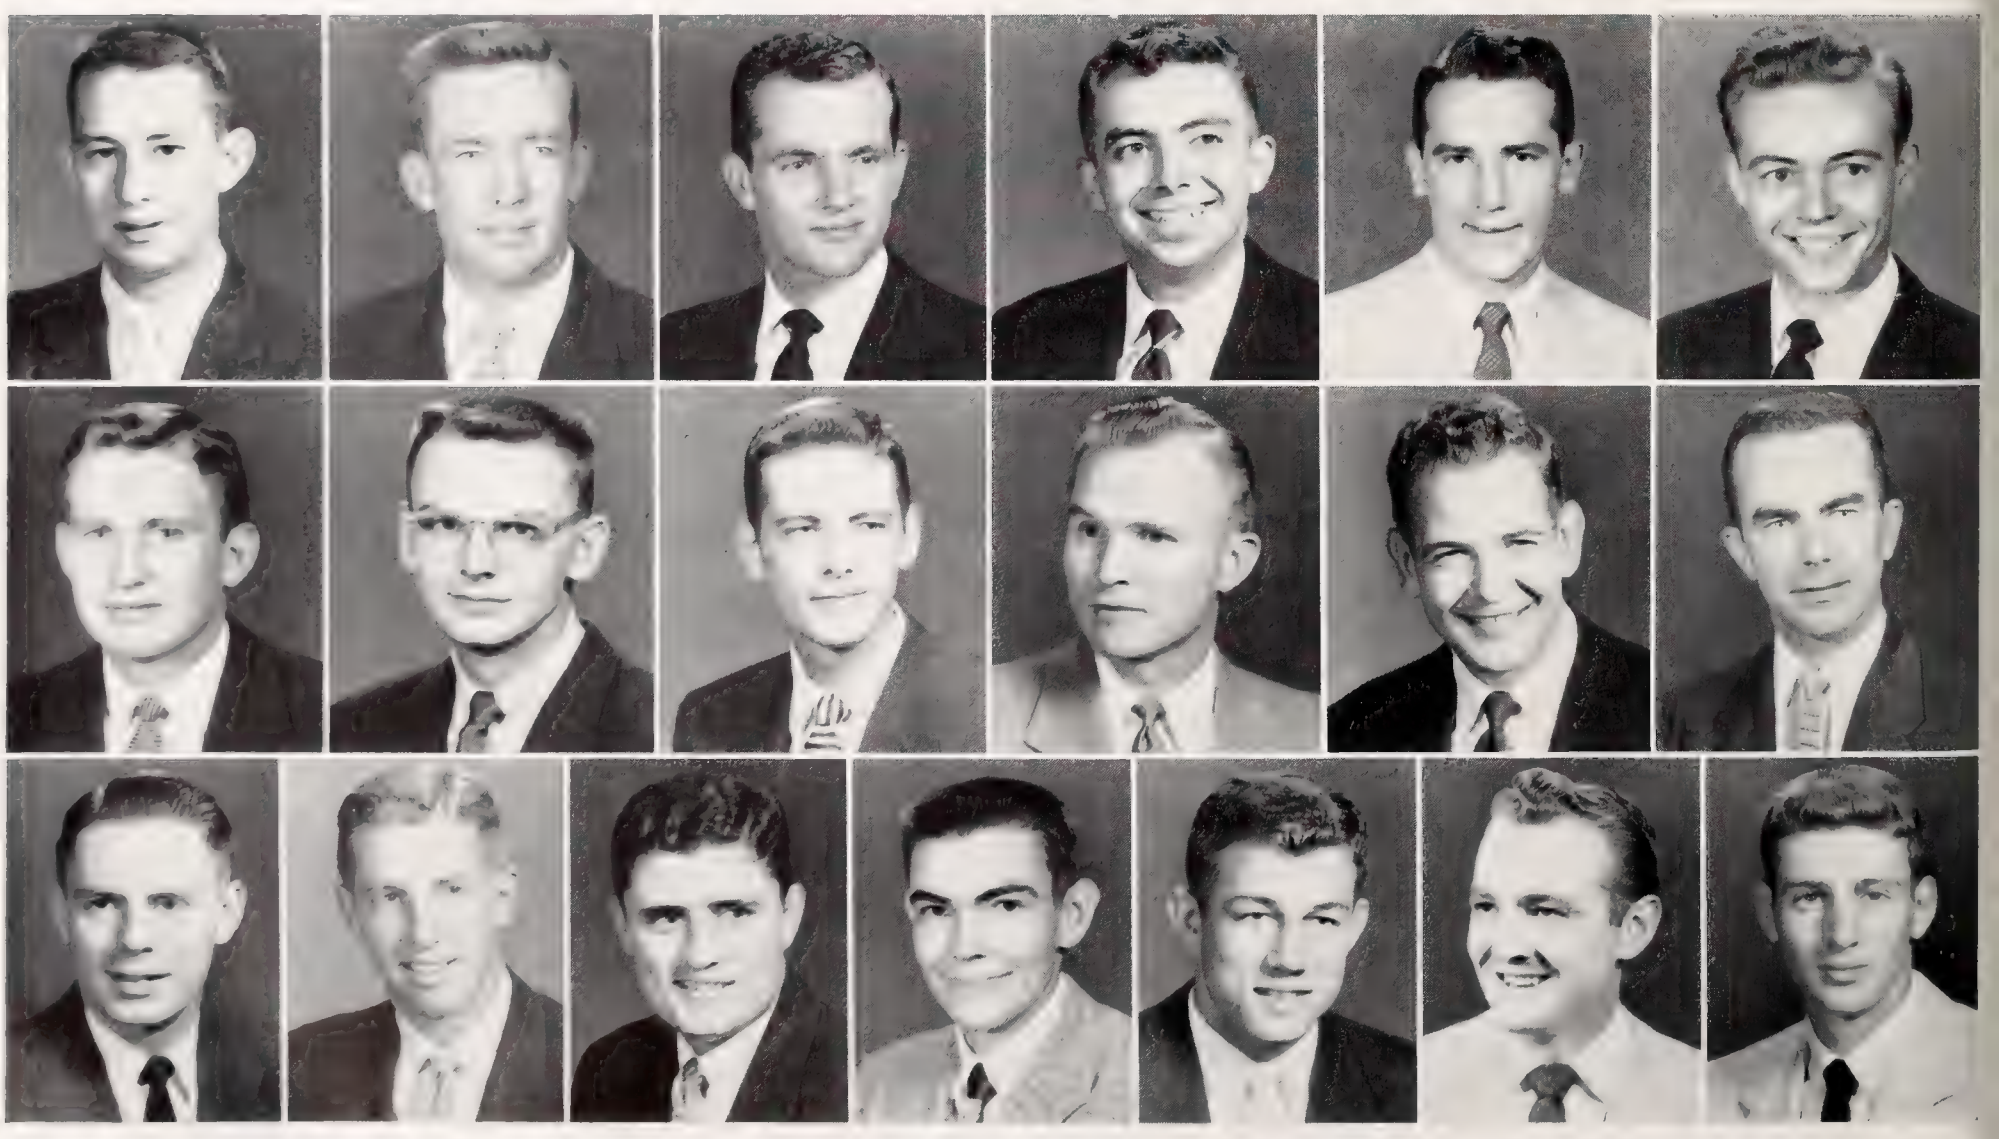

Blue Key had its beginning at Oklahoma A&M college May 18, 1932, when the local chapter was installed with 12 members. Since that time, the growth of the fraternity has increased with the growth of the college until at the present the membership is limited to 50 undergraduate students.

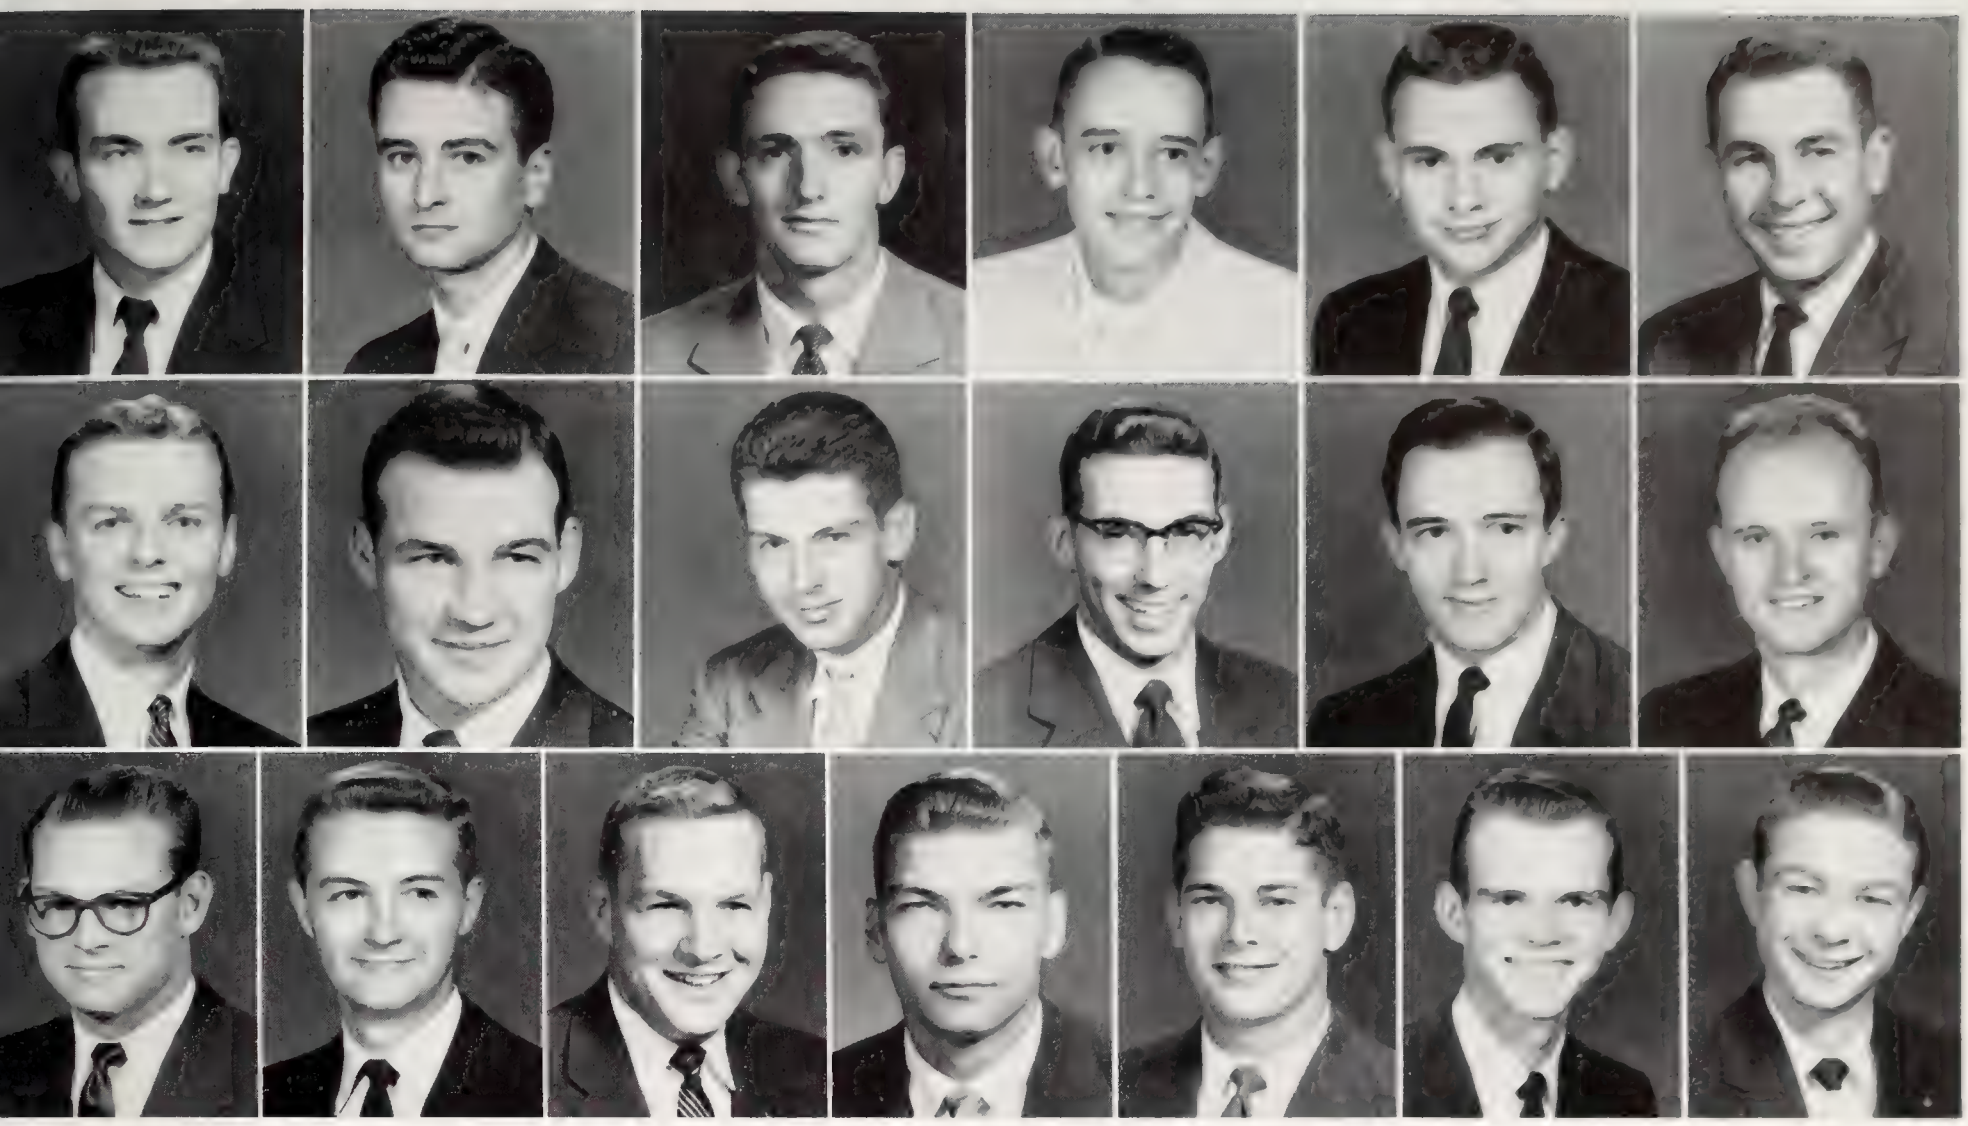

Blue Key draws its membership from the recognized leaders of the campus—men who have not only shown outstanding ability in scholarship, but also in taking responsibility in campus organizations.

• • • • • • • • • MEN'S HONORARY FRATERNITY

BLUE KEY is also responsible for the arrangements of Oklahoma A&M's annual Parents' day, as were the originators at the University of Florida.

Leroy Folks was the chairman of the Parents' day committee this year. Blue Key also sponsors a carnival with the different organizations entering side shows and games of skill. At the event last year Miss LaJuanna Sheets was crowned Blue Key queen. Every Christmas Blue Key has a party for underprivileged children. This year the proceeds of a "Beat Oklahoma" tag sale went to the party for those children. Neil Goble and Neal Carpenter were in charge of sales. Ron Jones was in charge of the membership committee.

As the objective of the fraternity is service, it is the constant purpose of each chapter to cooperate with the college administration and with the administration of the student governing body to coordinate student leadership from various divisions of the campus.

UNION ACTIVITIES BOARD

OFFICERS

Jim Pollard	President
Tom Crewson	Vice-President
Darlene Tillman	Vice-President
Jenny Lou Steele	Secretary
Vesta Etchison	Advisor

Acting as the student governing body of the Student Union is the activities board, or more familiar to the campus as the SUAB. The purpose of the organization is to enlarge upon and bring before the students the full benefit of the cultural and social facilities that the Union offers. Officers of the board include the president, two vice-presidents, a secretary, seven committee chairmen and two vice-chairmen.

Miss Vesta Etchison, social director of the Union, and Abe Hesser, Union director, are the advisors. They meet with the group at a special dinner meeting once a month to help set policies and hear reports of the SUAB activities.

To plan the first semester's activities the board held a summer workshop the first of August. There most of the plans for the howdy and orientation parties were made.

Probably the biggest event sponsored by the SUAB is the annual fair, directed by the vice-presidents, Tom Crewson and Darlene Tillman. This year the fair had the most booth entries and beauty contestants in its history. Patti Barnes, Delta Zeta, was crowned "Fairest of the Fair" and the booth of Alpha Delta Pi sorority was judged first place.

Tackling the job of the Freshman ball, Cupid's Fling and the after-game victory dances was Carolyn Crumm, chairman of the social committee. Anita Boiles headed the programs committee which presented monthly Sunday afternoon entertainment by campus talent. The committee also provided entertainment at the dances.

The publicity committee had a year-long project of originating and maintaining the Union scrapbook. Atop the wood cover was an impression of the "copper tower." Chairman was Kay Herwig.

Larry Allen headed the largest committee, hospitality. Its duty was to see that all new students and campus visitors became acquainted with the Union. Members were on hand during homecoming and all the conventions held in the building acting as hosts for the Union.

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAYS in the bookstore windows was the main job of the exhibition committee. Led by Chairman Vonda Bivert, the group also sponsored an art contest.

The popular "Gab and Gobble" sessions were featured by the public relations committee. Headed by Chub Ray, it was a student-faculty get-acquainted hour. The first "Gab and Gobble" honored all the school deans and A&M President and Mrs. Oliver S. Willham.

Representing the "Waldorf-Astoria of Student Unions" five members of the SUAB attended the regional convention at Lubbock last December.

PREPARING TO SERVE for a Gab & Gobble session are Charles Ray, Lanny Ikard, Jo Miller, Marilyn Miles, Joan Leighton and Ethel Collins. These are given by the public relations committee of the Student Union Activities board.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

OFFICERS

Morris Thurman	President
Carl Caskey	Vice-President
James C. Stratton	Faculty Secretary
Harold E. Barrett	Treasurer
LeRoy Fischer	Advisor

Aimed at bringing recognition to college men for conspicuous all-around campus leadership, Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honor society for men, was founded at Washington and Lee university in 1914.

The Oklahoma A&M college Sachem circle was installed in the spring of 1954 with 29 members. The installation was performed by a group from the Arkansas university circle and Gordon Johnston, national president and dean of the school of law at Denver university.

Members of ODK and its campus circle are selected by bid on the basis of demonstrated leadership in varied areas of five fields of campus life. High scholarship comprises one of the areas with balance in leadership activities distributed among social and religious affairs, athletics, publications, and the areas of speech, music and the fine arts.

Omicron Delta Kappa's policy at Oklahoma A&M has been definitely set to lend encouragement and support in order to strengthen all areas of campus activity and through a representative membership to encourage underclassmen to strive for conspicuous success in varied areas of activity.

BOTTOM ROW: Fischer, LeRoy H., advisor; Barrett, Harold E.; Thurman, Morris D., president; Caskey, Carl C., vice-president; Stratton, James C., secretary.

ROW TWO: Alldredge, William E.; Maddox, Robert N.; Shafer, Carl E.; Liles, Arthur W.; Laughlin, Glenn E.; Martin, Frank G.

CHAPTER THREE

Athletics

Active Administration Directs A&M Sports

UNDER THE ACTIVE ADMINISTRATION of the athletic cabinet, the intercollegiate sports program at Oklahoma A&M college has become one of the best balanced and most inclusive programs in the southwest. With teams competing in seven sports against the best available opposition, the school has built an enviable record, attested by the overflowing trophy cases in Gallagher hall.

Direct administration of the athletic program is the responsibility of Henry P. Iba, able director of athletics and head basketball coach. Under his leadership, A&M has developed an athletic department which works smoothly, healthily within the framework of the school.

The head football coach for 1954, Jennings Bryan Whitworth, who resigned at the end of the season, completed his fourth year at A&M. He produced another team marked with the spirit and hustle for which the Aggies are famous. The new head coach, Cliff Speegle, was selected following the resignation of Coach Whitworth. Coach Speegle, having at his command six assistant football coaches skilled in their various departments and widely-known for their coaching abilities, gives the Aggies a promising season for which to look forward. Assistants on the new football coaching staff are Jack Baker, Neill Armstrong, E. F. Aterburn, Harry Buffington and Otis Delaporte. The new staff is pictured on page 245.

THE BASKETBALL COACH, Henry Iba, completed his 21st year at A&M. Nationally recognized as one of the nation's finest teachers, Iba is a member of basketball's Hall of Fame. He is ably assisted by Sam Aubrey, who played on one of Iba's post-war national championship teams.

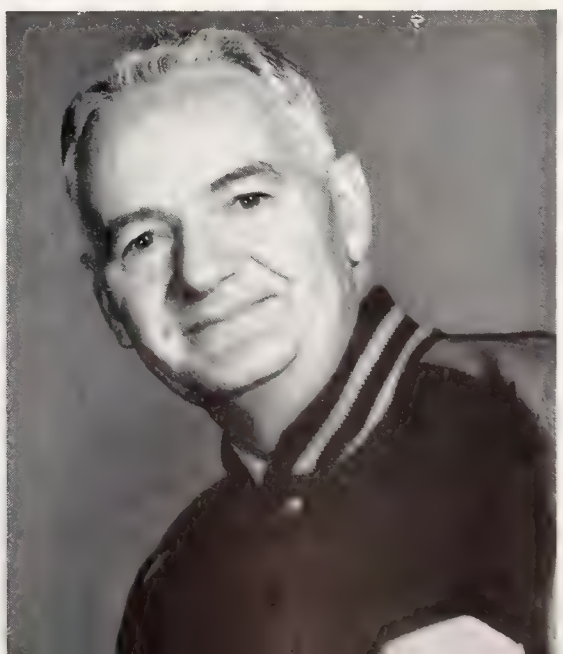

Art Griffith, the "Silver Fox" of wrestling, coaches both the wrestling and tennis teams. Ralph Higgins, listed among the nation's top track coaches, tutors the track and field teams.

DEFENSE WAS STRONG

Whitworth Ends Tenure As Head Coach Following Completion of 1954 Campaign

THE 1954 SEASON brought to a close J. B. Whitworth's coaching career at A&M in a successful manner. With 12 returning lettermen, the A&M squad was blessed with an exceptionally strong forward wall composed of such players as Jim Lutes, Don Holcomb, Dale Meinert, Leland Kendall, Buddy Ryan, Bob LaRue and Ken McCullough.

At the beginning of the season, the Aggie backfield, centered around quarterback Fred Meyers, had talent but was somewhat inexperienced. The only veteran backfield men to begin the season were Meyers, who had played for Army, Earl Lunsford and Bernie Wilson. The great hopes in Meyers were smashed when he was injured twice during the season and was able to play only one complete game. Jack Hutchison, veteran tackle, was also injured in the Houston game and was not able to play the rest of the season. Other injuries further plagued the Aggies driving them into a mid-season slump. However, quarterbacks Tom Pontius, Fred Duval and Paul Cuba and fullback Earl Lunsford, who was the Missouri Valley's top ground gainer and scorer, led the Aggie team on a dramatic comeback battle in which they all but beat the Big Red of OU.

THE DEFENSIVE PLAY of the Aggie line was so outstanding that they held the opposition to an average of 163 yards rushing per game while the Cowpokes averaged 230 yards per game. The Aggies scored 161 points in the season while opposition teams scored only 117.

Dale Meinert, Bob LaRue and Earl Lunsford were All-Missouri Valley players. Leland Kendall made the second All-Missouri Valley team. Dale Meinert was also on the All-American scholastic team and was voted the most outstanding lineman in the Blue and Gray post-season game.

With the ending of the 1954 season, Jim Lutes, John Payne, Bud Godsoe, Dale Meinert, Leland Kendall, Hal Rinker, Bob LaRue, Ken McCullough, Paul Cuba and Bernie Wilson finished their football careers at A&M.

A&M 14 — Wyoming Cowboys 6; Sept. 18, at Laramie

The Aggies began the season with a 14-6 victory over the Wyoming Cowboys at Laramie. Junior fullback Earl Lunsford and halfback Joel Favara led a powerful ground attack that proved to be the winning margin. Favara scored the first touchdown in the second quarter by plunging over center from two yards out. Lunsford accounted for the second touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Ken McCullough, the punting end, and Fred Meyers, quarterback, were injured during the game.

Relying on a surprisingly strong ground game, the Aggies threw only two passes, completing neither. Wyoming's attack, led by Cowboy Joe Mastrogiovanni and reserve tailback Jim Crawford, sputtered and fizzled against the strong Aggie defense.

BILL WHITT breaks into the clear and it looks like he is going all the way in the Aggies' homecoming game against Houston. Whitt's efforts were in vain however as the Aggies lost their homecoming game 14-7 before the season's second largest crowd.

A&M 14 — Texas A&M 6; Sept. 25, in Cotton bowl

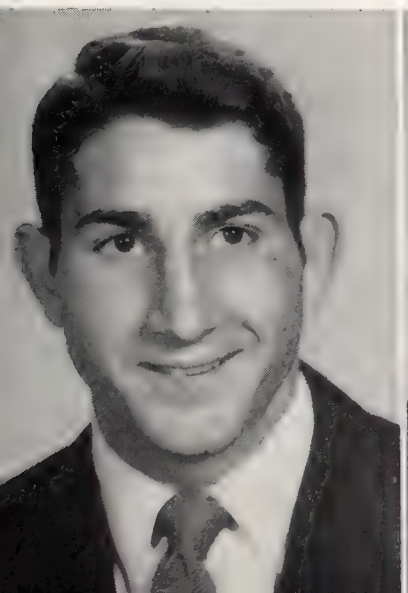

Aggie fans, 2,000 strong, were among an excited crowd of 14,000 lost in the mammoth Cotton Bowl at Dallas as the Cowboys played the Cadets from Texas A&M.

A well-executed ground attack, so successful against Wyoming, paid off for the Aggies again in the second quarter as they marched 46 yards to score. Lehman Brightman capped the drive by plunging over from three yards out. Billy Whitt contributed another touchdown to the Aggie cause in the third period. The Aggie ground game, which picked up a total of 280 yards, was led by Joel Favara with 86 yards. Both extra points were kicked by Louie Flores.

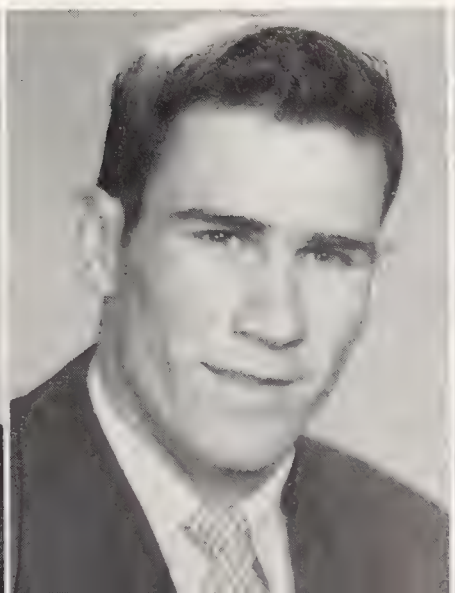

A&M 13 — Texas Tech 13; Oct. 2, at Lubbock, Texas

After the two teams battled to a 0-0 deadlock in the first quarter, the Aggies, 14 point underdogs, broke the ice about half way into the second period when Joel Favara crashed over from the one yard line. The highly rated Raiders immediately started a 10 play series that gave them a matching touchdown plus a conversion. Behind 7-6, A&M went into the lead again on a 39 yard pass play from Fred Duval to Choppy Spencer early in the fourth quarter. Louie Flores added the extra point to give the Aggies a 13-7 lead. The dismayed Raiders, threatened with defeat, drove for the tying touchdown in the closing minutes.

Interference was called against Wichita on a Fred Meyers to Lehman Brightman pass putting the ball into scoring position for the Aggies first touchdown. Lunsford scored from the one foot line. Trailing after the first half by 7-6, the Aggies, sparked by quarterback Fred Meyers, scored to go ahead 13-7. Fullback Earl Lunsford scored the touchdown on a 24 yard sweep. With the clock showing only 34 seconds remaining in the third period, the Wheatshockers scored again to go into the lead.

The game, played before 18,321 fans, a record for Wichita, was the first Missouri Valley game of the season for the Cowboys.

38,000 FANS, THE LARGEST CROWD ever to watch a game in Lewis field, saw the Aggies and the Sooners fight it out. Although Big Red was victorious, many termed the 14-0 battle a moral victory for the Aggies. It completed the 1954 A&M football season

A&M 7 — Houston Cougars 14; Oct. 16, Lewis field

A disappointed homecoming crowd of 14,000 watched the Aggies lose their first home game of the season to Missouri Valley opponent Houston university. The Cowboys scored first with the touchdown being set up on a 41 yard pass play from Fred Meyers to Billy Whitt. Five plays later, Meyers fought his way through four Cougar defenders to score. Meyers kicked the extra point, and the Aggies seemingly were on their way to victory. Then injuries began to take their toll. Jack Hutchison, ace Cowboy tackle, was lost through a knee injury. Meyers, who was beginning to live up to his pre-season billing, was lost to the team as well as Paul Cuba. Cuba, senior quarterback, was running the team brilliantly in the final quarter when he injured his hand.

A&M 7 — Hardin-Simmons 13; Oct. 23, Odessa, Tex.

Earl Lunsford smashed 23 yards through the center of the Hardin Simmons line with 31 seconds remaining in the game to save the team's record of not being blanked in the last 40 outings.

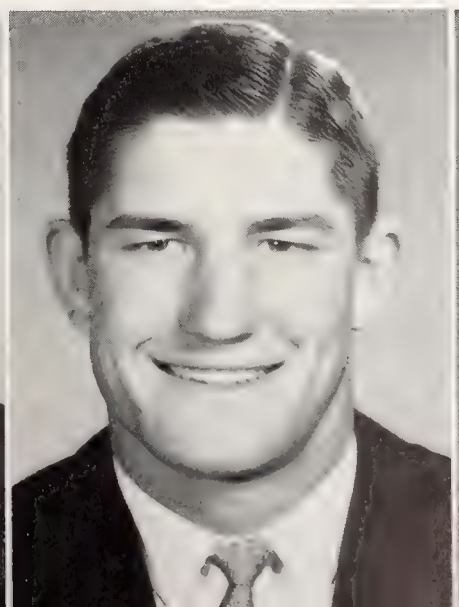

During the game, the Aggie team had five scoring opportunities and managed to capitalize on only the last one.

Ken McCullough staged a brilliant one man show in the waning minutes of the first half. He punted out of bounds on the Hardin Simmons 11 yard line, then he blocked a Hardin Simmons punt to give the Aggies the ball on the 10 yard line. This touchdown bid was wrecked by an illegal substitution penalty.

Full back Earl Lunsford, center Jim Lutes, and guard Don Holcomb were the outstanding players in the game as A&M shut out the Golden Hurricane.

Following a scoreless first quarter, the Aggies made two touchdowns in the second period and that ended all scoring in the game. A rock-ribbed Cowboy defense competently stifled every Tulsa offensive thrust.

Fred Duval, the Aggie signal caller, ran the first touchdown over from the one footmark. The second tally was engineered by quarterback Paul Cuba with Lunsford carrying the ball to pay dirt.

Tom Pontius directed a revamped Aggie squad which provided the most impressive offensive show for the Cowboys thus far in the season.

A&M opened fast driving for a touchdown in the first three minutes of play. During the drive, Pontius completed three passes in three attempts.

Detroit bounced back posting a short-lived 13-7 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Sparked by the passing of Pontius, who completed 10 of 17 pass attempts, and the running of Harvey Romans, C. J. Franklin and Keith Kashwer, the Aggies eventually scored a dazzling 34 points.

A&M 47 — Kansas Jayhawks 12; Nov. 13, Lewis field

Scoring in every quarter, the Aggies unleashed a ground gaining onslaught that netted 301 yards at the expense of the undermanned Jayhawks.

Earl Lunsford and Keith Kashwer each contributed two touchdowns to the Aggie total, and Joel Favara, Bernie Wilson and Eddie Eshler had one apiece.

A&M scored in the first period after Aggie guard Don Holcomb pounced on a Kansas fumble on the Jayhawk 28. In five plays, the Cowboys moved in front for good as Lunsford plowed through left tackle for the counter. Holcomb converted to give the Aggies an early 7-0 lead. The last scoring drive was marked by a long pass play from Harvey Romans to end Bill Williams.

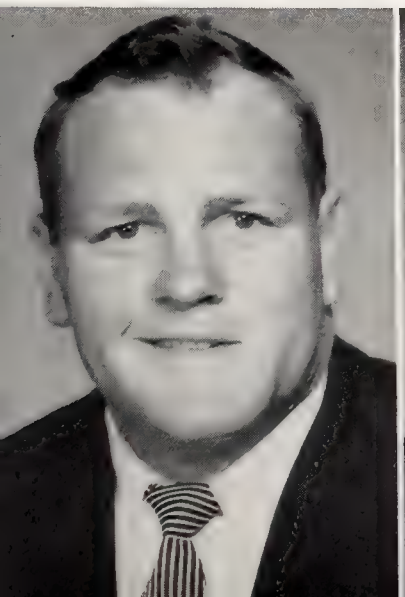

A&M 0 — Oklahoma Univ. 14; Nov. 27, Lewis field

Playing before 38,000 fans, the largest crowd to view a game from Lewis stadium, the revitalized Cowpokes held the mighty Sooners, the nation's third team, to two meager second period touchdowns.

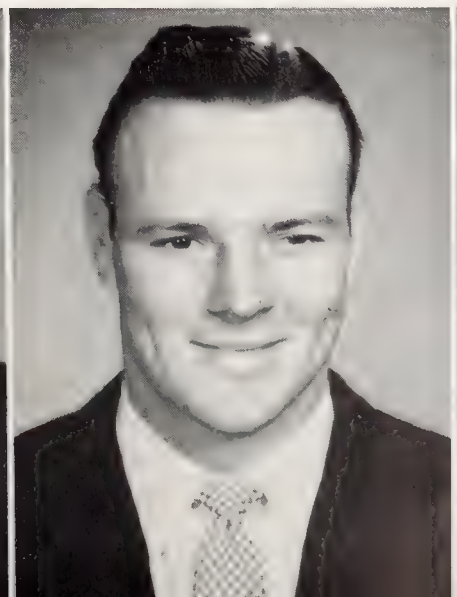

In the scoreless second half, the Aggies staged an uphill offensive battle that all but pushed the Sooners off the field. Under the field generalship of Tom Pontius, the Aggies threatened to score several times, especially in the fourth quarter, but never were able to penetrate the last few stubborn yards of Sooner territory.

The Oklahoma game finished the season for the Aggies . . . a season in which they started fast, slumped and finally staged a stirring comeback fight that marked them as one of A&M's finer teams.

BASKETBALL AT A&M

Ibamen Have an Up-and-Down Season But Defeated Every Valley Team Once

PLAGUED BY INCONSISTENCY, the Oklahoma Aggie 1955 cage team completed the season in much better style than early forecasters predicted. Recording 12 wins against 13 losses, the team had a less than .500 season average for the first time in Coach Henry Iba's 21-year career at Oklahoma A&M. The team's record is more impressive however, than the mere statement of won-lost statistics.

The Aggies finished third in the Missouri Valley conference with a 5-5 record in conference play. The Ibamen posted a win over every other team in the Missouri Vally, but marred their record by dropping games to all the other conference teams. The team traded games with Oklahoma university, losing in Gallagher hall, but coming back to defeat the Sooners at Norman.

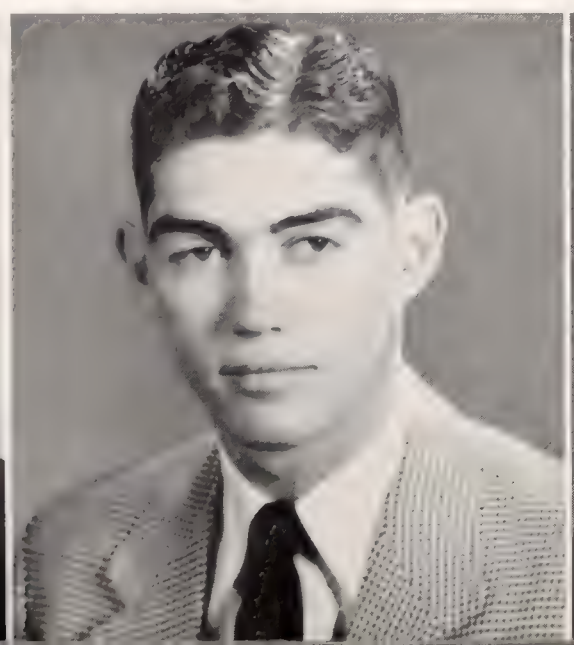

As the record shows, the Aggie roundballers were not able to keep the flame of success burning. At times they displayed unbeatable championship form, only to succumb to an inferior team in a following tilt.

High point scorer for the Aggies this year was Mack Carter, a junior from Borger, Tex. Carter scored a total of 304 points in 25 games for a 12.2 point average per game. He led the team both in total field goals and total free throws. Tom Maloney was second high point

The once tried Aggie varsity invaded Austin, Tex., to beat the Texas university Longhorns, 70-63.

The Iba machine then returned to Stillwater for another match with the Longhorns. Exploding in the second half, the Aggies were led by Carter to a 77-49 victory.

The Ags then journeyed to Goodwell, Okla., to meet Texas Tech in a dedication game for the new Panhandle A&M fieldhouse. Coming from behind in the closing seconds of the nip and tuck basketball battle, the Red Raiders from Texas Tech handed the Cowpokes their second loss by a close 49-48 score.

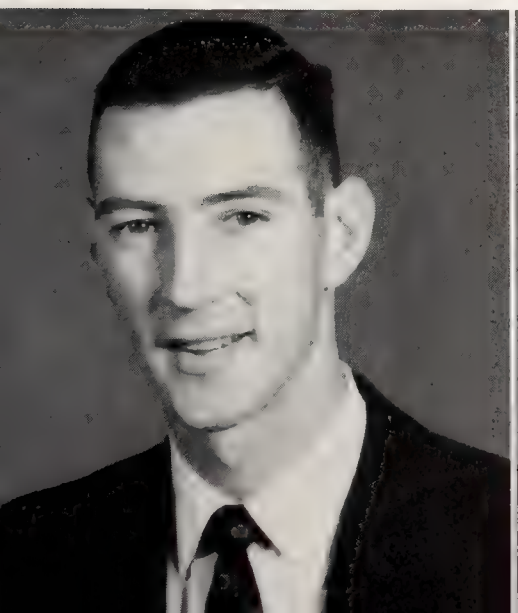

Coach Iba's basketballers then moved into Laramie for an intersectional game against Wyoming university's quintet and dropped their third consecutive tilt, 50-43.

Turning in one of their outstanding performances of the season, the Aggies handed the Minnesota Golden Gophers of the Big Ten conference an upsetting 62-54 defeat as the Christmas holidays began.

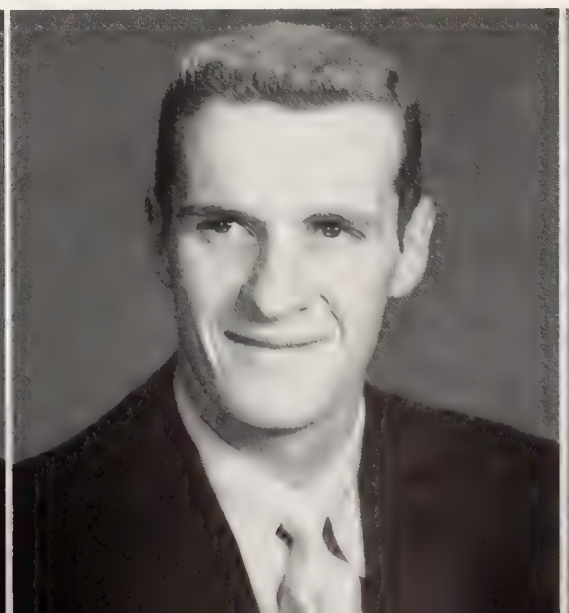

This winning streak was short-lived, however, as the Cowpokes traveled to Oklahoma City for the annual All-College tournament. Falling short of their usual championship performance, the Aggies lost all three of their tournament games, to George Washington university, 46-56: Wyoming, 50-52 and Houston, 48-57.

Though Not as Successful as Past Iba Teams The Cagers Were Filled with Fighting Spirit

The Aggies tried desperately to post a win over the Titans but went down fighting, 59-62, in the heated contest.

Continuing their winning ways, the Aggies walked over the North Texas State quintet from Denton, 79-52, in Gallagher hall.

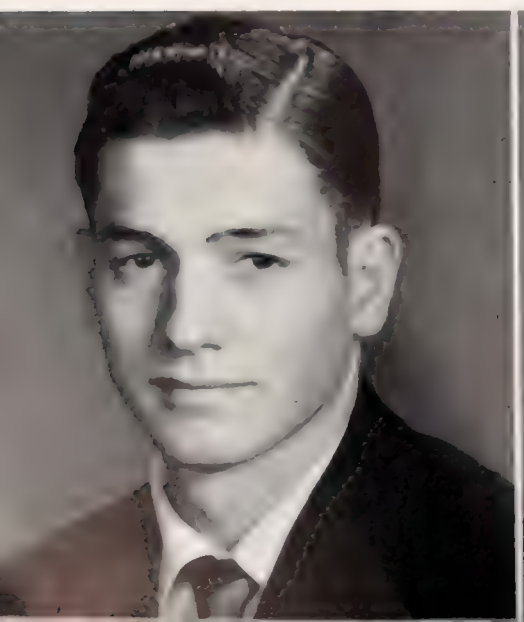

The A&M ball team then traveled to Houston for an important Missouri Valley conference game with a 6-7 won-lost record with the season half over. Their record was not improved, however, as the Houston team nipped the Aggies 60-58.

Feelings were running high as the Tulsa Golden Hurricane invaded Stillwater. The Aggies fought hard for the game, but their efforts were in vain as Clarence Iba's Hurricane won their first victory in Gallagher hall, 47-44.

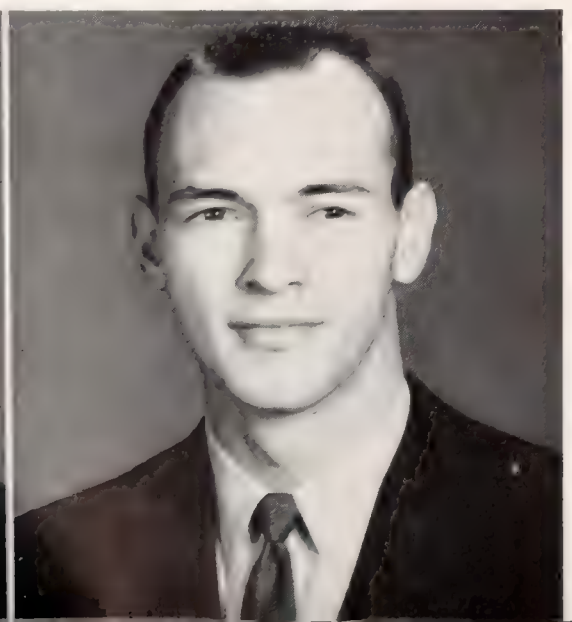

Rebounding well from their disappointing loss to Tulsa, the Cowpokes came back to smother a classy St. Louis team 67-54 before the home fans.

Staking ownership to third place and a possible tie for second in the Missouri Valley conference race, A&M's revenge minded cagers traveled to Detroit for a return game with the Motor City school. All went well for the Aggies as they handed Detroit a 75-69 defeat.

the Ags with an outstanding performance, but Kansas came out on top, 50-42.

Moving to Tulsa, the determined Aggies challenged the high-flying Tulsa Hurricane. Following the lead of Barnhouse, the Cowpokes posted a convincing 62-52 victory over the Valley leaders.

Staying in the success column, the Ibamen won their fourth consecutive conference game by downing the boys from Houston 58-47 in Gallagher hall.

The Cowpokes were eliminated from the Valley race at Wichita when the Wheatshockers squeezed past them 41-39. The low scoring loss pinned defeat number four on the Aggies in league play with St. Louis the only remaining valley contest.

Struggling to prevent a losing season, A&M pushed its 1954-55 record to 11-12 with a terrific onslaught of points during the second half against Kansas to defeat the visitors, 63-49.

Coach Hank Iba's basketball team and a band of Aggie fans with cowbells in hand then journeyed to Norman to settle the score with Oklahoma university for a defeat earlier in the season. Playing only good enough ball to get by, the Aggies were led by Carter and Maloney to a 38-34 victory in the intrastate match.

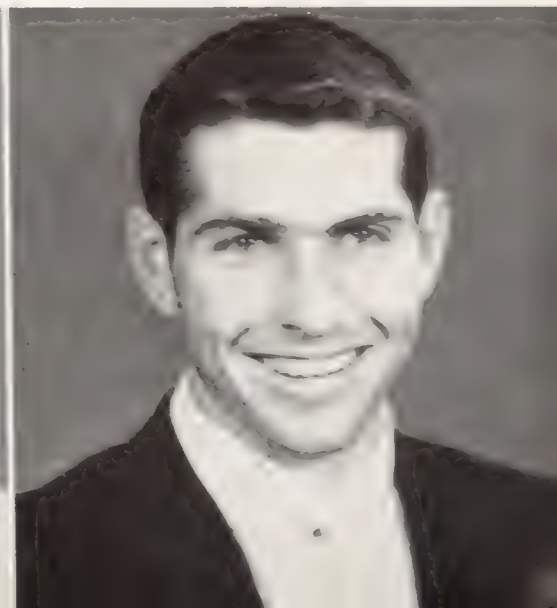

Five cagers played their last game for the Aggies in the season's last game against the St. Louis Billikens. These five were Shafer, Babb, Maloney, Bigham and Hixson. Playing for a first place tie in the Missouri Valley with Tulsa university, the St. Louis Billikens downed the Aggies 71-59 in the season's closer. Co-champion Tulsa represented the conference in the NCAA playoffs.

Half of the 10 1954-55 lettermen will return for service next season. The returning lettermen—Carter, Barnhouse, Wright, Wallace and Peier—will be the core of the 1956 team.

PERENNIAL NCAA CHAMPIONS, the 1955 Aggie wrestling team successfully defended its NCAA title at Ithaca, N. Y., March 26, even though badly handicapped due to the loss of Ned Blass, twice a NCAA champion, who was out with an injured shoulder. They ended the tournament 13 points ahead of the second place Penn State.

Two Cowpokes were NCAA champions. Myron Roderick, 130-pounder, won his second national championship and Fred Davis, 167-pounder, also won first place. Davey Bowlin came in second in the 115-pound bracket.

Other Aggies attending the matches were Harmon Leslie, 123-pounds; Claudell Wright, 137; Doug Blubaugh, 147; Bill Smoot, 157, and Jerry Budzik, 177. Other Aggies who were active during the season were David Simmons in the 130-pound bracket, who was undefeated during the season, and Jim Mills who wrestled heavyweight during the seasonal matches.

The season began at Stillwater with a 12-12 tie with the University of Oklahoma. The outstanding event of the match occurred when Mills, Aggie reserve 167-pounder wrestling heavyweight, locked horns with

The next encounter was at Gallagher hall against the Big Ten wrestling team of Iowa university. The match turned into a 12-12 stalemate but among the victorious were Davis, Blass and Wright. The Aggies then traveled to Manhattan, Kan., where they challenged K-State and won by a 22-5 score.

BACK IN AGGIELAND, Coach Art Griffith's muscle men defeated Colorado State 25-2. For their next match, also in Stillwater, the team again encountered the Big Red and this time they toppled Oklahoma 14-11. Blass broke an 11-11 deadlock with a 1-0 decision over Sooner Jimmy Coln. The Cowpokes next journeyed to Fort Collins, Colo., and stayed long enough to defeat Colorado A&M, 20-6. Winding up the season, they met Colorado university at Boulder when the Coloradoans were defeated 26-4.

When asked what he thought about this year's NCAA tournament, Coach Griffith said, "It was a pleasure to watch somebody who wouldn't take no for an answer because the squad was bound and determined to win the title."

Ags Win 14th Consecutive Valley Track Championship

PRESERVING A STRING of consecutive Missouri Valley track championships, Coach Ralph Higgins' thinclads added another valley trophy to the Aggie showcase in 1954.

Annexing their 14th consecutive trophy, however, proved to be a rugged task for the track team. Houston and A&M battled nip and tuck through the Missouri Valley meet with the mile relay being the deciding factor. With the first three runners Gene Firth, Charlie Hollar and Fred Ashmore touching Captain Bill Heard off on the anchor carry with a scant yard lead, Aggie teammates were uncertain as to wether the fabulous junior could protect the narrow margin over Wes Richers, Houston ace who had early nipped Heard in the 440-yard dash. But, as was typical all season, Heard proved that he owned the home-stretch when the chips were down.

The two-mile and distance medley relay teams, composed of Ashmore, Sture Landqvist, Fred Eckoff and Heard, were invited to all nationally acclaimed relay races. The distance medley squad won first at the Penn relays and had their victory at the Los Angeles relays erased because of a foul on the 880-yard carry.

AGGIES TRACK . . .

The two mile relay team took first place at the Kansas relays, second place in the Penn and Texas relays and fourth place in the Coliseum relays at Los Angeles, Calif.

MANNED BY THE THREE top runners that led the 1953 team, they were able to take first place in two other relays besides the Missouri Valley meet—the Southwest Recreation meet and Aggie relays.

They dropped only one of their dual meets but that one was, unhappily, with OU. Revenge was obtained, however, when they outclassed the Sooners in the Aggie relays later in the season.

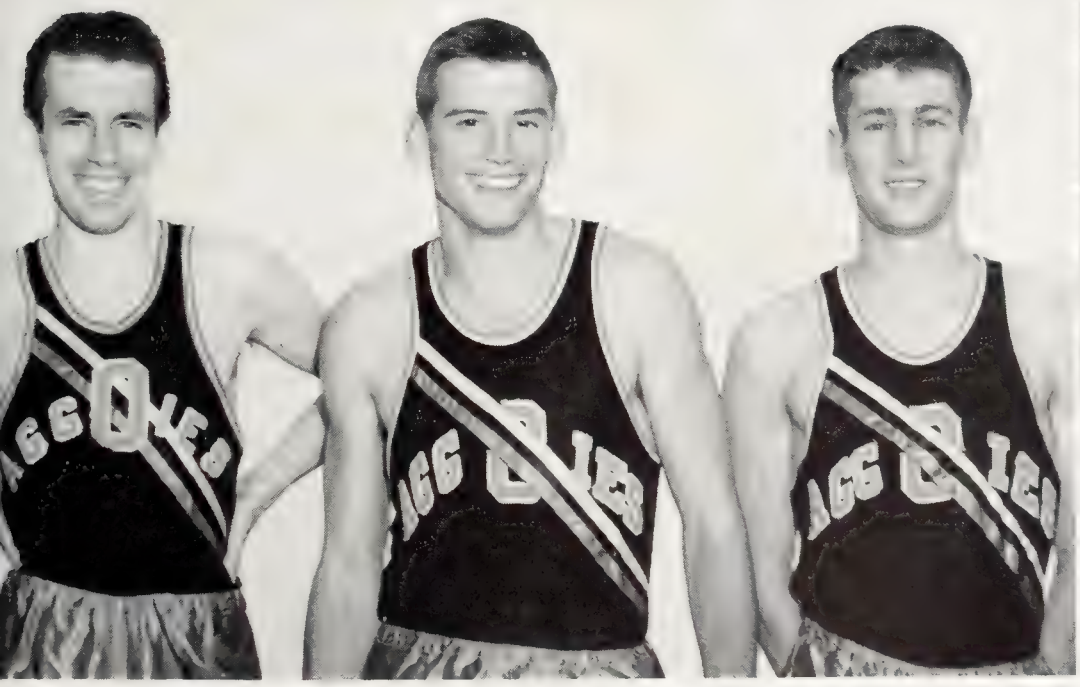

One of the most recent achievements of Coach Ralph Higgins' trackmen came Nov. 22 when A&M's cross country team won the NCAA championship at East Lansing, Mich. Led over the four-mile course by Eckoff, who finished third in a field of 104 runners, the Poke team racked up 61 points almost doubling the second team, Syracuse, which trailed with 118 points. Supporting Eckoff were Sture Landqvist, Henri Geller, Bjorn Bogerud, Mel Mosely, Ron Appleman and Bill Kerr who finished 15th, 29th, 42nd and 59th, respectively. This was the first NCAA cross country title for the Aggies.

Aggies Take Valley Title; Gain NCAA Baseball Berth

COACH TOBY GREENE'S SWATTERS ended another winning season in 1954 after extending their won-loss record to 148 victories and only 62 losses in the 13 years that Coach Greene has been at the helm. This year they won the Missouri Valley championship, the NCAA district 6 championship and wound up third nationally in the NCAA tournament at Omaha, Nebraska June 13. During regular season play, they won 10 of the 11 conference games.

AGGIES BASEBALL . . .

Led by the hurling of J. B. White and the fine playing of Ron Bennett and Phil Finegan, the Aggies beat St. Louis university in both games of the Missouri Valley playoffs to snag the Valley crown. Moving on to the district 6 playoffs, the Cowpokes, led by the slugging first baseman, Finegan, disposed of the Texas Longhorns in a torrid three game series. The Cowpokes took the first game 7-6, and, after dropping the second contest 6-3, roared back to beat Texas 16-12 in the final game.

FINEGAN PROVIDED Oklahoma A&M with the exact margin of victory in the final game by clouting a grand slam homer in the top of the ninth that put the Aggies ahead 16-8. Two Aggies literally knocked themselves out helping the team take the first Texas game. Catcher Jerry Patrick was kayoed when Texas' Paul Mohr threw a block into him trying to score, and Max Bunyard swung at a curve ball and fouled it onto his head, knocking himself out. Phil Finegan, Bobby Archer, Max Bunyard, Ronnie Bennett and Jim Woolard shared in the 23 rbi's credited to the team.

Winning the district title gave the Pokes a berth in the NCAA championship tourney. The Aggies lost their first game to Rollins 9-5, but caught fire to beat Lafayette 4-2 and Arizona 5-4. In the next to final round of the tournament, the Pokes fell to Missouri 7-3 to be sidetracked to third place in the national standings.

With the end of the 1954 season, Eddie Wiley, pitcher; Max Bunyard, right field; and Henry Walker, third baseman finished their baseball careers at Oklahoma A&M.

THE AGGIE TENNIS TEAM, led by C. J. Hixon and Bill Danner, split their 1954 season winning two, tieing two and losing two. Houston tumbled the Aggies in their attempt to defend their Missouri Valley tennis championship, but they were able to come in second in the conference tournament.

The season opened on the Aggie campus, when the Poke netmen played the Texas Christian squad to a 3-3 deadlock. Danner won 6-2, 6-2 over TCU's Don Hardin. Hixson clipped TCU's Louis Gillespie 6-2, 6-2. Houston trimmed the Aggie quintet in the next match, but some of the sting of the defeat was neutralized by Hixson and Danner, who won over the Cougars' top men in their singles clashes. The Pokes squad then moved to Tulsa where they were tied in a match with the Golden Hurricane. Returning to home soil they again played the Tulsa team, but this time they were unable to hold their own. Ending the regular season the Ags toppled OU 5-1, 5-1 in their annual two-game series.

In the Missouri Valley tournament, Hixson and Danner, the Pokes top twosome, lost their doubles title, but the Ags edged out Tulsa university for second place.

"O" CLUB

OFFICERS

Ned Blass	President
C. J. Hixson	Vice-President
Jim Woolard	Secretary-Treasurer

The "O" club claims the distinction of being one of the oldest and one of the best known student organizations on the A&M campus. The "O" club was organized in the year 1909, with only athletes who had won a varsity letter being eligible for membership in the organization.

Second semester president, John Payne, has quite a job with all the different activities of the club, as did Ned Blass first semester, holding the honor of the highest position in the club.

Pledging and initiation ceremonies are held twice during the school year. While the pledge week is on, a pledge is soon recognized by the wooden "O" that is hanging around his neck, and the dress suit that he is also required to wear. This is the week that sergeant-at-arms like Fred Eckoff have quite a time!

Some highlights of the club's social activities are sponsoring the annual homecoming dance and electing the homecoming queen. Weeks of these events keep social chairmen like Curtis Stover busy. The club's queen this year was Peggy Keas.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

OFFICERS

Valerie Colvin	Sponsor

Margaret Hawk, President

The women's athletic association of Oklahoma A&M college begins the season each year with a WAA Jamboree for all freshmen and new students. The idea for the event this year was centered around a marathon race with the new students divided into two groups participating in the skills involved in sports ranging from stunts and tumbling to field hockey. This idea proved successful since the purpose of WAA is to promote a complete organized sports program for women on the campus.

Another event, which is a challenge for new students and a must for upper classmen each year, is the WAA sponsored over night trip to Yost lake. During this trip, in addition to the opportunity of meeting new friends and coming together in fellowship, the outings also afford the opportunity of cooking meals on an open fire and sleeping out of doors.

In addition to the organization's sponsoring all intramural sports for women, it also promotes play days for various sports. Included in this year's schedule were a volley ball play day for Oklahoma junior colleges and a field hockey invitational play day with teams from Central State Teacher's college, Edmond; University of Oklahoma, Norman, and Texas State college for Women, Denton, Tex., participating.

CLIMAXING A YEAR of not all work, and yet, not all play, but a good deal of both, is the annual WAA Honor banquet. At this time a plaque is awarded to the sorority team and the independent team compiling the most points from these tournaments. "O" awards are given at the end of each year to every girl who has been selected on three of the varsities or won three of the individual sports tournaments or a combination of the two. Winners of the plaques last spring were Willard (four) and Kappa Delta.

The faculty sponsor for WAA is Valerie Colvin, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation.

WAA initiation is held in January and April each year. A girl is eligible for initiation by particpating in any two of the intramural tournaments a semester. Upon initiation she remains an active member by participating in at least one sport a semester.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA all-college women's volleyball champs are: (Bottom Row) Collins, Amis, Moler (captain), Sisler, Bryan. (Row Two) Jacobson, Langford, Walker, Johnson, and Reeves.

MEN'S INTRAMURALS

WHERE WILL YOU FIND as much participation and enthusiasm in intramural sport as you will here at Oklahoma A&M? There is no substitute for the excitement of a close, hard fought game, and there have been a good many of them this season.

The man who directed the successful 1954-55 season is Gordon Gilbert, director of intramural sports. His job was to co-ordinate the many teams entered in competition and to insure each of them a place to practice.

The last year's, 1953-54, spring sports started with track and field. In fraternity play, the fleetest of foot were the Betas. BSU had the best team in club and dorm play.

The Betas also took golf honors over the Kappa Sigs and Sig Alphs. Metro topped the Vet Society and East Bennett, first floor.

Not only were the Sig Alphs the best in fraternity tennis play, they were all-college champions. Architects scored over West Bennett, second floor, and Metro.

The leaders in club and dorm softball were BSU, Vet Society and Forestry Club. The winning team of the fraternities was Sigma Nu. Sig Alphs and Kappa Sig were runner-ups.

The Fall 1954-55 season started off with touch football. The Spartans won first place in club and dorm play and BSU, Vet Society and South Cordell placed second, third and fourth respectively. The Sigma Chis, sparked by Ronnie Jabara, came out winner over the Phi Delts who placed third. As a result of the fine playing of Homer and Tom Brown, Sig Alphs took second place over Sigma Nu, who was fourth. All-college champs was Sigma Chi, winner over the Spartans, 34-0.

IN SWIMMING, Sig Eps led fraternities with 29 points with Bob Carruthers as point-maker. West Bennett, second, ran away with the independents crown with 36 points. Their ace swimmer was Jim Van Patter, who broke the intramural 220 free style record.

Since 114 teams were entered, the basketball schedule was tough. Fraternity playoffs were close, but Kappa Sigs won over Sigma Nus, 51-29, for first place. Betas won over Sigma Chis in a close game, 27-24, for third. Vet Society triumphed in club and dorm play with BSU, South Cordell, and AC&R following closely. The Wampos, winner of the open independent league, took the all-college spot.

Another early season sport was table tennis. Pu Yi Chen was the outstanding singles man and Woody Goeringer and Bob Carruthers won the doubles title.

ANOTHER HOTLY CONTESTED SPORT was volleyball. Sigma Alpha Epsilon captured the fraternity title and went on to defeat the 524 Club to annex the all-college championship. Thatcher was the club and dorm champ and Betas, Sig Eps and Phi Delts were runner-ups in the fraternities.

Sig Alphs won bowling, and Farmhouse and Sigma Chis took second and third.

HIS IMPERIAL MAJESTY HAILE SELASSIE I is on the speaker's stand after arriving by plane to visit the A&M campus.

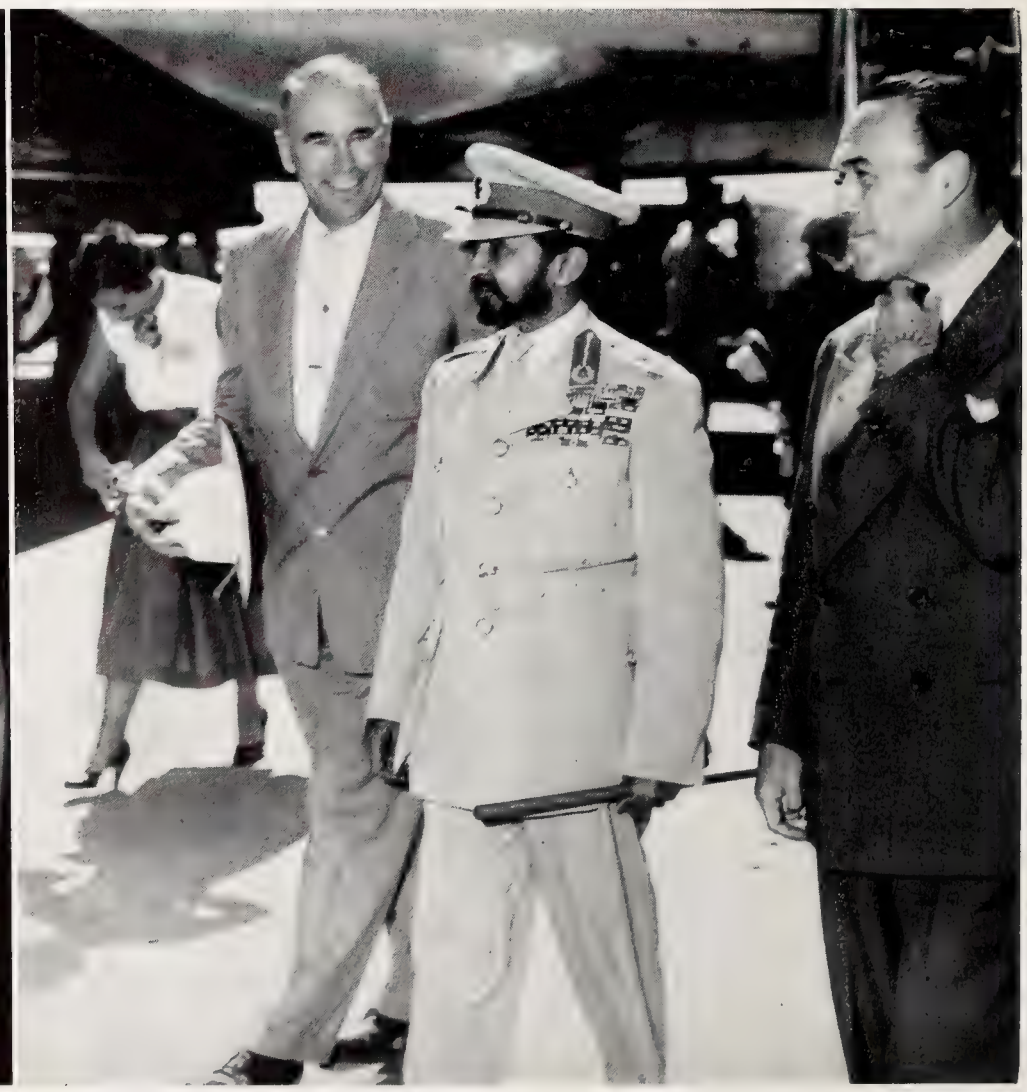

OKLAHOMA A&M was host June 18-19, 1954, to its first royal visitor, His Imperial Majesty Haile Selassie I, emperor of Ethiopia. Many people were on hand to greet the emperor and his family as they stepped from their plane. The emperor and his party toured the campus and attended many functions in his honor. He was received at a formal reception in the Student Union ballroom with over 800 persons attending. He closed his visit with a motorcade enroute to Stillwater airport.

Preliminary Sessions Aid Year's New Students Get Acquainted with Ins and Outs of College

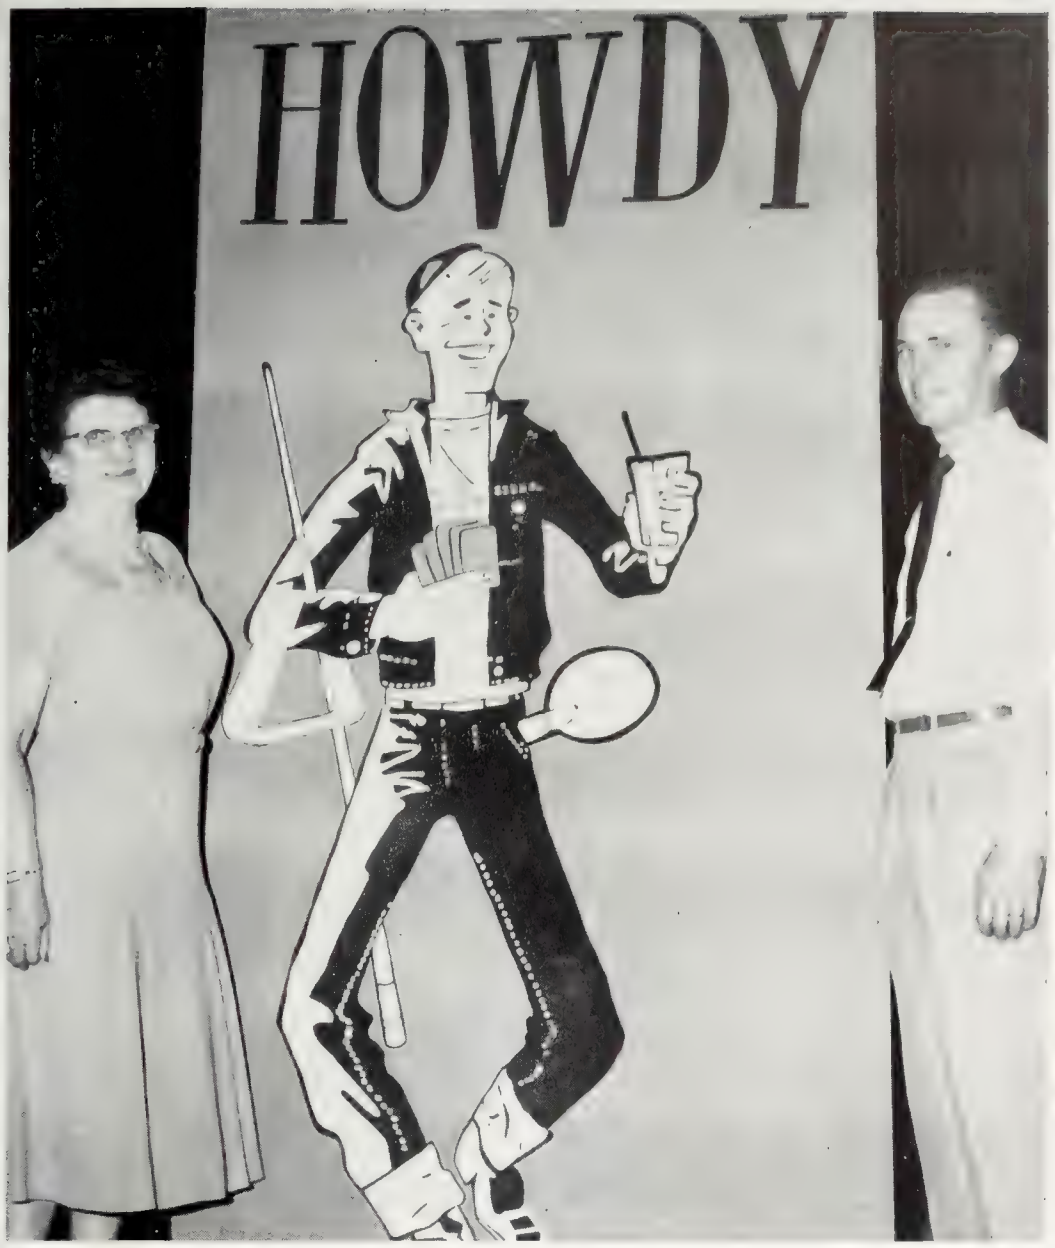

AN ORIENTATION program was conducted throughout registration week for freshmen and transfer students in order to acquaint them with the campus and its activities. The program was under the direction of Dean of Students, J. N. Baker. The actual registration process was speeded up considerably over previous years. A&M is exceptionally lucky in having one of the best organized registration processes on any college campus in the United States.

AGGIES PLAY IN DALLAS

Special Train Carries Oklahoma Students South To See Cowboys Win 14-6 Event Over Texans

A BIG WEEKEND for Aggies was the A&M-Texas A&M game at Dallas. Many Aggies boarded the special train and journeyed to the Cotton bowl game. Many new friends were made and old ones were renewed. Everyone had a grand time and the Cowboys topped the weekend off with a 14-6 win over Texas A&M. The trip was a great opportunity for getting to know the girl across the aisle and sleeping if you didn't like your date.

ANNUAL COLLEGE FAIR

"Fairest of the Fair" Coeds Selected Annually At Program Filled with Games of Chance, Skill

THE UNION FAIR is an annual event sponby the Student Union Activities board. The affair was held in the Student Union ballroom. Booths are sponsored by various campus organizations and living groups which feature games of all types. The highlight of the fair is the crowning of the "Fairest of the Fair". The candidates for this honor are sponsored by organizations.

MAN YOUR GUNS! Water guns, that is, and see if you can shoot out the candle light. These KD "Kuties" say it's wet and cool, but it's fun!!

STEP RIGHT UP! Tom Lilly and John Spencer encourage all to try their luck at the Phi Tau booth.

Floats, House Decorations, Grid Game, Dance Greet Graduates During Homecoming Weekend

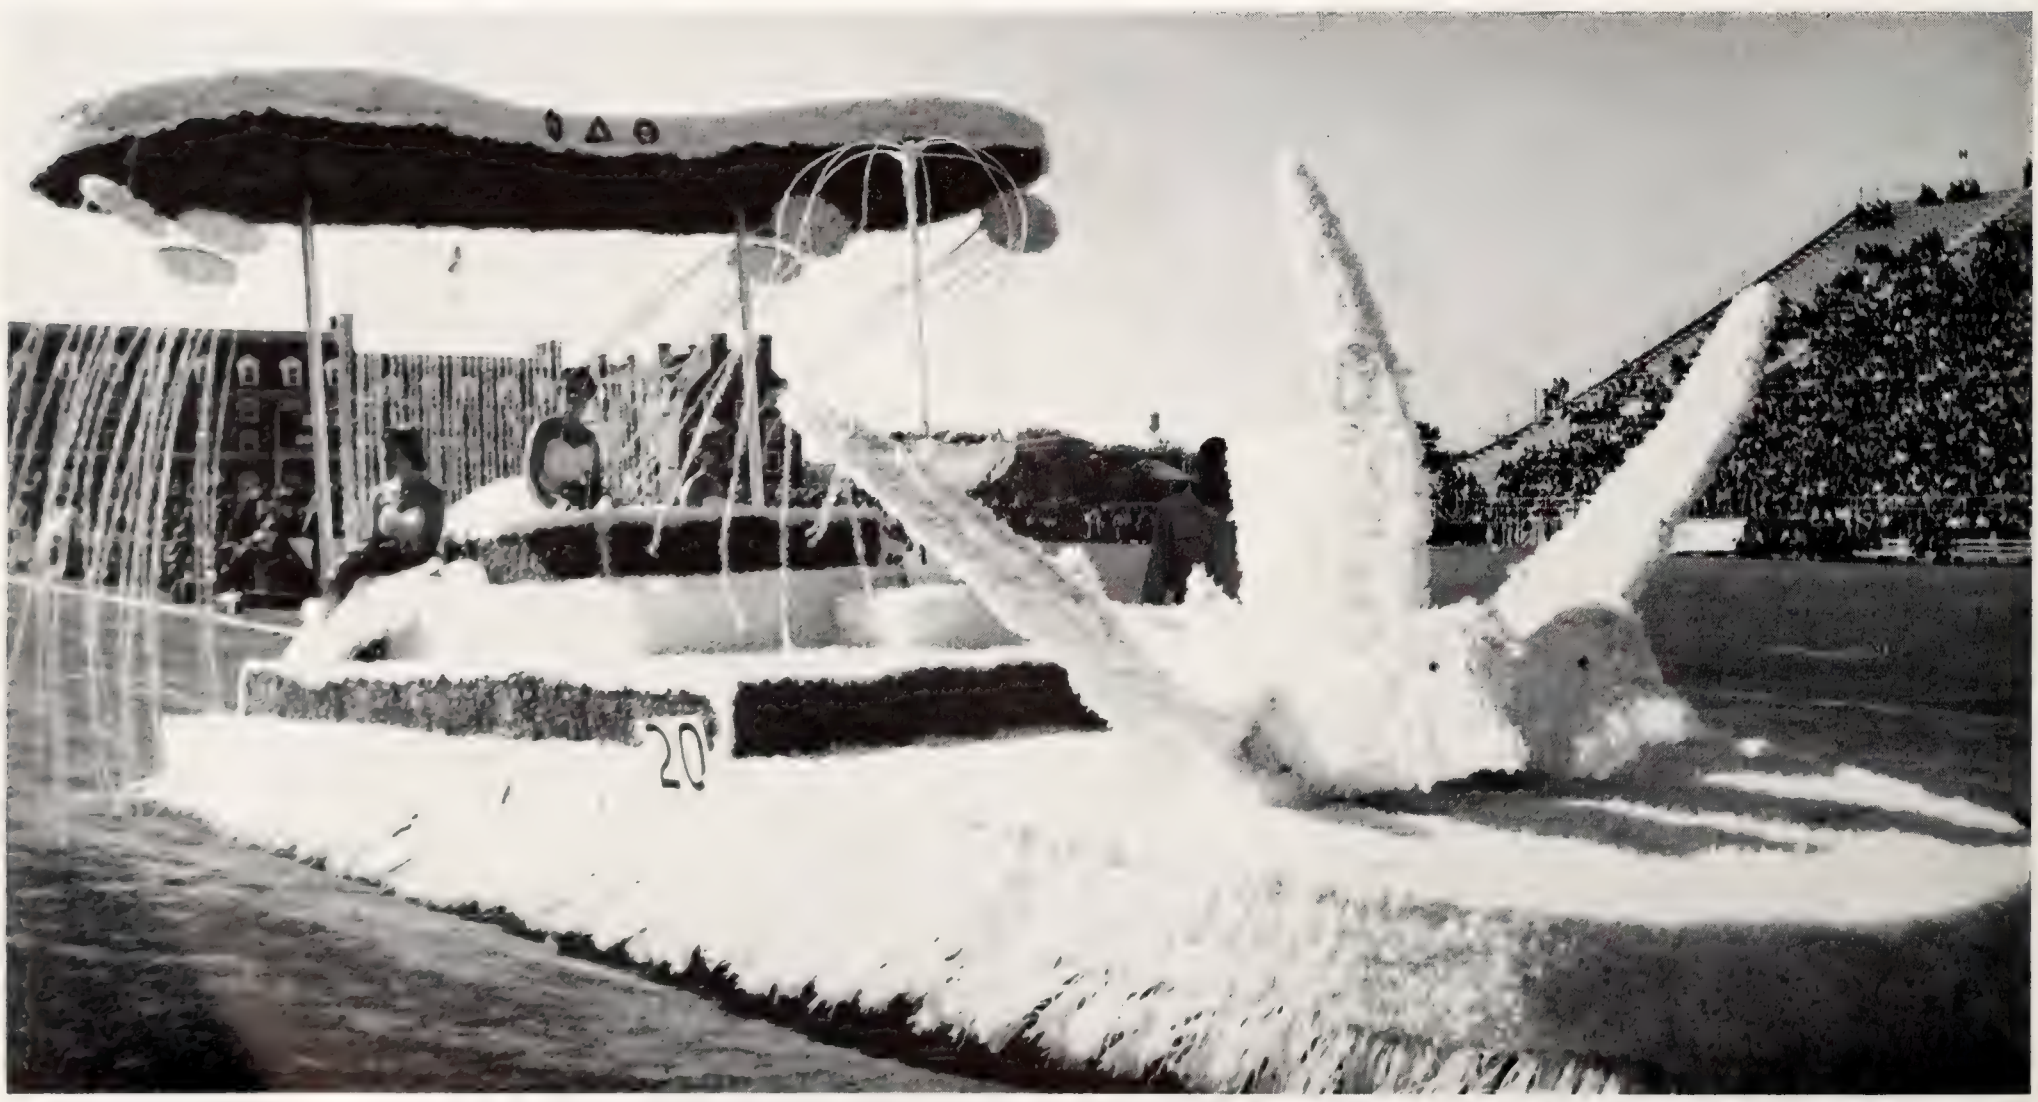

HOMECOMING DAY rolled into high gear with the parade, house decorations, spirited alumni and a football game. Peggy Keas, representing Stout hall, reigned as queen of the event, while Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Zeta Tau Alpha took top honors in the house decorations bracket. The grand champion float was presented by Phi Delta Theta. Among the numerous other activities, a dance in the Student Union ballroom climaxed the celebration.

THE ZTA's winning house decorations are asking the Aggies to "take the wind out of their sails" as has been done in the past.

GRAND CHAMPION PRIZE WINNER in the beauty division of the 1954 homecoming parade was the Phi Delt float. The three beauties are (l. to r.) Karen Moler, Tulsa; Pat Brant, Tulsa, and Nancy Strickler,, Oklahoma City. Many hours were spent nailing to a good advantage.

THE SIGMA NUs seem to think that a "Cougar's" head would be just the thing for their mantel this year.

TWEETY BIRD seems to have everything right in control on Hanner hall's homecoming decorations.

"O" CLUB QUEEN Peggy Keas is presented with roses and a trophy by Ned Blass, president, during halftime ceremonies of the homecoming game.

PEANUTS, POPCORN, CHEWING GUM—and everything else seemed to be present at the championship Sig Alph house decoration. Mighty fine circus!!

AGGIES Suzy Emitt, Jimmy Vaughn, Marsha Huffman and Charles Divelbiss enjoy a favorite pastime at the Chi O Christmas formal.

LOOKING THEIR BEST

GIVING AGGIES a break from the many informal dances during the year—and a chance to get dressed up to look their best—are the formals, which are an important part of the social life on the campus. Many of the dances featured flowers and favors for the dates. Seasons of the year and sweethearts are the main themes for the formals, which are given throughout the year by sororities, fraternities and dorms.

WATCHING THE FOUNTAIN at the Sig Alph plantation party are R. Curnutt, D. James, E. Word, & R. Horne and their dates.

THOSE SMILES INDICATE that Bill Yeats, Jan Caldwell, Larolyn Bomar and Bob Wright are enjoying the Sigma Phi Epsilon formal.

MR. & MRS. J. R. VANDEGRIFT are welcomed to the Sigma Nu formal at the chapter house by Mrs. Alice Weber [illegible]

RON BANKS, PAULA KIRK, CARL HOPPER AND PAT GRAHAM provide silhouettes for the Sig Ep's Christmas formal at the Pool

NORTH MURRAY residents (left) Bill Meacham, Tom Stitt, I. D. Hudgens and Marvin Heilman take time for a little harmony.

ANN WENDELL PRIMPS in her room in Willard hall for that all important date. Those big mirrors sure come in handy at times.

AGGIES CALL IT HOME

Important Dates, Bull Sessions Part of Life For Students Living in College Dormitories

THE EIGHT DORMS are homes away from home to most of the Aggies on campus. Murray, Stout and Willard halls house the girls, while Cordell, North Murray, Hanner, Thatcher and Bennett, the largest dorm with approximately 1,100 students, are the men's residence halls. Dorm life would not be complete without bull sessions, practical jokes, getting ready for that important date, occasionally studying, and even such domestic but necessary things as washing and hanging out clothes.

AFTER-SHOWER ANTICS are evident as Shirley Mauldin delays Delores Jennings, who lives in Murray hall. (Editor's note: Anyone see the bathing suit?)

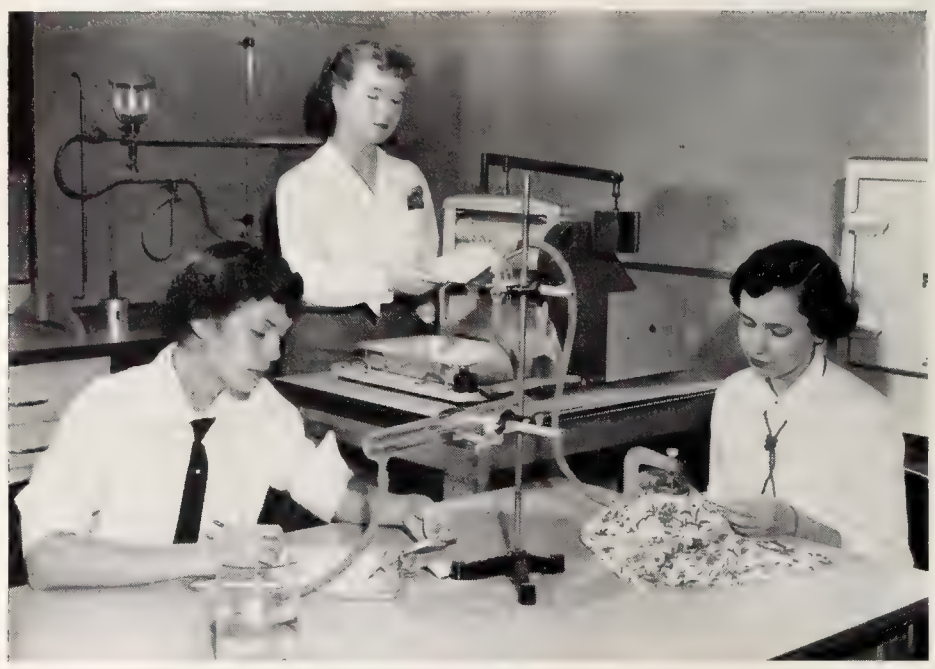

COLLEGE AT WORK

Scenes from the Actual Classrooms Show The Student in His Search for Knowledge

THESE THREE are discovering what makes a movie projector tick at the Audio-Visual center. Fascinating piece of machinery!

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMETHING to do at A&M. And if there is nothing to do, the students can study. A big portion of the students' time is spent in labs, working out practical problems in their respective courses. This is practical experience of the "learn by doing" principle. These classes became especially difficult to attend when spring fever hit the campus. Time passed quickly in lab classes in spite of the fact that there was little time to work the current cross-word puzzle while hearing a lecture.

ANALYZING TEXTILES is the order of the day for Phyllis Moore, Jane Amstutz and Patsy Gray in an afternoon lab.

W. C. ELDER, AGRONOMY INSTRUCTOR, gives his class some helpful pointers on weed control during an afternoon lab. Laboratories are held both inside and outside the classroom in order for the student to become better acquainted with the actual forms of vegetation.

SANDING BOOK ENDS seems to be quite a chore to Pat Parks and Joyce Denny in a woodwork lab.

TWO ENGINEERING STUDENTS handle molten metal carefully as they pour castings of the molds they have prepared in a laboratory at the foundry.

"OLD FAITHFUL" gets a regular polish job in readiness for emergencies by these three future firemen—Thomas Arnold, Dick Orre and Don Webb.

AGGIEVATOR FOR SALE! Harold Brown seems to be successful at selling his wares to Norma Haney in the Student union.

CLOSING HOURS are nothing new to Aggies and good time was had by all. How does this port compare with the rest, sailor?

ENJOYMENT PLUS

From Here to Yon the Aggie Enjoys His Life And Works and Plays in Well-Rounded Circle

COLLEGE LIFE isn't all classes and weekends. It's that "between-times" time that adds up. Maybe the prof forgets his 9 o'clock class and the hour spent in the Union with a cup of coffee and friends isn't completely wasted. Meetings and committees have to be attended. Chairmen had to sweat out an hour meeting, secretaries had to write reminder notices for the O'Colly, and everybody ended up going home and leaving the important stuff to the important folks.

DeLOIS FAULKNER, Theta, brought fame to A&M by being chosen Maid of Cotton in the national contest at Memphis, Tenn.

DARREL TROXEL points out to Dorothy Shafer that there will be no parking near the Student Service building on the campus.

"THIS THANKSGIVING TURKEY [illegible] say Priscilla Wyatt and Betty Hester. Too bad it is only [illegible]

AIRFORCE SWEETHEART candidates are Nancy Brown, Betty Wyatt, Loretta Hackler, Lynn Crockett and Betty Jo Tidwell

SIX CUPS OF COFFEE! Carol Ann Brown makes a dent in those big coffee urns as she totes a stack of coffee cups in the Union.

EVERYBODY CONCENTRATING? (L. to R.) Haroldine Amis, Mr. & Mrs. Moier and Karen play bridge at the Kappa house.

PARENTS VISIT COLLEGE

A&M Students Visited by Mothers and Fathers Interested in Learning About College Advantages

PARENTS' DAY is set aside to give our parents a glimpse of college life and what we do while we are away from home; also who we live with and work with. An all-college Parents' day is sponsored by Blue Key. Parents' day is also held by the various living groups on the campus. Special dinners and programs are planned and the parents are shown around the campus. The parents enjoy the feeling of youth on the campus and the students are eager to show off.

VISITORS IN THE Kappa house were (l. to r.) Mr. and Mrs. Lowe and Mr. and Mrs. Reeves. Standing are daughters Emily Lowe and Marilyn Reeves.

THETAS and parents are (left) S. Kriewitz, M. Connor, Mr. & Mrs. Parkinson, J. Parkinson and E. Harrison.

PICTURED are B. Dale, R. Jones, D. Howland, Mr. & Mrs. Howland, R. Jones & T. Barnett at Acacia parents' day.

PARENTS WITH THE MOST children in school and parents who traveled farthest are presented the parents' day award at the A&M-Kansas game.

RELIGION IS STRESSED

During Religious Emphasis Week on A&M Campus Students Hear Guest Speakers at Convocations

THE "WHY?" of religion was the theme of Religious Emphasis week this year. Topics of interest to college students were discussed at the morning convocations. REW committee members were pleased with the attendance at all sessions. Fireside chats and bull sessions in the various houses were also popular with the students. The efforts of Peggy Keas and Carl Caskey were greatly appreciated and it was well worth the time and energy they spent.

CARL CASKEY AND PEGGY KEAS greet the Rev. Roe Johnson as he arrives at the Union for Religious Emphasis week.

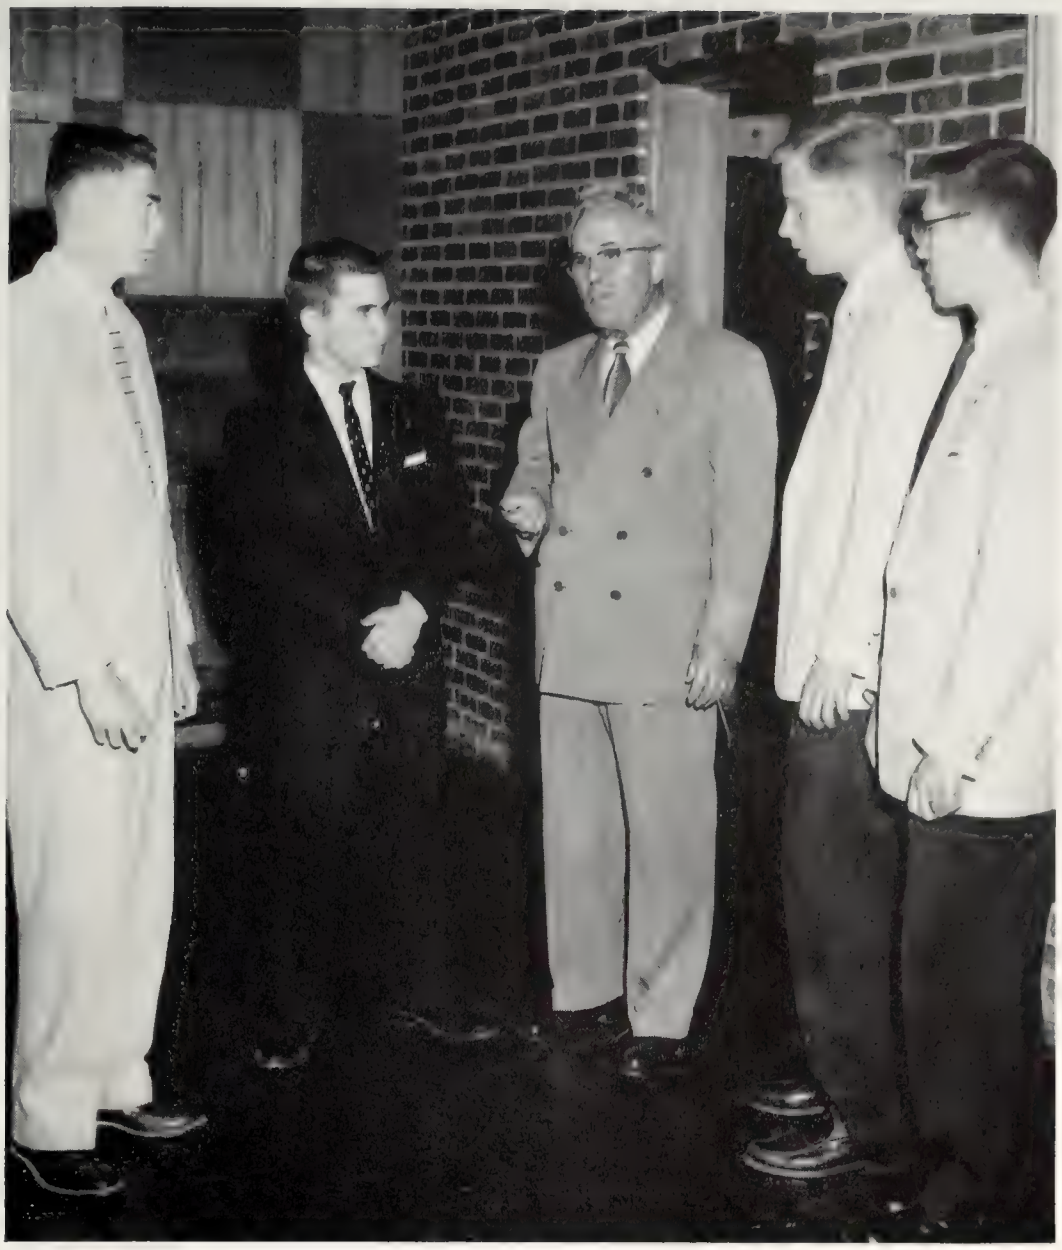

DR. R. V. KEARNS chats with ADPis Margaret Hawk, Elaine Bottemly, Mary Pace, D'jela Brady, Mariam Hofstrom, Louan Jenkins.

THE ROSARY is led by the Rev. Joseph Dillon at the close of religious education classes at the Newman house for Catholic students.

REV. DOUGLAS JACKSON, Methodist [illegible] on "Is Right a Relative Matter?" in the Engineering auditorium.

LOIS MILLER, Jerry Dunn, Shirley Cyrus and Francis Ingram are checking some materials to be sent to Methodist students.

DR. D. J. EVANS, Baptist convocational speaker, talks on the subject, "The Biblical Concept of God," in the Classroom auditorium.

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE are discussed by John Edwards, Toni Cellis and Marcie Poole in the Baptist Student center.

DIANE ALLEN and Earl Malherbe seem to agree that Alpha Tau Omega costume parties are lots of fun. Looks fun, doesn't it?

"OH, TO LIVE IN 'Dogpatch,' " says Kermit Clark as Raymona Friedman fixes his tie. This was a typical scene at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

COSTUMES WITH CAKE

Costume Events, Dances Fill Social Calendar On Weekends as Students Seek Entertainment

COSTUME PARTIES and hayrides were filling the calendars every weekend. Every fraternity, sorority and dormitory had to have its night of dancing and partying. Each costume event gave the girls a chance to show off those wonderful inventions called legs. Sometimes the dance floor got a little too hot and crowded. So, there were always persons overflowing into the kitchen to quench their thirst and sneak a preview of the refreshments.

THE PHOTOGRAPHER SEEMS to have caught some of that "outlawed" copping on the sidelines of the Kappa Sigma Mardi Gras in the Union.

SIGMA NU members and dates at the Frontier ball are (l. to r.) C. Mollett, D. Byers, J. Hill, B. Gooden, B. West and W. Smith.

TRULY A PICTURE OF DISTINCTION! These are some of the couples who attended the Sig Ep Bowery Brawl. Look like it, too.

HAYRIDE TIME! Three wagon loads of Zetas and their dates are leaving for an evening full of fun.

THEY SOLD THE COLLEGE

All-College Project to Impress High-Schoolers Becomes High Class Salesmanship and Fun for All

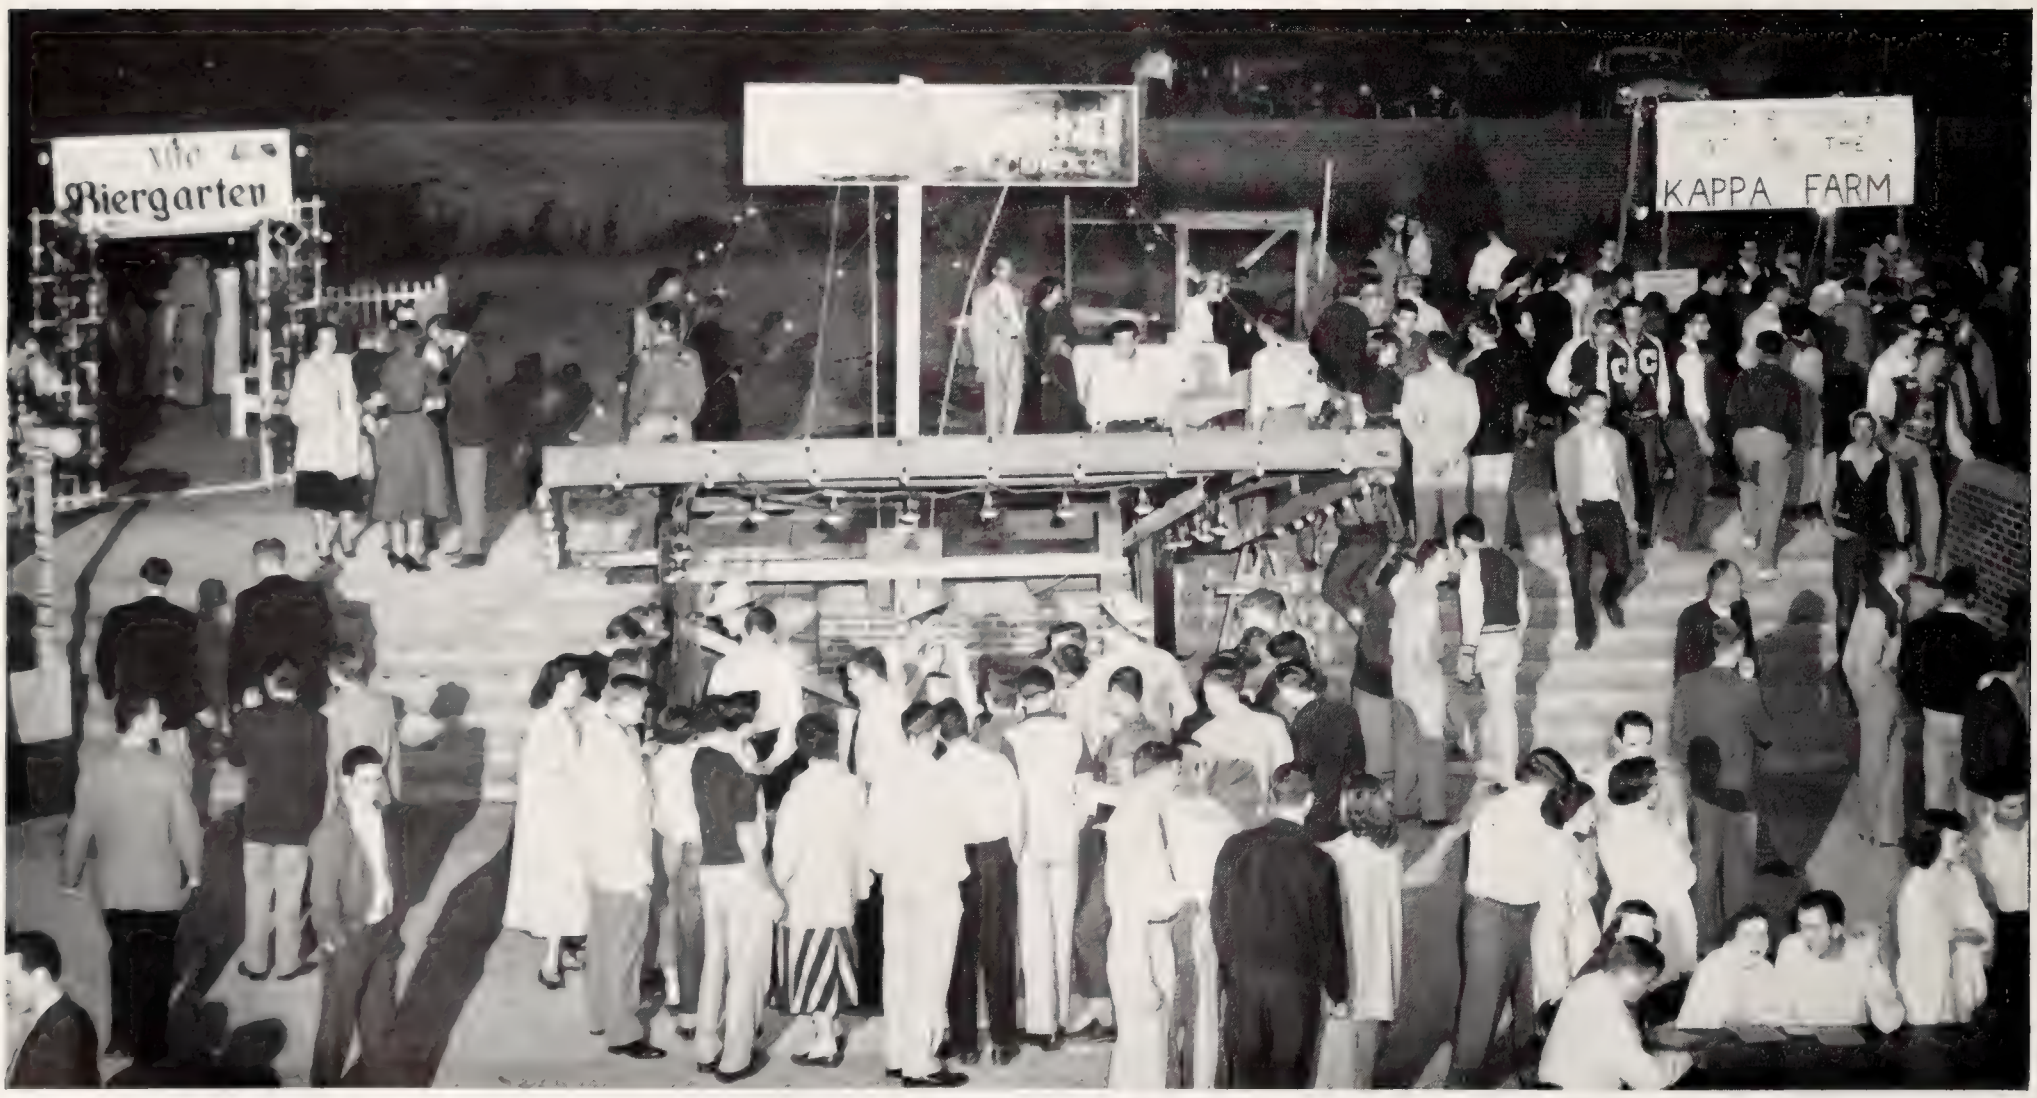

JANE McCONNELL is doing a fine job in the home economics room held on the Starlight Terrace during Senior Career day.

A WEEKEND THAT IS ANTICIPATED by high school seniors is Senior Career at A&M, sponsored by the Student Senate. Among the various activities of the big weekend is a barbecue, Engineering exposition, Blue Key carnival and various parties and dances sponsored by campus organizations. The weekend served as an advertisement of life on the A&M campus and to urge seniors to consider A&M as their future alma mater. This year the Student Senate approved the name CHEAVAGE which represents each school on the campus.

"YOU MEAN to say that this thing-a-majig really runs," asked visitors who attended the Engineering exposition.

A NIGHT VIEW of the Blue Key carnival shows the wide student participation in the many booths which are sponsored by different campus organizations. The carnival is a highlight of Senior Career weekend where high school seniors visit the campus to get a glimpse of A&M.

FROM BIG FRY to small fry they all seem to be amazed at the wonders of the Engineering exposition during Career Weekend.

AGS TAKE "BREAK"

Agriculture Students Highlight Year's Activities With All-School Picnic and Two Real Rodeos

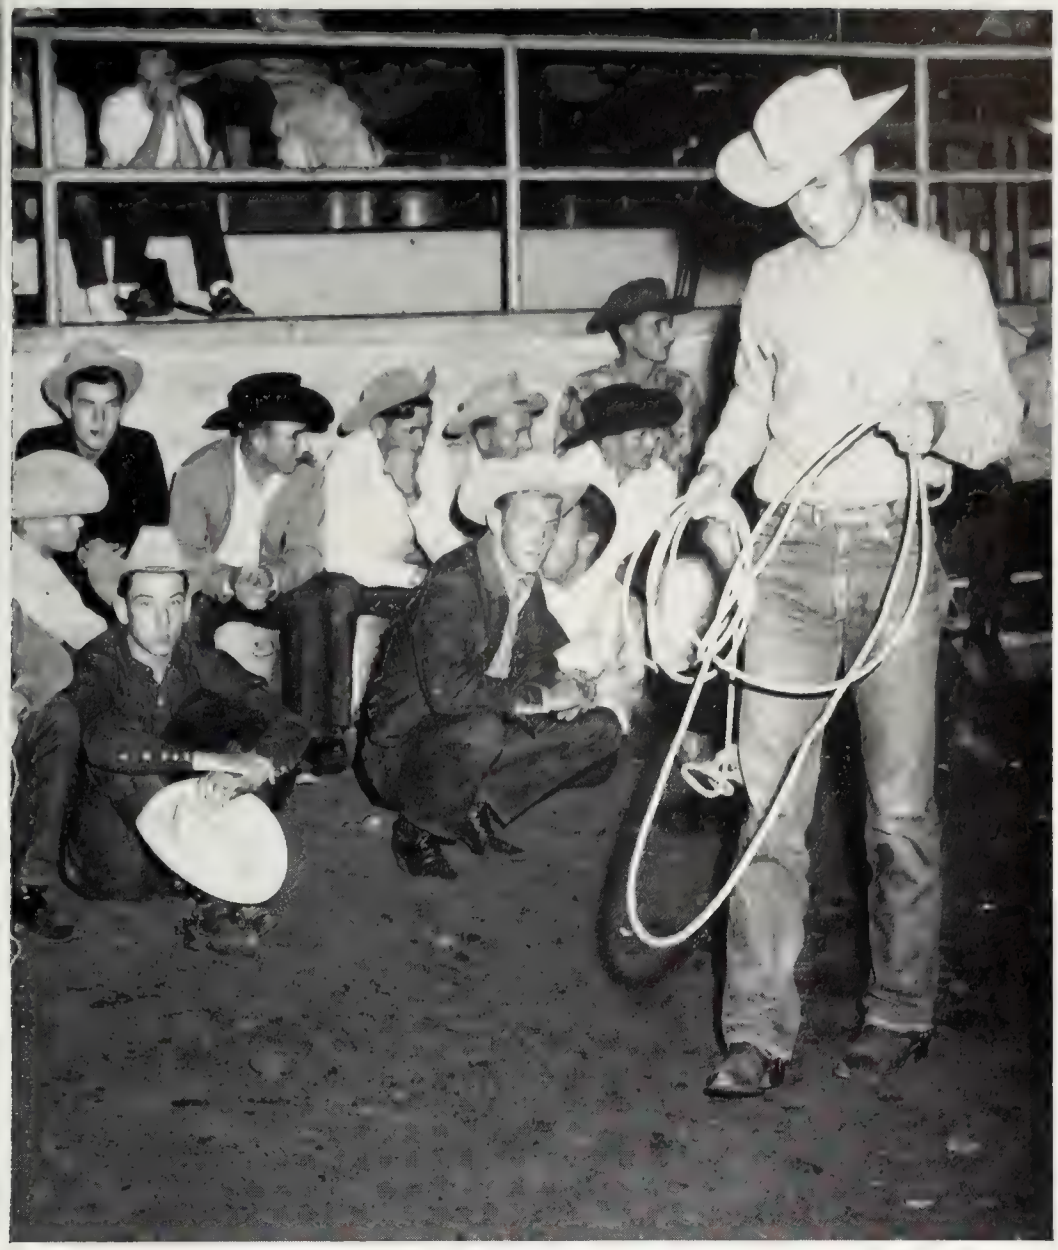

AGGIE ACTIVITIES of the year featured the Block and Bridle rodeo and the annual Aggie day. Aggies are given an opportunity to observe horse sense at its best at this rodeo, which is the climax to the pledge week. Aggie day is sponsored by the Aggie society and features a picnic with Clay Potts' famous barbecue and games and sports for all. Each organization has a queen to reign over its festivities and to add a touch of glamour.

HORSESHOES is the game that Mark Atkinson tries his luck with during the festivities of the Aggie day picnic. Did you win, Mark?

BLOCK AND BRIDLE QUEEN Donna Taylor beams as she is presented with roses by Ed Kimble, president, at the annual rodeo.

THE CHOW LINE is the center of attraction as it did at the Aggie day picnic which featured Cleo Potts famous barbecue

THESE FIFTEEN beauties are candidates for Miss Varsity Revue which has been a tradition on our campus for years.

AGGIES Judy Rice and Tucker Moore enjoy the "O'Colly" during a break. There must be hot news by the way Tucker's eyes are bugging.

CALENDAR EVENTS

Athletics, Social Life, Theater Productions Are the Highlights for Co-Educational Life

THERE IS ALWAYS SOMETHING to do at Oklahoma A&M. Football games at home in Lewis stadium weren't neglected, not to mention the exciting basketball games in the Aggie Fieldhouse. There were the Allied Arts series, concerts, little theater plays and the never ending rehearsals for Varsity Revue tryouts. REW took up four days of the first week in March and gave everyone in Aggieland an inspiration on which to finish the spring term.

PLAYING FOOTBALL at Bennett hall are Herman VanBebber, Gary Babb, E. R. Andrews, Bill Williams, Myron Peace and Eddie Worthington.

BID HOUSE is truly an exciting moment for Barbara Murray as she is greeted by her mother and Patsy Zoldoske at the Pi Phi house.

VARSITY REVUE DIRECTORS Jim Woods and Kay Herwig chat with three Varsity Revue girl hopefuls.

THE LIFE AT A&M

Life for 8,000 Students Presents Unusually Complicated Swirl of Extra-Curricular Activities

PROUDLY WEARING their new army uniforms are Shirley Kriewitz and Mary Hopper, the two honorary regimental cadet colonels.

THE ROTC CADETS can always find time to spend on the drill field each Tuesday and Thursday, and they do a mighty fine job of choosing honorary cadet colonels. Fraternities and sororities do their share of supplying the campus with parties and of putting on skits during rush week. If you can't find anything to do you can always go to the Library and study. And, if you have anymore time, you can always read the REDSKIN.

MELVIN WRIGHT (52) and Dale Peier (6) grab the ball as Houston Nutt (14) and Mack Carter (20) stand anxiously by.

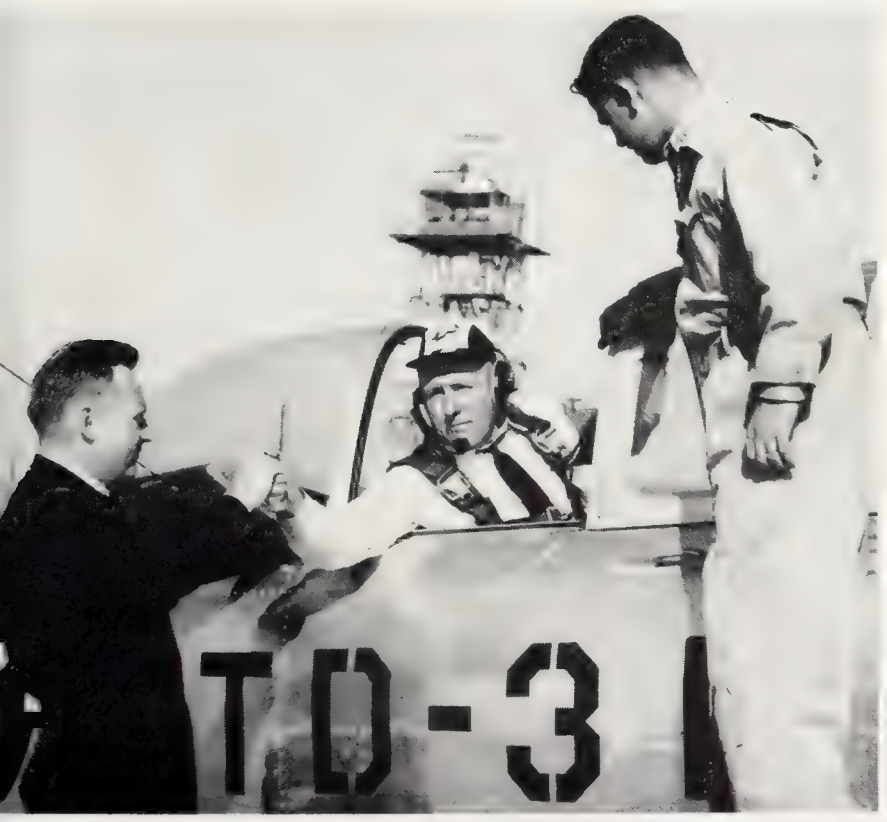

GAB AND GOBBLE SESSIONS are held in the Student union. These sessions are sponsored by the Student Union Activities board public relations committee, headed by Charles Ray. The purpose of these sessions is to allow students and faculty to get together and chat.

WIDE-EYED RUSHEES watch as Thetas Mimme Cromwell & Nancy Pitts present a football skit during rush.

A&M'S NEW coaching staff is (l. to r.) Head Coach Cliff Speegle and assistants Jack Baker, Neill Armstrong, E. F. Aterburn, Harry Pinkerton and Otis Deloache.

COTTON PREDOMINATES styles for rush as Peggy Goolsby, Dorothy Corn, Marilyn Constant & Barbra Allen leave bid house.

TIPPING IN. Loafers became the fashion for both boys and girls this year and were combined with charcoal slacks and plaid skirts.

PASSION FOR FASHION

Wear the Latest Fashions for the College Set Whether in Class or Out on the Town, Students

AGGIE STUDENTS are in a pace with the very latest styles. The students portray the current fashion trends in every classroom, at the movies and at all the dances. Styles range from Bermuda shorts to charcoal suits and pink shirts this year. Girls wore little-boy shirts and the boys copied feminine colors in shirts of pink and lavendar. But, whatever the occasion, you can be sure that the Aggies were in high style everywhere.

MARY HOPPER, Sue Robertson and Beverly Collins wear campus favorites—little-boy blouses, sweaters and straight skirts.

FULL SKIRTS were high fashion this year, as illustrated by Margie Hudson and Lynn Mitcham, candidates at the REDSKIN beauty contest.

Choosing Redskin Beauties Was Hardly An Easy Task

CHOOSING BEAUTIES is no easy job, no matter how pleasant it may be. Making a decision such as this is enough to send a man's head into a spin. A&M has its share of beauties and we are very proud of them. Times may change as the college grows, or styles may change, but one phase of college life has continued to grow through the years. REDSKIN pictures of beautiful Aggie coeds have become a college tradition and probably will remain so to add that pleasing touch of glamour to our campus, as well as to this book. Three representatives from each floor of the women's dorms and three from each of the other 11 living groups are nominated for REDSKIN beauty candidates. This year 25 girls were chosen from this group by five local judges, who were Col. C. H. Breedlove, Maj. L. L. Perdue, Mack Usher, John Monk and Enoch Needham. At a later date the top five beauties were chosen by Warren Cooke, former Aggie cheerleader, and Dave Blakeburn, editor of the Oklahoma university yearbook. The five REDSKIN beauties are of equal standing and are arranged alphabetically on the next 10 pages, with the runners-up on the opposite pages.

"CHOOSING BEAUTY QUEENS is no easy job, no matter how pleasant the work," say judges Warren Cooke and Dave Blakeburn.

"WHO, ME?" say the top REDSKIN beauties to Carolyn Frantz and Gerry Wyatt, beauty editors, as they are told they have won

. . . Franklin Forney, the best all-around male student for 1954-55. Besides maintaining a 3.0 grade over-all, Frank is a member of the Student Senate, Blue Key, and past president of his fraternity. He came to A&M on a basketball scholarship, and in his initial year was elected freshman class president.

. . . Nancy Pitts, president of the Association of Women Students. Nancy, an arts and sciences student, is also a member of Mortar Board, highest women's honor society. While maintaining outstanding grades, her leadership ability and friendly smile deserve recognition.

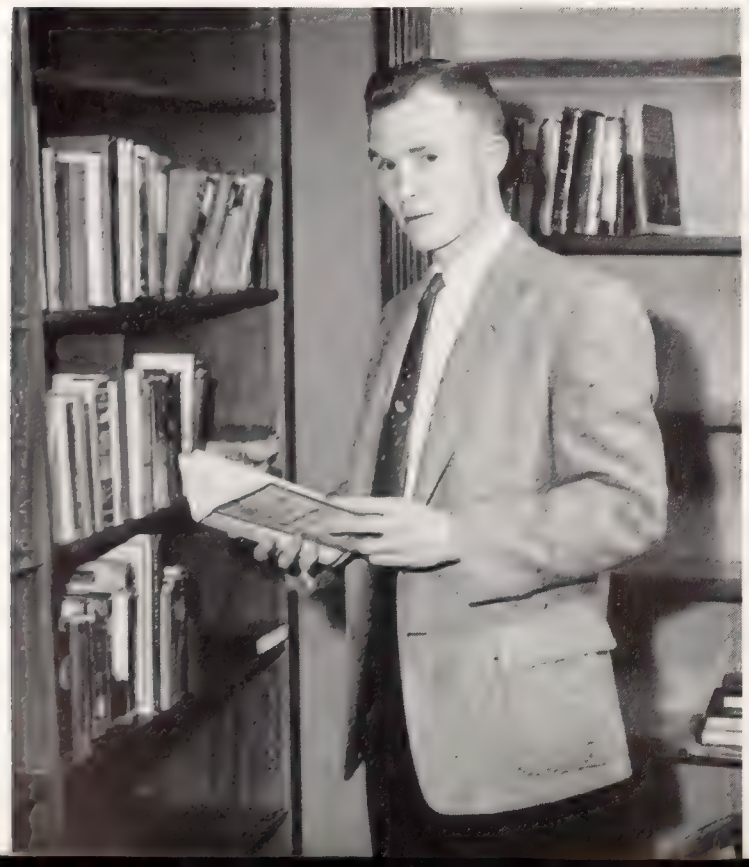

. . . Dale Meinert, Aggie grid co-captain, majoring in physical education. Dale was named to the Academic All-American football team. His outstanding play was honored in the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., in which he was named outstanding lineman.

REDSKIN Congratulates-

. . . John Day, member of Blue Key and president of the 1954-55 Student Senate. John, a veterinary medicine student, served one year as his school senator before being elected president. He was an efficient leader and organizer of the senate and his abilities in his work have deserved recognition. He was also named to "Who's Who."

. . . Tom Crewson, an agriculture student. Tom has been SUAB vice-president and has served his fraternity as president. His other activities have included president of Blue Key, highest men's honorary fraternity, and president of the Interfraternity council. Having held such prominent campus offices, his accomplishments while a student are deserving of outstanding recognition.

. . . Fred Echoff, outstanding long distance runner and a member of the varsity track team. A commerce student, Fred was a member of A&M's championship NCAA cross-country team which ran in competition consisting of 115 of the country's top distance men.

. . . Jean Embry, a prominent leader among women's living groups. Jean has served as president of her own dormitory and also was elected president of Grand council. She received additional honors by being selected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

. . . Bill Cluck, recognized campus political leader. Bill's activities have included membership in the Commerce Student council, president of the Independent party and he also represented the town students as a member of the Student Senate. His efforts in the senate and Independent party deserve recognition.

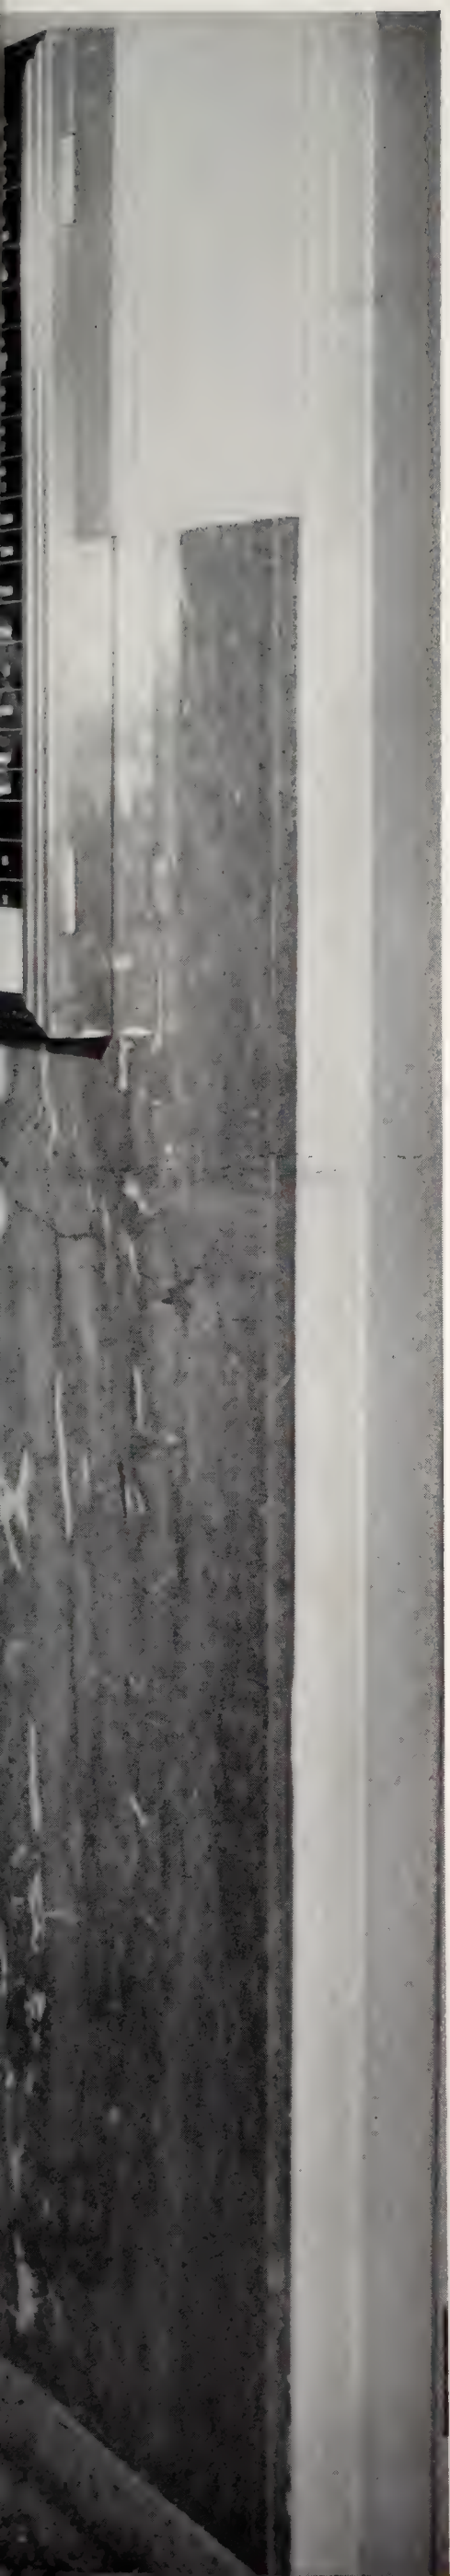

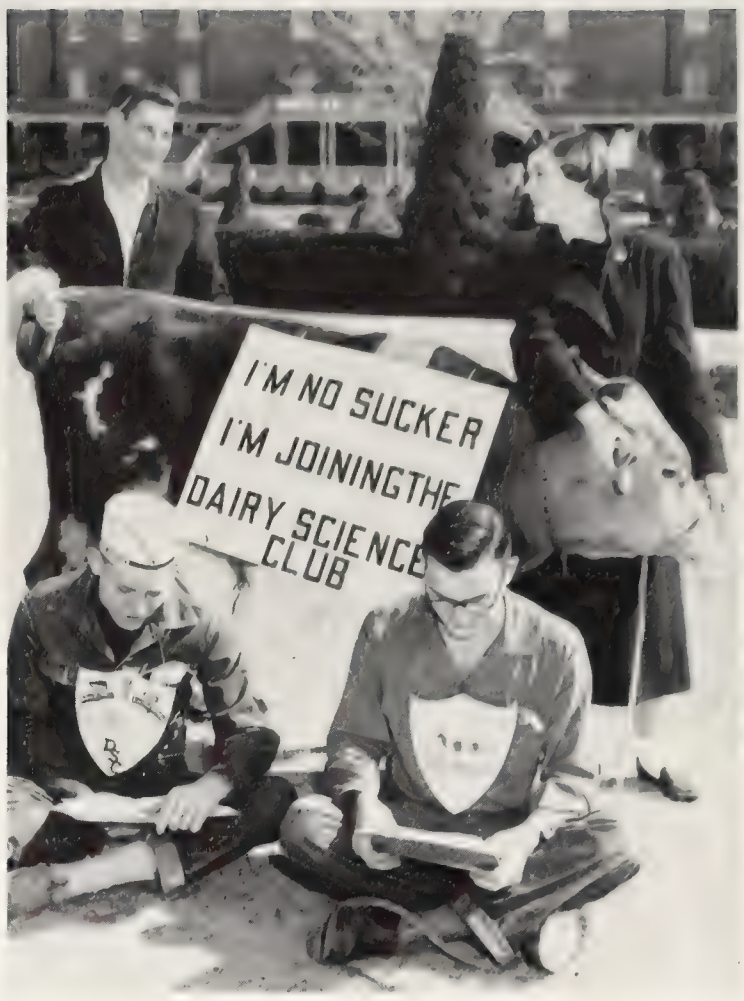

. . . Muriel McGlamery, an arts and sciences student, for her capable leadership as president of the Women's Athletic association. Muriel, a member of Mortar Board and the Student Senate, has proven herself as one of A&M's most outstanding women athletes. She was also selected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

. . . Dwight Griggs, president of Cordell hall. Dwight's leadership in the men's dormitory proved most successful and resulted in his election to the post of president of the Independent Men's Residence Halls council, governing body for all men's dormitories on the campus. Dwight is a student in the School of Arts and Sciences.

GLEN LEMON, Editor-in-Chief

DONNA JO BRADLEY

PAULINE HALLEY

The 1955 Redskin, Volume 46

DEAR FRIENDS:

THE 1955 REDSKIN has been designed to reflect the lives of those 8,000 students who make up the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college.

We, members of the REDSKIN staff, are proud and happy to have had the privilege of producing this graphic record of a year of college life at A&M. We have attempted to show the college at work and play in order that the reader may recall memories, both old and new, during his four years at Aggieland.

This is volume number 46 in the REDSKIN family, and for we who have witnessed its growth since the spring of 1954, its reality is closely coordinated with our own years, from freshman through senior at A&M. We can realize that warm feeling of accomplishment that has been felt by each and every staff member who may have assisted in only the slightest way on each of those past publications. We have enjoyed it. Now that the last bit of copy has been sent to the printers, it has come time to dwell a moment on those people who make possible this year's REDSKIN. By taking advantage of each other's good nature and willingness to work—and sometimes the threat of physical torture—we have been able to put together these 550 pages. This is the way it started.

AFTER GLEN LEMON was appointed by the board of publications as editor of the yearbook, plans and ideas were formulated during the spring and summer months, with the thought constantly in mind of creating a book that would equal those of the past. We didn't desire to be especially different, but to produce a book each and every Aggie would appreciate and enjoy. Naturally, we wanted to keep up the precedent established in the 1954 REDSKIN, as it was awarded "All-American" rating by the Associated Collegiate Press.

While Lemon spent most of his time in the office with the work of preparing pictures for the engraver, and keeping the office coordinated, Bill Gooden and Charlie Wieman traveled over the campus setting up pictures for the opening section of the book. When they finished with that assignment, they then started in on the feature pictures. And along with Jim O'Brien and Lou Alba, they completed the organizations pictures, which were taken in the ballroom of the Student Union.

Secretary Pauline Halley began the year at Osborn's studio collecting the necessary information on each of the students having his picture made for the yearbook. She alternated with Donna Jo Bradley, REDSKIN secretary, who was in charge of signing contracts for the 135 organizations pages in the 1955 REDSKIN.

Maxine Page, Marilyn Norris, Don Bence, Janet Palmer, Marilyn Drake, Ann Osborne and Sue Mack will long be remembered for their assistance given when we met that first engraving deadline. We made that deadline, of course, but it could not have been accomplished without the determination of all of you who helped out when we really needed you and with the cooperation of many others.

Louis Alba

Marilyn Norris

Ginger Highleyman, Donna Taylor

Carolyn Frantz, Gerry Wyatt

Dick hays, in his first year on the staff, ably took over the task of securing the organizational copy and rewriting it into the proper form. Carolyn Frantz and Gerry Wyatt helped work out the details of the Redskin beauty contest and produced an interesting and smoothly run event.

Ginger Highleyman and Donna Taylor were responsible for the feature pictures and the cutlines written in this book. They spent a considerable amount of time counting out each cutline in order that they might come out the right length. They were assisted by Shirley Rinnert, Nancy Harrison, Kathy Hays, Pat Carlson, Dorothy Corn, Norvelle Wycoff, Shirley Marsh and Beth Roche.

Hank Green, Bob Buford and John Hughes supplied the living groups' feature pictures during the fall semester. Mrs. Reba Moore, student publications secretary, assisted with a considerable amount of typing. Even a few members of the O'Collegian staff assisted when we were attempting to meet those many deadlines.

Suggestions, ideas and helpful criticism were the contributions of Elmer Woodson, director of student publications, and Joe Bevis, assistant director. These two men solved the basic problems and helped to remedy the mistakes which were made.

Without all these persons and probably a hundred others who helped in some small way, this book could not have become a reality. We have appreciated your help and we hope you enjoyed it. The success or failure of the 1955 Redskin is now in your hands. If you are able to enjoy it in some small way, the 5,000 hours or so we have spent in the production will be our most cherished memento.

Daily O'Collegian, 60th Year

The daily o'collegian began its 60th year of continuous publication this fall with an experienced staff, having lost only one member from the previous semester's staff. Neil Goble, commerce senior from Stillwater, was first semester editor. Regular staff members from last spring who continued their O'Collegian work this year were Bob Rives, Louie Geiser, Jean Simpson, Kay Herwig, Mary Tanner, Jim Williams and Jim Wilson.

Holding regular staff spots for the first time this year were Jedeane Reeves, Kent Shamblin and Charlie Hollar.

Named as associate editor for the autumn semester was Rives, an arts and sciences senior from Woodward, whose primary duty was production editor. Geiser, Stillwater commerce junior, and Miss Simpson, Tulsa arts and sciences senior, were assistant editors. News editors in the fall were Miss Herwig, Miss Tanner, Wilson and Shamblin, and assistant news editor was Miss Reeves. Williams was sports editor and Hollar assistant sports editor.

This fall saw the inauguration of a new journalism instruction method. All freshman journalism students served as reporters for the newspaper, in addition to the regular junior class students who obtained college credit for their O'Collegian work. This served to keep the O'Collegian well provided with coverage of all campus events.

The 1954-55 school year for the O'Collegian was highlighted by a considerably higher percentage of the paper being devoted to campus news events, although the O'Collegian also kept readers supplied with state, national and world news of interest.

In all, the O'Collegian provided practical journalistic experience for more than 100 students in all facets of the field—editing, writing, public relations, advertising, linotype operation, proofreading, printing, presswork and circulation. Doing yeoman's service on advertising were Allan Eitel, Don Whitaker, Don Doty and Gene Cowan, in addition to Joe Bevis, assistant business manager.

All worked hand in hand with Elmer Woodson, director of student publications, and journalism faculty members who coordinated the efforts of the freshman reporters with the regular staff members.

This year also brought the inauguration of a weekly church page, which was edited by Marlan Nelson of Haskell.

O'Collegian work is somewhat demanding of its staff members, as the paper must be printed five days a week whether or not staffers have tests. And work goes on into the night and sometimes into the morning hours, with the higher echelon staff members takink turns as night editors. Many a formal dance has been missed because a student's turn came on Friday night.

But the workers take their assignments without complaint, for they realize that in addition to serving their fellow students they are also gaining valuable practical training for the journalistic field.

Aggievator Is Humor Magazine

THE 35TH YEAR of publication of the Aggievator—Oklahoma A&M's only humor magazine—marked a new year for major policy changes. Starting in September of this year, the price of the Aggievator was raised and to the consternation of both students and staff members proved a successful adventure.

Boasting an almost entirely new staff with no journalism majors in the crowd and concentrating on college-scale humor instead of humor-less political scandals, the Aggievator got over the rough spots in a hurry and presented some material to the students that led to many chuckles . . . exactly what they wanted. Humor such as this paid off, and once again the Aggievator ranked in the top twenty across the nation and ended up printing almost 15,000 magazines for the year. These Aggievators went to other campuses, and to many a GI stationed at various points on the globe.

HEADING THIS YEAR'S Aggievator, and very efficiently, was Norman Moore. Carlos Calderon, art and layout editor, was right hand man to Moore and of inestimable help to the production of the magazine. Another man high in praise was the circulation manager, Harold Brown. Don Whitaker, first semester advertising manager, and Don Booher, second semester adman, were also highly valuable to the magazine. Such staff members as Dick Danne, who helped burn the midnight oil, and exchange editors Jackie Merchant and Sylvia Knopp . . . all deserved special notice. People such as Yvonne King, Marlene Burget, Mickey Cantwell, and John Eager were the type of staff members who were always around at the right time.

This year the Aggievator added a little color—not only to the cover, but on the inside as well—through more use of local talent than ever before. Stories, cartoon spreads, poems, etc., were written and drawn by Aggies to satisfy Aggies, and proved to be quite successful.

ANOTHER BIG POLICY CHANGE for the Aggievator staff this year, which was proposed by Moore, was to have the editor serve one semester only. It is believed that a bigger and better Aggievator may be produced through this approach.

Unknown to many people is the element of time which goes into the publication of each Aggievator. Several weeks are spent in hunting up humorous, but censor-passing jokes and cartoons, and also to draw up material of their own. This small feat usually takes about a week's time, plus plenty of coal-oil for the lamps, and many class-cuts. All in all, it's a pretty educational situation, but the experience obtained undoubtedly is worth-while in the long run.

As far as the staff was concerned, it was a long haul . . . much enjoyed.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

Governing Board Selects Editors, Directs Activities of Various Student Publications

It was 5:45 p.m. on Wednesday. Ten persons were seated in a Student Union meeting room. The door to the room was open.

Bob Rives, editor of The Daily O'Collegian for the second semester, was speaking. His audience: members of the Board of Student Publications.

"The suggestions that you have made today have been helpful," he told the group. "We will try two or three ideas that were mentioned here and see how they work in the O'Colly.

PROF. R. B. THOMPSON presents a student publications gold key award to Jim McLain, senior student board member.

"And many thanks for the opportunity to discuss O'Collegian policies with you."

The chairman of the board of publications, Prof. Clement E. Trout, assured the editor that the board was happy to be of assistance.

"Your job," Trout explained, "is to see to it that the O'Collegian staff does the best job it can in producing our college newspaper each day. Our job is to be of any assistance to you folks that we can, through advice and suggestions."

The board of student publications, which supervises the editorial operations of all A&M student publications, is a student-faculty committee. Trout, the chairman, is head of the journalism department; Dean C. H. McElroy, a faculty representative, is dean emeritus of the School of Veterinary Medicine and the other faculty members are Prof. R. B. Thompson, head of the poultry department, and Dr. Cecil Williams of the English department.

Larry Wright and Jim McLain are the senior student members on the board and Beverly Cooper and Hugh Jones are junior members.

Elmer Woodson is editorial director and business manager of A&M student publications. He also serves as executive secretary of the Board of Publications.

The discussion with the O'Collegian editor concluded, the chairman called for the next item of business.

Norman Moore, Aggievator editor, would like to present a list of new staff members for approval. (After being recommended by the editors, all editorial staff members of the Aggievator, O'Collegian and Redskin must be approved by the board.) Also, two or three items of business concerning the O'Collegian and Redskin were discussed. Woodson reported he had just checked with Redskin Editor Glen Lemon and the yearbook production is moving along in excellent shape.

More than 75 students were associated with the three student publications this year. The O'Collegian, Redskin and Aggievator serve as a thorough training ground in the editorial and business phases of daily newspaper, monthly magazine and college yearbook production.

THE OKLAHOMA STATE ENGINEER, a magazine published four times yearly by students of Oklahoma Institute of Technology, began its 20th year of publication.

This year a special emphasis was placed on editorial material dealing with Oklahoma industries, news of OIT and articles of general interest to all engineers. The OSE held its first cover contest, in which 10 students entered, Dick Danne being the winner. An awards banquet honored the staff members and their guests.

OSE will announce in May a list of approximately 12 students who have brought distinction to A&M and OIT in all phases of campus life in addition to engineering. This feature is called "OSE Salutes."

Any undergraduate student enrolled in the school of engineering is eligible to be on the OSE staff. Staff departments include business, story, layout, art, photography and circulation.

THE OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURIST, now in its second year of publication, is a student magazine which exists primarily for the students in agriculture at A&M. All work on the magazine is done by students in the School of Agriculture, and any student in that school may be a member of the staff.

The Agriculturist's purposes are to serve Oklahoma agriculture in particular and agriculture in general; to stimulate the thinking of agricultural students and encourage a broad, over-all view of agrciulture; to help build an even better Oklahoma A&M and a better Oklahoma; to work for a sound understanding of agricultural problems by leaders and future leaders by presenting factual information without a background of biased opinion; to promote agricultural enterprise by presenting practical, readable information, and to uphold and promote agriculture as a way of life.

The Oklahoma A&M college Agronomy club is a student branch of the American Society of Agronomy. There are 36 agronomy clubs in the United States and the Oklahoma A&M club is the largest chapter. The local chapter has about 130 members and initiated 45 members during the 1954-55 school year. All Aggies should be proud that one of the national student societies is represented on this campus by a larger membership than any other university.

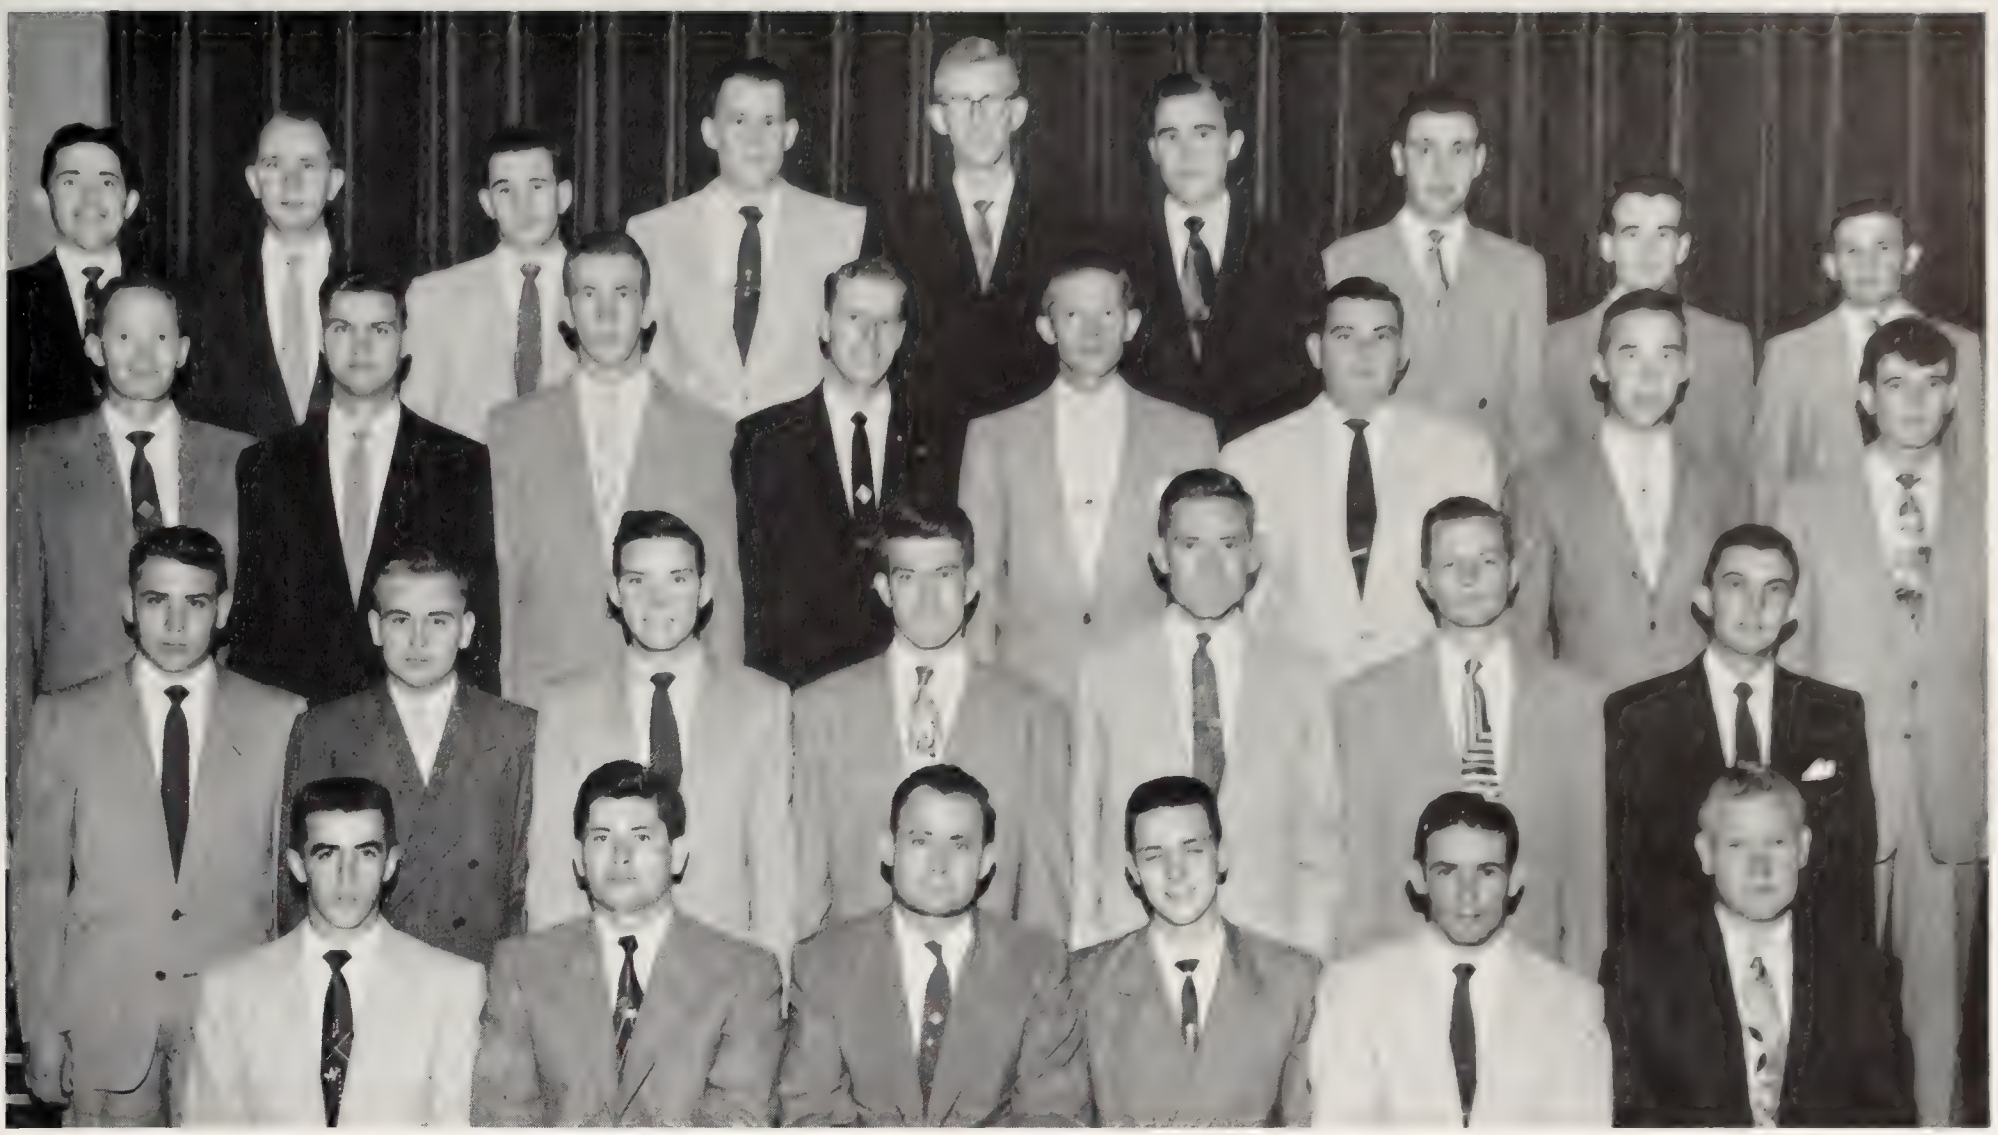

The Agronomy club sponsors a homecoming float, freshman-sophomore crops and land judging contests, junior-senior crops and land judging contests, intercollegiate crops and land judging teams, interscholastic crops and land judging contest and aids in and sponsor many other activities. The Agronomy club is truly a service club.

The most outstanding event of the year was the selection of the agronomy club queen, Miss Shirley Ann Smith, senior in home ecnomics from Apache.

Another highlight of the year was the annual banquet in honor of graduating seniors. Dean Randall Jones was the banquet speaker and Claude Bradshaw of Stillwater was honored as one of the early agronomy graduates and for his continued interest in the club.

WE HOPE THAT THE PIE SUPPER with the home economics girls becomes an annual affair. It was a tremendous success, both clubs made some money and a good time was had by all.

The most humorous event of the year was the annual softball game between the club and faculty. The officiating was "biased," and at the end of the official seven innings the club was ahead by four runs. The faculty "pulled ranks" and two more innings were played at which time the score stood 19-18. Agronomy club won! The faculty vows revenge for 1955 and the members vow to bring old man Doubleday's rule book along.

The Agronomy club was founded in 1922 and was affiliated with the junior section of the American Society of Agronomy in 1934. The purpose of the club is to promote fellowship among its members and to widen their acquaintance in the field of agronomy.

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional commerce fraternity, was founded Nov. 23, 1904, at New York university. Since that time the fraternity has grown to more than 85 chapters and 26 alumni chapters in the United States. Alpha Kappa Psi is the first and largest commerce fraternity in the United States. Tau chapter was installed April 10, 1920.

This year Alpha Kappa Psi heard prominent speakers from the campus and away, on business and school problems. A national officer, Robert Koch, assistant executive secretary, visited the campus to help with any problems and give advice. The first semester industrial tour to Oklahoma City included Merril-Lynch-Pierce-Fenner & Bean, Federal Reserve branch bank and Wilson Packing plant. Bill Johnson and Jerry Herzberg went to Arkansas university for the district convention in October. Ginger Griffin and Jerry Herzberg led the members and pledge through a successful campaign of selling magazines subscriptions. Further activities included Blue Key carnival and helping the commerce school through the Commerce Student council.

Membership in Alpha Kappa Psi is open to all commerce men students possessing an overall grade average of 2.5.

Alpha Psi fraternity is a national fraternity composed of veterinary students and graduates. It was founded at Ohio State university in 1907. There are 12 chapters of Alpha Psi, the newest of which is Mu chapter, chartered at Oklahoma A&M college on May 23, 1954.

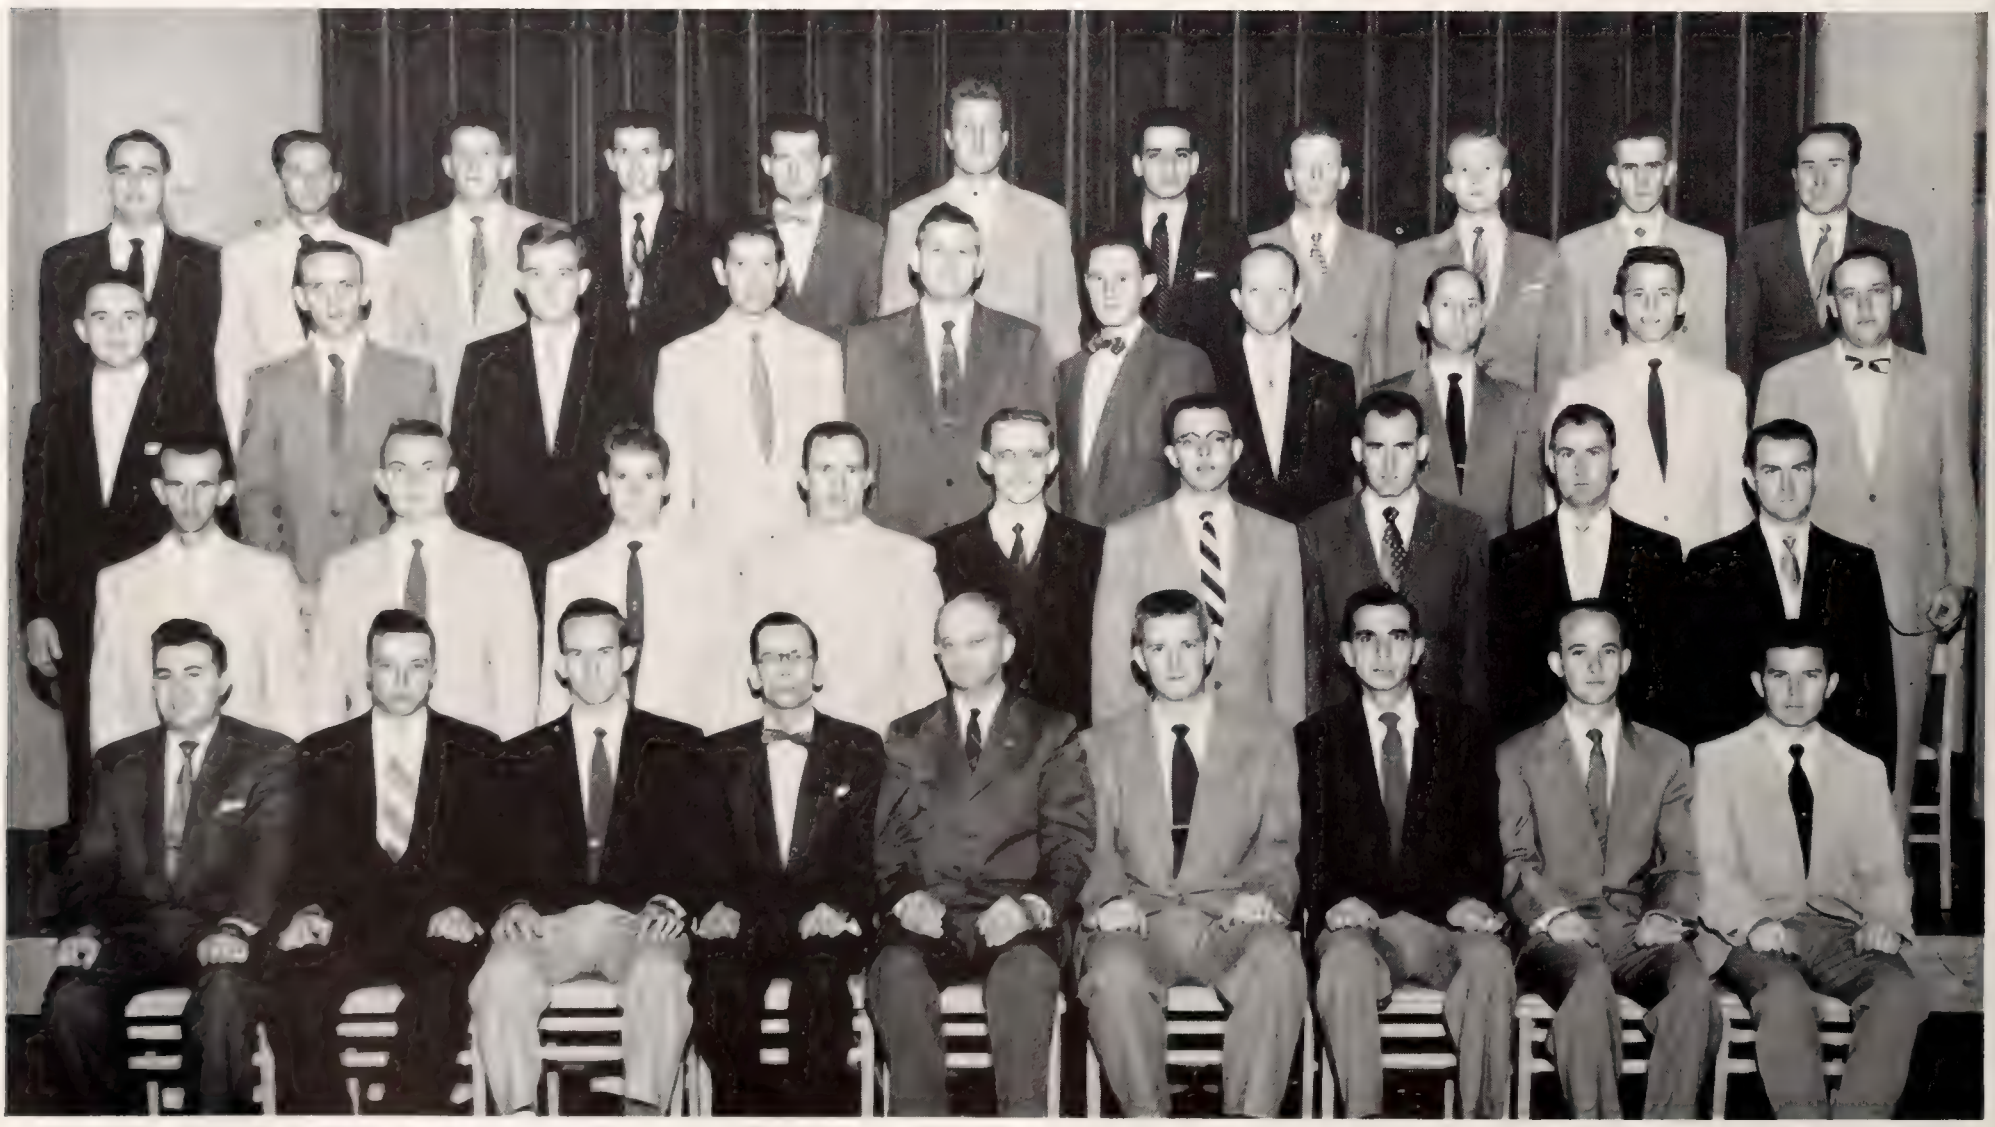

In the spring of 1953, the organization was formed as a local fraternity, Mu Alpha Psi, when the great advantage gained by the existence of a professional-social fraternity, both in academic and social lines, became apparent to the students.

Veterinary Medicine is the newest school on the campus, and, since Alpha Psi is a new organization of this school, it hopes to have as bright a future as that of the school.

The main activities of Alpha Psi have thus far been confined to obtaining new members and entertaining members and their wives and dates at various social functions throughout the year.

The members of Alpha Psi hope that in the future they can obtain a house, engage in more campus activities and strive to further the veterinary profession both as students and alumni.

ALPHA PI MU (I. E.)

ALPHA PI MU is an honor society recognizing scholarship and leadership for the graduates and students in the field of industrial engineering. The upper third of the senior and upper fifth of the junior industrial engineering students are eligible for membership. The society was founded in 1949 at Georgia Tech and the Oklahoma A&M chapter was chartered in 1951. The main function of the society is fellowship among the outstanding men in indusrtial engineering at informal dinner meetings and discussions held twice monthly.

Although fellowship is the basic function, the Oklahoma A&M chapter was named the most outstanding chapter in the nation in 1951. This was based on the chapter activities and services. The Alpha Pi Mu candidate, the former Miss Joan Sutton, was elected Engineering queen for 1953-54. Alpha Pi Mu supports both student and professional organizations of AIIE and has published and distributed two brochures on industrial engineering. It is a high point of every member's college career to be a part of one of the most active honor societies on the campus.

ALPHA PI MU (Pre-Med)

In 1921 a pre-medical fraternity was established on this campus to help interested students learn more about their chosen field. The name, Alpha Pi Mu, was selected in 1924. Alpha Pi Mu membership is open to all sophomore students that have a 2.5 grade average and are interested in the pre-professional courses of pre-medicine, pre-veterinary medicine, pre-medical technology, pre-dental, pre-nursing and other fields related to medicine.

Featured at the twice monthly meetings are speakers in various fields related to medicine films that would interest the pre-professional students. Trips are planned each year to places of interest to the pre-medical student. Last year the feature trip was to the Oklahoma University school of medicine and this year the organization toured the Central State hospital at Norman.

Pledges are initiated twice a year. Among their activities they are required to wear a doctor's smock to class, carry a black bag, wear a stethoscope and carry a bone that all the student's instructors must sign.

Each year an award is given to the Alpha Pi Mu member that has the highest gradepoint average.

ALPHA ZETA

OKLAHOMA CHARTER of the national honorary agricultural fraternity of Alpha Zeta was established on April 24, 1916. It became the 25th chapter of the national fraternity which was founded on the Ohio State university campus Nov. 4, 1897. The organization has since spread across the nation to 49 agricultural institutions of higher learning.

The purposes of Alpha Zeta are to foster high standards of achievements, render service and promote the profession of agriculture through fellowship and goodwill.

Alpha Zeta strives to serve the School of Agriculture at Oklahoma A&M by a number of activities. Outstanding among these is its outstanding instructor award presented annually to the instructor in the School of Agriculture who makes the greatest contribution to the students and to agriculture. Last year's award recipient was Dr. L. A. "Bill" Pope, associate professor of animal husbandry. Pope was judged outstanding instructor on a point basis, and received a large loving cup and a $250 cash award provided by Roy T. Hoke and Harley Thomas, Alpha Zeta alumni.

• • • • HONORARY AGRICULTURAL FRATERNITY

This year, for the first time, Alpha Zeta sponsored a graduate opportunities panel as a service to the entire School of Agriculture. This panel, consisting of the graduate dean and faculty members, was originated for the purpose of promoting interest in graduate work and helping students to plan their graduate careers in agriculture.

MEMBERS OF ALPHA ZETA who won high honors while participating on college judging teams were Andy Alexander, who was high individual in meat judging at Chicago; Dale Wooderson, proved high individual in the livestock at both Kansas City and Chicago, and Eddie Fisher, high individual in livestock at Fort Worth.

Several Alpha Zeta men received awards for their outstanding scholarship and leadership. They included Morris Thurman, who received the Borden dairy products award; Bill Alldredge, winning the agriculture leadership award, given by the Milk Industry foundation, and Jim Hazenback, the Sears scholarship. Carl Caskey was an applicant for the Rhodes scholarship.

Thurman, Caskey, Alldredge and Alexander were also chosen for Who's Who in American universities and colleges, along with Carl Shafer and Richard Humphreys.

A. I. A. AND BEAUX ARTS

THE OKLAHOMA A&M student chapter of the American Institute of Architects was granted its charter on May 15, 1950. The purpose of the student chapter is to help prepare the student for his entry into the profession by having educational films and speakers at meetings and by enabling him to attend senior A.I.A. meetings and conventions. It also acquaints him with the aims of the mother organization. One of these aims is to promote better understanding between the public and the architect. Students in the student chapter become members of the parent organization upon graduation.

The Beaux-Arts society is one of the few organizations on the campus whose principal efforts are devoted toward merely "having a good time." Annually, the group holds one of the most colorful costume dances on the campus. Beaux-Arts ball, as it is generally known, takes on a different theme for each of the yearly events, which is appropriately decorated in an abstract way. The national society also has other activities such as dinner meetings and speakers at their business meetings.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

THE STUDENT BRANCH of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers has as its purpose the advancement and dissemination of knowledge of the theory and practice of mechnical engineering, the presentation of a proper perspective of engineering work, and the opportunity to become acquainted with the personnel and activities of the society as well as to promote a professional awareness and fellowship.

One way this is done is through the society's monthly journal, Mechanical Engineering, which every member receives.

Members may also attend student branch conferences where papers are presented by students of the various schools in the region. In the past year, A&M members have won one first and two second place prizes at these conferences.

Members may also enter written papers in competition for cash prizes. Each year many practicing engineers from industry are brought to the campus to address the members on their particular branch of the profession. Starting this year, the student branches of four societies in the school of mechanical engineering have joined together for one joint meeting each month to help bind the school together.

AQUATIC CLUB

THE AQUATIC CLUB at Oklahoma A&M was organized in 1946. Its purpose is the promotion of water safety and improvement in group and individual swimming.

All students who can satisfactorily meet the swimming endurance and skill tests of the club are eligible for membership. Tryouts are held at the beginning of each semester.

The group begins work on the annual water pageant, which is written and directed by the students, in December. Members work hard during the semester, perfecting the different strokes and various stunts used in synchronized swimming in preparation for the water pageant.

"Neptune's Court" was last year's pageant theme. In the pageant, King Neptune was royally entertained by penguins, fish, pearls, and other sea things and animals. This year's theme was "An Artist's Palette."

Although these watershows are work, all the members agree there is more fun to it than work.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS

THE FOUNDATION of the American Society of Agricultural engineers resulted from realization of the importance of a professional recognition of the engineering field.

The student branch is the beginning of the students' association with the professional men of their chosen field, and promotes a bond of friendship and understanding among the sutdent engineers and the faculty.

All meetings are planned from the viewpoint of familiarizing the members with events, progress and development in the agricultural engineering profession. James E. Bradley, chairman of the program committee, conducts these meetings with the help of outside speakers, slides and movies.

Chairman of the social committee, Norman Ryker, is in charge of field trips, dances and an annual picnic honoring graduating seniors. Also, the student branch participates in the Engineering and Science exposition and Farm Equipment institute contest.

In the Farm Equipment institute contest, A&M branch placed second in the group B competition. The FEI award is an annual award presented to the outstanding student branches in the nation. The student branch also presents, annually, to the most outstanding student in agricultural engineering, an honor award based on a system of points and credits.

Schiller Scroggs	Advisor

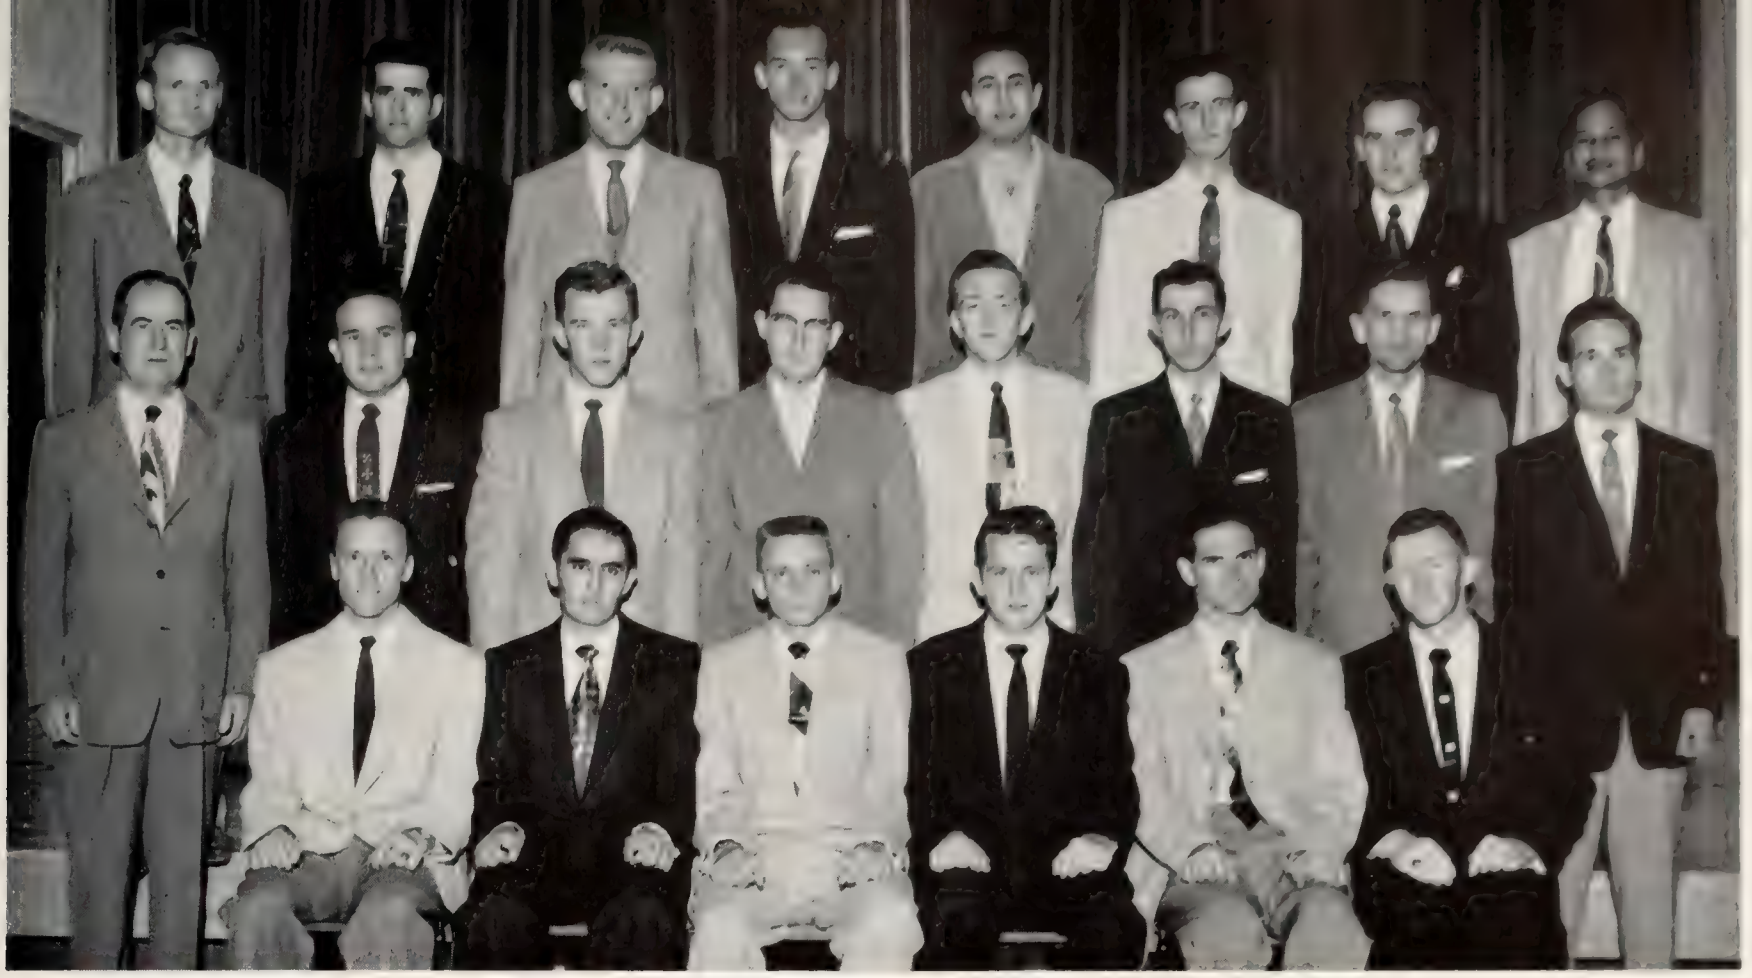

The arts and sciences Student council, organized in the spring of 1951, is sponsored by Dean Schiller Scroggs. It is composed of 25 members, one representative from each department in the School of Arts and Sciences and one student senator, Carol Montgomery.

The council strives to serve the students of the School of Arts and Sciences in every way possible and to act as an intermediary between the students and faculty. Meetings are held monthly in which various problems are discussed by council members and faculty.

A scholarship of $75 is awarded each year to the sophomore boy and girl who are the most deserving and who have a need for it. They must be carrying no less than 13 hours and making at least a 2.8 grade average. This year the recipients of the scholarships were James Flourney and Leola Carley.

Norman Moore headed a committee responsible for the school's part in Senior Career day.

The council sponsored the annual dance given in honor of high school seniors on Senior Career day at which time the Arts and Science queen Mickey Lewis was crowned.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union serves as a link between college students and the Baptist churches of Stillwater. Jim Martin, minister of students for this "home away from," not only advises the 50 students on the executive and freshman councils, and the officers of the religious organization, but also coordinates the activities of the student center.

The highlight of the school year for the A&M group was being hosts for the state BSU convention in Stillwater. Coming from Oklahoma college campuses, over 1,000 students participated in the three-day event.

Other important phases of Baptist life are nightly vespers, noon-day prayer meetings, revival teams, fellowships, Saturday night parties and participation in intramural sports. Some of the chairmen for these activities were Cliff Wilkerson and Mickey Lewis, vespers chairmen; Charles Key and Colleen Vaughan, social chairmen; Beverly Cooper, fellowship chairman; Mary Beth Taylor, art chairman; Don Phillips, enlistment chairman; Darrell Miller, intramurals chairman, and Gene Stone, devotional vice-president.

The facilities of the modernistic building aid in promoting a friendly feeling for all who make the BSU their home while at college. In the building are rooms for prayer, study, vespers, conferences and meetings as well as the recreation hall and kitchen. The living room is equipped with radios, TV and record players which can be enjoyed while sitting before the fireplace.

Block and bridle club, the largest departmental club on the campus and the largest chapter in the nation, is a national organization for animal husbandry majors.

The complete support of the intercollegiate livestock and meats judging teams is one of the club's main objectives. Each year the club appropriates approximately $1,700 for judging team expenses. This is one basic reason for the fine record which A&M meats and livestock judging teams have compiled over the years.

This year the livestock team finished fourth at Kansas City in the American Royal contest and first at the International livestock judging contest in Chicago. Bill Carmichael was second high individual at both Kansas City and Chicago and Don Gooch was eighth ranking individual at the International contest.

Other members of the livestock judging teams were Gardner Arteberry, Charles Day, Ross Hackler, Frank Hunt, Kenneth Idsardi, Eddie Kimbrell, Wally Roark, Andy Wilcox and Bob Zwingle.

The meats judging team also compiled a record identical to that of its livestock judging classmates in finishing fourth at Kansas City and first at Chicago. Dale Wooderson, Aggie team member, won high individual at Kansas City, while teammate Andy Alexander was the top judge in the International contest. Wooderson also finished sixth and Harold Spies eighth in individual rankings at Chicago. Other team mem-

Selected as the outstanding senior in Block and Bridle club last year was Melvin Greeley, who served as A&M's candidate for the Merit trophy award. Greeley ranked fifth in national competition at Chicago during selection for the outstanding member of the national Block and Bridle club.

THIS YEAR Block and Bridle club held its annual spring and fall rodeos, entered a float in the homecoming parade and assisted with Senior Career day exhibit and tours.

A new project undertaken by the Oklahoma chapter has been the creation of a $100 scholarship, which is to be awarded annually to the outstanding all-around animal husbandry sophomore.

Sponsoring the Little International fitting and showing contest for freshmen and sophomores in which the outstanding livestock showman is selected, and assisting the animal husbandry department in carrying out Feeder's day and the Quality Prince Aberdeen Angus sale were among the club's other activities.

College theater guild, A&M's newest student drama group, has grown from a membership of only a handful in 1953 to well over 100 at the present time. The organization opens its membership to students interested in any phase of theater work, including lighting, scenery, costumes, make-up and acting. The pledges earn their points by participation in major productions either as a member of the cast or on the production crew.

The organization is primarily engaged in the production of stage plays on the campus. William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet," starring Annawyn DeBenning and Jim Green, was presented during the Autumn Festival of Fine Arts. In February "The Mad Woman of Chaillot," starring Pat Graham, was presented. Both were directed by Mrs. Olive Hilles, with assistance from Dr. John Green and Miss Vivia Locke, all of the speech department.

A new venture of the group, begun the fall semester of 1954, is sponsorship of the production of a one-act play each month of the school year. These plays, with a cast of students who enjoy theater work, are directed by College Theater Guild members.

COMMERCE STUDENT COUNCIL

COMMERCE STUDENT COUNCIL is the advisory body to the dean and faculty of the Division of Commerce, seeking ways to improve student-faculty relationships and providing activities of interest to commerce students.

Membership on the council is highly select, with membership limited to 35 students chosen by a joint student-faculty committee. Also, the presidents of commerce organizations, along with the commerce senator and commerce queen are on the council.

The biggest activity of the year for the council is the School of Commerce's Business and Professional day each spring, at which time noted successful businessmen are brought to the campus for speaking engagements, tours and a luncheon. The program, inaugurated last year, was so successful that it will be repeated annually.

COLLEGIATE FFA CLUB

THE COLLEGIATE CHAPTER of the Future Farmers of America was organized on the campus of Oklahoma A&M college on March 3, 1932. The chapter is sponsored by the department of agricultural education and is the oldest collegiate chapter in the United States. Membership includes students who are majoring in every department in the Division of Agriculture, although the chapter was organized especially for students of agriculture education who are planning to become teachers of vocational agriculture in the secondary schools of the state.

The main objectives of the organization are to promote a spirit of cooperation and goodwill among high school and college students who are members of the Future Farmers of America organization; to provide training for leadership in the activities of the Future Farmers of America for the young men at Oklahoma A&M college who are planning to become leaders in the Oklahoma division of the organization; to promote vocational education in agriculture in the secondary schools of the state; lastly, to cooperate with the state and national organizations in promoting the activities, purposes and ideals of the Future Farmers of America.

Meetings are held twice each month and are of a social as well as business nature. Songs and refreshments are included in the meeting and stress is laid on the promotion of vocational education in agriculture by all speakers and in all discussion panels.

SINCE MOST of the members of the Collegiate Future Farmers of America plan to become actively engaged in agriculture work, the A&M chapter of FFA has sought to help these future agricultural workers learn things which might later prove of value to them. They stress, in particular, that phase of work known as vocational agriculture. The group hopes, through better understanding of rural problems, to aid and improve the economic and educational conditions of rural America; and to cooperate with other agencies whose objectives are the improvement of farm life in Oklahoma.

Dallas! Wichita! Tulsa! Where the Aggies go, so goes the Cowpokes pep club! The Cowpokes took Dallas by storm, dressed in bluejeans, boots, black stetsons, black and white shirts and armed with .22 caliber pistols. The "Big D" pep rally proved both exciting and colorful as the Dallas police "ran the boys in" for wearing their shootin' irons, but the Cowpokes talked their way out of the jam.

When the Aggies beat Tulsa, Phil Neuman, club vice-president, was so happy he sheared the TU pep club presidents head. Each year, the Cowpokes vice-president bets his hair with the TU pep club president on the outcome of the TU-Aggie game. Richard Kortermeir is the new "veep." Phil was promoted to the presidency.

Last year at the Blue Key carnival, the Cowpokes were represented by a rat race. The Pi Phi girls were panicked by the mice, but they got even by showering the rat race with face powder.

Delta sigma alpha, collegiate 4-H club, is composed of former 4-H members, enrolled in the Oklahoma A&M college, whose foremost aim is to further their understanding of rural problems in the United States and throughout the world. Former membership in the 4-H club work, usually in a rural community, has provided the group with a common basis to meet its aim.

Meetings have included reports on National 4-H camp and National 4-H club congress, and guest speakers who presented interesting side talks, or discussion on rural conditions in Ethiopia, Australia and India.

Various social activities were held throughout the year including "pledging" of new members, weiner roasts, picnics and the usual 4-H group singing. Carolyn Crumm was Delta Sigma Alpha's successful candidate for "Aggie Princess." Carolyn replaced another former 4-H'er, the 1953-54 princess, Roberta Woodson. The Aggie princess reigns over the entire School of Agriculture.

In marking its 36th year on the Oklahoma A&M campus as an active organization, Delta Sigma Alpha has established itself as one of the "rungs" of the ladder to success in the former 4-H members college career in striving to carry out the 4-H club motto: "To make the best better." The group's colors are green and white, as adopted from the National 4-H club organization.

ONE OF THEIR MOST IMPORTANT events of the year is when Delta Sigma Alpha has its annual open house. The purpose of this open house is to show other interested 4-H'ers the state winning record books which are on display at this time. 4-H members and those people that are involved in 4-H work from this state and adjoining states are the ones that attend. This year about 300 people from 27 counties and 4 states came to the A&M campus to attend the affair.

Tom Tate, of Delta Sigma Alpha, is president of the state 4-H organization. Coleta McAllister is the national achievement winner, which is the highest honor any 4-H girl can attain. National camp winners are John Thornton, LaRae Dowell and Tom Tate. Delta Sigma Alpha has six former hall of fame winners in Zerle Carpenter, Virginia Wyatt, Gordon Dowell, Bill Carmichael, Carolyn Crumm and Joy Alexander.

STATE 4-H KEY CLUB ALUMNI group officers are members of Delta Sigma Alpha and they send letters to former members throughout the United States. These letters keep the former members up to date on the happenings in the 4-H circles. Present members of Delta Sigma Alpha are using or have used $9,000 won in 4-H scholarships in the state and national 4-H awards program.

Delta Sigma Alpha has 97 members with an installation for new officers being held each spring. The club observes National 4-H club week by presenting displays in the Student Union.

In June, the members of Delta Sigma Alpha will have an active part in the 4-H Round-Up held on the Oklahoma A&M campus. They will act as host to the visiting 4-H'ers. About 2,000 4-H boys and girls and their sponsors will be present at the round-up.

EDUCATION STUDENT COUNCIL

Membership of the council consists of three representatives from each class who serve for a period of one year and who have a 2.0 grade average.

ETA KAPPA NU

ETA KAPPA NU is a national electrical engineering honor society for students who excel in the studies of electrical engineering and for graduate engineers and scientists who have outstanding ability and leadership in this field.

The purpose of the association is "That those in the profession of electrical engineering, who, by their attainments in college or in practice, have manifested a deep interest and marked ability in their chosen life work, may be brought into closer union whereby mutual benefit may be derived."

Eta Kappa Nu was organized in 1904, and the first charter was granted to the University of Illinois at that time. In 1930, the charter for Oklahoma A&M college was granted, with the title of Omega chapter. From that time to this, the organization has been one of many activities. In most of the schoolwide events (such as the Engineering exposition), Eta Kappa Nu offers its assistance in the form of chapter and individual member participation.

Marked ability, as evidenced by scholarship and other qualities which indicate that the student will be a success in his profession, comprise the membership qualifications.

FIREMAN'S CLUB

OFFICERS

Earl C. Jones	President
Lee Clayton	Vice-President
Ed O'Donoghue	Secretary
Art Carroll	Treasurer
R. J. Douglas	Advisor

The past year has been a year of marked progress for the Stillwater Firemen's club. Besides adopting a new crest, the group improved its magazine, "Wyed Lines", which is edited by Bruce French, constructed displays in the Student Union and reached the football intramural semi-finals. Also, the club took an active part in civic affairs by participating in "Help Week." They painted street signs and collected food for the Stillwater mission. At the close of "Help Week" this year, as in the past, the organization sponsored a "Help Week" dance.

The Firemen's club is chiefly composed of students who are studying fire protection, who constitute the main source of manpower of the Stillwater fire department. The time, effort and personal risk involved in fighting fires that occur in Stillwater and surrounding areas is contributed by the students on a voluntary basis. As a result of furnishing fire protection for the local area, the students have an opportunity to put their classroom theories into practice.

After graduation, students have job opportunities awaiting them with insurance companies, fire equipment companies, industry, municipalities and related fields.

THE FLYING AGGIES

THE FLYING AGGIES, organized in 1948 to promote student and faculty participation in aviation, lists 80 active and associate members. Sponsored by Hoyt Walkup, instructor of aviation education, the club offers fast and economical transportation for its members.

The club's activities are many and varied. Earlier in the year 45 members flew to Fairview for breakfast. Later, a two-day trip was made to Wichita where the group visited the Cessna Aircraft company and McConnell airforce base. In early spring, they flew to Oklahoma City to tour the Air Sales company, CAA Radio communications, the Aero Commander airplane factory and the Tinker airforce base.

The Flying Aggies have participated in several air meets and have won a number of trophies for the college. Jane Baker earned the title of "Outstanding Woman Pilot". The A&M group won the national intercollegiate flying meet at the University of Minnesota in May, 1953.

Shortly after the Forestry department was founded in 1947, the Forestry club was organized. The club serves a two-fold purpose because it gives the members a better chance to know each other as well as their instructors better, and to learn more about their chosen profession.

The membership takes an active interest in the different activities of the club. Some of the more important activities include the "Log Jam" and the spring banquet.

The interest and activities of the club not only are shown during the school year, but are carried on through the summer months.

GAMMA DELTA

Gamma delta, international association of Lutheran students, was founded on the Oklahoma A&M campus with Beta Sigma as its chapter name.

The objectives of Gamma Delta are sixfold: To foster thorough study of the Bible; to encourage and maintain Lutheran fellowship; to train Lutheran students for leadership in the church; to establish fraternal relations with Lutheran students at other institutions; to disseminate the scriptual world view in circles of higher education, and to maintain and increase Lutheran consciousness on the campus.

Activities included outings, cost suppers and various parties. A trip was taken by some of the members to the convention of the Rocky-Plains region at Manhattan, Kan. One of the group, Richard "Dick" Kortemeier, was elected vice-president of the regional association for 1954-55 and was also appointed field secretary.

Student vespers and social events are held each week in the student center at 5th and Knoblock streets.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB at A&M was founded in 1913 by 28 home economics majors. The club is divided into five sections representing the departments of the School of Home Economics, which are home economics education, home life, household arts, household science and the freshman club. Each of these clubs carry on activities that are related to the studies included in its department. Besides these five clubs, the general club meets once a month and coordinates the activities of the five separate clubs.

Each year several projects are selected for the club to participate in. For the national project this year the girls are contributing to the international scholarship fund by selling coffee every Thursday in the Home Economics building. For their state project the girls talked to girls in their local high schools about the opportunities offered by home economics and about attending Oklahoma A&M. Other projects included helping with senior day, attending the state leadership conference and providing hostesses to show visitors through the Home Economics building. The highlight of the spring semester is the senior tea.

The Oklahoma A&M Horticulture club was organized 38 years ago to promote closer association among those interested in horticulture. The organization's objectives are academic, social and professional.

The activities start each year with operation "Apple Jack." Receipts from the sale of cider help finance the annual horticulture show in the fall and the flower and vegetable judging teams in the spring. The show, which exhibits products from the various fields of horticulture, including floriculture, fruits, nuts, vegetables and landscape materials, demonstrates the steady march of progress that horticulture has and is making in Oklahoma.

In conjunction with the show a horticulture alumni banquet is held, at which time several outstanding personalities in the field of horticulture in the state are recognized and presented scrolls, club keys and an honorary lifetime membership in the club.

The flower judging team has placed first at the national contest two times in the past four years.

To finish the year off in a pleasing and appetizing manner, the underclassmen fete the seniors and faculty at a strawberry feed.

With a membership of over 200 members the International Relations council has gained national recognition and prestige because of the high quality and wide variety of its activities. The council, composed of both international and American students, discusses the global situation each week with such noted men as Austin Wheatley, British consul-general, and James Webb, former under-secretary of state.

Other activities of the council include a statewide speakers' bureau, radio and TV programs, varied social functions and a scholarship program.

The business of IRC is conducted through divisions, such as the speakers' bureau, the program and publicity divisions. The governing body of the council consists of the division directors, the elective officers and the council's advisors.

Since it was founded on the Oklahoma A&M campus in 1929, the International Relations club has gained national recognition and prestige because of its size and the variety of its activities.

To achieve its goal of bettering world conditions, the IRC strives to enlighten public understanding by exploring all avenues leading to a more peaceful and orderly union.

JUNIOR HOTEL GREETERS

THE ONLY ORGANIZATION in the state of Oklahoma pertaining to the hotel and restaurant industry is the Junior Hotel Greeters, started on this campus in 1946. Since that date the organization has continually grown. Membership is open to all students in the school of hotel and restaurant administration.

The purpose of the organization is to serve as a welcoming party for people in the industry when they are on the campus. The Junior Hotel Greeters served as guides for persons attending the restaurant management short course held here in September.

Members of the group have attended several large gatherings during the year, including the state restaurant association meeting, the state hotel association convention and the Arkansas-Missouri-Kansas-Oklahoma hotel meeting.

Bob Newcomb attended a hotel short course in Kansas City the summer of 1954 and Naylon Clegg headed a group to attend a hotel management meeting at the Western Village hotel in Tulsa in February.

The organization is looking forward to new growth with the coming of John MacAllister from Mississippi State college. MacAllister will be the first full-time director the school has had.

KAPPA PHI is a national service organization for Methodist-preference college women. Its aim: "Every Methodist woman in the university world today, a leader in the church tomorrow." Kappa Phi was founded in 1916 at the University of Kansas. Theta chapter was installed at A&M in 1920. There are 36 local chapters.

Some of Kappa Phi's service projects include sponsoring a small girl at the Methodist home in Tahlequah, taking Thanksgiving baskets to needy families, visiting shut-ins, working with IOA ranch and sponsoring a breakfast for international women on our campus.

There were 115 girls in the fall pledge class—largest pledge class in the chapter's history.

The eight patronesses serving Kappa Phi are Mrs. O. H. Brensing, Mrs. Gilbert Clift, Mrs. Lucius Hall, Mrs. K. G. Hoffer, Mrs. Everett Lovell, Miss Mazelle Osteen, Mrs. Hi Staten and Mrs. Poe Williams. Sponsor of the organization is Mrs. Clark Dunn; assistant sponsor, Mrs. Joe J. Bennett.

RADIO STATION KVRO

RADIO STATION KVRO, the "Voice of Aggieland," is student owned and student operated. In its sixth year of broadcasting with a staff of 40 students, KVRO offers the college student training in radio station operation. Programs of music, news and sports are presented.

From the transmitter in the Industrial Arts building, programs are sent by wire on the frequency of 660 kilocycles to campus living houses. Students listen on regular AM sets weekdays from 6 p.m. to midnight.

Features of KVRO include broadcasts of all home ball games and complete local and national coverage of news through United Press and student reporters.

Don Ashton, KVRO's new director, has an executive position and a show of his own, "Time on the Air," adapted from Time magazine.

Wray Finney, who has given KVRO invaluable support, is the station manager. Also on the staff is Barbara Bartlett, continuity director.

It is Sandra Crabtree's job as program director to audition new persons before they go on the air. Bob McCulloh has charge of the public information department and Jim Wheeler, one of the stations engineers, also does announcing and disc jockey work.

To foster the spiritual, intellectual and social interests of the members in that order of importance, weld them into a common union and assist them in every way possible is the motto of the Newman club.

This organization, organized in 1893 at the University of Pennsylvania, was named for John Henry Cardinal Newman, the great English convert and scholar of the 19th century. Later, he was adopted as the patron because of his interest and association with universities and was an outstanding example and exponent of Catholic scholarship and culture.

The Newman club of Oklahoma A&M was chartered by the national federation on March 17, 1932, and is part of that national organization of Catholic students attending non-Catholic universities and colleges.

Besides taking part in the weekly social events which are planned by Betty Lou Hood, social chairman, the members receive communion in a group prior to a monthly breakfast and business meeting. The organization sponsored a pre-cana conference for 12 weeks.

OAMC RODEO CLUB

THE NATIONAL INTERCOLLEGIATE RODEO ASSOCIATION was established for the purpose of bringing national recognition to the sport of rodeoing, to establish and maintain high standards in the rodeo profession and to prepare the college student for the professional aspect of rodeo life.

This organization also serves to promote a closer relationship between the participants and to interest and attract prospective students into the field of rodeoing.

In the past Oklahoma A&M has furnished some of the top performers in the intercollegiate rodeos. Always placing in the upper division in the saddle bronc riding is Joe Chase, a member from South Dakota. Holder of the NIRA all-around championship for the last two years, has been Dick Barrett of Ryan.

Annually, the local association sponsors a NIRA show. This show has been a great help in the recruiting of new members into the association.

The A&M NIRA has been a topnotch outfit since it was organized in 1947. The organization had 65 members, representing 11 states, and hopes to increase in number every year.

OIT STUDENT COUNCIL

SOLVING THE PROBLEMS that are presented to a student council by the many organizations in the school and, at the same time, doing the creative work necessary for the functions sponsored by the council can become hard work. Representatives of each of the engineering clubs and societies, who make up the OIT Student Council, find that by approaching the work of the council with an enlightened attitude, the work does not appear so difficult and can actually be fun.

This joviality on the part of the council members is due partially to the dinner meetings held once a month, and no one feels like arguing after eating a steak paid for out of council funds.

The council functions include sponsoring the Oklahoma State Engineer, student magazine, and aiding in the financial burden of that organization. Another activity of the group is the annual engineering dance. The St. Pat's ball was held during March at the Country House. One of the best known activities held on the campus in the spring is the Engineering exposition, also sponsored by the OIT Student council.

PEPPERETTES PEP CLUB

THE PEPPERETTES is a newly organized pep club for women students. By combining the Peppers, a former pep club for Greek women students, and the Aggiettes, a pep club of independent women, this new club was formed.

To establish friends, insure loyalty and promote school spirit to the athletic teams of the college are the aims of this new pep club.

Several informal parties for the members of the Pepperettes are held each semester, as well as a number of joint meetings with the Cowpokes, the men's pep organization.

Membership in the Pepperettes is composed of six girls from each sorority on campus, 16 girls from each residence hall, two girls from Tau Gamma and four girls from Co-Ed apartments. A limit of 108 members is set for the organization by its constitution.

This year's project was to become completely organized and recognized as a uniformed group at all athletic events. For uniforms, the Pepperettes wore black shirts, white blouses with orange scarves worn at the neck.

Since its beginning, Peppers has grown to be the strongest and most active pep club.

PETROLEUM CLUB

THE PETROLEUM CLUB, a relatively new organization on the campus of A&M, was organized in the fall of 1948 and during a short time has grown to be one of the largest and most active clubs of its type in the School of Engineering.

It is composed of 108 petroleum engineers and geologists who are interested in keeping abreast of the latest developments in the oil industry.

The Petroleum club is a student affiliate of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. It is an organization made up of students in the petroleum option of the school of mechanical engineering, and others who are interested in the petroleum industry. It was organized in 1948.

One of the familiar sights at the beginning of each semester is the "weevils" wearing their work clothes and carrying the traditional 24-inch pipe wrench.

O. L. Smith, a former Aggie who is now associated with Sun Oil company, was elected industrial counselor at one of the bi-monthly meetings. A. T. Woods is faculty advisor of the club.

PI TAU SIGMA

PI TAU SIGMA, national honorary mechanical engineering fraternity, was founded in 1915. The Oklahoma A&M Lambda chapter was installed in 1931. The fraternity is a closely knit organization comprised of the upper fourth of the junior class and the upper third of the senior class. Each pledge is judged on his quality of leadership and personality.

Pi Tau Sigma's objective is to foster the high ideals of the engineering profession and to stimulate interest in coordinate departmental activities.

The Oklahoma A&M Lambda chapter is noted for being one of the most active chapters in the nation. During the 1954 national convention at Virginia Polytechnical institute, Prof. C. M. Leonard of Oklahoma A&M was reelected national vice-president. Oklahoma A&M was also selected as the site for the 1955 national convention.

Each year an award is given to the outstanding sophomore in mechanical engineering. Aid is also given in the engineering orientation course. Social functions such as outings and steak fries are held each semester. Dinner meetings are held twice a month. The normal order of business is carried on at these meetings, with special projects discussed when needed.

One of the most active professional groups on the campus, Sigma Delta Chi is devoted to stimulating interest in and improving the quality of journalism at A&M.

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, annually co-sponsors the Varsity Revue to obtain money for granting journalism scholarships to freshmen. The A&M chapter was organized in 1946 by the Press club, and since that time has gained recognition as one of the top chapters in the nation.

Highlights of Sigma Delta Chi's year, in addition to the Varsity Revue and granting of scholarships, included a national convention to which Jim Woods was official delegate and a spring gridiron banquet at which time awards are given for top senior scholarship and for best-written news, feature, editorial and sports stories.

Numerous functions are held yearly by Sigma Delta Chi for Aggie journalism students. Two of the more interesting projects by the fraternity recently have been the organization of a state professional chapter for Oklahoma journalists and the undertaking of a historical marker at the site of the state's first newspaper.

SIGMA GAMMA EPSILON

SIGMA GAMMA EPSILON, national honorary geology fraternity, was founded at Kansas university in 1915. Alpha Omega chapter was founded on the Oklahoma A&M campus on May 13, 1949. Membership is limited to students with above average grades who are majoring in earth sciences.

The purpose of this fraternity is to stimulate interest in geologic work and to promote better fellowship among the geology students. These aims are fulfilled by the appearance of guest speakers and participation in field trips taken in conjunction with the University of Oklahoma and Tulsa university chapters. To further promote fellowship, a spring dinner is held annually.

A national convention is held every two years with delegates meeting from campuses all over the United States. Last year three members of Alpha Omega chapter attended the convention in Salt Lake City. These conventions stimulate across the nation an interest in earth science.

The W. A. Tarr award is given annually to a student in earth sciences and is based on scholastic standards, personality and leadership. The student is chosen by a committee consisting of three faculty members and a group of chapter members.

SIGMA TAU

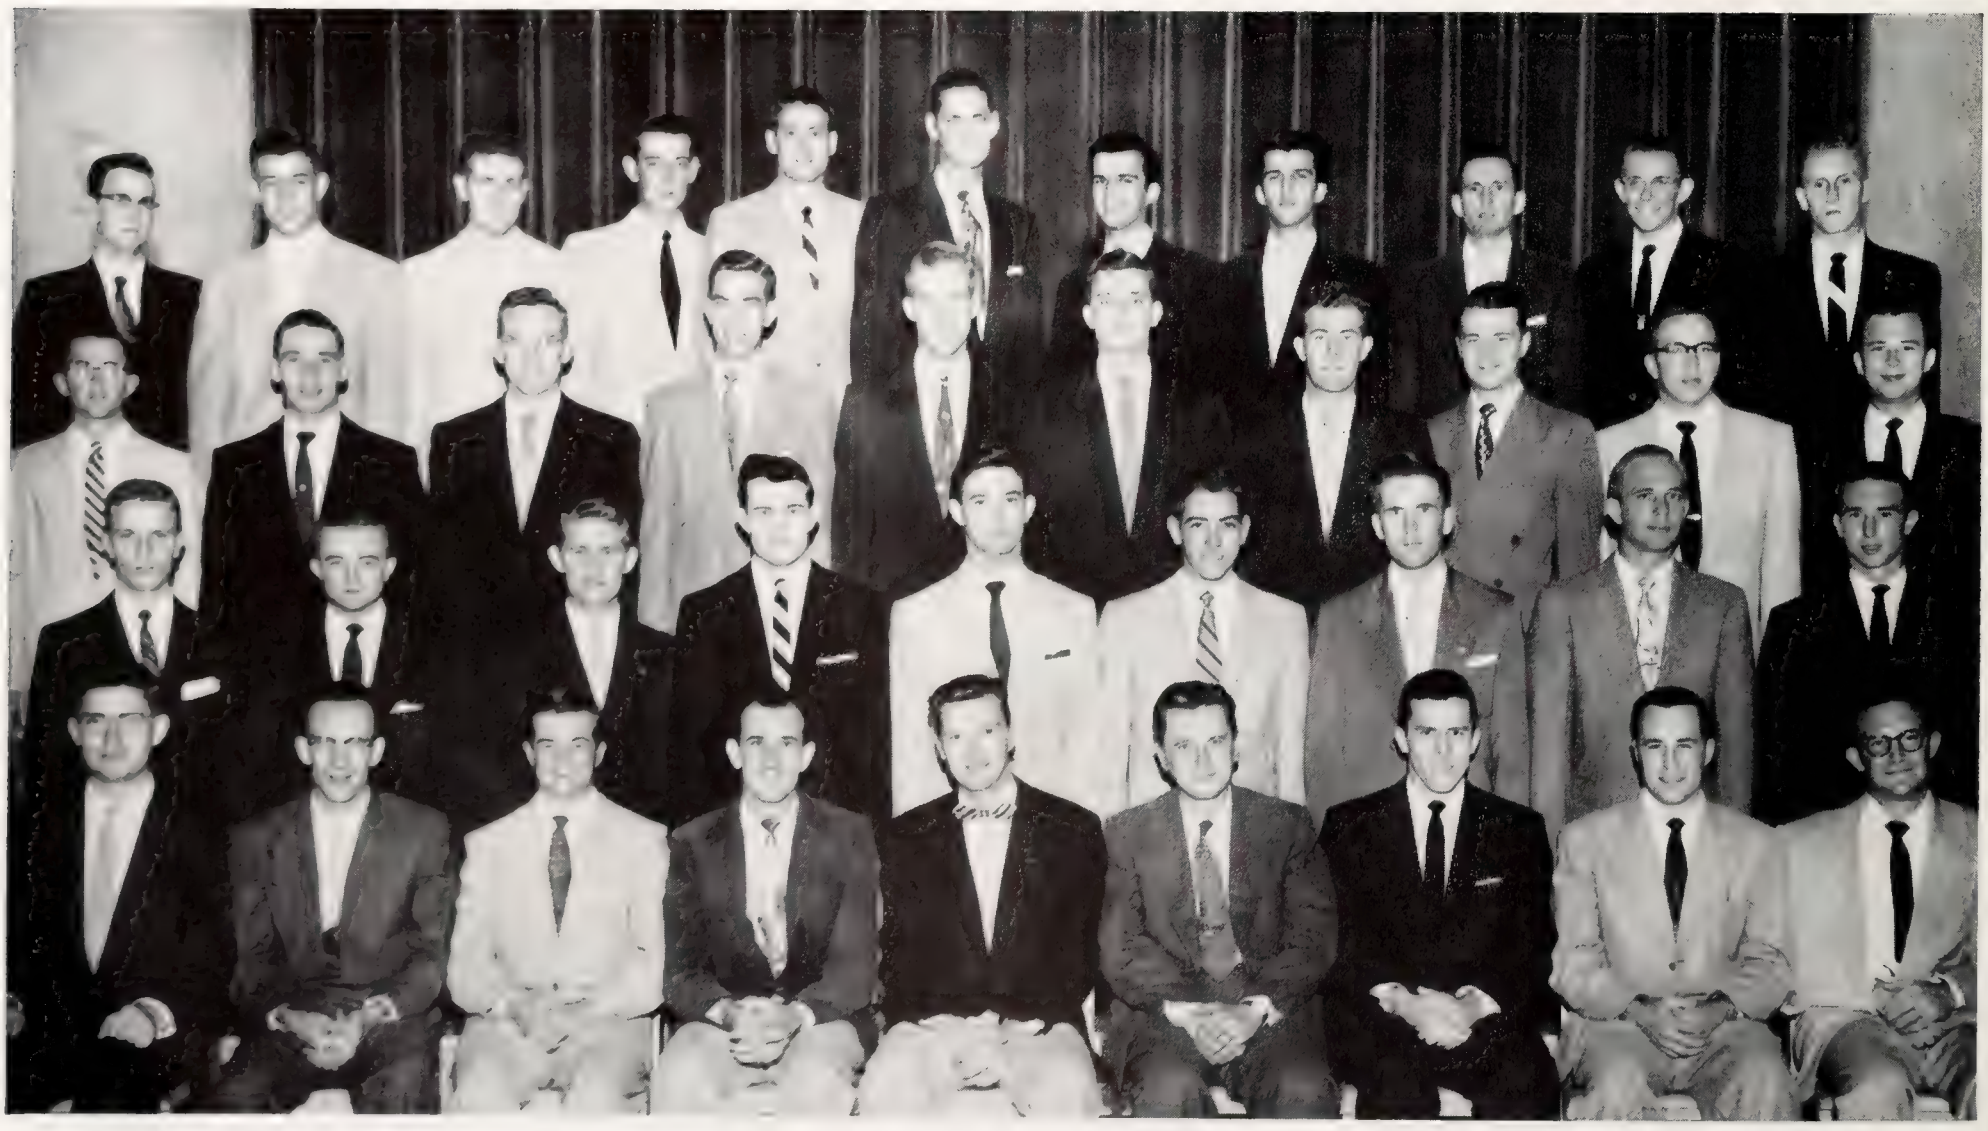

THE OLDEST AND LARGEST engineering honor society on the campus is Sigma Tau, which was chartered in 1921 and has an active membership of 110. The national fraternity celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1954, at the site of its foundation, the University of Nebraska. Twenty-nine active chapters, in leading engineering schools throughout the United States, are evidence of the progress of this organization since its establishment. Sigma Tau is best known on the campus for its pledge week, when pledges wear pyramid hats, cardboard shoes, green ties, and meet twice a day in front of the Engineering building to praise "St. Pat" at the top of their lungs. But the pledge week is just the surface of Sigma Tau activities. The underlying purpose of Sigma Tau is to recognize engineering achievement and to provide a society that will allow engineers to associate with men of common interests.

Membership in Sigma Tau is not easily attained, for prospective members are screened to insure that only the top engineering students become members. But a high gradepoint is not enough by itself to qualify a man for membership—he is also checked for practically and sociability to determine whether he can use his engineering training and whether he can get along well with people, a prime requisite for successful engineers. To pass the scholastic requirement, he must be in the upper one-third of the junior and senior classes; to pass the other requirements, he must convince an interviewing committee that he is qualified. The men who are selected for membership must then go through pledge week, during which they must obtain signatures of every active and faculty member.

A NEW FEATURE of Sigma Tau is that membership is no longer restricted to men. Since the last national convention, women engineers are eligible to become members if they can pass the requirements. However, there are no girls in the local chapter yet, though there has been a lot speculation among the members.

Sigma Tau members take an active interest in the activities of the fraternity. Sigma chapter meets twice a month in the Student Union, and few organizations can boast a better percentage of attendance at meetings. Even at the early morning meetings during pledge week, when most of the campus is just getting up, a good proportion of members is present.

COMPOSED AS IT IS of the top engineering students, Sigma Tau has had a strong group of officers for both semesters. Second semester officers are Jerald Parker, president; Dave Rakestraw, vice-president; Gerald Schoeffler, secretary; Eldon Seley, treasurer, and Dave Mueller, OIT Council representative.

So, the next time you are walking across the campus laughing at a Sigma Tau pledge wearing his pyramid hat or looking at the large pyramid—which isn't much to look at right now, having been laid waste to by marauding farmers who got themselves confused with Attila the Hun and decided to burn up the enemy—in front of the Engineering building, just remember that these things are the outward symbols of one of the strongest honorary fraternities on the campus.

SOCIAL DANCE CLUB

OFFICERS

Neva Alexander	President
Pat Garrett	Secretary
Erma Forman	Treasurer
Flora Ellis	Advisor

A new feature of the social dance club this year is the Saturday afternoon practice period known as the "Sox-Hop Matinee." It is held at various times throughout the year and proved to be very popular. At the close of the fall semester a formal dance is held in the Student Union ballroom for members and their guests. An informal dance, known as the "Cotton Ball," closes the year's activities in the spring.

The Social Dance club was organized in 1948 and was the outgrowth of voluntary social dance classes conducted by Flora Mae Ellis. She has held these classes since the spring of 1942.

The beginners class, held in the Student Union ballroom, is taught fox trot, waltz and jitterbug. Miss Ellis, the sponsor, instructs the beginners class. Eugene Anderson instructs the advanced class, held in the North Murray studio, emphasizing Latin American dances. Student instructors are Ronnie Merryman, Neva Alexander, Jerry Crupper and Erma Forman. Apprentice teachers are Beverly Williams, Sandra Crabtree, Jo Nell Robertson and Julia Wolfenberger.

STUDENT A. V. M. A.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE STUDENT American Veterinary Medical Association is limited to students in the School of Veterinary Medicine and honorary members chosen from the veterinary faculty by the chapter. Since this chapter was first organized in 1947, 100% of the students in the School of Veterinary Medicine have become members. This year there are 140 members.

The students become pledges in the freshman year. Pledging consists of a week in which white clinical trousers and coats are worn. The pledges are required to carry a large bone about the campus and wear a sign on which the veterinary caduceus is drawn. The sophomore class is in charge of all pledging activities.

The bi-monthly meetings usually feature a guest speaker on subjects related to veterinary medicine or of interest to all professional students. Refreshments are served after all meetings, during which time many small discussion groups form.

Athletics are also included in the chapter activities, with teams being entered in all intramural events. Several trophies have been won by Student A.V.M.A. teams, and a good season of wins has been enjoyed each year.

• • • • • • • • PUBLISHES VETERINARY BULLETIN

A student representative from this chapter is sent each summer to the American Veterinary Medical association convention. The representative attends the various meeting and lectures of interest to him, along with meetings with student representatives from the other veterinary schools.

THE STUDENT AMERICAN VETERINARY Medical association functions socially as well as educationally and professionally. Parties are sponsored throughout the year, just for the sake of having a good time. An annual Christmas party is held at the Veterinary clinic, where small gifts are given to children of the students and faculty.

The wives of the veterinary students have organized an auxiliary, which also has social as well as educational functions. The wives sponsor a dinner dance at the end of each school year, honoring the graduating seniors. The school provides courses for the wives of junior and senior students where they learn hospital procedures and techniques which they may use if they help their husbands in operating a hospital or practice after graduation.

The senior class of 1955 is the fifth class to be graduated from the OAMC School of Veterinary Medicine. Graduates receive the degree of doctor of veterinary medicine. The entire course requires six years, two years of which are pre-veterinary studies, and four years of study in the veterinary school, after acceptance and admission.

THE STUDENTS EDIT and publish the Oklahoma Veterinary Bulletin several times during each school year. This publication contains articles on new discoveries and techniques, interesting case histories and gossip concerning alumni, veterinary students and the student chapter. It is distributed to all alumni, interested veterinarians and other veterinary schools, as well as among the students here at A&M .

The classes in the veterinary school are small. The senior class this year consists of 31 students, including the first woman to become a senior in the school since it was established. The students have all of their classes together for the entire four years, and get to know each other quite well before graduation.

SPUR AND COMB CLUB

THE OKLAHOMA SPUR AND COMB CLUB was installed Feb. 21, 1930, at the Oklahoma A&M college by poultry majors and faculty members of the poultry department. It was organized with the purpose of creating interest in poultry among the students in the School of Agriculture and to carry on such projects as sponsored by the OAMC poultry department. Membership in the club promotes the spirit of friendship, co-operation and stimulates interest in the advancement of the poultry industry. The Spur and Comb club brings about a closer relationship between the students of poultry husbandry and the poultry department.

The Spur and Comb club sponsors two social events each year. During the holiday season the club holds an annual turkey banquet. Active members their wives and dates, faculty members and a few honored guests attend the banquet. The other major event of the year is the Spur and Comb picnic held in the spring season. Alumni come from different states to attend this event. The club, in order to keep in contact with its alumni, publishes the "Loud Speaker" three times each semester.

The sophomore council officially became an Aggie organization when the student senate ratified the constitution on Oct. 27, 1954. The council consists of the class officers and a representatives from each school, panhellenic, IFC, IMRH, Grand council and a representative from the town students.

Its purposes are to "promote and develop class spirit and class activities, to establish a fund for scholarships benefiting sophomore students, and to provide a medium of communication and explanation between the sophomore students and the student senate, the faculty and the administration."

TAU GAMMA

TAU GAMMA IS THE Greek name for "town coed." Tau Gamma was organized on this campus in 1941. The main function of Tau Gamma is to make it possible for girls who live off the campus to participate in the activities of AWS. Tau Gammas are represented on the legislative, judicial and executive boards of AWS. Friendship, scholarship and achievement form the three sides of the triangle of Tau Gamma, an organization for all coeds living off campus, and tells the aims of the group.

The Tau Gamma pin is the black triangle with the gold lettering of Tau Gamma. Each side of the triangle has a different meaning. The three aims of Tau Gamma are scholarship, friendship and achievement.

For the homecoming parade the girls spent many hours making a huge head of lettuce, but much to the girls' disappointment, many people confused the lettuce with cabbage until they read the motto, "Let'tus Beet Houston."

Tau Gamma meets twice each month for business meetings and social periods. Some of the social activities for this year have included a halloween party and a Thanksgiving dinner.

TECH SOCIETY

THE TECH SOCIETY is a social and professional organization of the school of technical training. The purpose of this organization is to promote friendship and cooperation between the students and between the departments of the school of technical training and to further the interest of all students in technical training in the fulfillment of the professional and civic responsibilities expected in a well balanced community. Students of the school of technical training are eligible to join. The society encourages the recognition of the school of technical training by industrial and professional leaders.

The executive board of the Tech society helps to formulate policies for the governing of the school, through suggestion to the director and faculty of the school of technical training.

The Tech society represents the departments of the school of technical training on the OIT Student council.

The executive board of the Tech society is composed of Tech society officers and one senior and one junior representatives elected by each of the departments of technical training.

The Tech society was sponsored this year by E. M. Barnes and D. H. Thompson.

THETA SIGMA PHI

THE ALPHA CHI chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism, although composed of only six members, figured as a prominent organization on the A&M campus during the 1954-55 school year.

One of the outstanding events held by the group was the Varsity Revue, co-sponsored with Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity.

Each year the directorship alternates with the men's organization. Theta Sig's treasurer, Kay Herwig, served as assistant director of the 1955 Varsity Revue, "Strictly Academic."

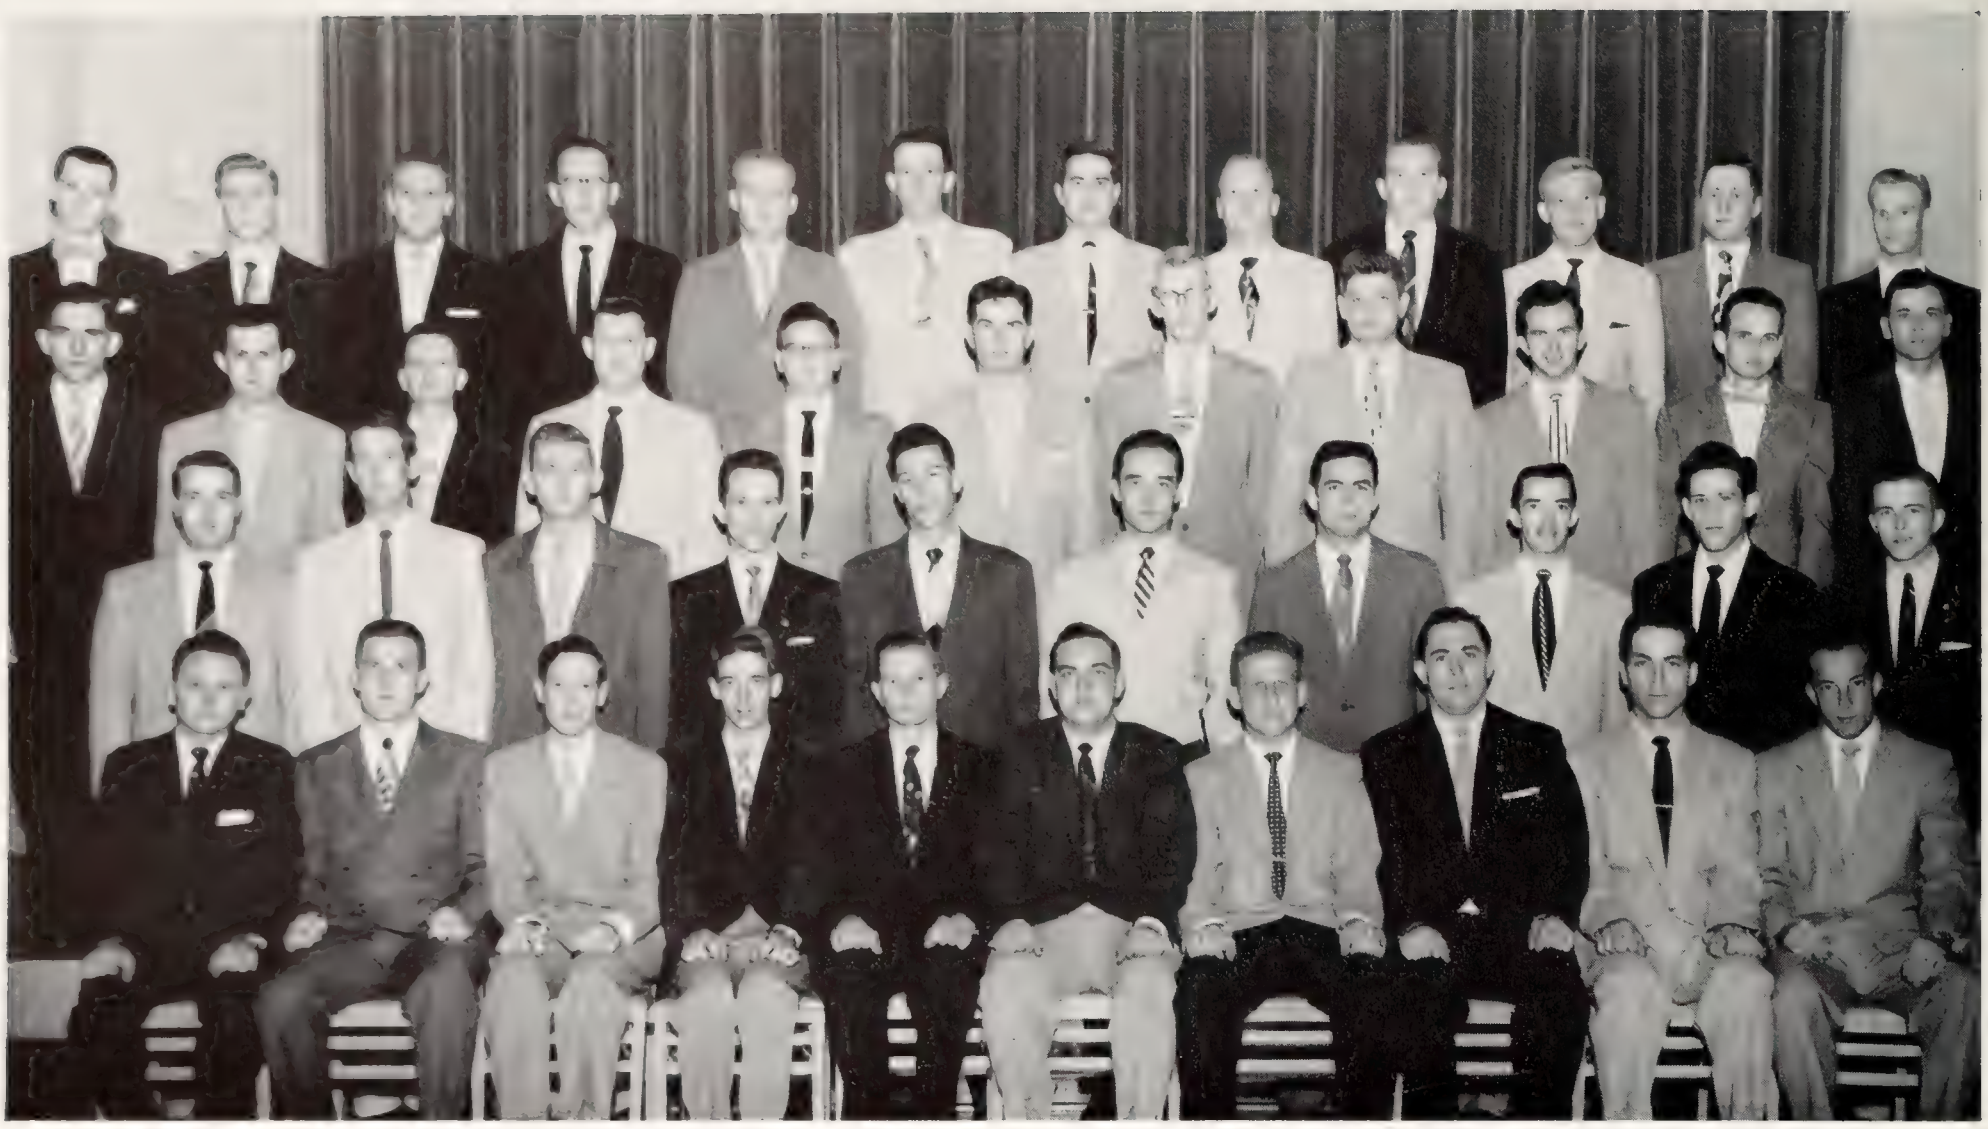

Another important annual event sponsored exclusively by the group is the Matrix table. The dinner speaker is a nationally prominent woman in journalism. Guests are outstanding women on the campus and in the state.

The A&M chapter is an annual donor of scholarships to freshman girls in journalism. This year scholarships went to Peggy Weger, Helen Shier and Sherill Susan Wright.

Faculty advisor Elsie Shoemaker and President Gretta Cheatham attended the 1954 national convention in Detroit. The 1955 convention is scheduled for St. Louis. Jean Simpson and Kay Herwig were the organization's delegates to the Southwestern Journalism congress in New Orleans.

James Bullock . . . . . Secretary

Robert Titus . . . . . Treasurer

Joe V. Whiteman . . . . . Advisor

Membership is open in the Veterans' club to veterans from all branches of the armed forces, who are students or members of the college staff.

The club was organized in April 1953, to promote and foster character, fellowship, service in campus life, scholarship and consecration to democratic ideals. It has been active in campus affairs, having teams in nearly all intramural sports, and takes part in other Student association sponsored activities. One member, H. Eugene Reeves, is serving on the student senate as town senator.

The club handles the orientation of all freshman and transfer veterans, concerning their rights under the GI bill of rights.

Speakers especially acquainted with veterans affairs are guests at the regular meetings.

Highlights on the social calendar are smokers, picnics, fall get-acquainted dance and an annual spring formal. A wives night is held every fourth meeting, at which time a speical program is presented. Activities planned for the spring include a picnic and the "Breadline Ball" our annual spring formal.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

WESLEY FOUNDATION is the arm of the Methodist church concerned particularly with students. The foundation's program includes Bible study and devotional periods through Sunday school and vespers, discussions at forum hour and coffee hour, training in churchmanship through deputations and committee work, fulfilling social needs through parties and buffet suppers and community service through work projects.

The 1954 school year began officially with officers' retreat at Yost. New students were introduced to Wesley foundation through the annual freshman reception. October brought the spiritual life retreat at Pawnee featuring Rev. B. C. Goodwin of Goodwell as speaker. Preceding Thanksgiving and Christmas, Wesleys participated in interdenominational services sponsored by the Student Religious council.

The February preaching mission brought Dr. Mack Stakes, professor of iymstemstic theology at Emory university, for a week of services. The spring program included election, installations, spring planning retreat, Easter services, parents' picnic and senior banquet.

XI MU, PRE-LAW FRATERNITY, combines friendly association with opportunities for professional development. Founded 20 years ago under the guidance of Dean C. H. McElroy and Roland R. Reeves, first president, Xi Mu has extended its activities to include a day in the law school of the University of Oklahoma, and attendance of meetings of the legislature and of the Oklahoma supreme court. Among honorary members are Former Governor and Mrs. Johnston Murray and Attorney General Mac Q. Williamson.

Xi Mu and Pi Kappa Delta sponsor the all-campus debate, now in its 13th year, as a program of the fine arts activities of the School of Arts and Sciences.

The fraternity remembers the last admonition Reeves gave. In World War II he was a captain, and he said in a letter a few months before he was killed in action in November, 1944: "One of the most valuable things learned in college is how to work with others for the things you want, and then remember each other after you have graduated or gone from school. Then cooperators are worth a hundred individualists."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

THE A&M CHAPTER of the League of Young Democrats was formed in 1949 for the purpose of acquainting the student with the political world around him.

Each year on the campus, guest speakers bring news and views of the latest political events. Forest Faulkner was in charge of getting such notable Democrats as Sen. Robert S. Kerr, Sen. Mike Monroney and former Gov. Roy J. Turner.

The A&M chapter annually sends delegates to the state convention. Jeanene Brandley was elected as the college secretary at the League of Young Democrats state convention, held in Tulsa this year Feb. 18 and 19. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Democrat from Minnesota, was the guest speaker at the convention dinner.

Serving on committees at the state convention this year were: credentials committee—Eloise Kenney and Hugh Collum; constitutional committee — Norris Smith, Bill Cluck and Eva Hannemann; resolutions committee—Shirley Vaught, Beverly Davis and Judy Potter.

One of the social events this fall was the picnic that the Young Democrats and Young Republicans had together at Camp Redlands.

The campus group is associated with the larger democratic organization.

To study the needs of a college campus and to relate the role of a Christian association to these needs has been the goal of the YMCA in its 55th year on the Oklahoma A&M campus. Conceiving its task to be the promotion of the work of various religious groups with an accent upon social action, the YM has found plenty to do.

The student governing body of the YM is the cabinet, composed of from 12 to 15 committee chairmen. The newest attainment of the past year has been to organize the interfraternity chaplain council, which consists of the chaplains of the fraternities on the campus. Its primary function is to sponsor religious programs for the men's living groups. Another point of interest was the national assembly which was held at Lawrence, Kan., during the Christmas holidays. There have been projects such as study groups on various phases of YMCA work, work on Campus Chest, work with Religious Emphasis week and various other special items.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS CLUB

THE YEAR 1954 saw the completion of a very successful membership drive by the Young Republicans club on the A&M campus. The group also adopted a new by-laws system and constitution, revised from the national copies by ex-parliamentarian, John D. Farr. The club had a very fine 1954 campaign, during the November elections, which helped to carry Payne county for the Republican party.

There was an annual amount of cooperation between the college group and the state organization in 1954. State party officials Fred Mock and Mrs. Esther Holt visited the campus and commented very favorably upon the work done by the Aggie branch.

An active slate of officers has been chosen to act until next fall. Earl Wolfe is president; John D. Farr is vice-president; Helen Lyle is treasurer and Mary Young is secretary.

The club is anticipating an active year in state politics, a large membership drive is planned and a large representation from the group is going to attend the state convention. A&M representatives intend to discuss the possibilities of having the state convention in Stillwater during the spring of 1956.

The Young Women's Christian Association is organized for the purpose of developing bonds of Christian fellowship and leadership among women students. The aim is to develop a Christian attitude in all phases of life and is accomplished through general meetings and three commission groups; the church, the campus Christian, and the world and nation.

The YWCA cabinet members number 29, among whom is Virginia Fite, who is practice teaching this year. Members serve on committees of publicity, with Earlene Windham serving as chairman, music committees, and several others such as program, projects, membership, hospitality and fellowship.

The main project for the organization this past year was participation in the world centennial. The YWCA was founded in 1855, and this year marks "one hundred years of service" that the women's organization has given to many. This group has been under the direction of Miss Julia Stephens.

This year many joint meetings and cabinet meetings of both the YWCA and the YMCA have taken place because of the new building to be erected for the latter group sometime soon.

AGGIE SOCIETY COUNCIL

THE AGGIE COUNCIL is composed of five elected officers and the presidents of all departmental agricultural clubs. The aim of the council is to direct the activities of the Aggie society in promoting fellowship and cooperation among the various departments in the School of Agriculture.

Among the yearly activities of the society is the annual Aggie roundup initiated this year to provide agricultural students an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other. It also presents an awards program each semester to recognize achievements of agricultural students.

The annual Aggie day picnic, held each spring, is the outstanding Aggie society event of the year. The picnic has become an Aggieland tradition through the years. It is highlighted by the selection of an Aggie princess from candidates sponsored by the various departmental clubs.

The council also brings an outstanding agricultural leader to the campus each year. This gives students and faculty members an opportunity to come in direct contact with leaders in their various fields. Members of the Aggie council aid agricultural students in becoming acquainted with their school and their profession.

THE A&M COLLEGE BAND, "the most colorful band in all the [illegible] performed at all the home football games and took trips with the Aggie football team to Dallas, where they performed in the Cotton bowl, and to Tulsa for Tulsa's homecoming.

AGGIE BAND

OFFICERS

James Thompson	President
Bill Peter	Vice-President
Earlene King	Secretary
Hiram H. Henry	Director

The Aggie band had the most successful year in its history and was called one of the finest marching bands in the nation. Its membership of 125 included 63 freshmen.

The important job given to the Aggie band for the first semester was to provide halftime entertainment at the football games, and lend support to the athletic teams with their enthusiasm and music. The band played for the four games which were played on our own Lewis field, and made trips to Dallas via special train, and to Tulsa. A small pep band made the trip to Wichita and represented the Aggie band in fine style.

A tribute was given by the band at the Aggie-Detroit football game to its director, Hiram H. Henry. The band spelled out "Hiram" during the halftime show, and while playing the song, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," presented Director Henry with a hand tooled monogrammed briefcase.

During the second semester the Aggie band played for the home basketball games and wrestling matches. They also find time to present a spring concert.

KAPPA KAPPA PSI

FOUNDED ON THE OKLAHOMA A&M COLLEGE CAMPUS, Kappa Kappa Psi has probably been responsible for as much if not more fame and recognition to Oklahoma A&M than any of its other fraternal organizations. Since 1919 Kappa Kappa Psi has spread from this campus to nearly 100 other major college and university campuses in the United States. It boasts on its rolls such immortal names as Edwin Franko Goldman, John Phillip Sousa, Herbert L. Clark, Sigurd Rascher and many more. The national shrine of Kappa Kappa Psi is to be erected on the Oklahoma A&M campus.

The Podium, the national magazine of Kappa Kappa Psi, is acclaimed by national publications as the most outstanding non-social fraternity magazine in publication, and is published here at Oklahoma A&M under the editorship of A. Frank "Pappy" Martin, who was recently nationally recognized as "The Outstanding Fraternity Man of the Month." Oklahoma A&M can boast three grand presidents of Kappa Kappa Psi those being: A. Frank Martin (1919-22), Dr. "Boh" Makovsky (1927-29), and Dr. Max A. Mitchell (1947-49) who now heads the music department at Oklahoma A&M.

CHORAL CLUB

OFFICERS
Ada Lou Bailey	President
Gerald Smith	Vice-President
Naomie Lamb	Secretary
Ann Wendel	Treasurer
L. N. Perkins	Director

The choral club, directed by L. N. Perkins, is one of the oldest vocal musical organizations on the Oklahoma A&M campus. The purpose of the Choral club is to afford every student on the campus who is not a music major an opportunity to learn to use his voice in its proper setting. This will enable the student, in later life, to participate in other musical organizations and to develop a greater appreciation for music.

On Dec. 14, the Choral club presented its Christmas concert which is given every year. The Holy City by A. R. Gaul was given as the Christmas presentation. The other annual concert given by the Choral club is at Easter. This concert was Seven Last Words of Christ by Du Bois.

Because of the group's consistently large enrollment, the activities of the Choral club have to be limited to one program each semester.

Naomi Lamb played an important part in this year's club as she was the piano accompanist for the group. She was also the first semester secretary of the group. Some of this year's soloists are Corinne Russell, Jan Caldwell and Bill McMurtry.

A&M MENS GLEE CLUB

L. N. Perkins, Director

OFFICERS
Don Finch	President
Bill McMurtry	Vice-President
John Butler	Secretary

The men's glee club is one of the most active musical organizations on the Oklahoma A&M campus and in the state of Oklahoma. Any man is eligible to participate in this splendid singing group. Members are chosen by individual tryouts.

The activities of the Men's Glee club for the past year included programs in Oklahoma City, El Reno, Velma, Alma, Duncan, Lawton, Altus, Cordell, Clinton, and Muskogee. The glee club also sang programs at the Fine Arts festival, fall concert, Oklahoma Life Underwriter's State Sales congress, 50th anniversary Rotary banquet, Oklahoma City chapter of Guild of Organists and during Religious Emphasis Week.

PHI MU ALPHA

PHI MU ALPHA, sinfonia fraternity of America, is the national fraternity representing the music profession. It was founded in the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston, Oct. 6, 1898.

In the United States are 135 active chapters of this fraternity located in colleges all over the country. Some of the purposes of this fraternity are: to advance the cause of music in America, to foster the mutual welfare and brotherhood of students of music, to develop the truest fraternal spirit among its member and encourage loyalty to the alma mater. The fraternity has a music composition contest every other year. A winner is chosen from thousands of contestants.

Any man who shows a love for music, either by adopting music as his profession or by working to advance the cause of music in America, can be an active member of this fraternity.

During the school year, our chapter has many various social and professional functions, including Founders day concerts, chapter day celebrations, dormitory serenades, a Christmas sing and a senior banquet.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA, national professional music fraternity for women, was founded in 1903 at the University School of Music, Ann Arbor, Mich. The combined membership of the 100 active college chapters and alumnae is approximately 20,000.

Sigma Alpha Iota strives for better development of music in the world today. Membership is governed by musicianship and constitutional requirements.

Requirements for pledging were changed some this year. Besides having to have a certain grade average, pledges must have majored in music at least one year. Because of this new policy, pledging wasn't begun until second semester this year, but the fraternity plans to start in next September with a rush party.

Various social functions are given during the year, including a party for prospective members, a senior dinner, homecoming luncheon, get-acquainted coffee hours and formal teas. Several musicales are presented throughout the year for civic and professional organizations. At least one program of American music is presented. This year it was for the St. Cecelia Music club. Music was also provided for Religious Emphasis week and for an American musicale.

SYMPHONIC BAND

OFFICERS

Jackson Reynolds	President
James Thompson	Vice-President
Mary Grace Norman	Secretary
Max A. Mitchell	Conductor

This year the OAMC symphonic band celebrated its golden anniversary. It is not too surprising that this year, its 50th, should likewise have been one of its best.

The band is among the forefront of college bands in the southwest, acquainting its participants and hearers alike with the best in contemporary and traditional music. The band found limelight when it celebrated its birthday March 19 and when it pleased its listeners at the end of the term with music at the president's concert, baccaulaureate and commencement exercises. In addition to the many listeners on the campus, the band played for many hundreds of high school students when it toured some 11 Oklahoma towns in three state tours. In addition, it acted as host band for the annual all-state high school band clinic Dec. 3-4.

Blessed by exceptional personnel this year, the band has performed better than ever its undertaking of bringing music to the people of Oklahoma, and it has acted as an important goodwill ambassador for the college to the state at large. The band is conducted by Dr. Max A. Micthell.

SYMPHONIC ORCHESTRA

THE A&M COLLEGE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA is one of the major musical organizations on the campus. Membership besides music majors extends to students of other schools, faculty and townspeople.

The repertoire consists of varied symphonic literature with selections including major symphonies, overtures, and accompaniments for concertos, arias and solos.

There are usually four or five public concerts during the regular school term. The training experienced by the players proves of great value for various positions of professional nature.

This organization aims to provide technical and musical experience to its members through the performance of some of the best composition found in orchestral literature. Many former students, now playing in professional symphony orchestras, concert bands, or teaching, received important training in the A&M Symphony orchestra.

As conductor of the A&M Symphony orchestra, Prof. Frank Hladky gave not only the campus, but the Stillwater audiences as well, a rounded program of musical entertainment for the 1954-55 season.

SYMPHONIC CHOIR

THE PURPOSE of the Symphonic choir is to afford an opportunity for interested Aggies to sing the best of musical literature. Since the choir was organized, it has received state-wide recognition.

The repertoire of the choir includes many ageless works of old masters such as Bach, Palestrina and Mendelssohn, as well as those of more recent composers.

The choir was saddened at the loss of its beloved director and founder, Paul Klingstedt. Following the death of Professor Klingstedt, Associate Professor John K. Long has assumed the role of choir director. Professer Long holds degrees from the Oberlin Conservatory of Music and the American Conservatory of Music. He has been with the A&M department of music since 1928 and has been associate professor of music since 1946.

Besides the annual Christmas and Easter concerts, the choir makes some out-of-town engagements and is active in many campus activities. Highlighting the spring semester is the annual choir picnic at the end of school.

The Symphonic choir is open to any student who is interested in singing good music. Members are chosen by individual tryouts.

IN MEMORY

Paul theodore klingstedt, founder and director of the Oklahoma A&M Symphonic choir, passed away Dec. 16, 1954, following a heart attack.

Professor Klingstedt, head of voice instruction in the department of music since 1939, had been a member of the A&M faculty since 1929.

A graduate of the Chicago Music College and the American Conservatory of Music, Professor Klingstedt was included in the Mid-Century International Who's Who in Music. Before coming to the campus he sang as a concert artist for eight years and was professionally active as a singer and voice teacher for many years.

But it was not a lengthy list of honors or accomlishments that endeared the author of A&M's Alma Mater Hymn to his students and associates. His kindly, understanding ways marked him as a friend to the many Aggies he knew in and out of the classroom. His patience and fortitude served as a source of inspiration for his students and won the respect and admiration of his colleagues.

Professor Klingstedt's position on the campus and in the community can be refilled but he will never be replaced. He will be missed, but evidences of his dynamic influence will remain in the hearts of those who knew him.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is given such as insulation and checking ground systems in the electrical plant maintenance for safety.

BRANCH OF A&M

Okmulgee School Gives Specialized Training In Many Trades Requiring Skilled Workers

AT OKLAHOMA A&M TECH, Okmulgee, young men and women learn how to do things. A student is shown how to work for himself as a farmer, baker, plumber, auto mechanic, commercial artist, laundryman or businessman. A student is also shown and taught how to get along in a large organization by "doing a job and doing a job well." Thus, he learns work experience and realizes that self employment is recognized as a worthwhile ambition.

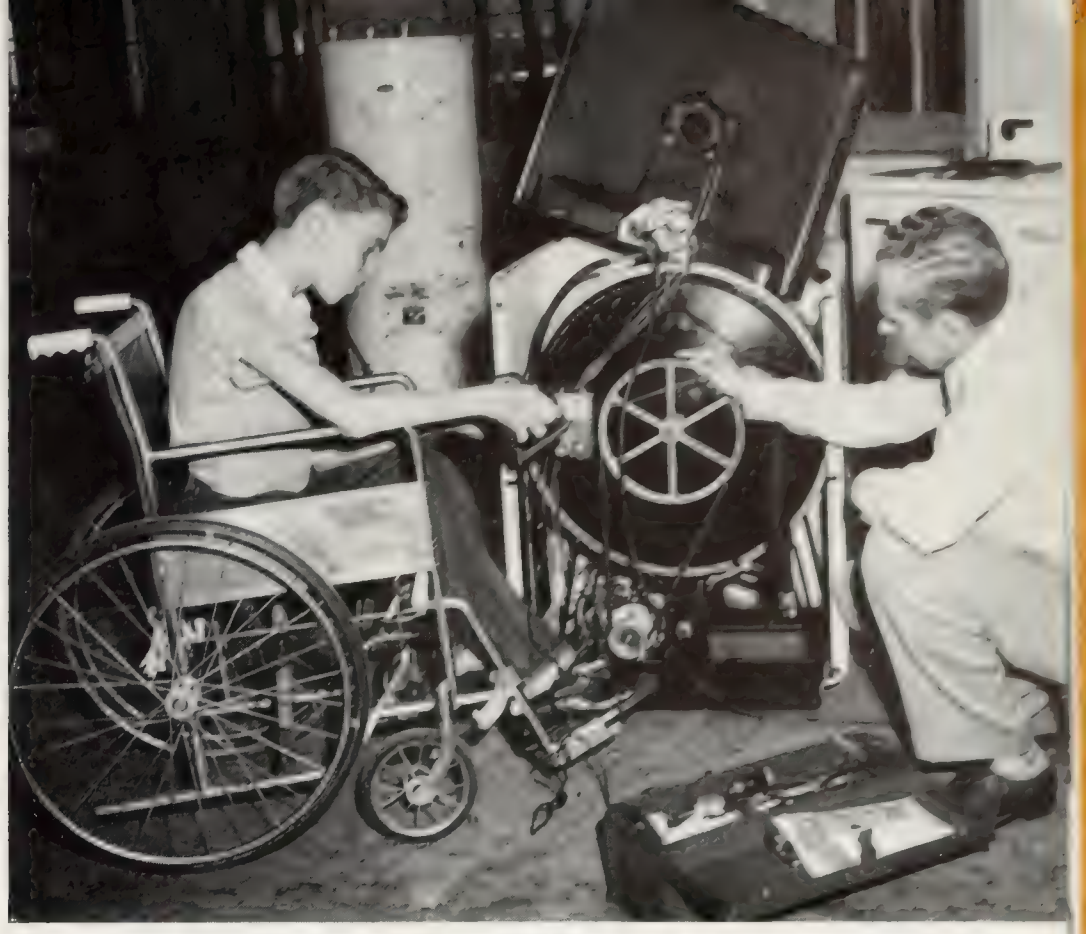

A FAVORITE PASTIME among the students is to meet at the "bright spot of the campus" and pause for a moment of relaxation and enjoyment.

EDUCATION AT OKLAHOMA A&M TECH SCHOOL is different than at any other state school. For example, A&M Tech doesn't teach agriculture — it teaches farming. Students at A&M Tech specialize in at least one trade in which they may profitably make a living. The training program is dedicated to the ideal that men and women should be educated to make a living. Through this program, the trade school is closing the gap between supply and demand.

THESE TWO STUDENTS are among many whose main interest is wood. They display a mahogany chest which was made in school.

SLEEPLESS HOURS are spent in the drafting department. Many students burn the midnight oil while working on problems.

Military

P. M. S. & T.

COLONEL ALSTON GRIMES, a West Point graduate, has completed his second year at Oklahoma A&M as professor of military science and tactics. Prior to his arrival he had just finished a three-year tour of duty in Japan and Korea.

Colonel Grimes completed his schooling at West Point in 1933 and was commissioned in the regular army at that time. Out of 21 years of army service, eight years were spent overseas in the Pacific.

Since Colonel Grimes' arrival, everyone has worked harder to prepare himself for future military life. The added effort that was put forth succeeded in earning for this unit a rating as one of the finest in the nation.

The PMS&T of the army ROTC unit at Oklahoma A&M has, for some time, also been the head of the department of defense at the college. It is within this category that you will find Colonel Grimes.

Since 1893, military instruction has been a part of college life, at least for men students, at A&M. Established as a land grant college under the Morrill act, A&M had, as one of its objectives, the teaching of military tactics.

Of course, in those times, it was a very unmilitary looking group of students in the military courses. There were no rifles to carry and what was worse, there were no uniforms. It wasn't until 1908 that the government provided rifles for the cadets and prescribed uniforms. The first military band was also organized that year.

THE FOUR-YEAR ROTC program as we know it now was authorized in 1916 by the National Defense act. However, it was in 1920 that the first three graduates received commissions as second lieutenants in the Officer's Reserve corps. This four-year delay was due to the interference of World War I.

The present ROTC program is divided into a two-year basic course and a two-year advanced course. Successful completion of the basic course is a requisite for entrance into the advanced course. However, the selection of applicants for the advanced course is highly competitive, with academic grades, individual attitude and professional aptitude important factors. With the armistice in Korea and the subsequent reduction in the armed forces, emphasis is being placed more and more on quality. This in itself demands a higher degree of selectivity of students entering the advanced portion of the program.

P. A. S. T.

COLONEL CLARENCE H. BREEDLOVE, who holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from A&M, was assigned as professor of air science tactics of the A&M AFROTC in July, 1953. The A&M graduate was dean of administration at Cameron college, Lawton, when he entered the airforce in 1940 as a captain in the chemical corps reserve. During World war II, he served as armament officer on the staff of Gen. James H. Doolittle's 8th airforce in England. At the close of World war II, he returned to Cameron as president.

In 1946, Colonel Breedlove resigned his position at Cameron to accept a commission in the regular airforce and was reassigned to the 8th airforce at Fort Worth. In 1947, he was transferred to Kessler AFB, Mississippi, where he was director of airforce chemical warfare and the radiological defense school. When he came to A&M, Breedlove had completed a four-year tour of duty in the Pentagon as airforce secretary for biological and chemical warfare activities in the office of the secretary of defense.

Since the organization of the Oklahoma A&M airforce unit six years ago, it has grown to be one of the largest in the United States. Due to the rapid growth of the unit, it was necessary to divide it into two wings, the 52nd wing and the 53rd wing. These wings are under the command of the air division staff. When the airforce ROTC unit was first organized at A&M, it was just a branch under the ground force. Now it has become a separate self-functioning unit commanded by the Air university.

THE airforce ROTC curriculum offers a general background training in airforce management, military aspects of world political geography and elements of aerial warfare and applied air science.

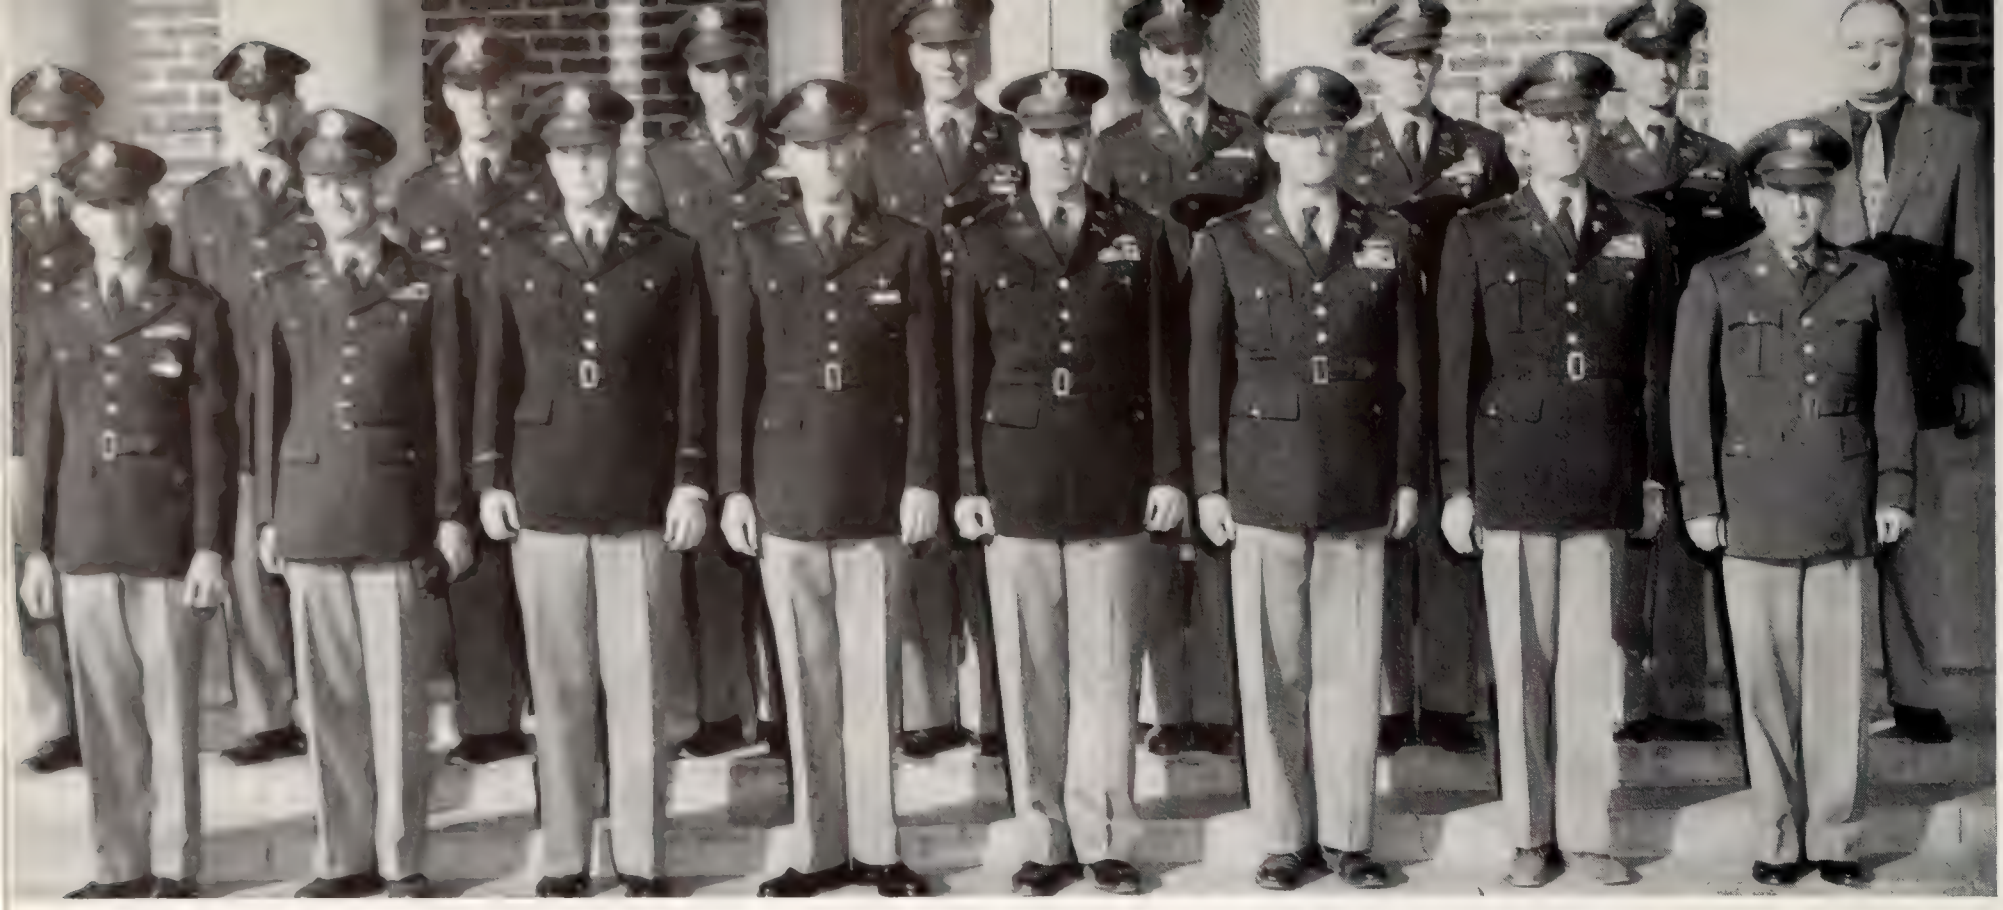

During the two-year basic course all students receive a complete uniform that is furnished by the government. Classwork consists of two hours per week in the classroom and two hours per week on the drill field. The college awards two hours credit per semester for the basic course.

Students who successfully complete the basic course and meet the other requirements as specified by the PAST, may apply for admission into the advanced course. If the applicant is accepted for the advance course, he must sign a contract with the government.

The advance course classwork consists of four hours of theory and two hours of drill each week. The college awards four credit hours per semester for this work and an additional four hours for summer camp.

GROUND FORCE PERSONNEL

THE WELL QUALIFIED CADETS who receive their commissions from A&M in one of the army units find their knowledge is actually based on the fact that the personnel who have taught them have had years of experience in the ground forces. These instructors have mastered the art of soldiering before coming to this college to begin their teaching, and are capable of passing on this knowledge to the "soldiers of tomorrow."

The ground forces offer instruction in tactics, construction, message centers, ammunition and small arms. The cadets also receive a complete understanding of the organization of the army of today.

AIRFORCE PERSONNEL

THE ABLE AIRFORCE PERSONNEL at A&M provides the basic and advanced students in AFROTC with training in leadership, drill and exercise of command, airforce management, aerodynamics, propulsion and basic flight training for those who are able to pass the airforce cadet physical and mental examinations.

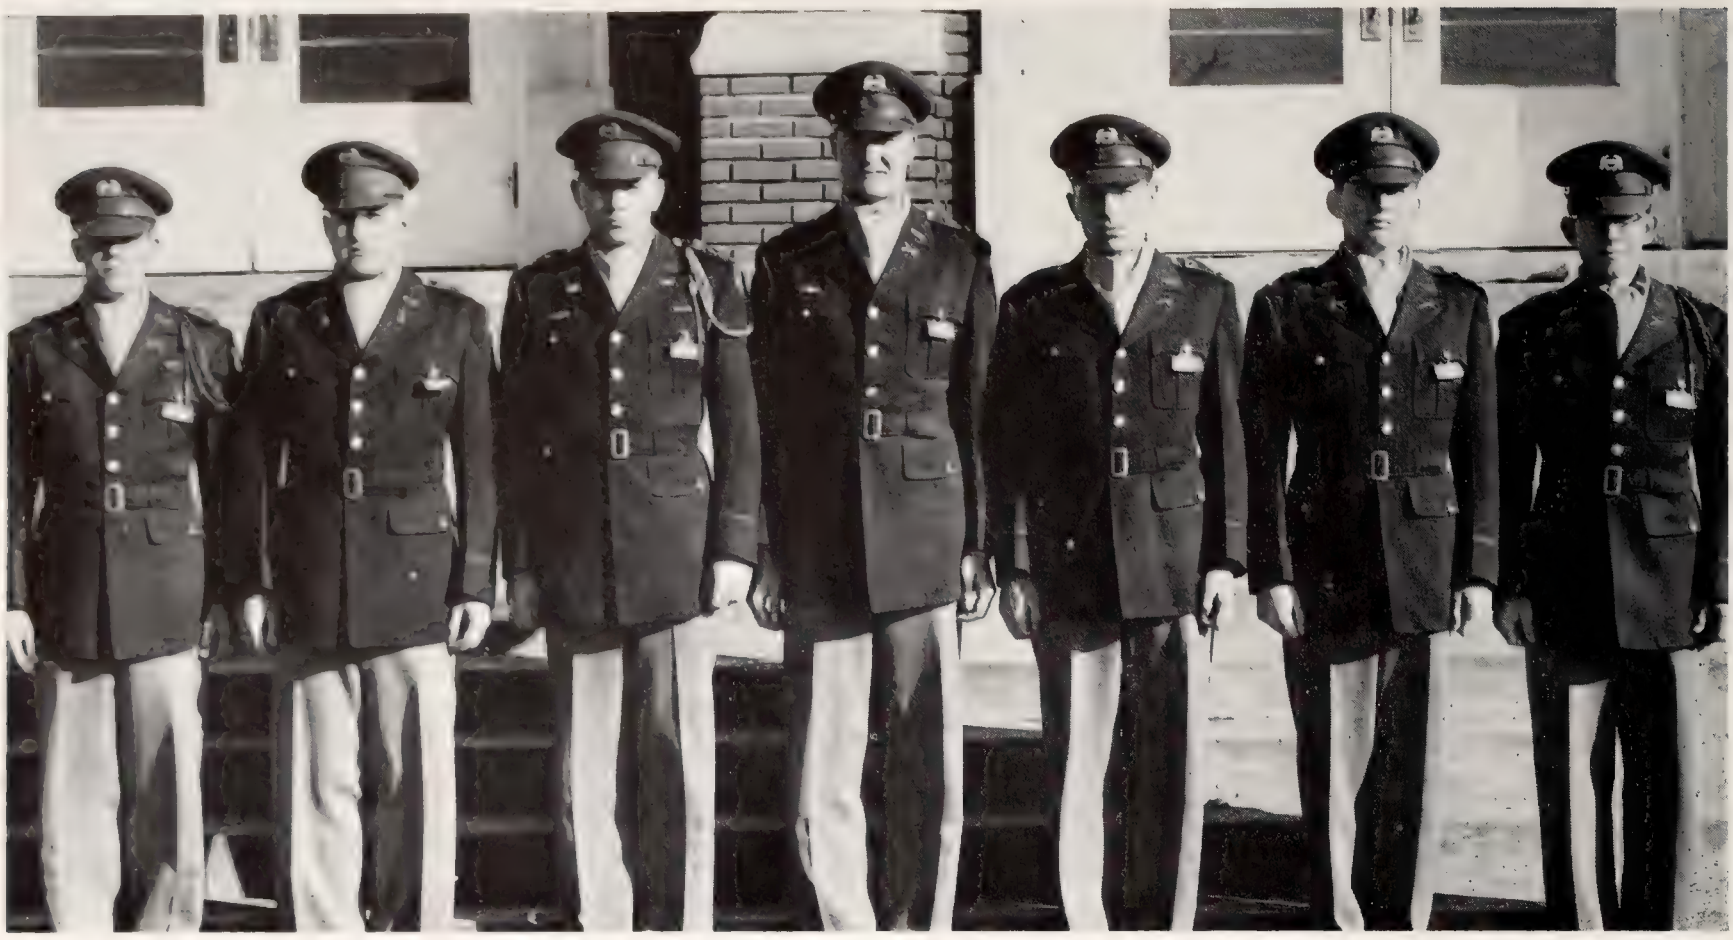

The airforce staff stationed at OAMC consists of 31 men. These enlisted men and officers are a highly experienced group, passing on that experience and information to the airforce cadets of A&M.

ROTC Corps at A&M Is Composed of a Brigade And an Air Division; Leadership Is Stressed

THE ARMY ROTC currently offers training toward a reserve commission in the infantry, corps of engineers, ordnance corps and signal corps. The airforce ROTC is aimed primarily at the training of students for flying duty, although the curriculum offers a general background training in airforce management, military aspects of world political geography and elements of aerial warfare and applied air science. The academic field of the student, however, dictates the military branch he will enter.

SUMMER CAMP is a four-to six-week period designed to give the student practical work under field conditions. Each advanced course student attends this camp. While attending camp, the student draws regular military pay and in addition he receives mileage pay for his travel to and from the camp. Army students go through field problems and a bivouac and airforce cadets have a chance to look over some of the latest jet aircraft.

One of the largest organizations on the A&M campus, the ROTC Cadet Officers club serves future army and airforce officers as a social organization with the purpose of promoting fellowship and exchange of professional ideas, in addition to social and entertainment functions. The club is one of the oldest on the A&M campus, with most of its growth following World War II. The club disbanded during the World War II years when the ROTC program was curtailed but was reopened in 1946. Almost 600 cadets, all members of the advanced ROTC course, are members of the club.

Annually the group is in charge of the election of the Honorary Cadet Colonel and the annual Military ball, plus other social functions as decided by the club. Honorary Cadet Colonel is one of the highest honors a coed can receive at A&M. This year's colonel, pretty Jan Smith, Stout Hall, reigned over all military functions, including the Military ball. She also occupied a position of honor in the homecoming and Armistice day parades. The Military ball is one of the major social events of the year. The entire event is conducted in a manner to create an atmosphere of military social life. In addition to these major events club smokers were held which helped to promote a feeling of comradeship among the cadet officers.

A new constitution was adopted three years ago to allow the airforce and army to share equally in its control. Under the present organization, the president is chosen one year from the airforce, the next from the army and the other club officers are rotated in the same manner.

ARMY RIFLE TEAM

OKLAHOMA A&M CAN WELL BE PROUD of its army rifle team which has consistently been on or near the top in the area and national matches. It placed first in the mid-western rifle meet, first in the area inter-collegiate meet, and second in the William Hearst rifle meet.

The team also took part in the El Paso invitational meet and combined forces with the airforce rifle team to place third in the shoulder-to-shoulder NRAR conference.

The reason for the big success of the team this year was, of course, due to the skill of the well-coached team members. Some of the point-makers were Herschel Claxton, Duane Ingram, Bruce Silvey, Tom Graves and Gerald Bremseth.

It seems that when the army and airforce rifle teams combine, they form a highly formidable combination and one which many times captures the top award. It was such a group as this that won the Fourth army area match over the national guard, reserve units, ROTC units and regular army posts and stations.

AIRFORCE RIFLE TEAM

THE AIRFORCE ROTC RIFLE TEAM held tryouts for team members from many aspirants, and competition was keen for spots on the team. Those that were selected and those returning from last year were molded into another successful airforce rifle team. Those partially responsible for this success were Phillip Morphew, Ralph Weida, Bill Kennedy, James Cartwright and James Bowen.

In the newly formed Mid-Western Rifle league, the team placed second in league competition against the University of Tulsa, University of Oklahoma, University of Arkansas and Oklahoma Military academy.

They also placed second in the Fourth army area intercollegiate interscholastic indoor small-bore league for senior airforce ROTC units. When the team competed in the nationals in this league, they succeeded in a sixth place award.

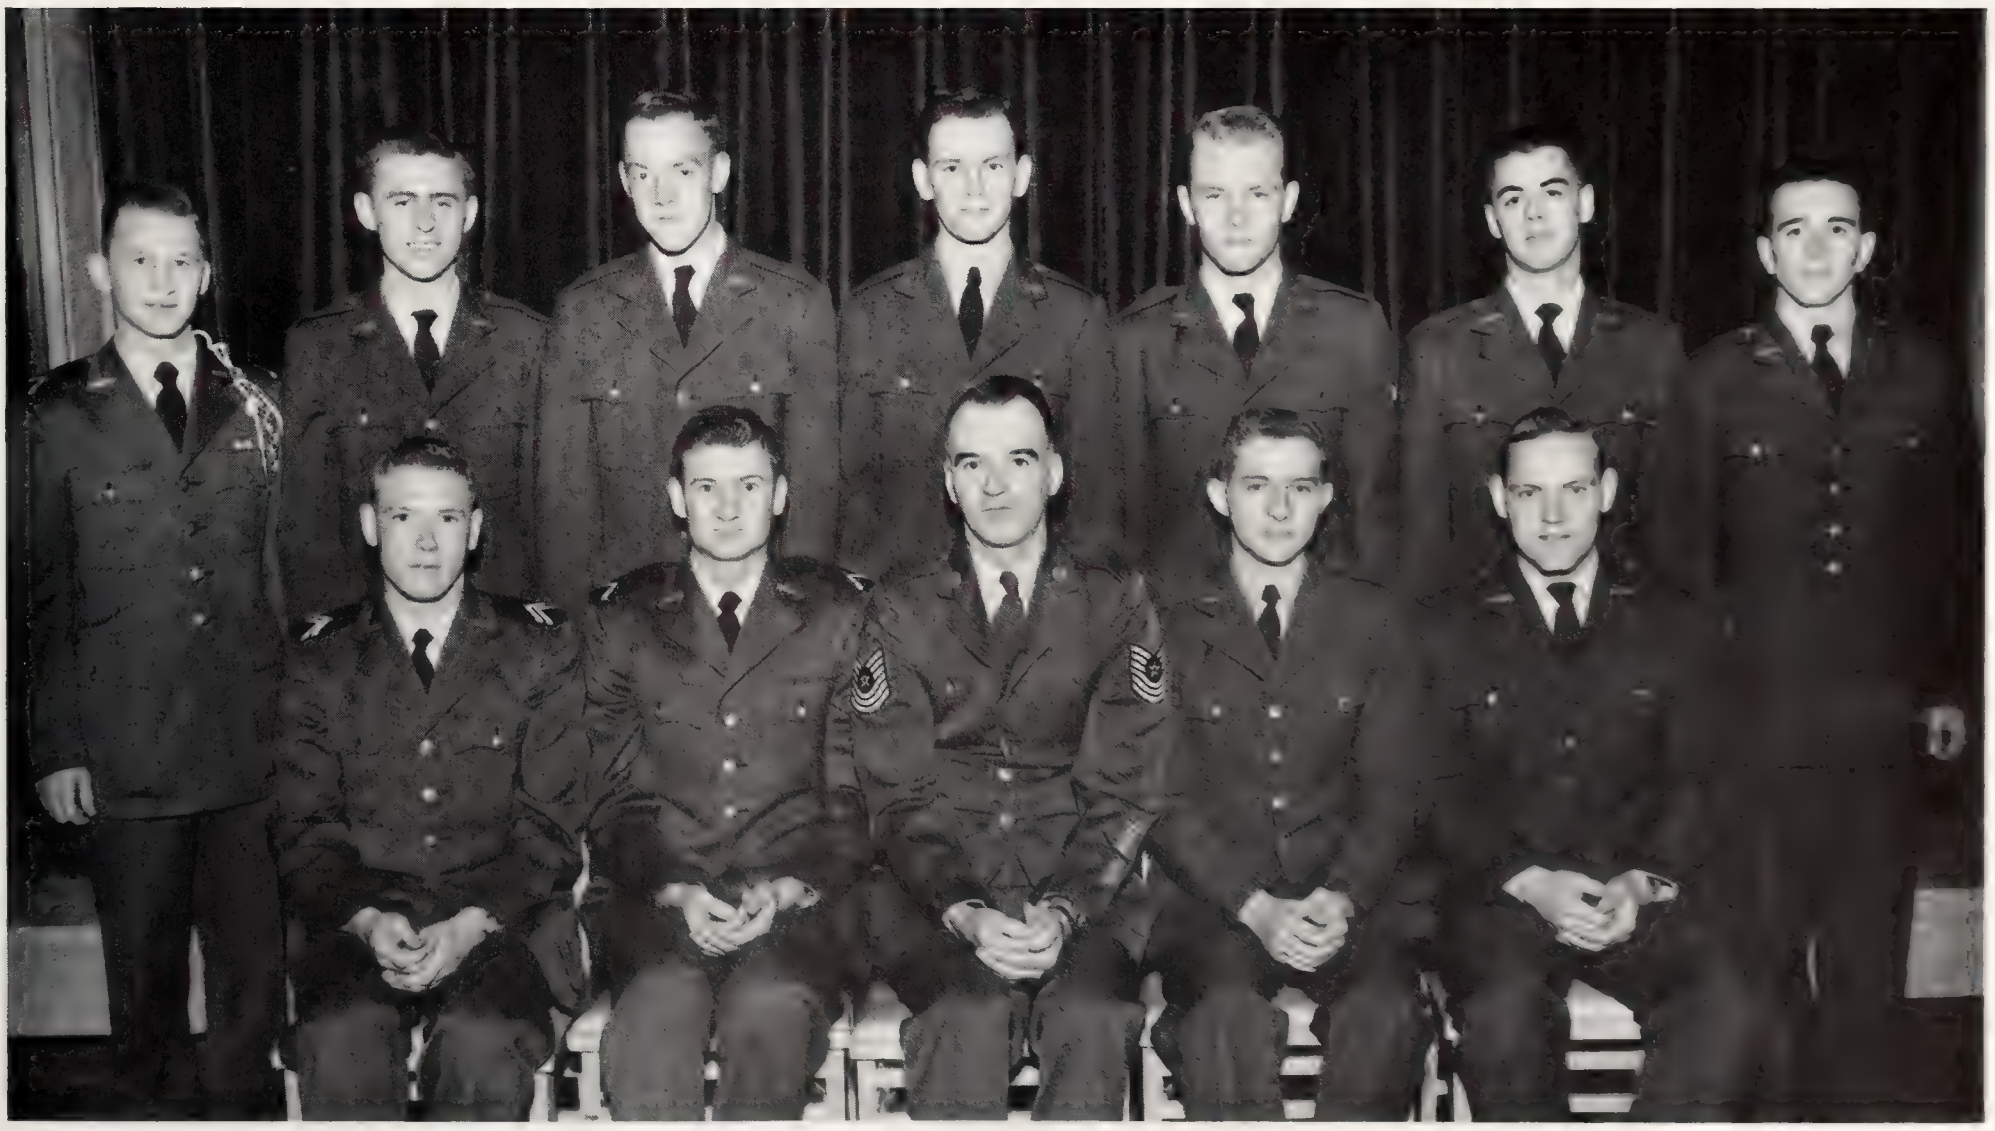

Along with the army rifle team, the AFROTC team took first place in the Fourth army area match over the national guard, reserve units, ROTC units, and regular army post, and stations. Out of the team of 10, there were 6 airforce men.

AIRFORCE CADET BAND

THE OKLAHOMA A&M college ROTC Cadet Corps band is one of the finest joint army-airforce bands in the United States. This band has evolved from a mere drum and bugle corps in 1894 to its present organization of 110 members. Until the year 1952-53 the ROTC band performed as a single unit. However, in that year the band was organized into two separate groups, one composed of army ROTC cadets and the other airforce ROTC cadets. Under this organization, the army section of the band plays for all activities and functions pertaining to the army ROTC while the airforce section performs in a similar manner for the airforce ROTC. For functions and activity involving the entire ROTC cadet corps, the band functions as one unit. Some of the functions where the band performs as a single unit are the ROTC corps reviews, Armistice day parade, annual federal inspection and military graduation exercises and convocations. The present organization of the band whereby it can function as two independent bands or can be joined together as one large band, makes it not only unique but also makes it as one of the finest ROTC bands in the country. The band is under the direction of Stanley D. Green.

ARMY CADET BAND

MILITARY ENGINEERS

THE SOCIETY OF AMERICAN MILITARY ENGINEERS does building for the armed forces, whether it be an airfield, dam or barracks. The society was founded at the close of World war I with the belief that lessons of the past should be preserved and studied as a guide to solving problems of the future. The founders believed that the lessons of the past should be preserved and studied as a guide to future and deemed it their duty to assist the nation in the work of preparedness, and to save it, so far as possible, from lapsing into the state which existed after every war.

The A&M chapter was chartered in 1941. The current sponsor is Lt. Col. Bruce W. Reagan, senior advisor and assistant PMS&T. The meetings consist of lectures by top engineers and movies of construction and combat technique. They sponsor two or more field trips a year to points of interest, including a trip by plane to Vicksburg, Miss. The society always has a display in the Engineering exposition.

PERSHING RIFLES

PERSHING RIFLES is an honorary military fraternity composed of freshmen and sophomores in ROTC who have a "B" average or better in military.

The Pershing Rifles was founded in 1894 on the University of Nebraska campus and quickly became a national fraternity. Company C-7, the chapter of the organization located on the A&M campus, was established in 1929. Company C-7th regiment was inactive during the second World war and then reorganized in 1947.

Since being on this campus, both before and after World war II, Pershing Rifles has occupied an important position in Aggie activities. Perhaps the most notable of these activities is the firing of the cannon at football games every time the Aggies cross the goal line.

Other functions of Pershing Rifles include directing traffic at sporting events, serving in funeral details, marching in parades, sponsoring drill teams and performing numerous assignments for the military department.

Another feature for which Pershing Rifles is noted includes the wooden rifles which their pledges are seen carrying during their pledge terms. There are two pledge terms, one after the first of each semester.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

THE K COMPANY SECOND REGIMENT of Oklahoma A&M college was installed in Scabbard and Blade in 1920. It is an honorary military society composed of advanced cadets who show leadership ability, have good character and have a good scholarship rating.

Pledging is held in the fall and spring semesters. The last day of pledge week is a field problem complete with rifles and blank ammunition.

K company received the award for placing first in the national Scabbard and Blade pistol match last spring.

K company participates in many college events, furnishes military honor guards to serve dignitaries and competes with other units from colleges and universities throughout the nation for military honors. At the end of each school year this organization bestows a medal upon the outstanding sophomore student who qualifies for advanced ROTC work and who is motivated by a great interest in the military. At the end of each year a banquet is held in the honor of the graduating members.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

THE ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY, an advanced airforce ROTC organization, was named for the late airforce general, Henry H. (Hap) Arnold. The local chapter, Vance squadron, was organized in 1950. Furthering the purpose, mission and tradition of the United States airforce and creating a closer relationship among AFROTC cadets are the objectives of the society.

Through the use of films and the appearance of guest speakers, members of the society keep abreast of the current scope and development of the USAF.

Prospective members are chosen from juniors in AFROTC who have demonstrated exceptional leadership and scholastic abilities. Pledging is held in both fall and spring semesters.

In the spring, the annual military ball is held. It is preceded by a formal dinner for the members of the society and their dates and the airforce staff officers and their wives.

This year, Vance squadron and its members have had many advantages which they could not obtain before. These advantages were made obtainable through the affiliation of the squadron, as a part of the national organization, with the airforce association with combined national headquarters at Washington, D. C.

THE SEVENTH REGIMENTAL HEADQUARTERS, located at Oklahoma A&M college, under the command of Cadet Col. Jimmy D. Wiggs, has under its jurisdiction a five state area. This area includes Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, and Texas in which are included companies at the University of Arkansas, Kansas State College, Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy, University of Kansas, University of Wichita, and Washington university. Other schools are Oklahoma A&M college, Southern Methodist university, and the University of Oklahoma.

Seventh Regimental headquarters displayed a successful record for the year as the result of strict adherence to military principles.

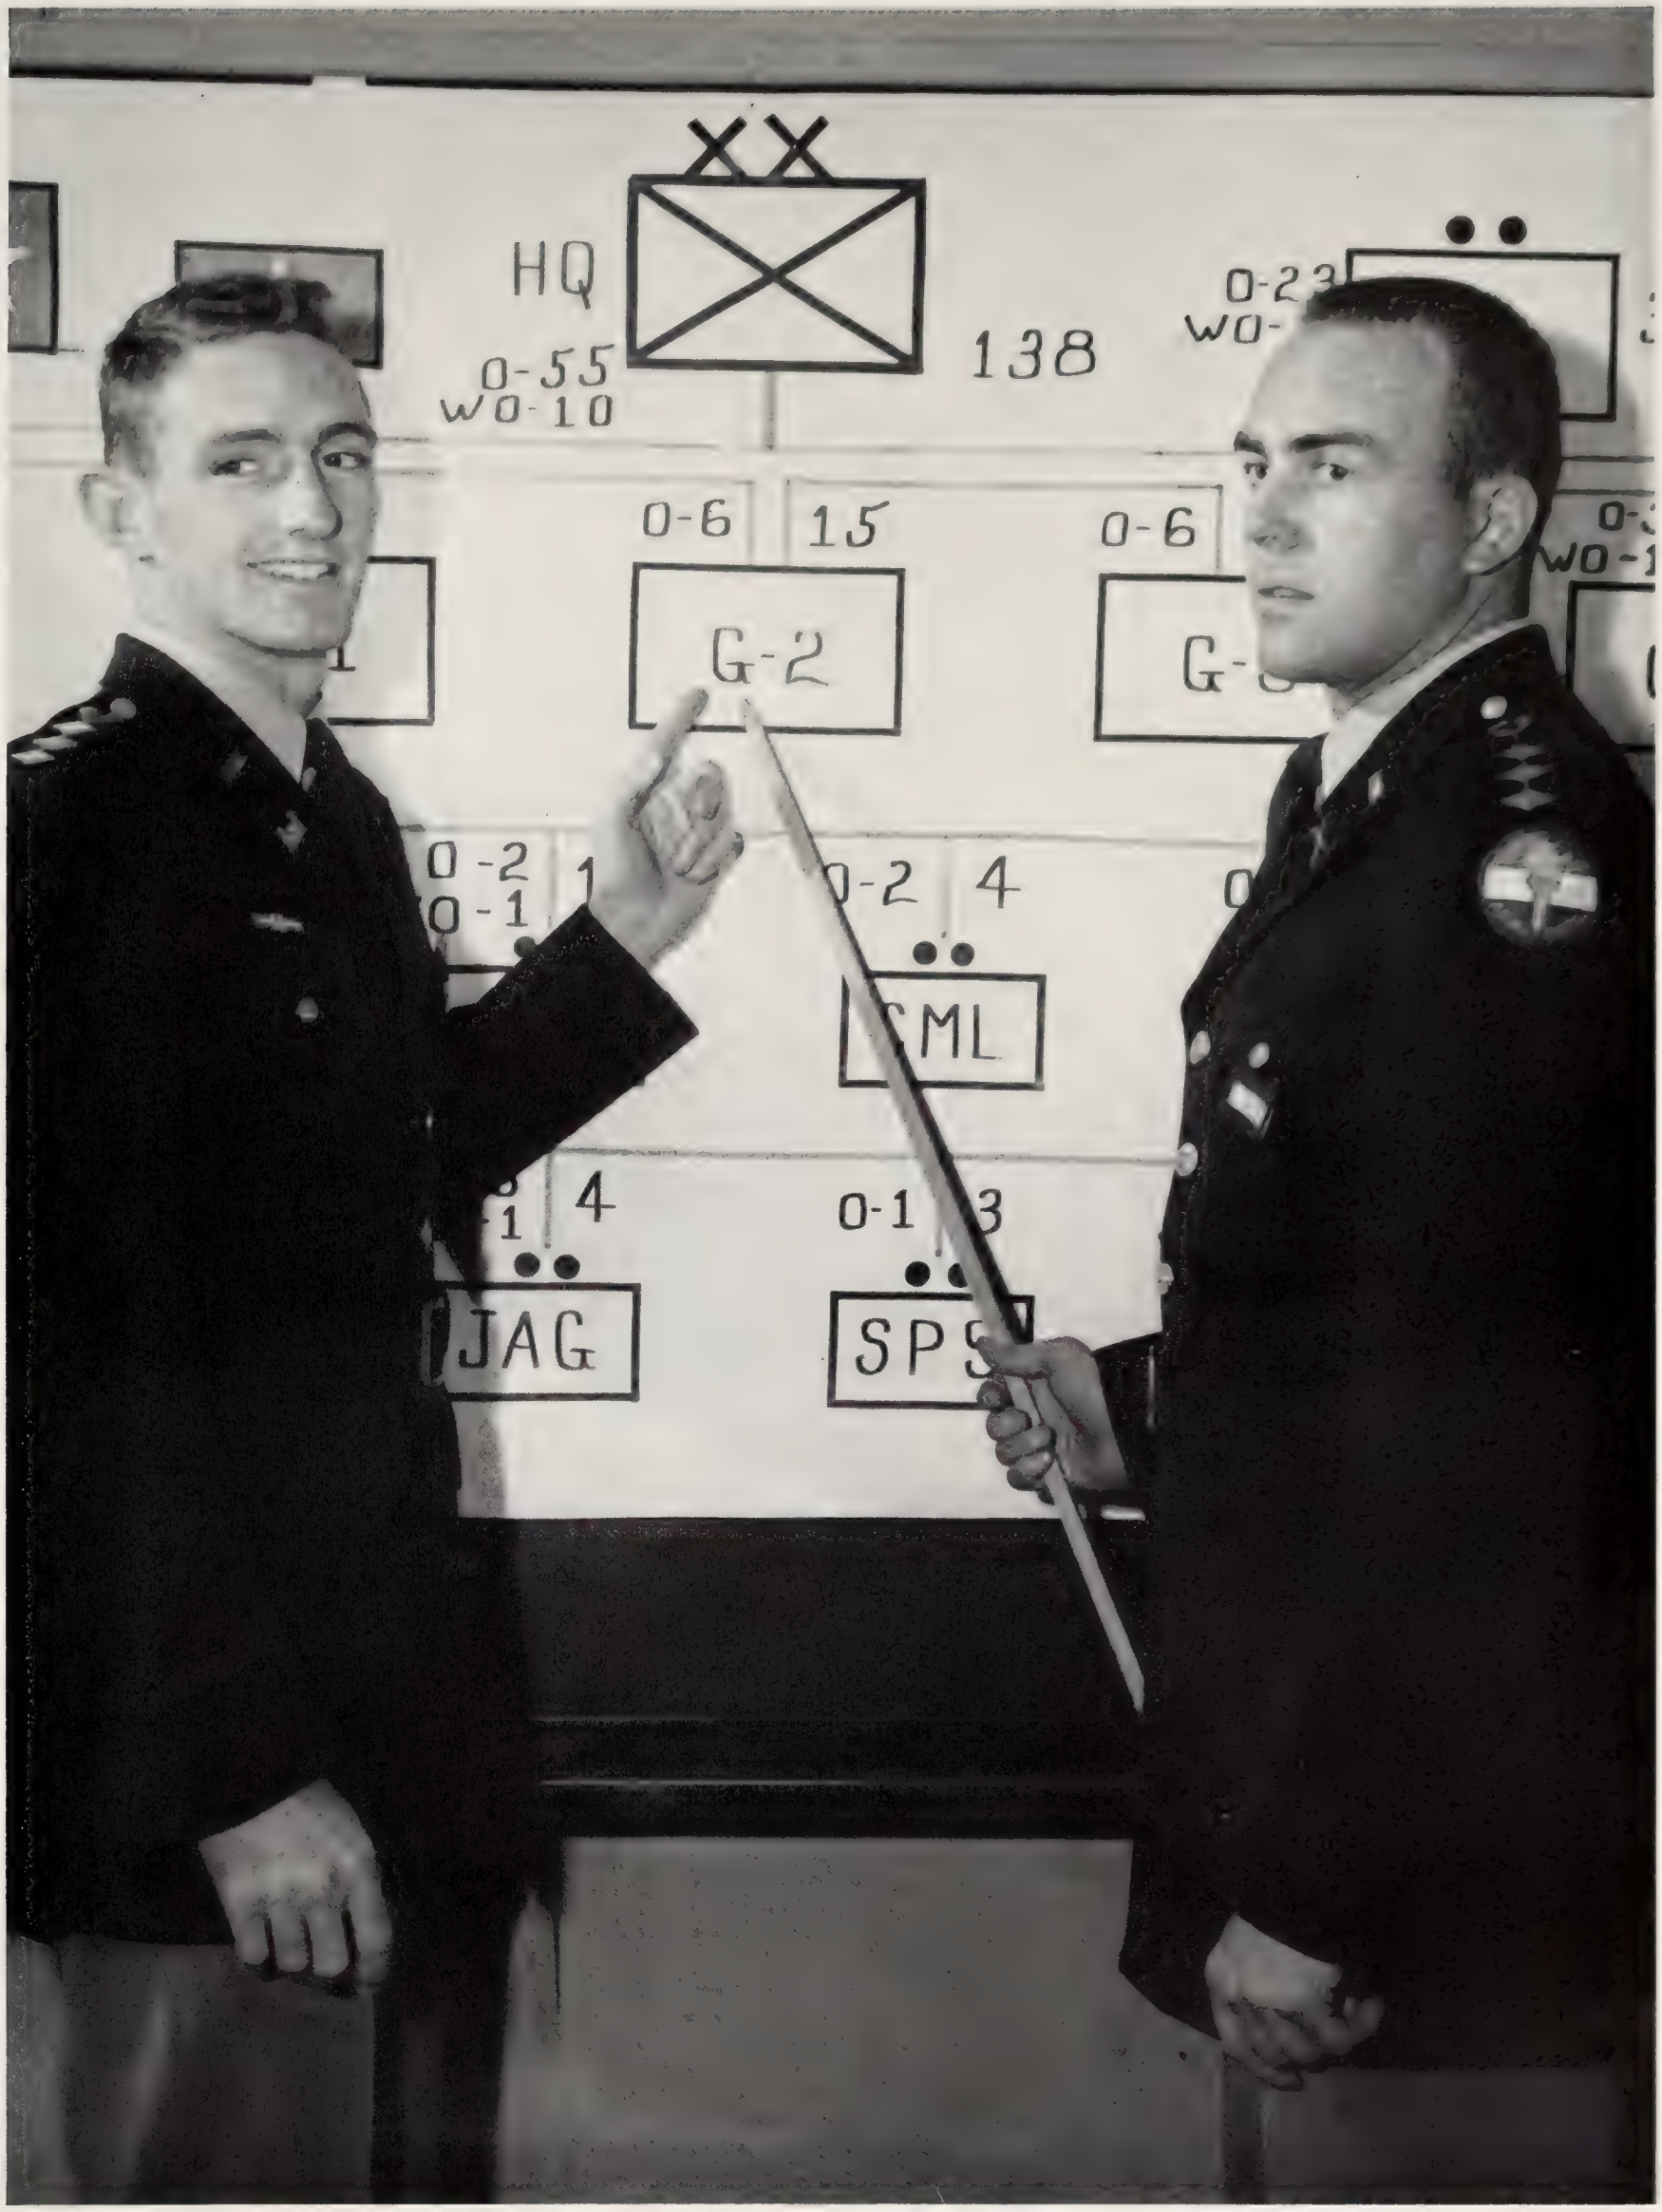

The expansion efforts of the staff resulted in the establishment of a new company at Hardin-Simmons university. Future expansion in this five state area has a bright outlook due to reported interest of many colleges and universities in the National Society of Pershing Rifles.

AT the annual Seventh Regimental assembly held at the University of Wichita in April, 1954, Colonel Jimmy D. Wiggs was elected as commanding officer for the following year. He soon thereafter appointed his staff to assist him in carrying out the regiment's many responsibilities of which the greatest is the coordination of the activities of the 10 companies under his command.

Activities of this year are inspecting the companies and attending the National assembly held at Chicago, Illinois. Anticipated events for the year include attending the Little National assembly to be held at national headquarters at the University of Nebraska and officiating at the annual Seventh Regimental assembly to be held at the University of Oklahoma in April, 1955.

GRAND COUNCIL IS THE governing body of Willard, Stout and Murray halls and the Co-Ed apartments. Organized in June, 1953, the council coordinates the activities of these groups and represents them in campus affairs.

The group participates in senior career day and helps sponsor the "Big Sister" program in which girls volunteer to help high school graduates who plan to come to A&M in adjusting to college life. High scholastic standing and a well-rounded sports program is encouraged by the group.

This year, grand council and IMRC held joint meetings for the purpose of discussing campus situations that affected both groups. A committee of members from both groups was appointed to put a working plan into action.

BENNETT HALL COUNCIL

TWENTY-ONE RESIDENTS of Bennett hall make up the hall's governing body, the Bennett hall council. Members of the council are elected each year at the close of school to serve during the next two semesters. All residents of Bennett hall are eligible to vote for these representatives. All matters pertaining to the administration of the men's dormitory are given the "go-ahead" by council members.

Social affairs for the dormitory are set with the approval of the council. The social chairman serves as a voting member on the council.

The floor leader for each floor of the dormitory organizes the athletic teams to represent Bennett hall in the intramural program during the year.

Bennett hall counselors are ex-officio members of the council. They attend meetings and make recommendations to the group, but they do not have voting privileges on measures.

The group is also in charge of the arrangements for the dormitory's participation in the annual parents' day held during the fall semester.

BENNETT HALL

ONE OF THE WORLD'S LARGEST men's dormitories, Bennett hall was opened during the 1950-51 school year. It has space to accommodate 1,100 male students. The building was named in honor of the late A&M president, Dr. Henry G. Bennett.

A&M's home of the athletes. That could well be the name given to the spacious dormitory. The major portion of A&M's athletes are housed in the west wing of the resident housing project because of its closeness to Gallagher hall and Lewis field.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin G. Orr are head residents of the dormitory, with Mrs. Lyda Tidwell as hostess for the dormitory's east wing. In addition, the dormitory has its own governing body, the Bennett hall council, and its own constitution.

Winner of the trophy for the best men's dormitory homecoming house decorations in 1953, the honor was repeated in 1954, and the west wing was winner of the Blue Key-sponsored Parents day trophy for the highest percentage of parents represented in the men's dormitory section.

Annual events of the dormitory include a Christmas dinner, held in the hall's spacious dining hall, and a spring picnic, which is held at one of the area recreation spots.

Residents of Bennett hall have been quite active in campus politics during the past year.

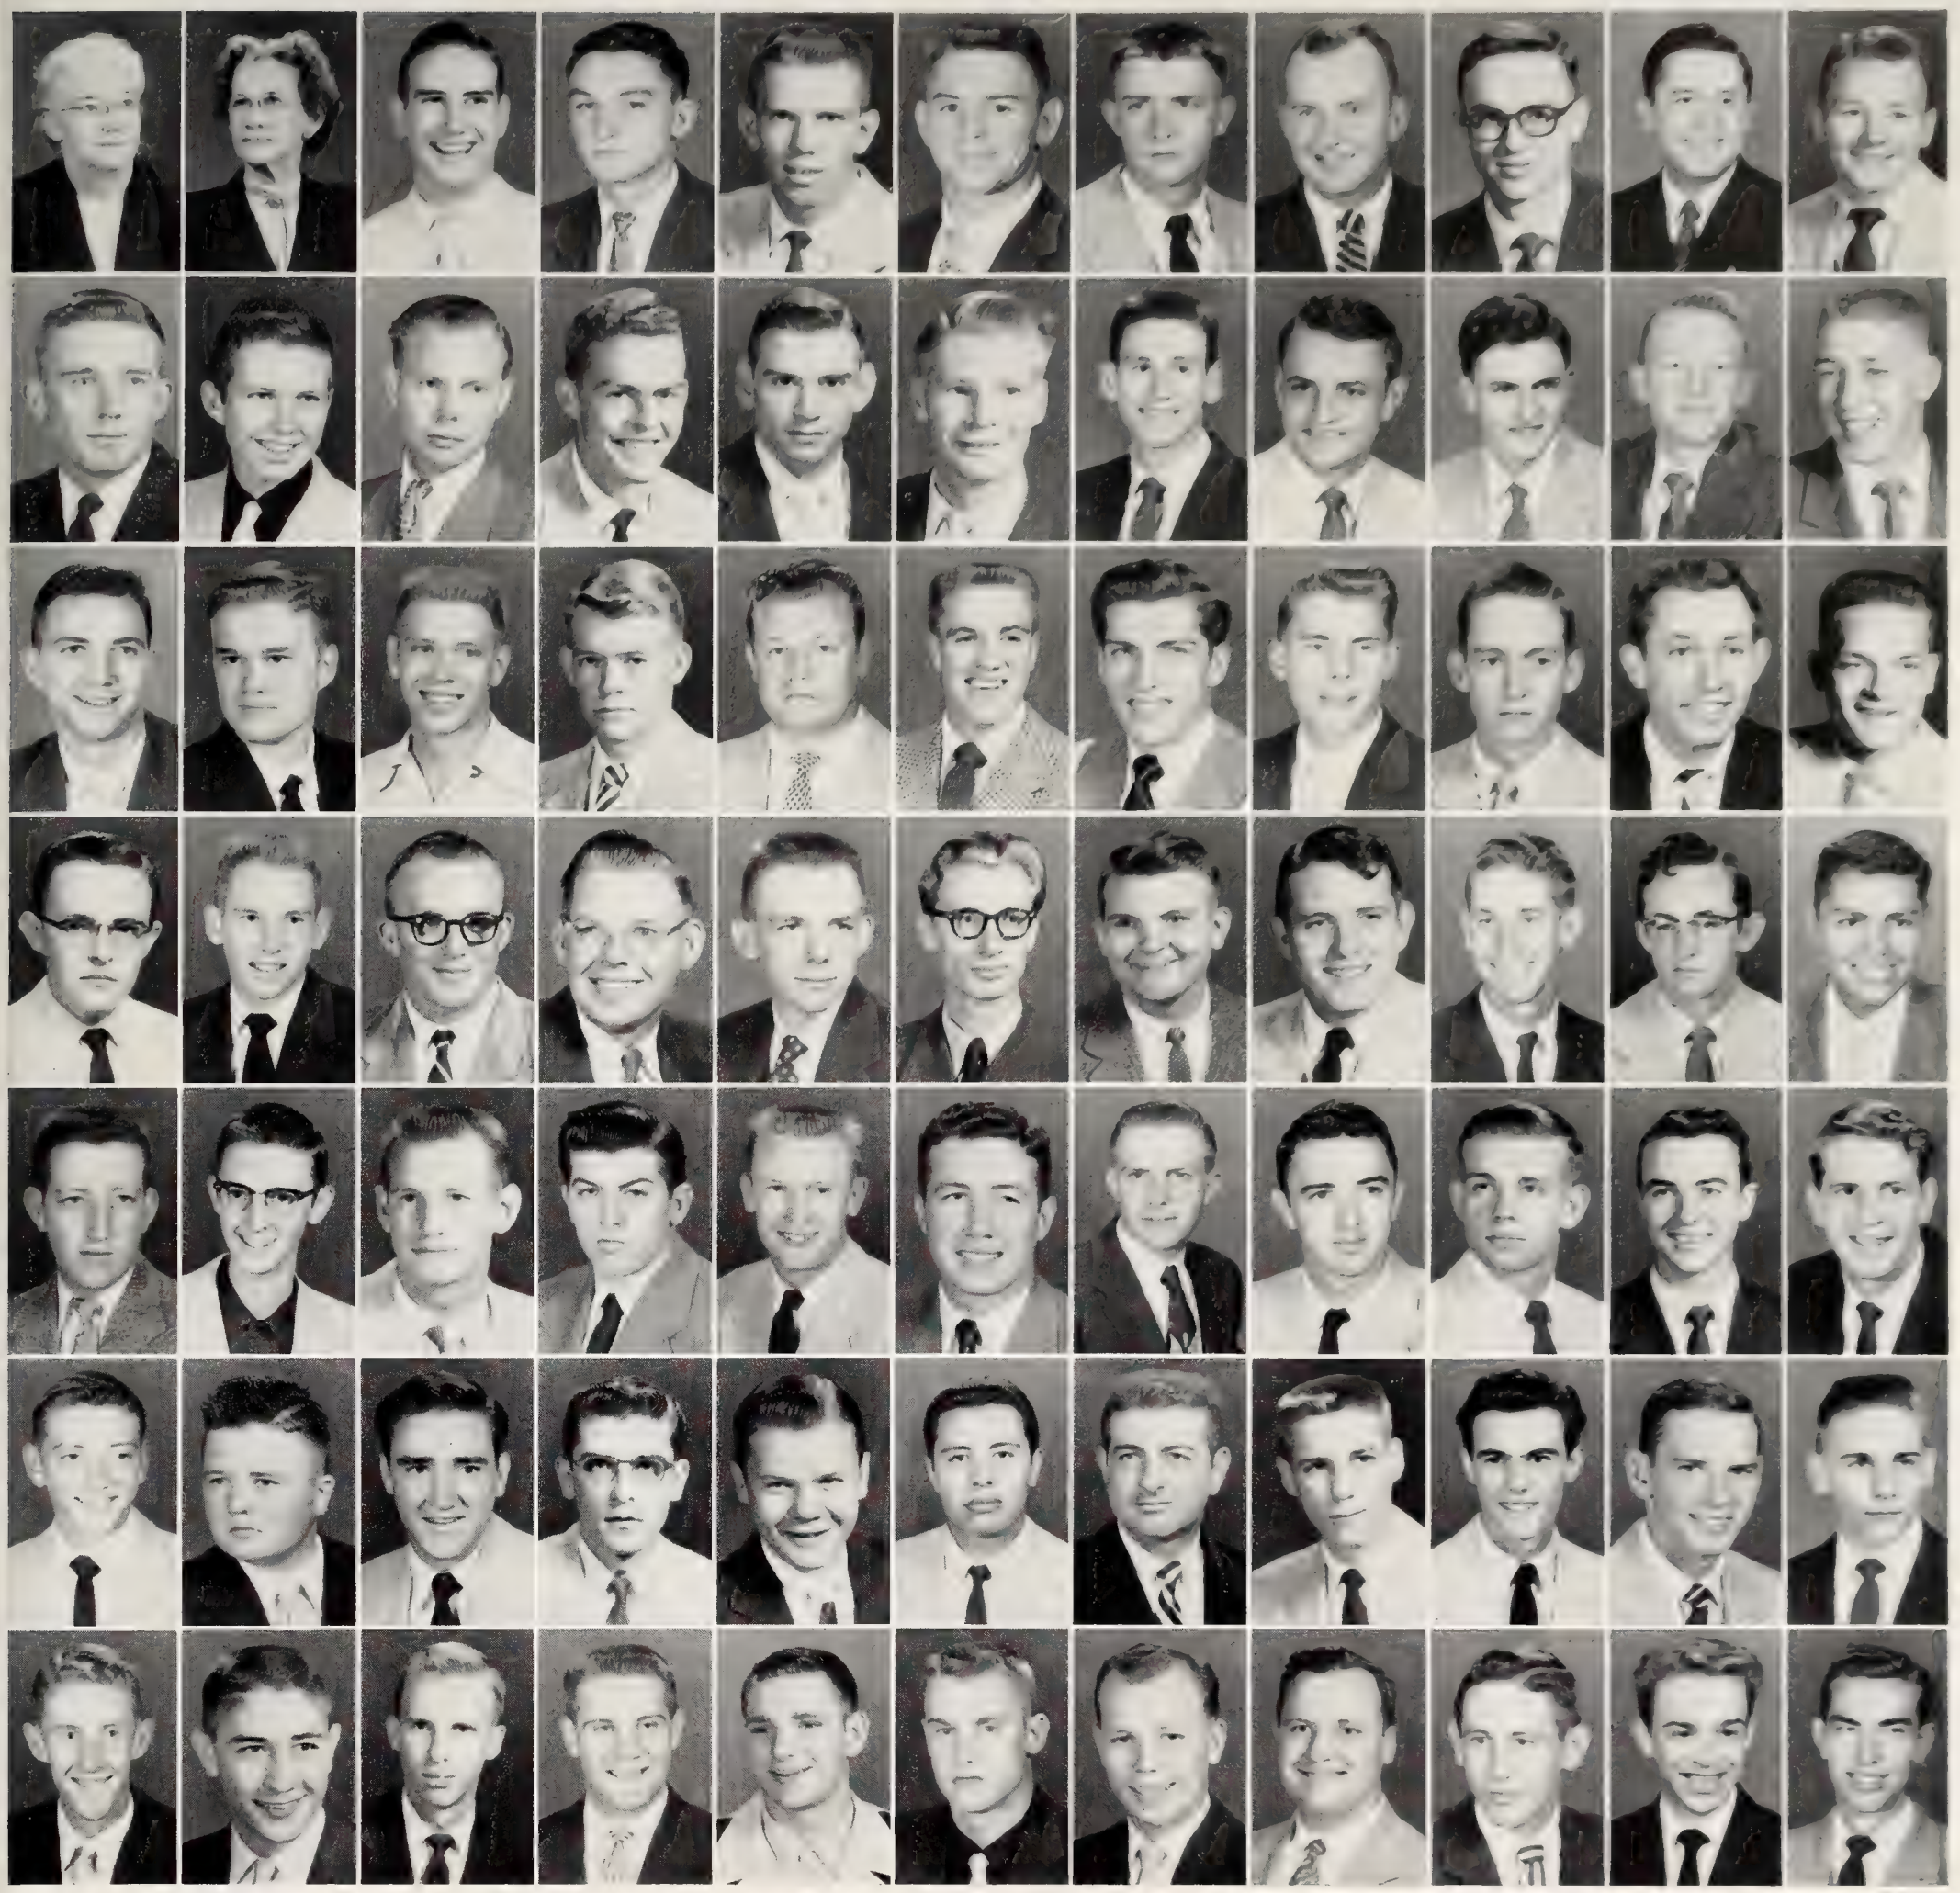

Don Dickerson, senior from Borger, Texas, has served as president of the Independent Students association and as independent men's residence halls senator. Jim Lutes, senior from Allendale, Mo., has held the post of engineering senator on the A&M student senate.

CO-ED APARTMENTS

A HOME AWAY FROM HOME, is how the 70 girls feel that live in Co-Ed apartments. The apartments, located on Jordan in South Veterans village, were first started in 1951 at the suggestion of Miss Zelma Patchin, dean of women.

The two units are divided into 10 apartments. One apartment is occupied by the house parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Slaght and Mr. and Mrs. John Colvert, who really take the place of the girls' parents while they are at school. Each of the other nine apartments are occupied by four girls. The apartments, which furnish a home-like atmosphere, consist of two bedrooms, kitchen, bath, living room and in each unit there is a laundry room. A main living room is where the girls receive their guests.

Shirley Smith, Gayle Ashley and Mary Jo Webb were the entries in the Redskin beauty contest. Out of the three Shirley Smith was in the top 25. Shirley was also selected as Agronomy queen. Officers for the year were Claranne Brownin, president; Corine Payne, vice-president; Joan Ingerham, secretary.

CORDELL HALL

THE BOYS OF CORDELL HALL enjoyed another successful school year in their "home away from home."

Old traditions were continued, new projects were initiated and, as usual, the boys of Cordell took an active interest in all campus functions.

Our first big activity was the construction of a float to be entered in the homecoming parade. This float, although it didn't place as high as did last year's first place beauty winner, was thought by many to be the most beautiful in the parade.

Cordell hall boys lead a well rounded intellectual and social life. On the social side of the ledger, our annual Christmas party was a great success.

Cordell and Willard halls held a joint spring picnic at Redlands. Following the picnic we enjoyed an evening of games and dancing. Our spring dance was held in the Marine room with Larry Wright's Combo furnishing the music. Both the picnic and dance were termed very successful by all who attended. Exchange parties with Willard, Murray and Stout halls provided excellent opportunities to further our social contacts.

When it comes to activities in campus affairs, Cordell boys are surpassed by none. Dale Milligan started off the school year by being elected freshman class president. Ray Tompkins followed shortly with a victory that gave him the IMRH senatorship. Daryl Davis was elected sophomore class president. Dwight Griggs was elected to Blue Key and president of IMRC.

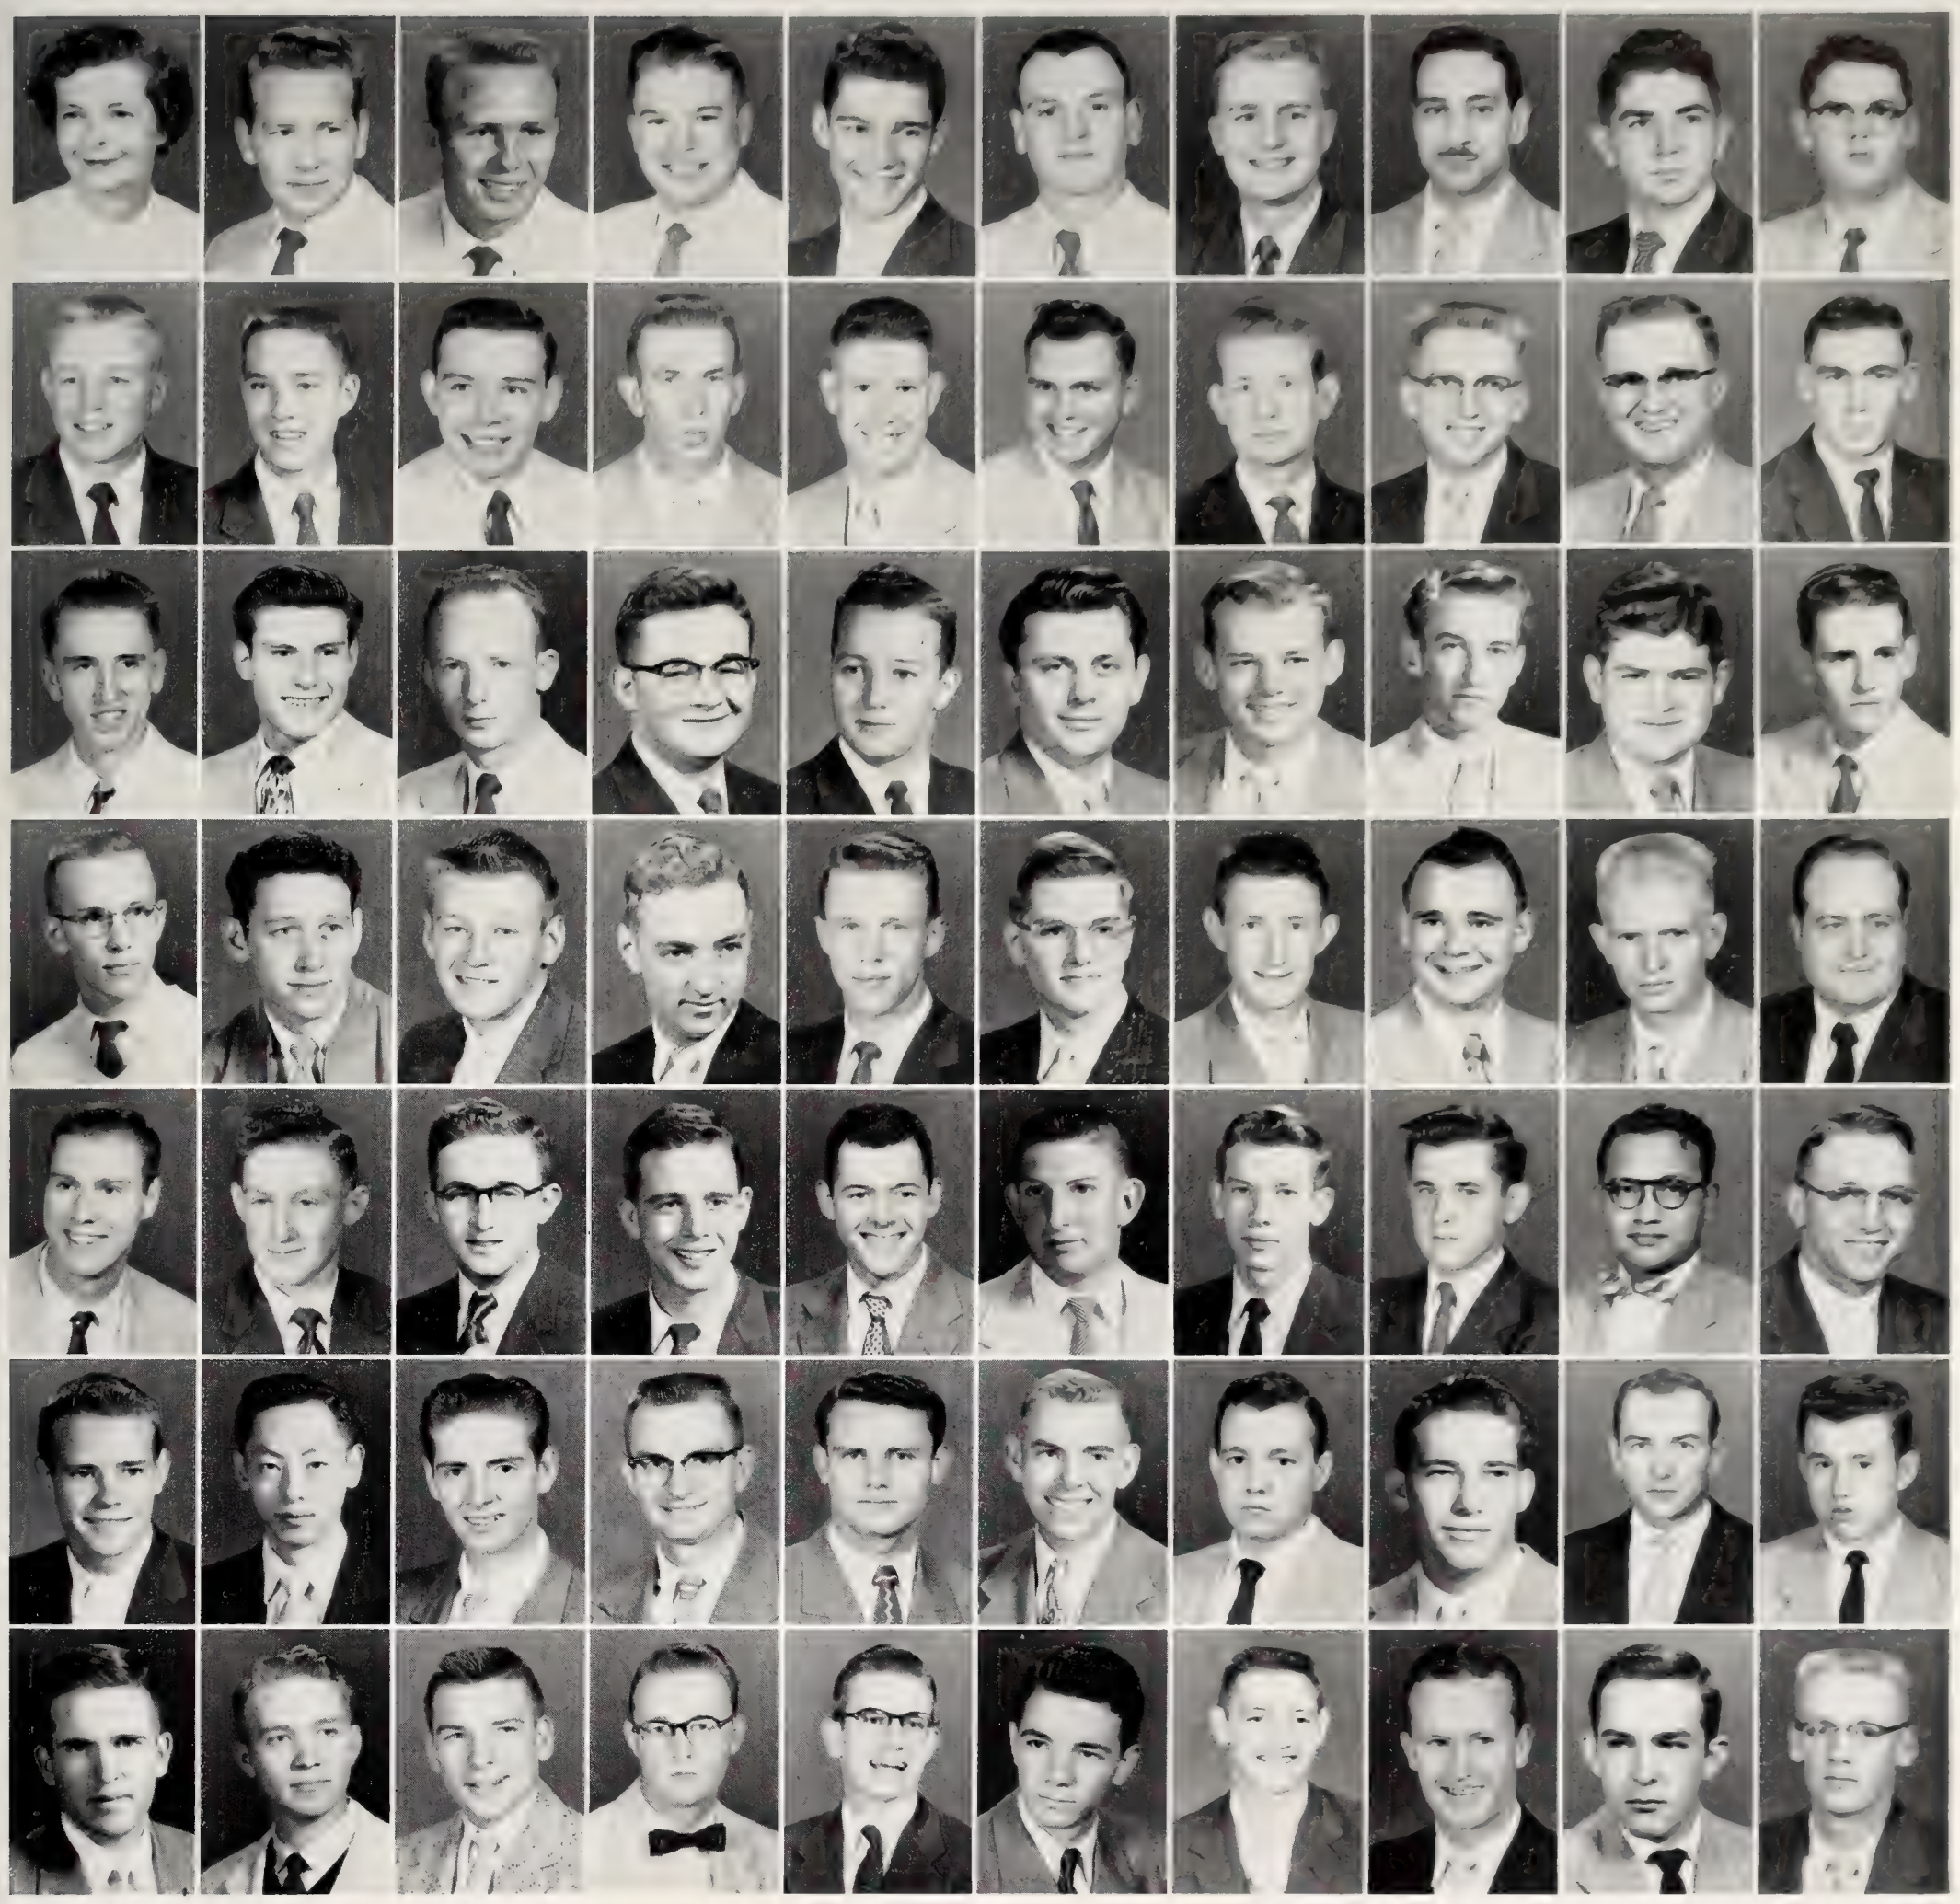

The officers for the second semester were James Hamilton, president; Charles Brunkhorst, vice-president; Richard Edsall, secretary; Elgin Fry, treasurer, and David Hoover, social chairman.

All in all, the school year 1954-55 was most successful in all aspects for the boys of Cordell hall.

THE ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY at Hanner hall brought many smiles to the faces of Hannerites. A good time was had by each and every one

HANNER HALL

SCHOLARSHIP AND SERVICE are traditional with residents of Hanner hall, oldest men's dormitory on the campus. Built in 1925 and named for Carter C. Hanner, an A&M former student killed in World War I, it has housed some of the college's most distinguished graduates—men who earned success in varied fields of endeavor.

Through the years it has become known for the consistently high academic standing of its residents, usually leading all other independent men's residences in grade averages. The men of Hanner also consistently take a proportionately high percentage of the leadership posts in campus activities. They serve in the student senate, work with service groups and fulfill Aggie traditions in worthwhile extracurricular functions.

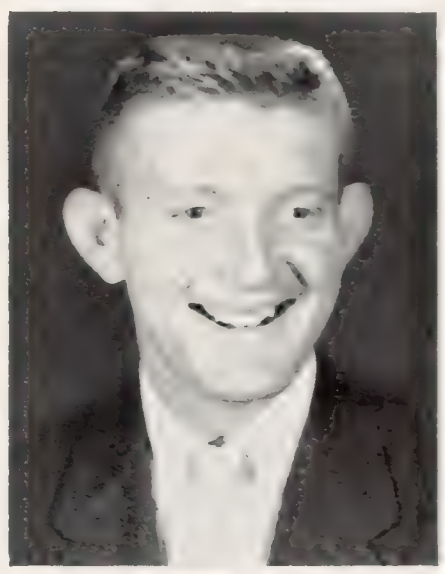

Another tradition with Hanner hall men is service to their country. Many veterans choose it for their residence when they come to A&M and a high percentage of its residents complete the ROTC courses.

Richard W. Collins was presented the annual chapter scholarship award by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers for maintaining the highest scholastic standing of any member of that chapter under the conditions relating to this award.

William Alldredge was awarded a trip to Atlantic City, N. J., for being selected the "Outstanding Dairy Manufacturing Student of the Southwest United States." He is also a member of Alpha Zeta and the Aggie council, besides being an outstanding member of the Dairy Science club and being voted to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

In athletics, too, Hannerites stand out. In the past three years they have won the all-college independent men's intramural sports championship once and taken second place twice.

MURRAY HALL

KEEP BUSY, seemed to be the motto as the dance hours, house parties and dorm devotions filled the schedule. A choral group was organized for those who enjoyed singing. The girls took an active part in the WAA sports program, and produced the independent champion volley ball and table tennis teams.

Homecoming brought with it the usual hustle and bustle as they constructed a 25-foot magazine cover featuring "Dior Predicts Flat Look for Cougars" as their house decoration. Their hard work was rewarded by a new trophy to add to the dorm's collection.

The echo of "going, going, gone" died away and the head counselor, Miss Emily Gahr, found herself with the task of waxing floors. She donated her services to be sold to the highest bidder at the auction the girls held in the living room supporting the Campus Chest drive. Mrs. Mable Clingenpeel's offer of late hours also added spice to the auction. This proved to be a successful campaign.

Thanksgiving became a personal project when each girl contributed food for a needy family. Christmas followed with all of the gaiety of decorating the tree for the living room, a party, and then caroling at the boys' dorms.

The activities were climaxed with an election breakfast honoring the newly-elected house officers for the next year and then the senior banquet. The complete cooperation and ever willingness to help shown by the hall's dietitian, Mrs. Floyd Brown, made these special occasions a success.

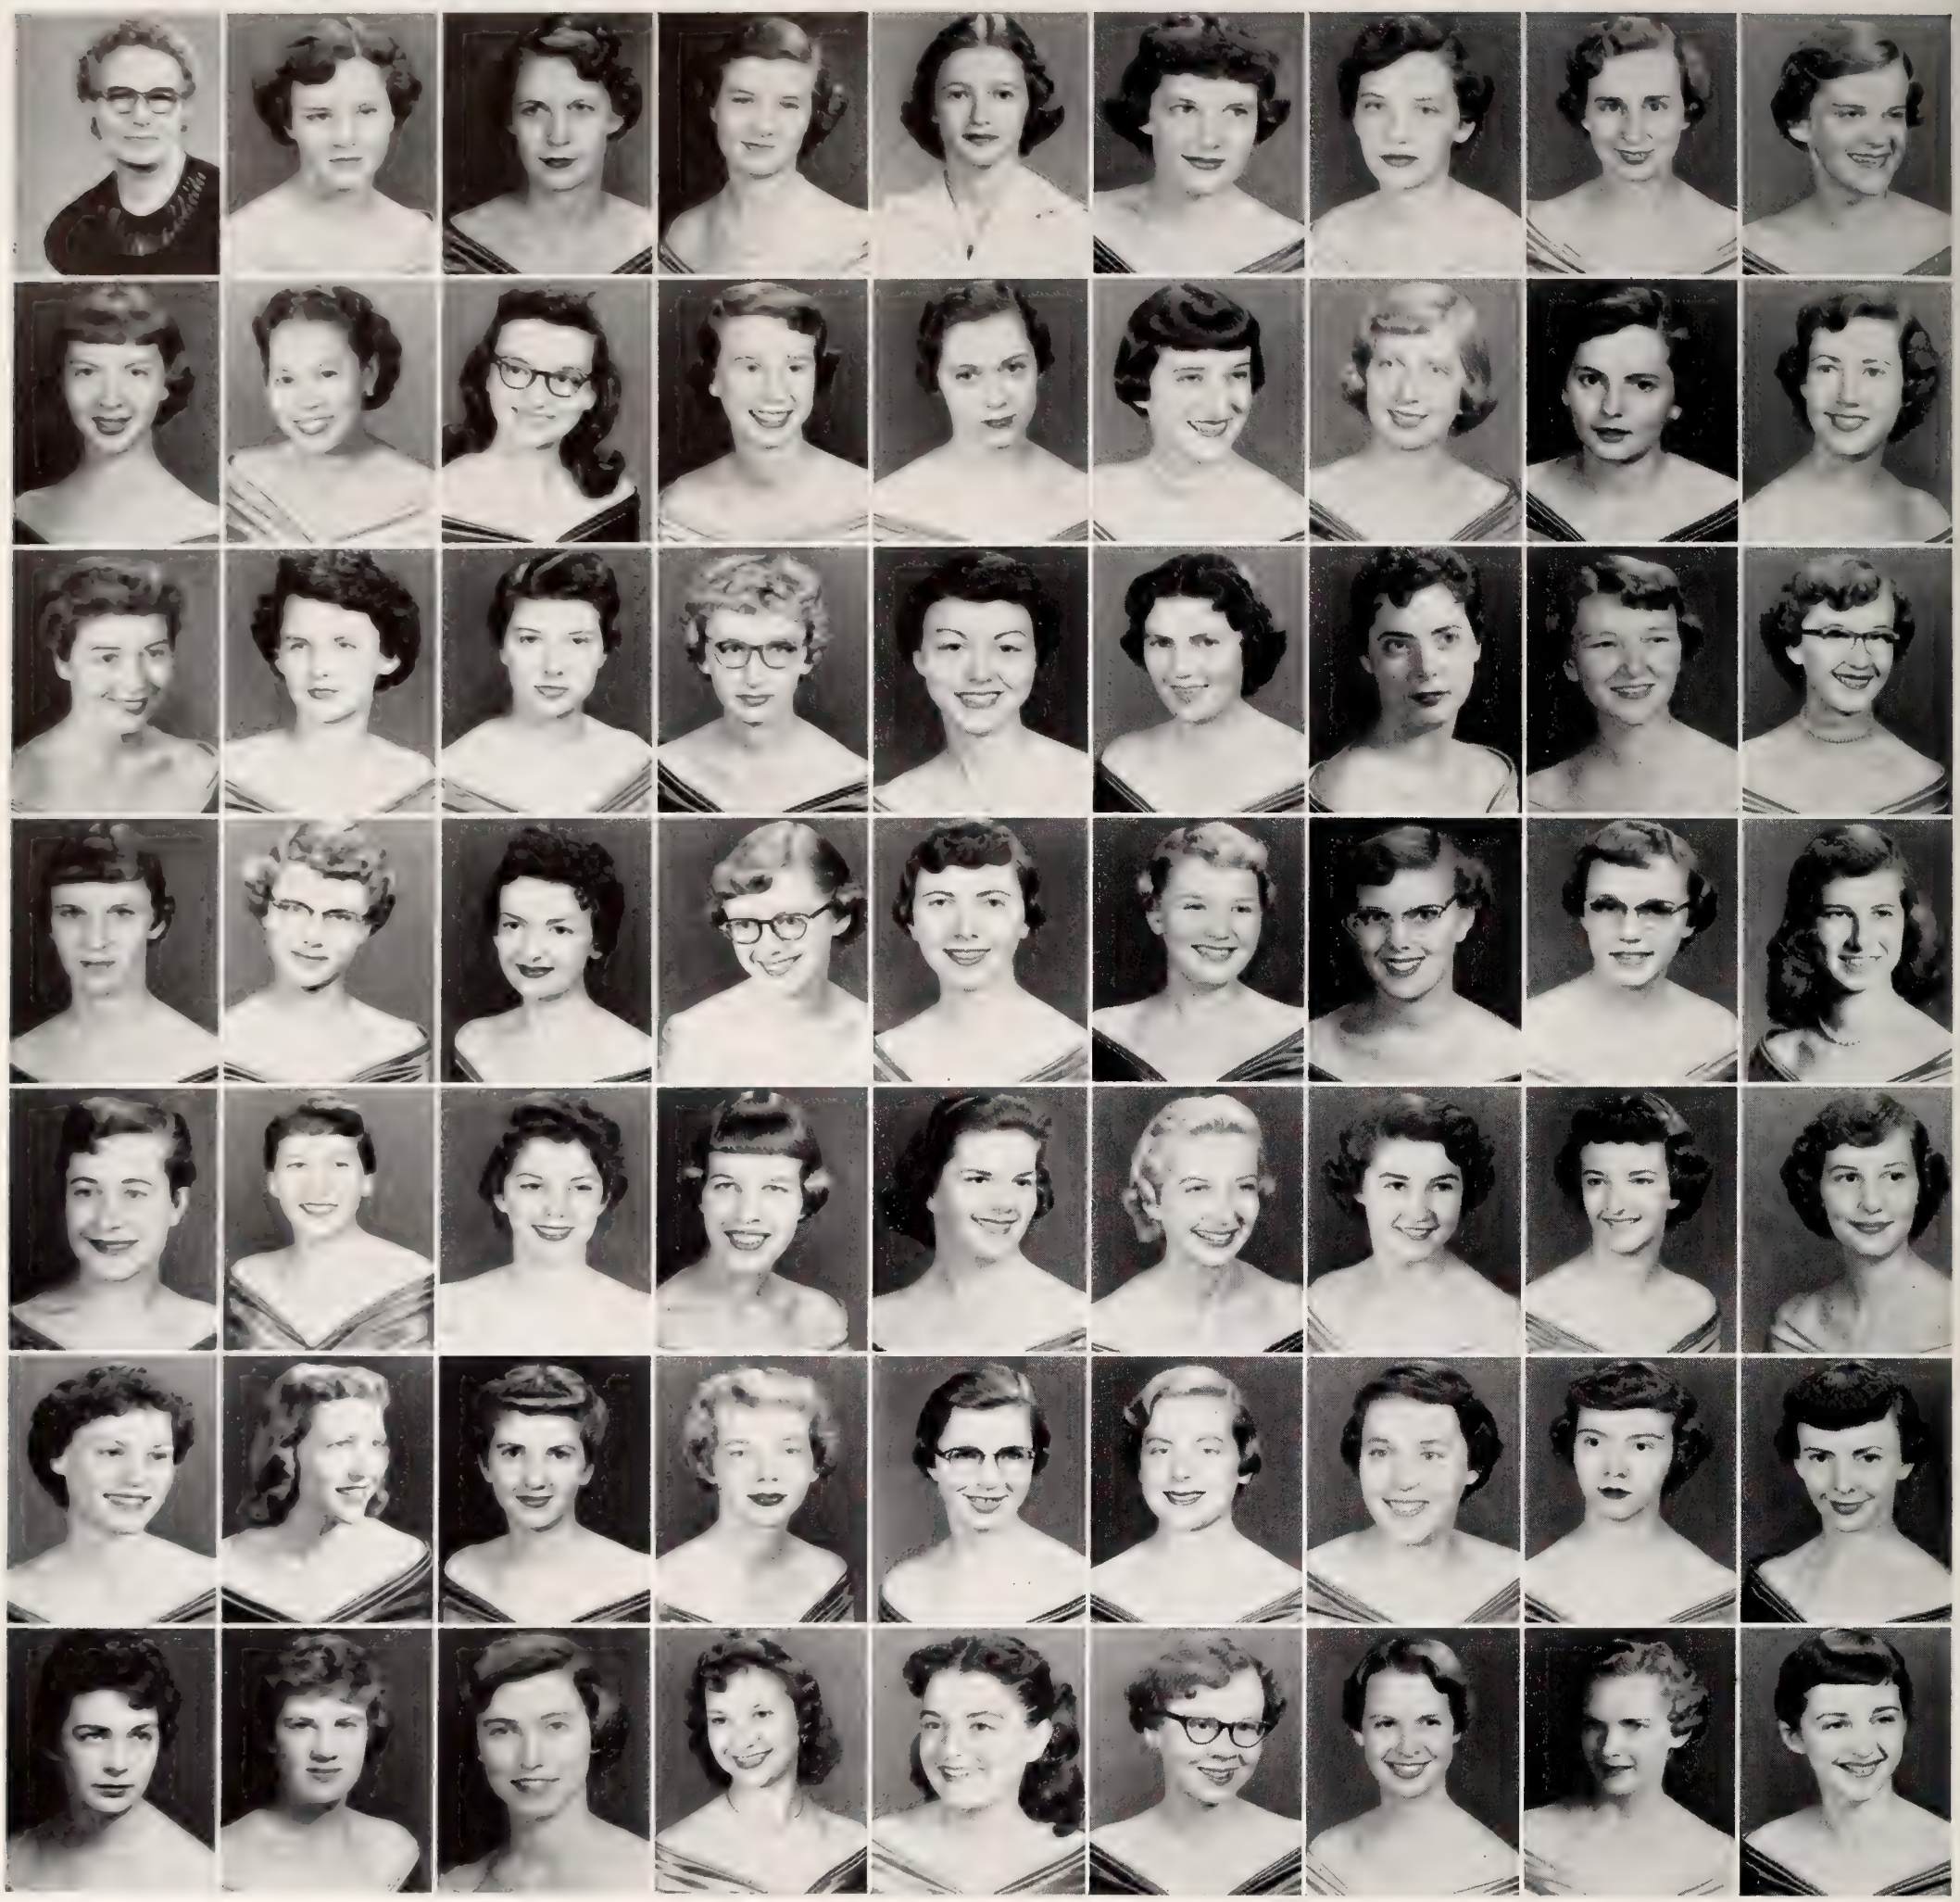

Mrs. Ruth Ahrberg charmingly filled the capacity of house mother. This marked her first year in Murray. All of the girls agree that it was a very successful and enjoyable one.

NORTH MURRAY HALL

NORTH MURRAY, a wing of Murray hall, was built for graduate women students. Because of the overcrowded living conditions in the men's housing units in the fall of 1949, North Murray was opened to men students. This year has marked the sixth year for men students in the dorm, and to many residents it has become home at A&M.

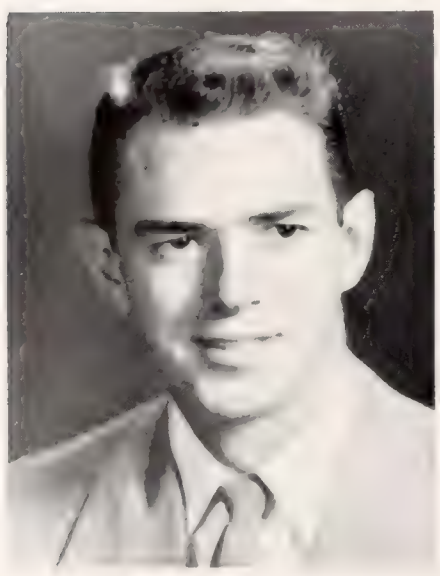

Aggie co-eds were about to take possession of North Murray in the fall of 1951 when the civil defense program located on the campus and chose the building for its residence. Civil defense needed only two floors, so they released the third and fourth floors to men students.

North Murray hall reflects a true Aggie spirit in that it houses a cross-section of men who make it their home away from home. It is composed of men from fraternities, as well as independent men.

The Acacia fraternity, which is the process of building a new house, has made North Murray its "fraternity home" for the last two semester. Other fraternities that have men living in North Murray are Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Alpha Gamma Rho, Pi Kappa Alpha and Sigma Chi.

Physical education courses are taught in the basement. Golf, archery and modern dance are some of the classes and make interesting scenery for the boys who live upstairs.

An outstanding factor of North Murray this year has been the perfect harmony between the independent and Greek men residing in North Murray. A contributing factor to the dormitory has been the excellent job Mrs. George Williams has done as North Murray hall hostess. Mrs. William did double duty by being hostess to the independents as well as to the Acacians.

STOUT HALL

A PLACE FOR FELLOWSHIP, friendships and fun for over 400 girls is Stout hall. Along with the activities of study and sleep, some of the special functions for the living group during the year included a pajama party, Christmas buffet supper and a Christmas party honoring the children and grand-children of the Stout hall housekeepers. Weekly dorm devotions for the coeds were every Wednesday night.

Elected queens reigning during the year included Shirley Garrett, Freshman queen; Carol Gallamore, REDSKIN beauty queen; Peggy Keas, "O" club queen, and Jan Smith, honorary cadet colonel. Other Stout hall representatives on the campus were Colleen Vaughan as senator, Campus Chest coordinator and also state FTA coordinator; Dorothy Salwaechter, sophomore class secretary; Peggy Keas, Religious Emphasis week co-chairman, and also the national 4-H winner, Coleta McAllister.

Other residents holding campus positions are Janis Gregory, Mortar Board; Elizabeth Warren, Pi Zeta Kappa president; Beverly Cooper, board of publications, and Mary Alice Kruger, president of Wesley foundation.

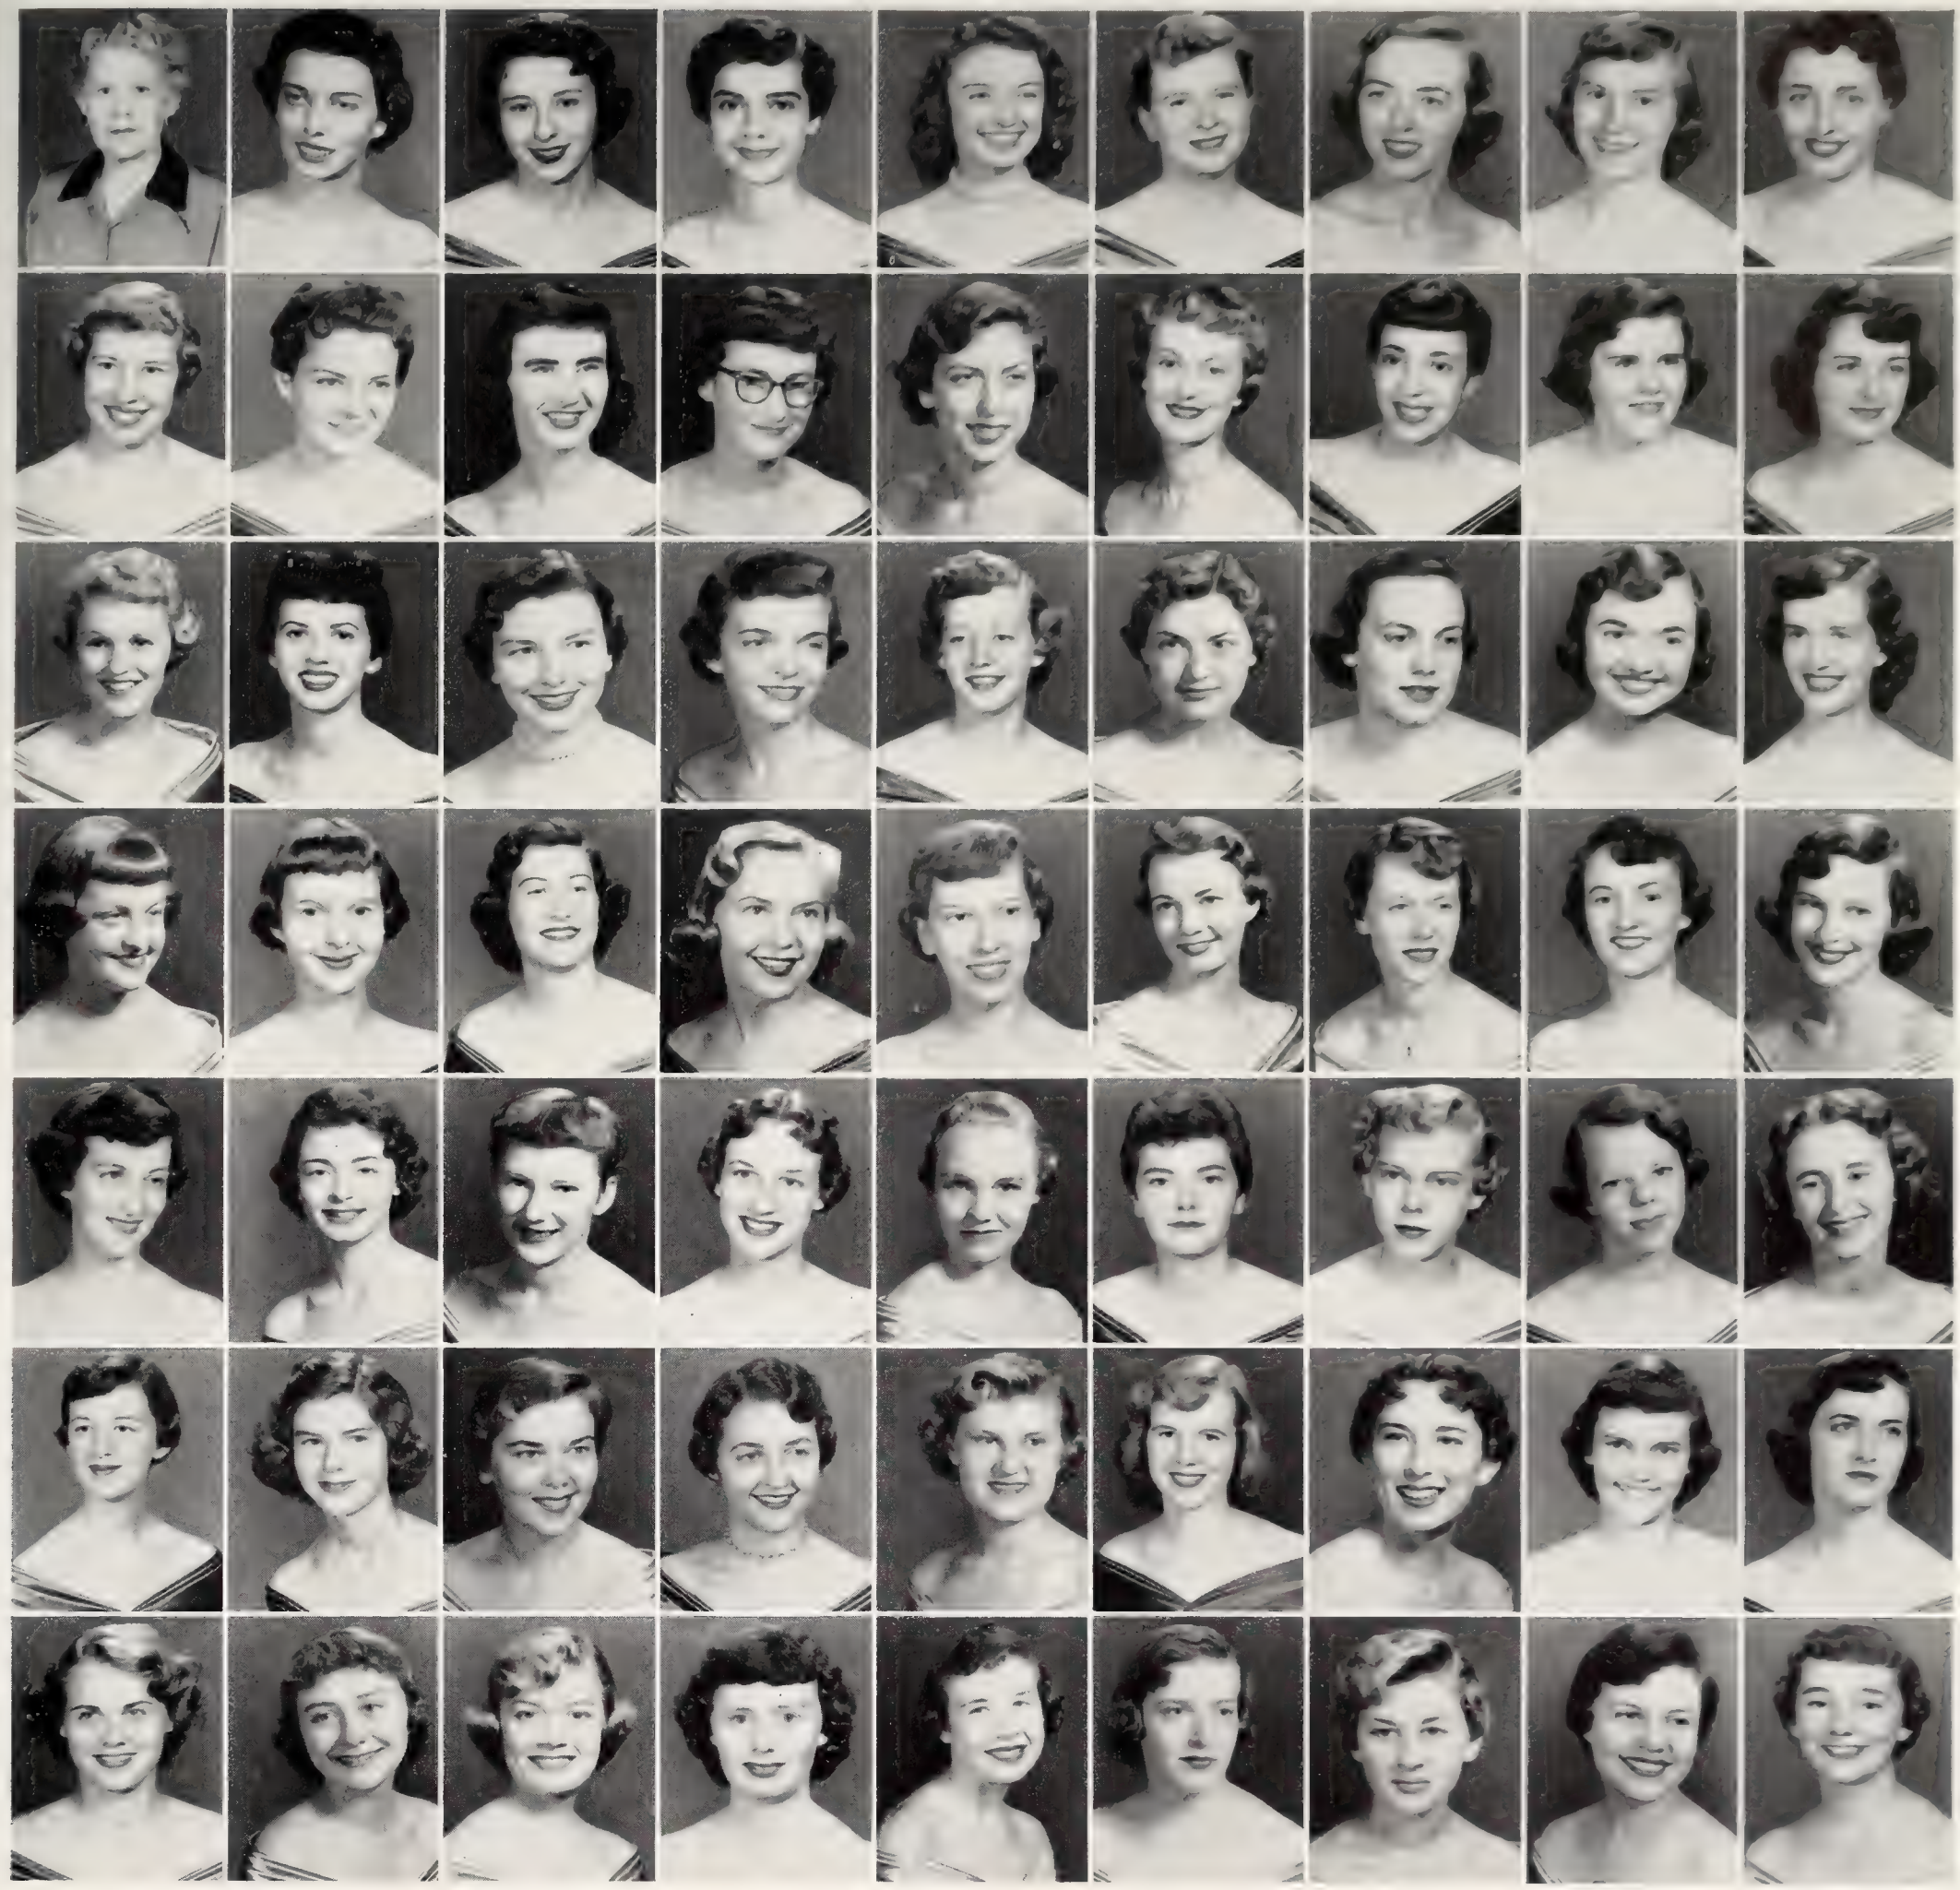

One of the biggest events held in the dorm was the faculty dinner. The living room was completely filled with members of the A&M faculty. Among the persons attending the dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Oliver S. Willham, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morrison and Dean Zelma Patchin. A serious moment was on Sundays when the Doxology was sung before lunch.

Working with all the coeds on planning and also problems were Mrs. James H. Scott, hostess, and Mrs. Anna Stringfield, head counselor. For all the dormitory residents this school year was a wonderful one.

THATCHER HALL

THATCHER HALL, one of the oldest dormitories on the campus, was built in 1925. It was named after Jessee Thatcher Bost, who was the first woman graduate of Oklahoma A&M. When the hall was first opened, in January 1926, it was used as a girls' dormitory. In 1935, with the completion of Murray hall, Thatcher was turned into a boys' dormitory and has remained so until this date. During World War II Thatcher served as a naval barracks and a hospital was maintained on the first floor.

The most centrally located of the independent men's residence halls, it is composed of about 80 men representing nearly every field of study. Thatcher is considered the smallest of the men's dorms on the campus. Its smallness, instead of being a handicap, has been an asset in promoting a good feeling of friendliness and fellowship.

Mrs. B. J. Bruce, or more affectionately called Mother "B," is the hostess of Thatcher hall this year. Mother "B" has the double duty of not only being hostess to the Thatcher independents, but to the Kappa Sigs as well.

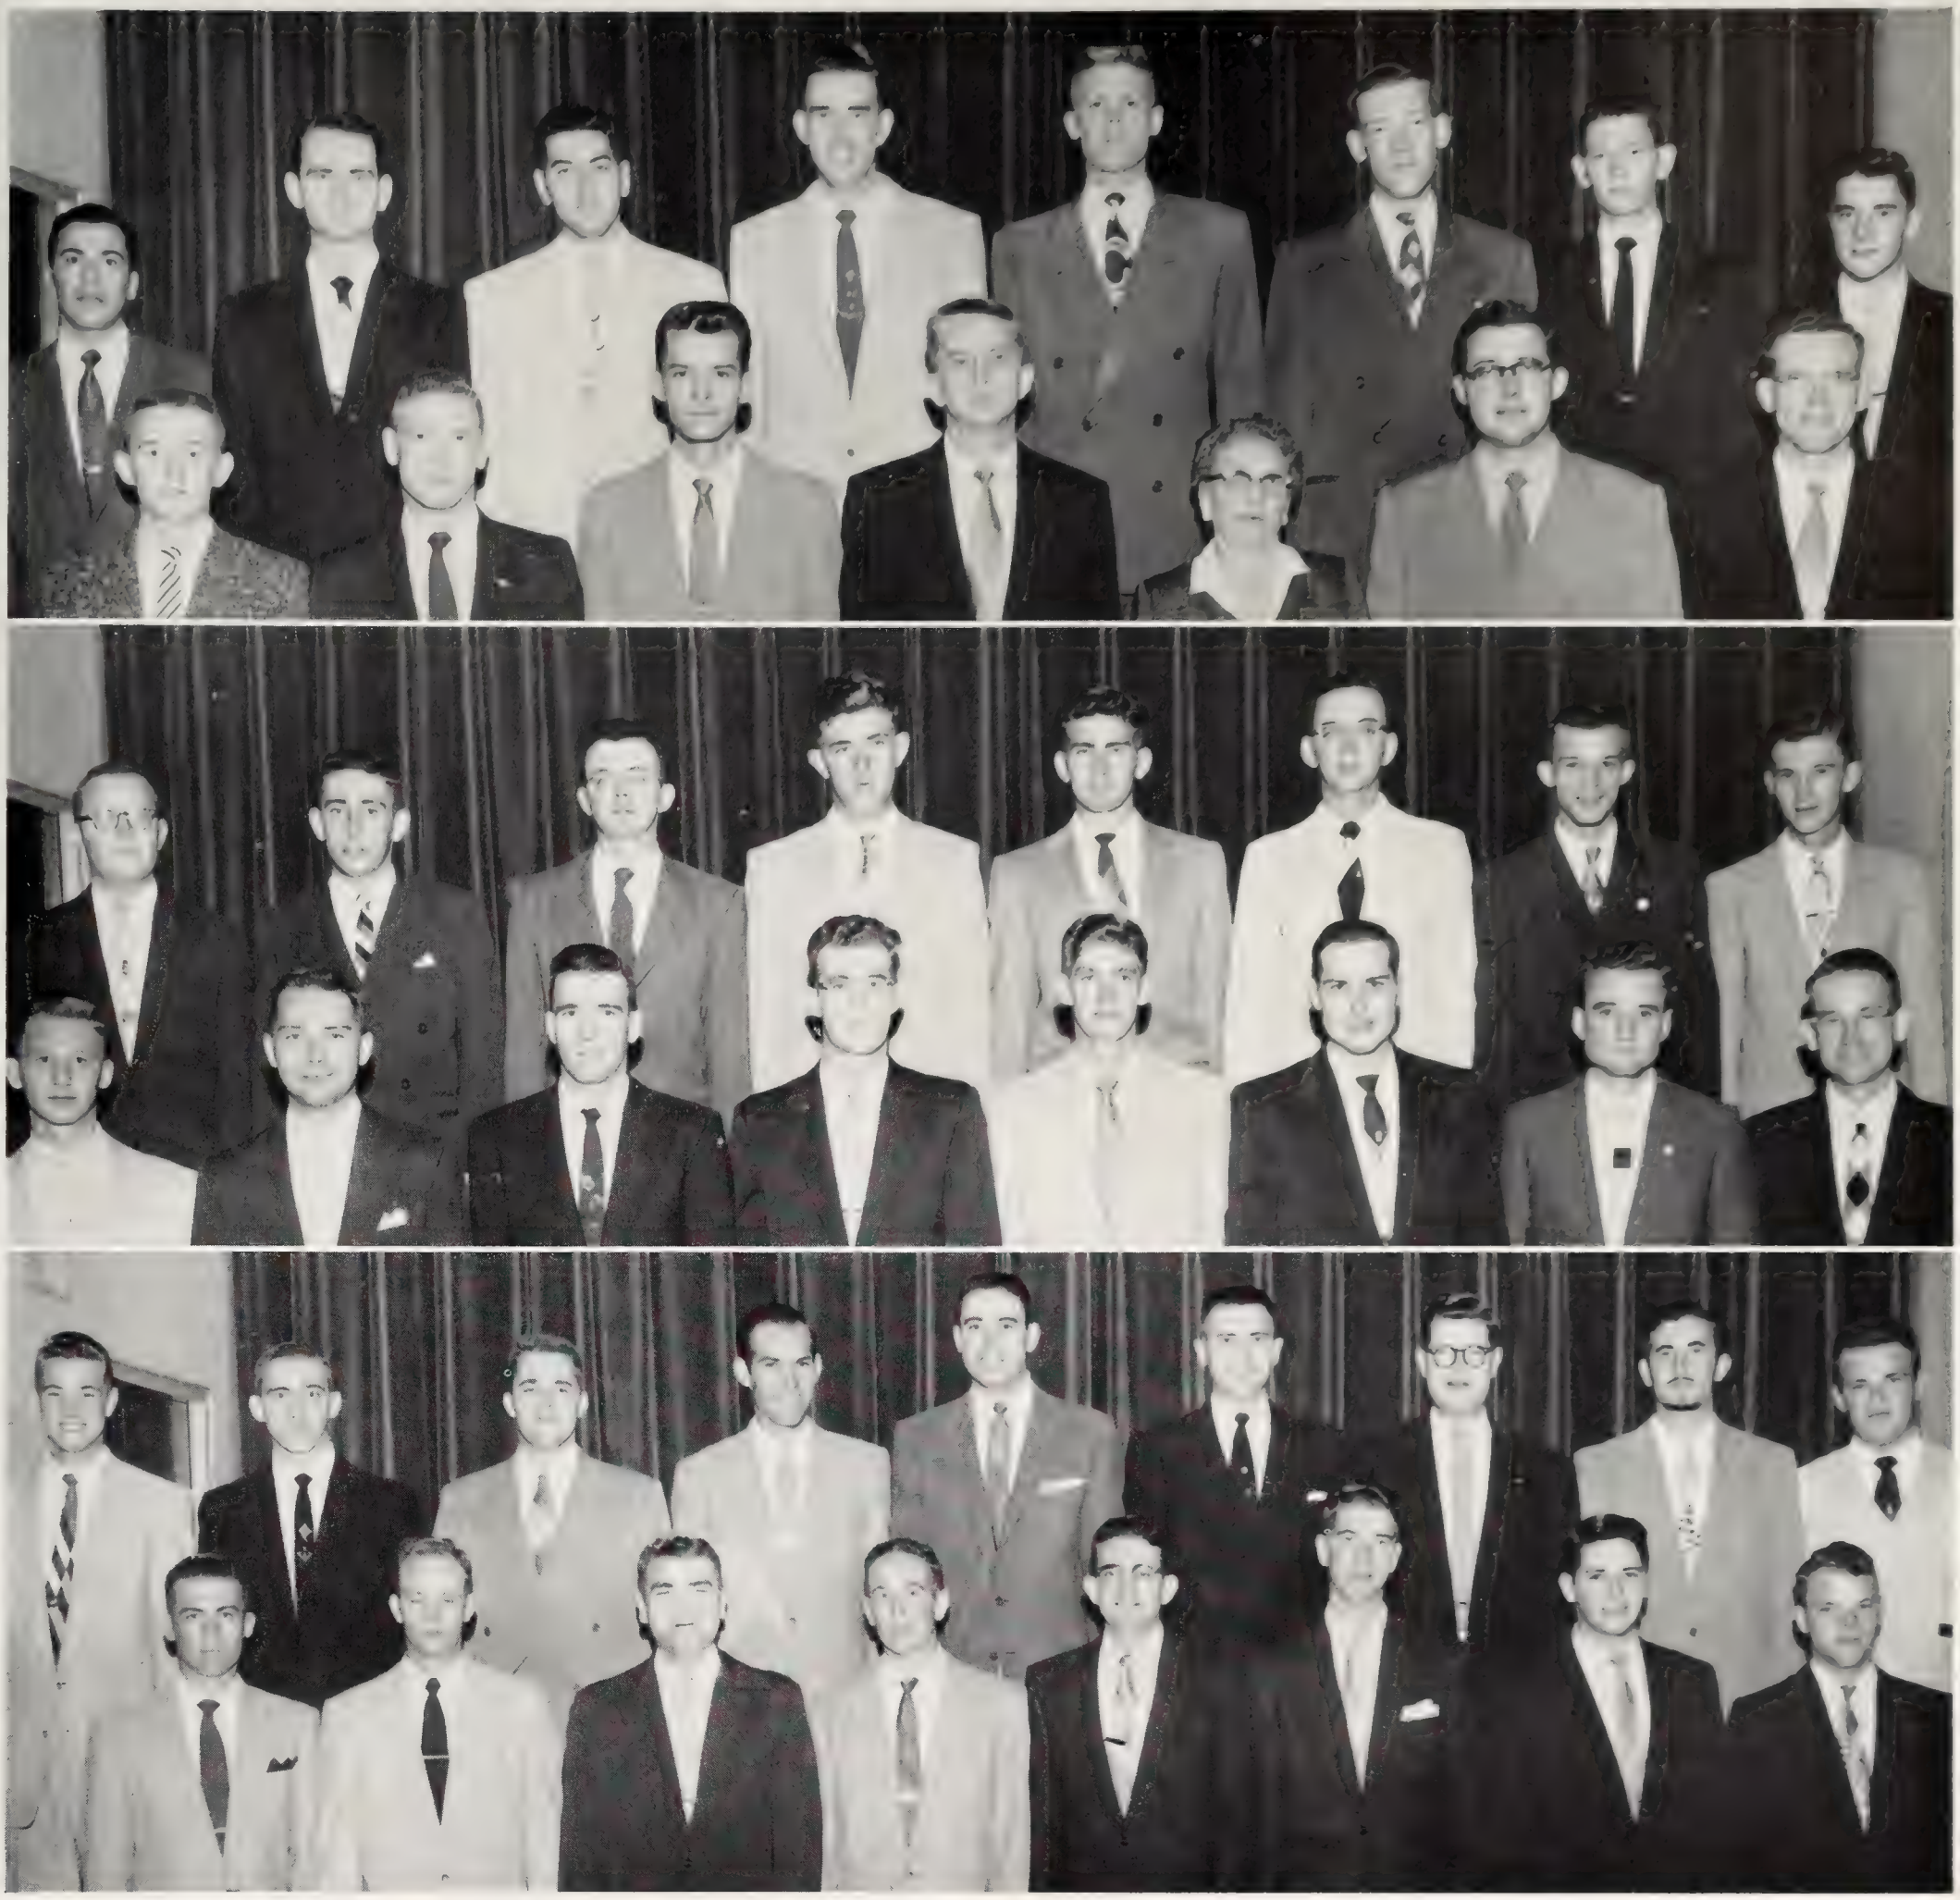

Except for football, Thatcher hall was well represented in intramural sports. Though no single event was predominant, Thatcher was runner-up in club and dorm basketball, volleyball, and softball. The outstanding sportsman was Ronald Longbrake, who was named to the all-college basketball team.

Social activities were another important part of Thatcher hall. After much thought and planning the Christmas party, spring dance, and picnic became a reality and another successful social season was completed.

WILLARD HALL

THE GIRLS WHO LIVE in Willard hall are proud of their dorm and its activities. This year there are six girls living in Willard from other countries, 12 girls from states other than Oklahoma, and 350 girls from towns in Oklahoma.

Beginning in October of this year the girls have enjoyed a new compromise meal service on Sunday. This makes Sunday dinner seem a little more like the home served family dinners than the regular cafeteria service used throughout the week.

The social life in Willard is not neglected either, as you would know if you dropped into the living room on Wednesday evening at about 7:30. The room would be filled with boys and girls enjoying dance hour. The social chairman, Mickey Lewis, and the committees who served with her, helped to make the dorm parties and coffees after the football games a big success.

Although Willard did not win the homecoming decoration award this year, the girls who worked on the decorations and the art chairman, Dean Brison, are to be congratulated for the fine job they did.

Of the many dinners held in Willard during the year, the most outstanding ones are the holiday dinners before the beginning of the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations.

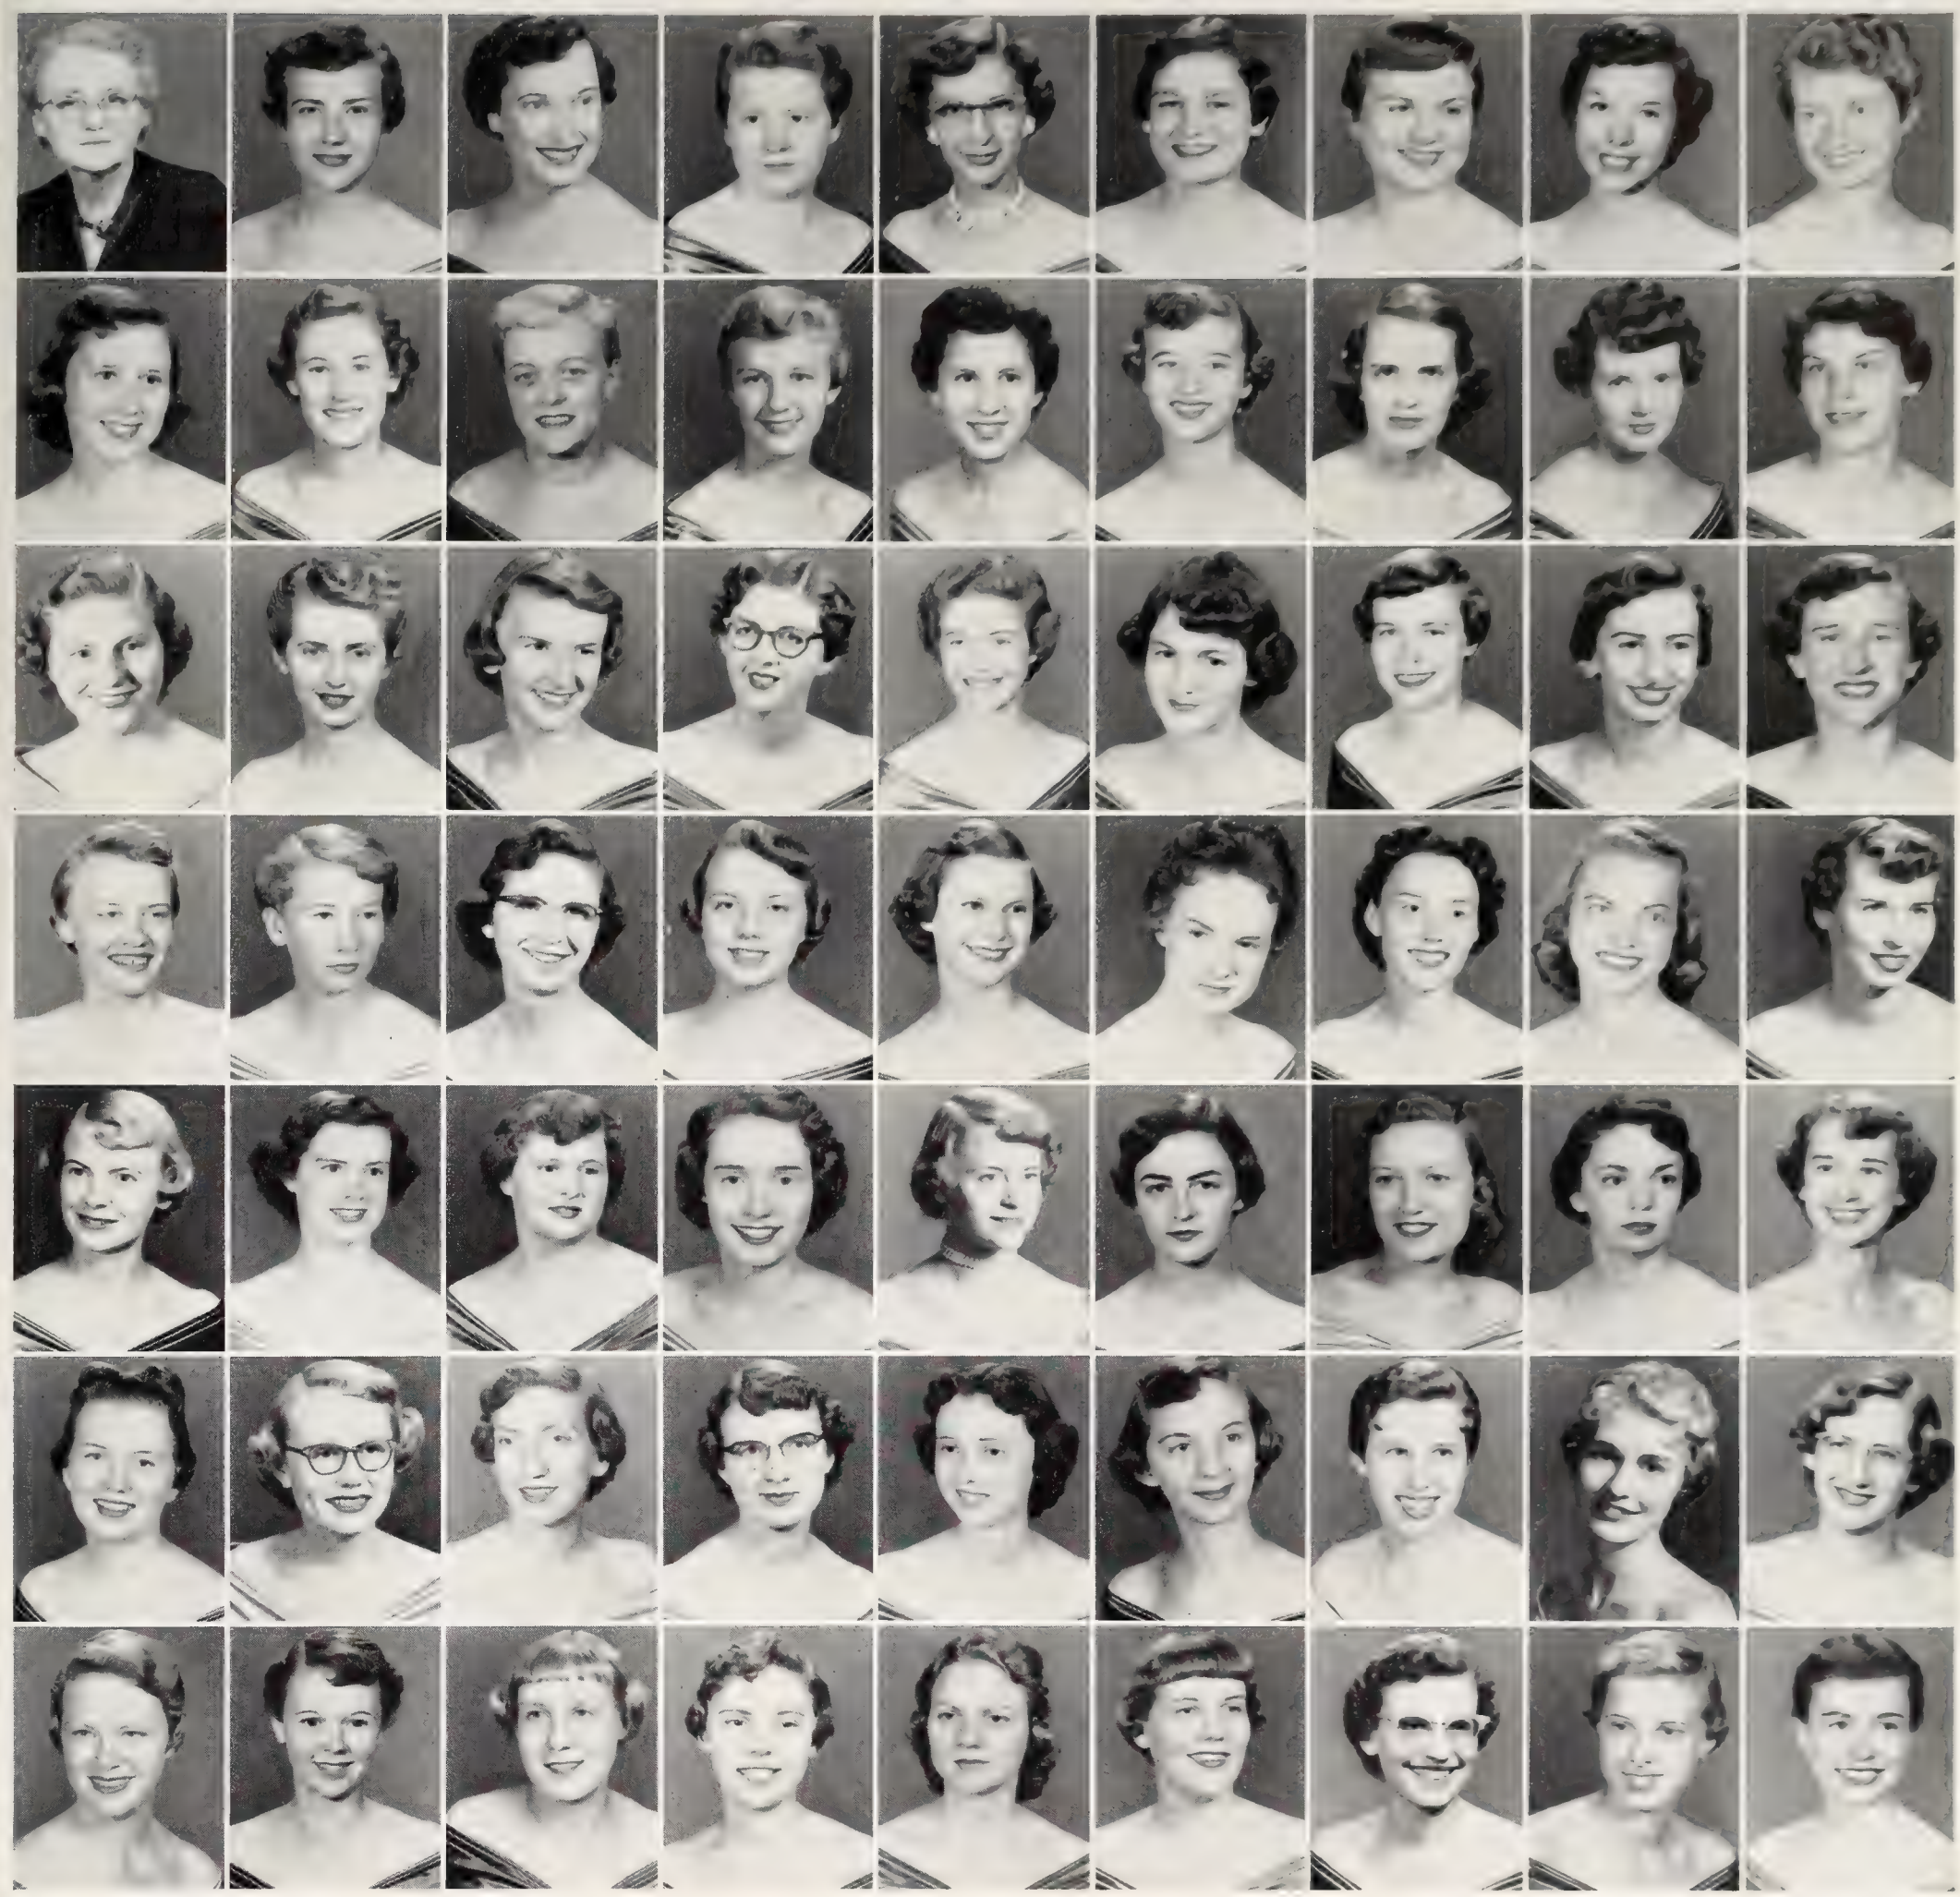

In the spring of the year, just as the school year is about over, the girls honor the graduating seniors with the senior breakfast.

It is through the cooperation and combined efforts of the girls, the house mother, Mrs. Virginia Pope, the night hostess, Mrs. Beta Lee Pryor, and the residence counselor, Miss Mary Newby, that the residents of Willard are able to enjoy a pleasurable and a profitable year.

PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

OFFICERS

MYRNA JO SHELBY	President
PAT HOLDSCLAW	Secretary
TWILA HALL	Treasurer
MISS ZELMA PATCHIN	Advisor

THE WOMEN'S PANHELLENIC council serves as a forum for the discussion of questions of interest in the college and fraternity world. It also makes and formulates all rules governing rushing, pledging and initiation on the A&M campus.

The council is composed of a senior and a junior delegate from each of the nine national women's fraternities on the A&M campus.

The organization strives "to maintain on a high plane, fraternity life and interfraternity relationship and to cooperate with the college authorities in their effort to maintain high social and scholastic standards."

Annual Panhellenic projects are sponsored by each women's fraternity during the school year. These projects are the Panhellenic workship, the altruistic program, the Campus Chest drive the Panhellenic reception, the rush booklets, officers teas and junior Panhellenic council. In addition to these projects Panhellenic sponsors a foster child in Korea through the foster parent plan.

THE JUNIOR PANHELLENIC COUNCIL is a program of training for pledges and it is composed of the pledge president, a regular delegate and one alternate from each of the nine women's fraternities on the campus. The alternating delegate is sent so that a greater number of pledges can become acquainted with the program and proceedings.

The officers rotate each year in order of their founding on this campus. The council meets twice a month and holds its meetings in the different sorority houses. The meetings are planned so that altruistic programs of each sorority are presented. There are round table discussion and a guest speaker is asked to speak to the group.

Junior Panhellenic has a Christmas project each year, in which they purchase toys and contribute them to various underprivileged children of Stillwater.

The group holds one large social event each year which is an informal party for all of the sorority pledges on the campus. The sponsors of the council for this year are Jeanne Duncan and Ginger Highleyman of Chi Omega.

Men's interfraternity council is composed of the president and representative from each of the men's fraternities at A&M. The purpose of IFC is to foster a spirit of friendliness and cooperative helpfulness among all fraternities on the campus and to provide an agency by means of which fraternities can cooperate in matters of common concern.

Each year, in cooperation with women's Panhellenic council, IFC sponsors the annual "Ribbon" dance in honor of all new sorority and fraternity pledges.

IFC sponsored a number of varied programs this year. Greek week was held in the fall with Bill Johnson as chairman. A help project for the city of Stillwater and Boys Ranch was conducted during the week. The week ended with a street dance.

The highlight of this spring was a weekend rush party sponsored by IFC. High school boys throughout the state were guests.

Jim Ritchie, President

The interfraternity pledge council is sponsored by the men's interfraternity council and is composed of an elected representative from each fraternity's pledge class. It makes policy recommendations to the participating pledge classes and assists them with their problems.

Officers are selected so that all will not be from the same fraternity. Although the council has an interfraternity council advisor, Jim Hefner, it functions as a separate unity with its own constitution. Bimonthly meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursdays in the Student Union.

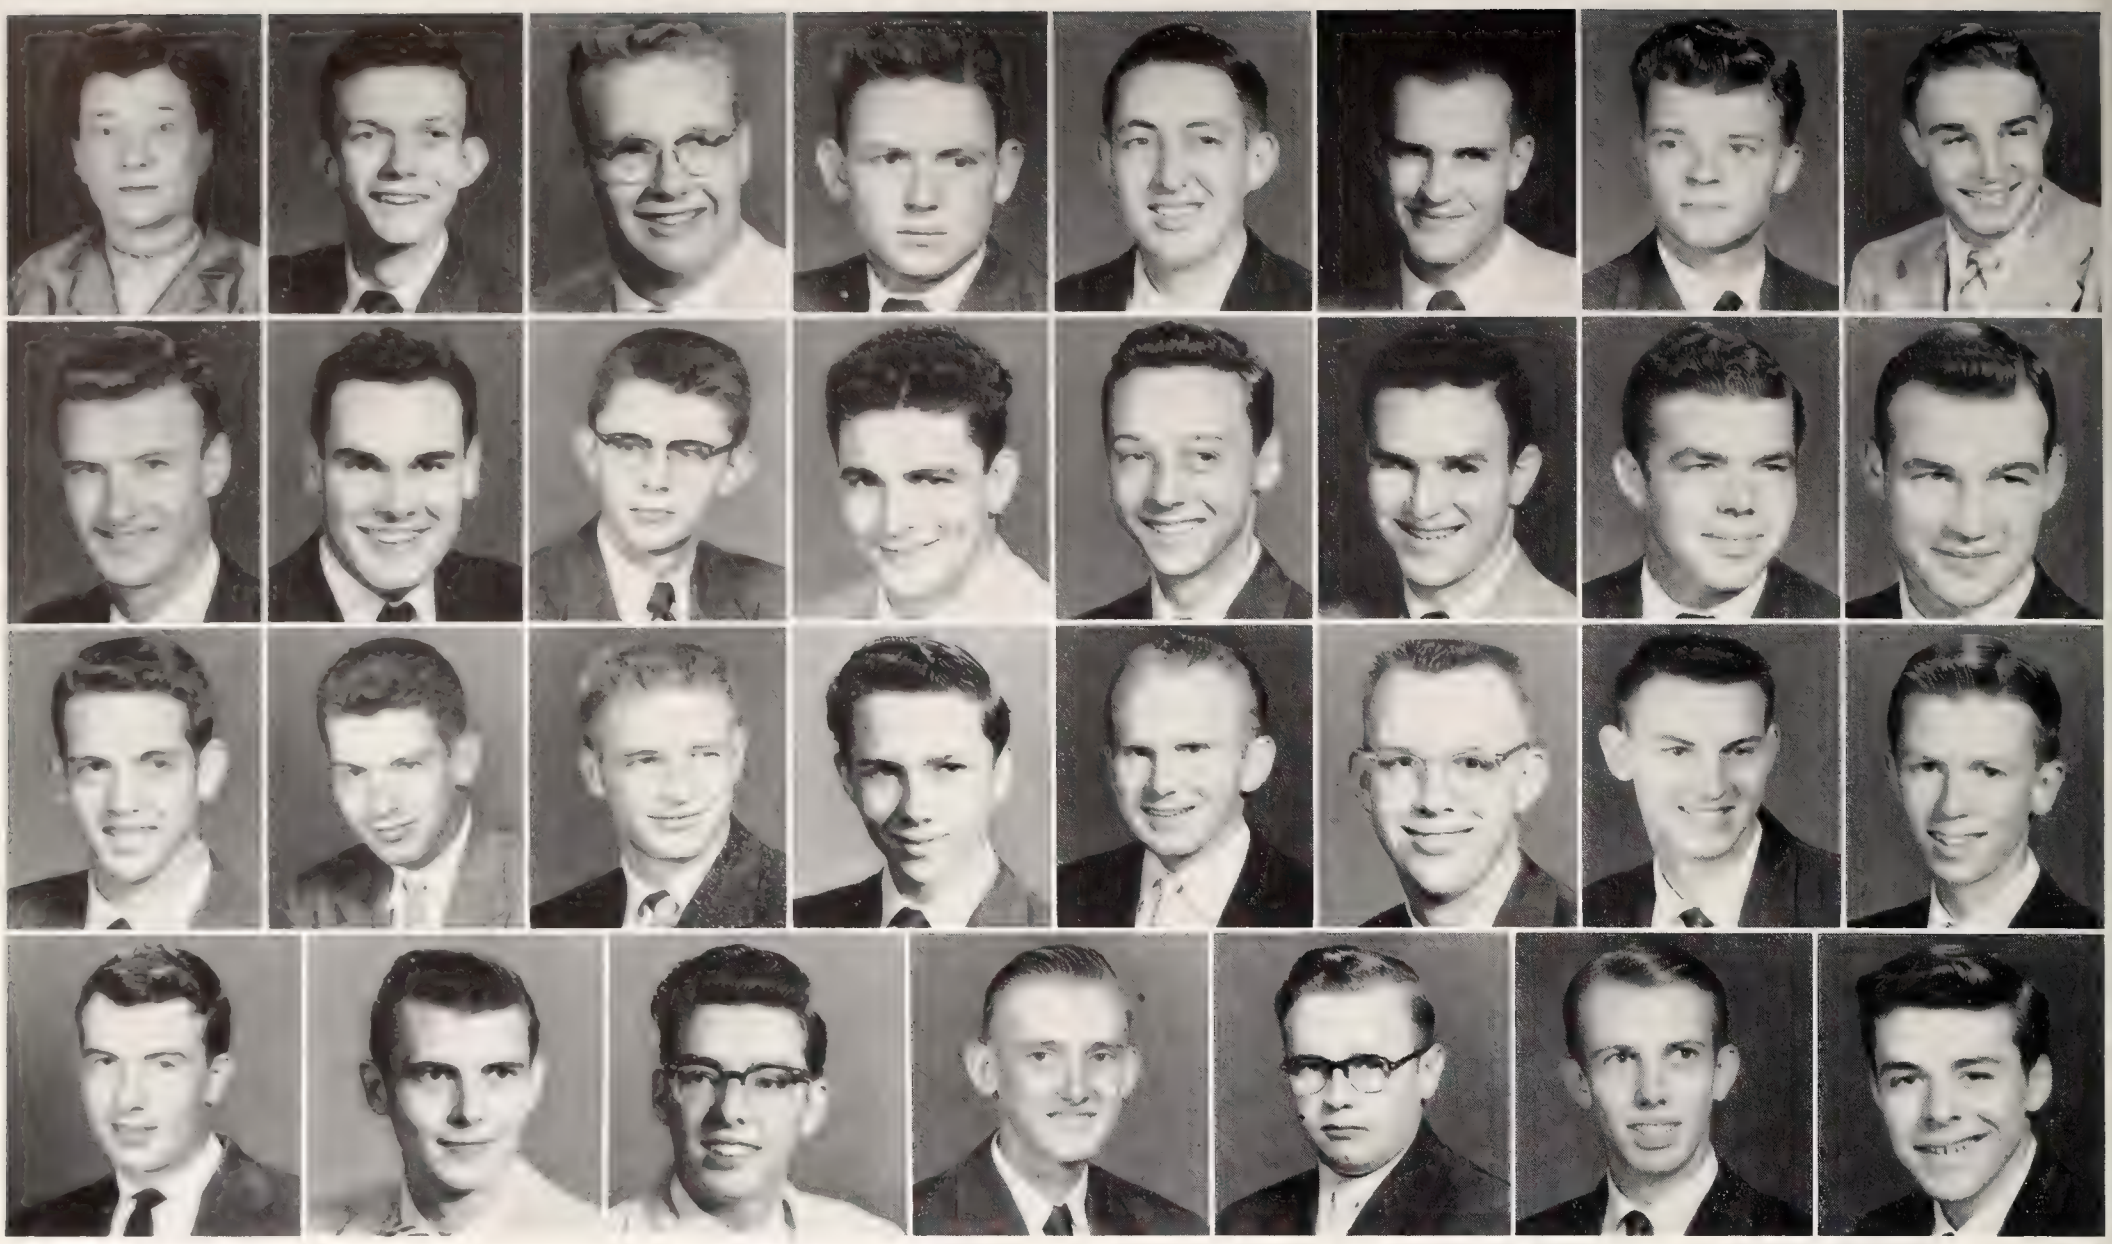

Promoting the best relations between pledge classes is one of the aims of the organization. Also, the IFPC helps develop the future leaders of the fraternities.

Each year the IFPC sponsor a dance for all the pledge classes on the campus. They also sponsor several informal parties among the various pledge classes. This year the IFPC is trying to organize a group of civic projects for the improvement of the community. During Greek week, the IFPC, takes an active part.

The president and vice-president of the council are selected successively from the fraternities, according to their installation date on the campus.

ACACIA

AVAST, YE LUBBERS! The Acacia Buccaneer ball was a swashbuckling success, to be sure. Topping off the social activities for the first semester, the ball prepared the men to have a better time at the annual Triangle ball, a formal dinner-dance, in the spring. Meanwhile, of course, hayrack rides, house parties and the like filled in to complete a well-rounded social life.

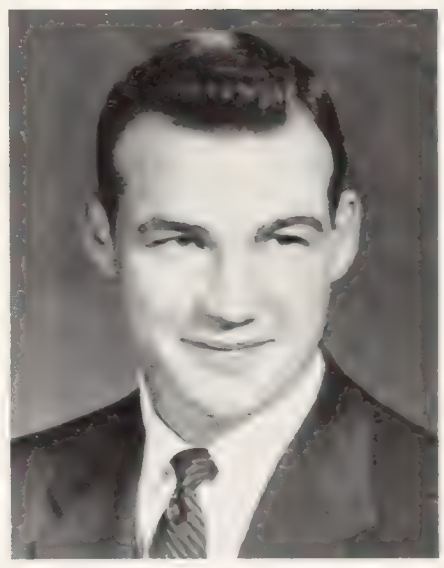

Among the men of Acacia who have been active on the campus are Hugh Jones, board of publications and Blue Key and a member of Alpha Kappa Psi; Charles Minton, vice-president of the Petroleum club; Ron Jones, president of the international relations council and member of Blue Key, and Don Branscome, business manager of the Oklahoma State Engineer.

Throughout the many activities of this year, Acacians are looking forward with anticipation to next year, a new year with a new house. Acacians lived in North Murray dormitory this year while construction continues on their new chapter house. In September, 1955, the men will move into a 52-man modernistic structure on fraternity row, across the street from the campus.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

WITH THE WORDS OF THIS SONG, "Welcome to A&M and Alpha Chi . . ." the rushees were welcomed in September, and thus the busy year began for Alpha Chi Omega. To start off the year's social activities, Old Dobbin was hitched up for a hayride to the outskirts of town where bonfires and plenty of good food waited.

Christmas season plans were made for the "Candy Land Formal" held in the Student union. At the next big social function, the Alpha Chis dressed in pastel formals and their dates came in white dinner jackets for the annual spring formal held at the Country House.

Alpha Chi also won its share of beauty queen titles, and is especially proud of Carol Detter, who triumphed over twenty-five A&M beauties for the right to go to the American Royal show in Kansas City, where she was chosen as a princess.

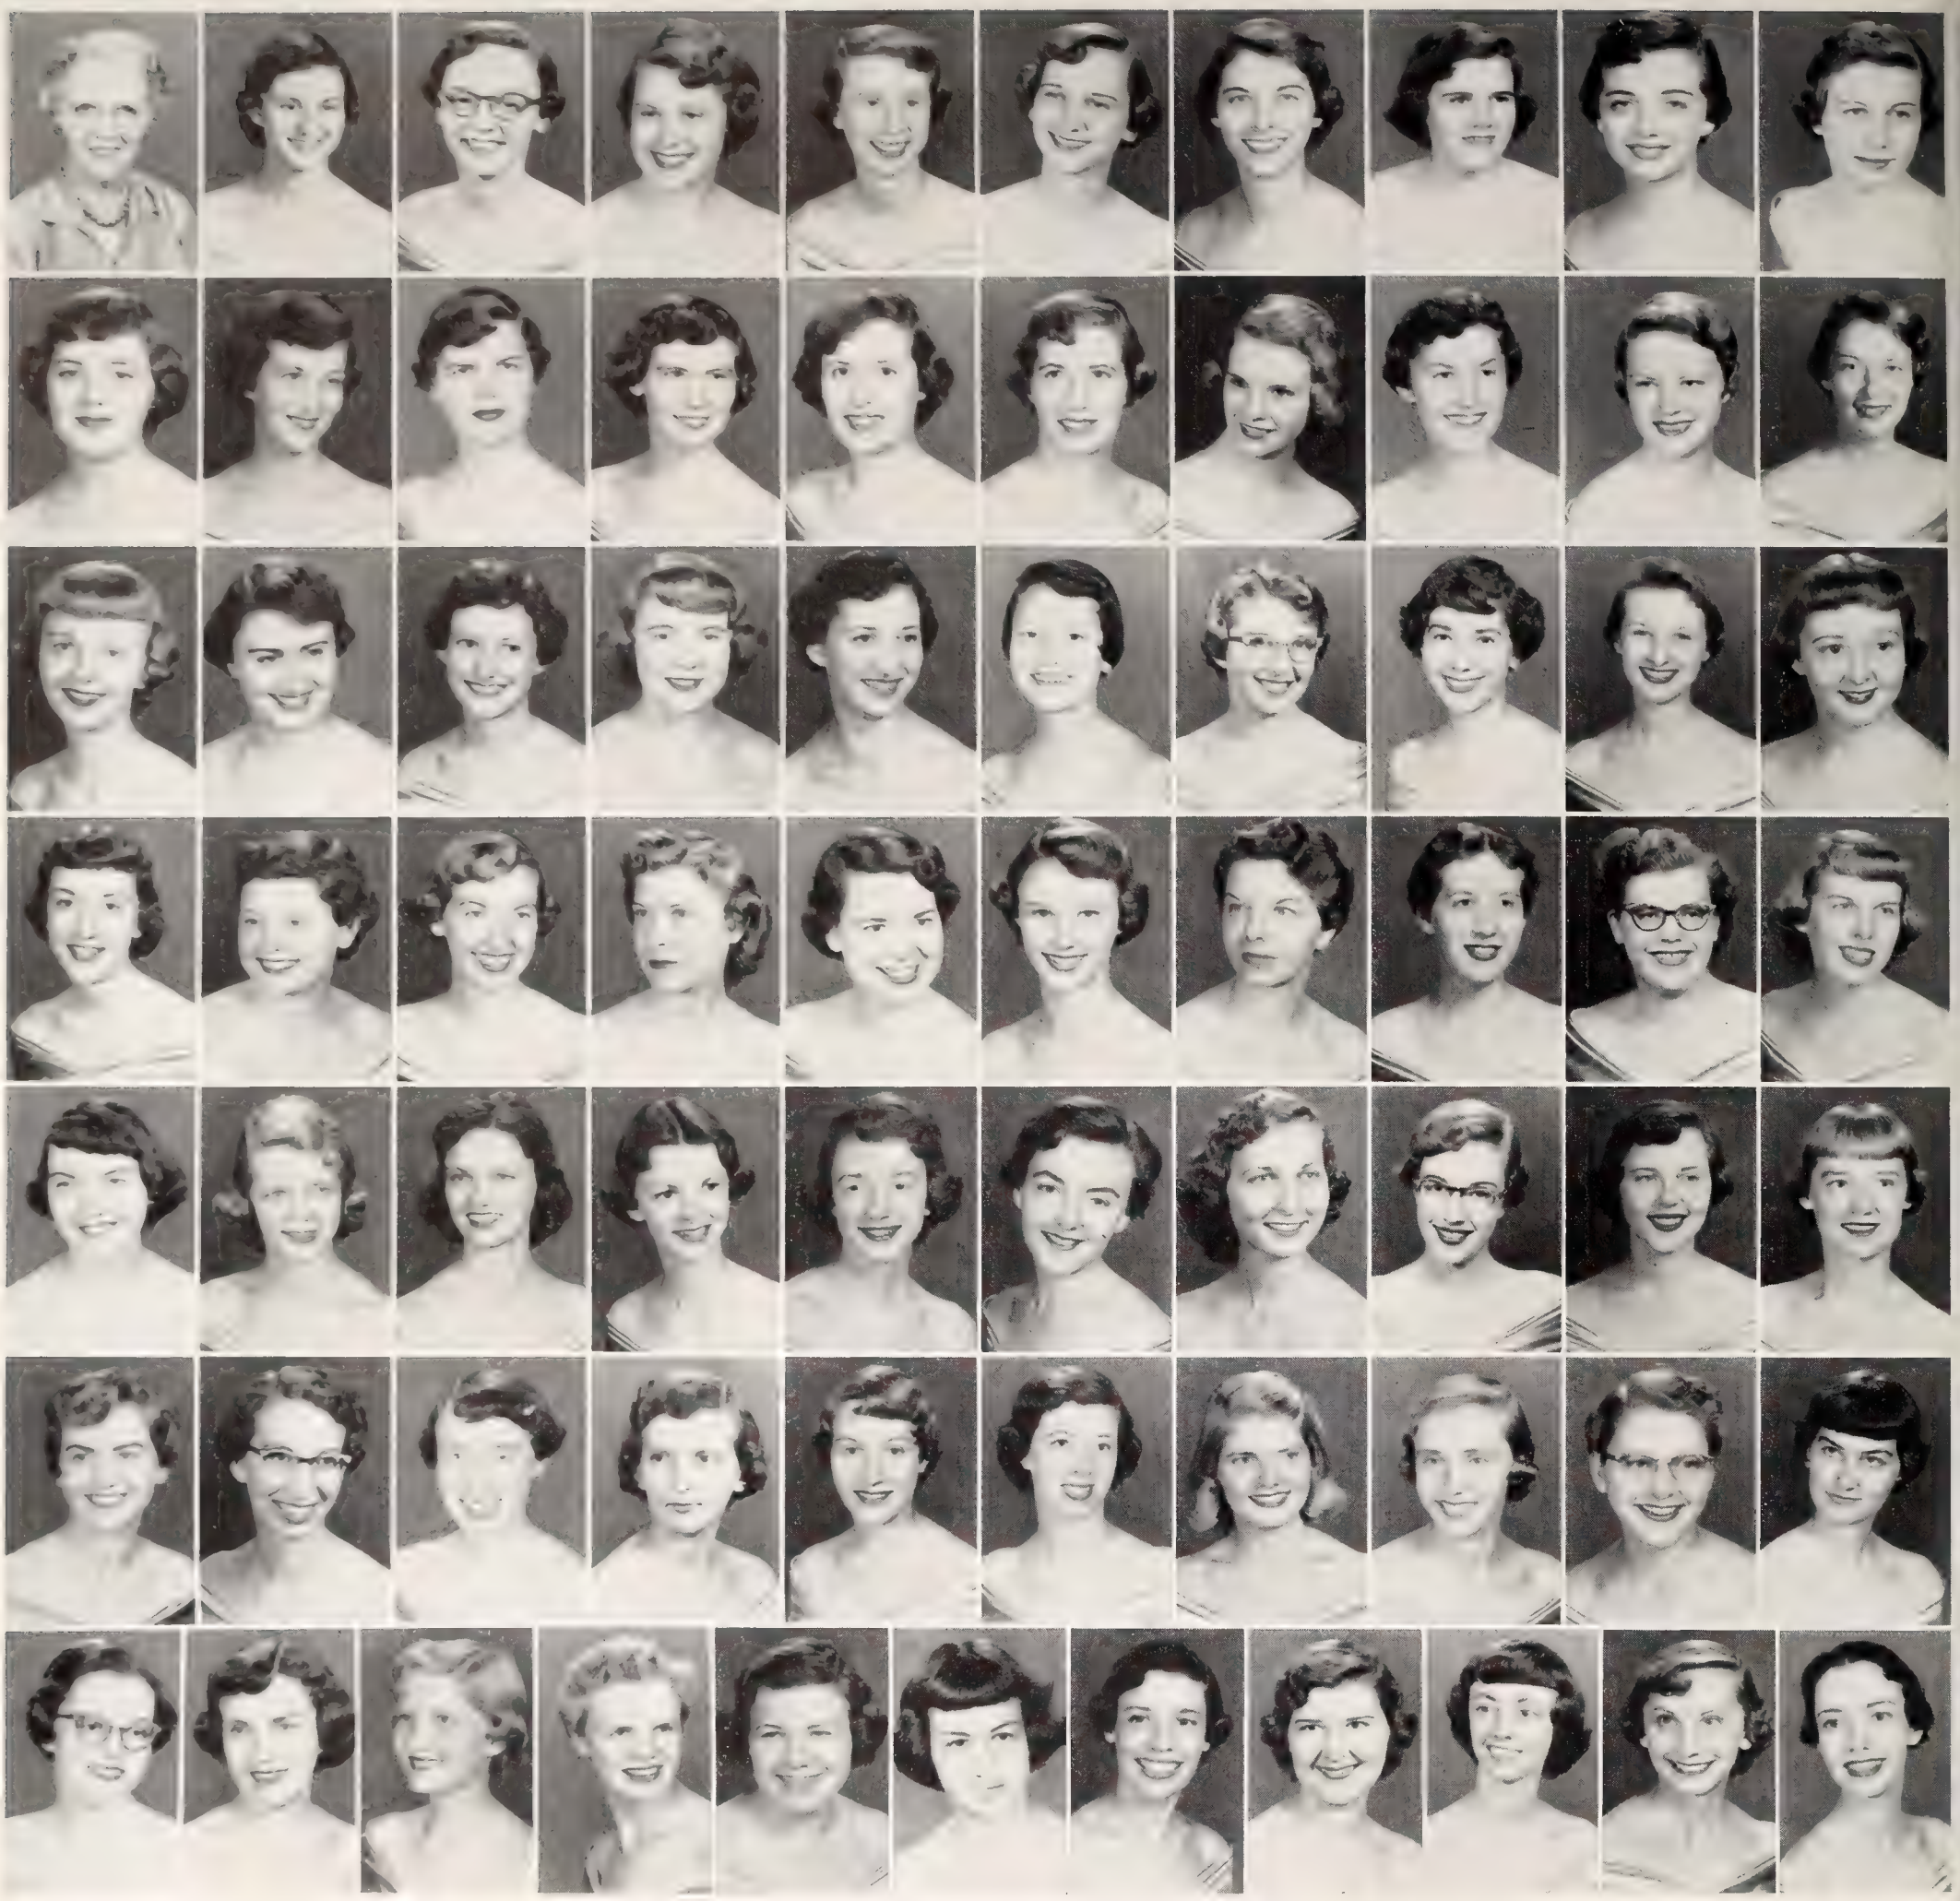

As the school year drew to a close, there was a feeling of pride and happiness at 224 Monroe for Gamma Epsilon Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega had had a good year.

ALPHA DELTA PI

THERE WERE TWO HOMECOMING celebrations for Alpha Delta Pi this year. One took place on Oct. 16, 1955, when a trophy was presented to the group for its beauty float entered in the homecoming parade; the other happy homecoming event occurred just two days later when the sorority moved into its newly completed home.

The social activities of Alpha Delta Pi during the year included a record party, Christmas Crystal ball, spring formal, "dad's weekend," "little sister weekend" and a marshmallow roast. This year Alpha Delta Pi won first place with its "Blues and Burlesque" booth at the Student Union fair.

Jeanne Bales was selected First Lady of Commerce and reigned for the 1954-55 year as commerce queen. Pat Badger was one of the three contestants selected to represent A&M in the Maid of Cotton contest. Pat Byrd was chosen ATO pledge sweetheart.

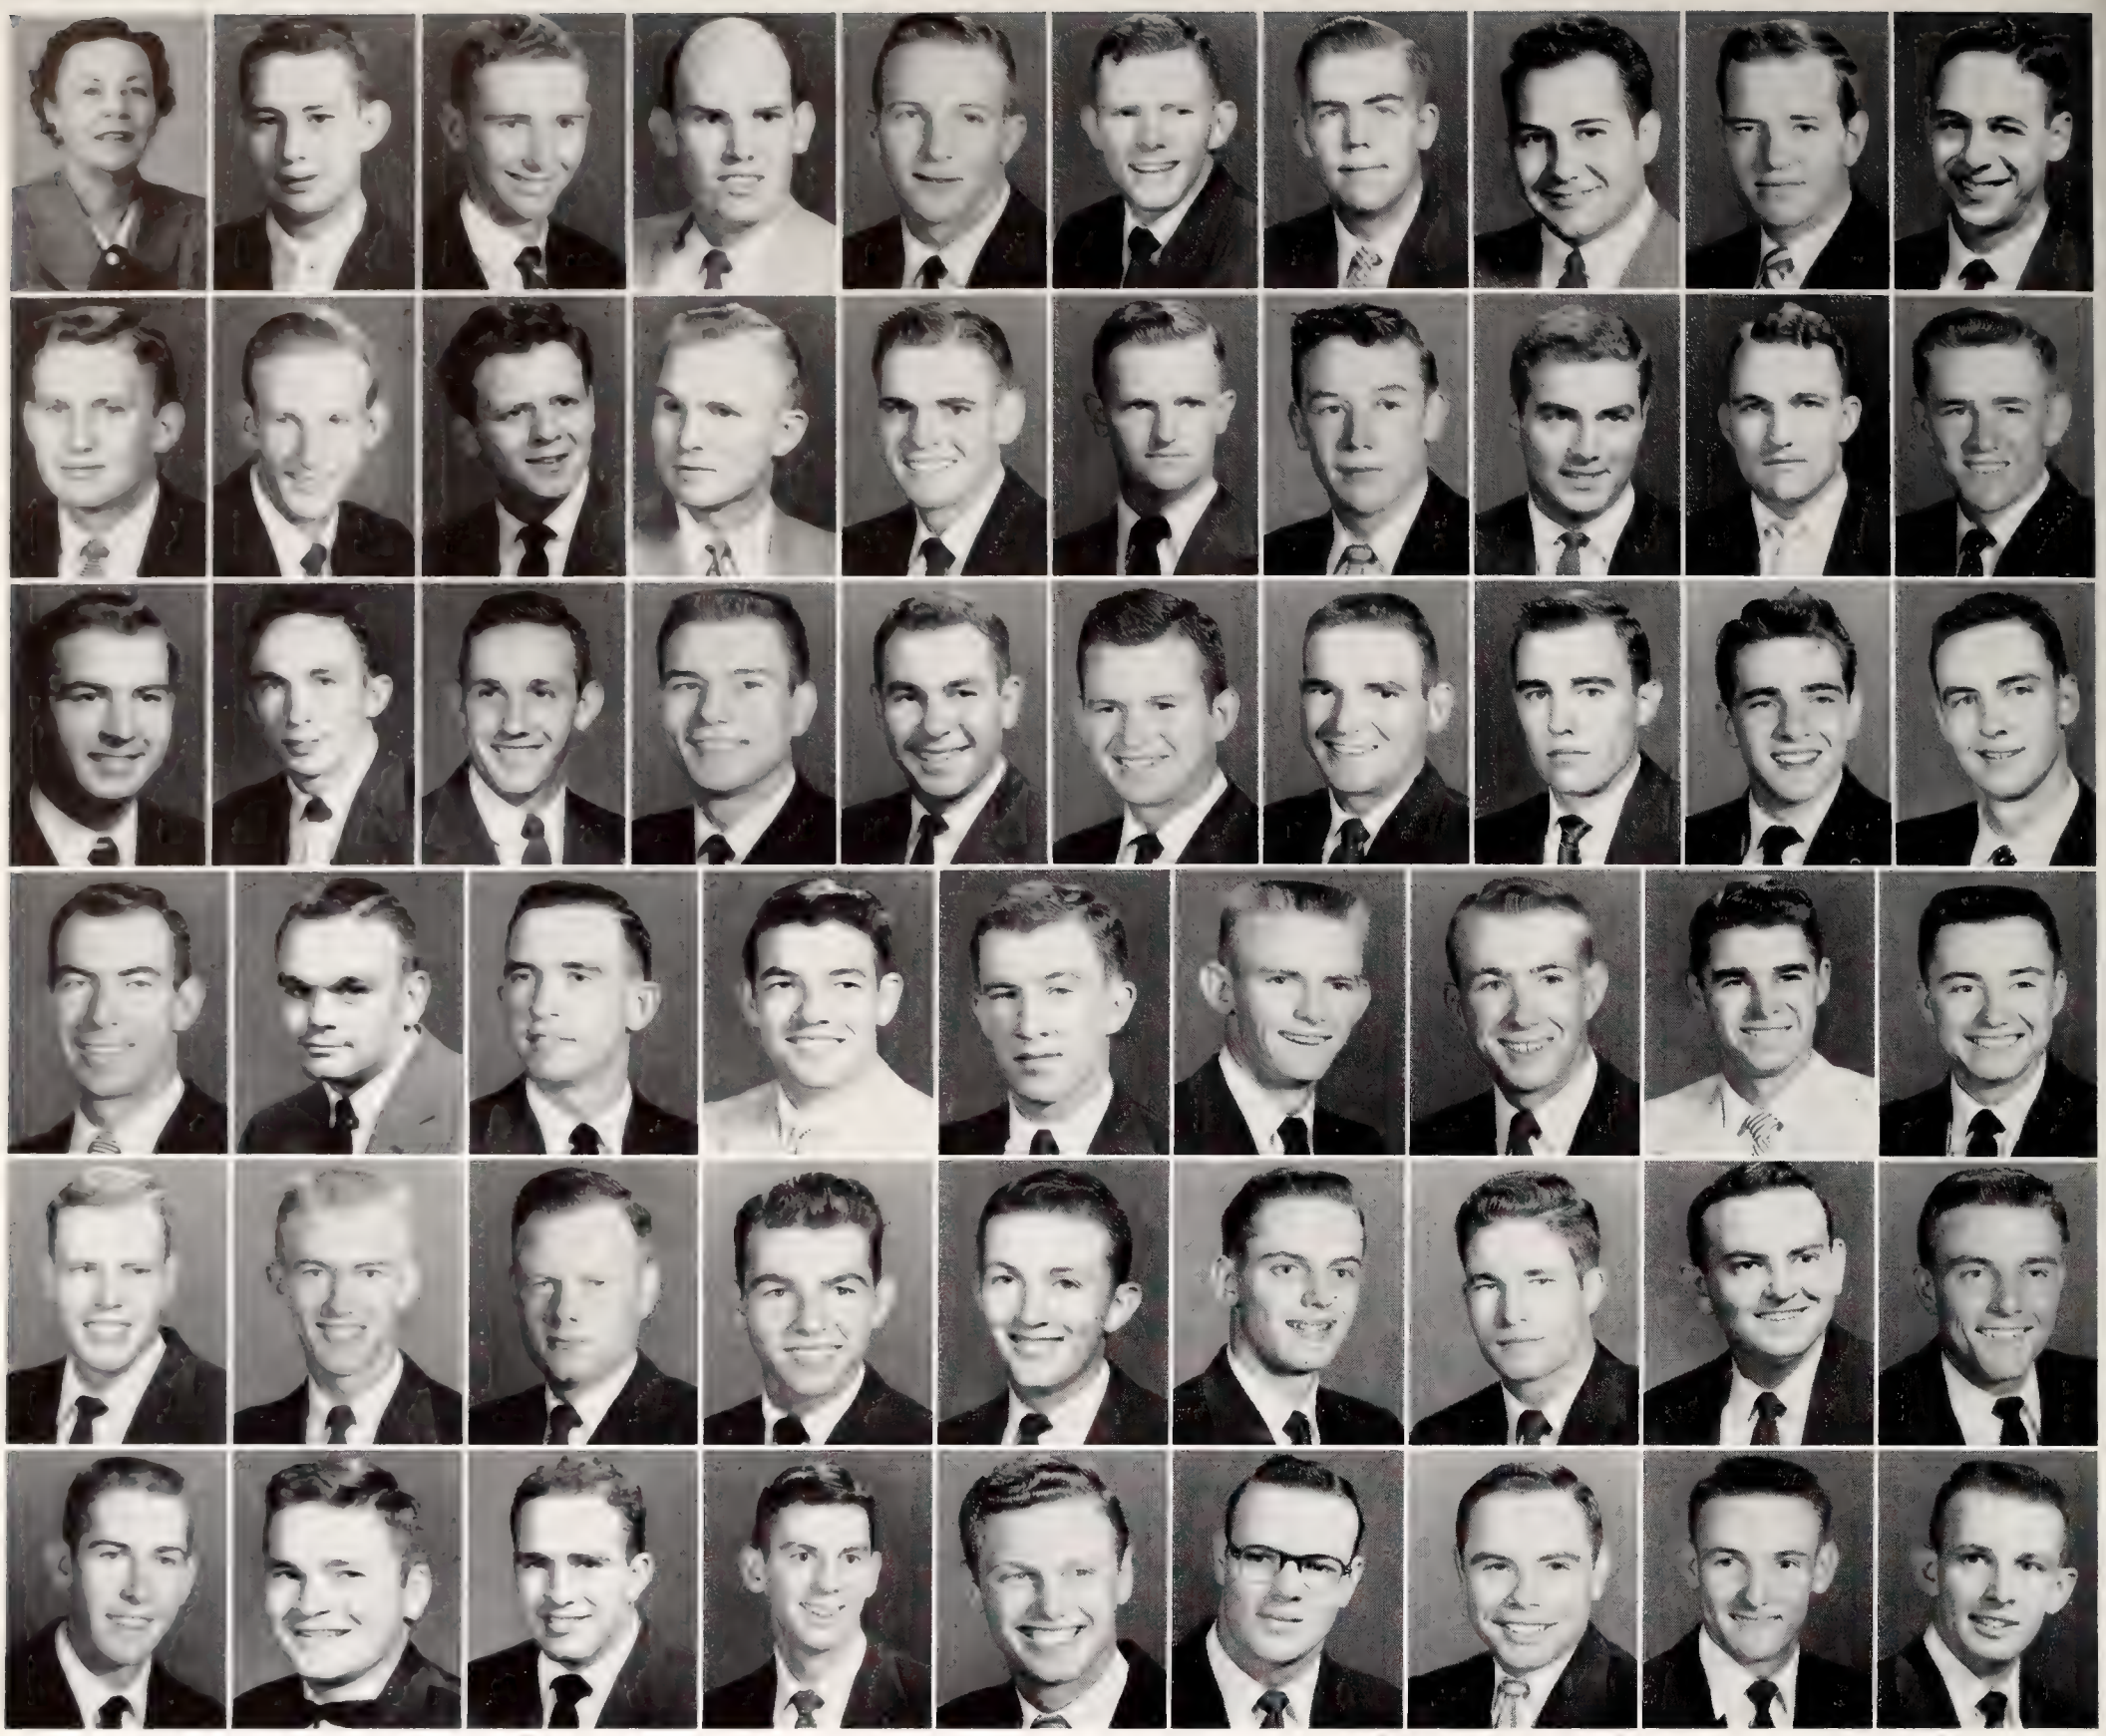

Marilyn Tribbey, president of ADPi, served as representative on the commerce student council. Margaret Hawk has held the office of president of WAA this past year. Helen Henderson, social chairman, held another duty as an Aggie cheerleader.

ALPHA GAMMA RHO

THIS HAS BEEN another outstanding year for the men at the Alpha Gamma Rho house. Richard Humphreys, Andy Alexander and John Day were selected to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" for 1954. Ancel Swader, Alexander, Humphreys, Don Hohmann, Bill Carmichael, and Day were members of Blue Key. Dale Wooderson was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. Day was president of the student senate; Alexander was vice-president of Aggie society, and Bob Gawf, secretary. Don Pimperton and Max Berry were on the staff of the Oklahoma Agriculturist.

Alpha Gamma Rho was well represented on the judging teams this past year. Carmichael was on the first place livestock team at the International Livestock exposition and was second high individual of the contest. AGRs who were members of the first place meats team at the International exposition were Alexander, first place individual, and Wooderson, sixth place individual.

A new addition at the Alpha Gamma Rho house was our housemother, Mrs. Steve Burrus, or, as she is affectionately known, Mom "B." She has proven to be a wonderful hostess and true friend to her boys, winning their respect and admiration.

The AGRs have again been successful in their social program. The Barn dance, held in the Student Union, was successful; and everyone enjoyed the Pink Rose formal held in the spring.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

STUDYING AND PARTIES came thick and fast this year at the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. President Ray Campbell kept the balance between scholastic chairman Bill Rischard and social chairman John Gill, while treasurer Sam Harris calmly kept the books in order with his pen, full of that old black ink.

The ATOs first social event was the pajama party held in the "nightmare room" of the chapter house. Dan Cooley gave the party a sinister atmosphere with his chain-gang uniform.

Following this came the Halloween party, a costume affair highlighted by J. Stanberry, a true lover of the arts and hater of calculus, who gave his interpretation of a Chinese jivester encountering a chicken-house. Capping the social season like a cork on a champagne bottle came the Blackfoot formal, held in Club Tau at 240 S. Hester.

ATO captured first place for beauty in the homecoming float section. Tapping the genius of Carlos Calderon and Lee Meyers, the ATO builders turned out the Blackfoot Moby Dick, spouting water and blinking its eyes at those beautiful mermaids, Myra Fretwell and Shirley Dobbins.

BETA THETA PI

BETA THETA PI BEGAN the year by adding three new trophies to the house collection. The voices of Dean Williamson, Jim Pearson, Richard Fox and Bob Hill proved the winning combination in the Greek week quartet sing and brought our first trophy.

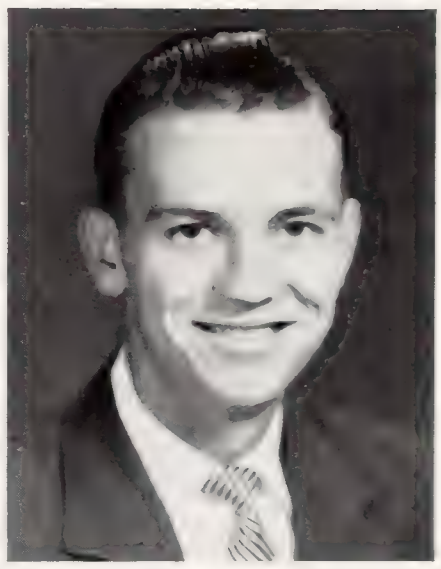

First place in the originality division of the homecoming parade added the second trophy. The float idea was based on Al Capp's creations—Lonesome Polecat, Hairless Joe and their pet prehistoric monster. The third trophy was won in the fraternity table tennis competition.

A number of Betas have distinguished themselves in campus activities. Among them were Carl Shafer, president of the Student association and named to "Who's Who," and Jack Sellers, Blue Key.

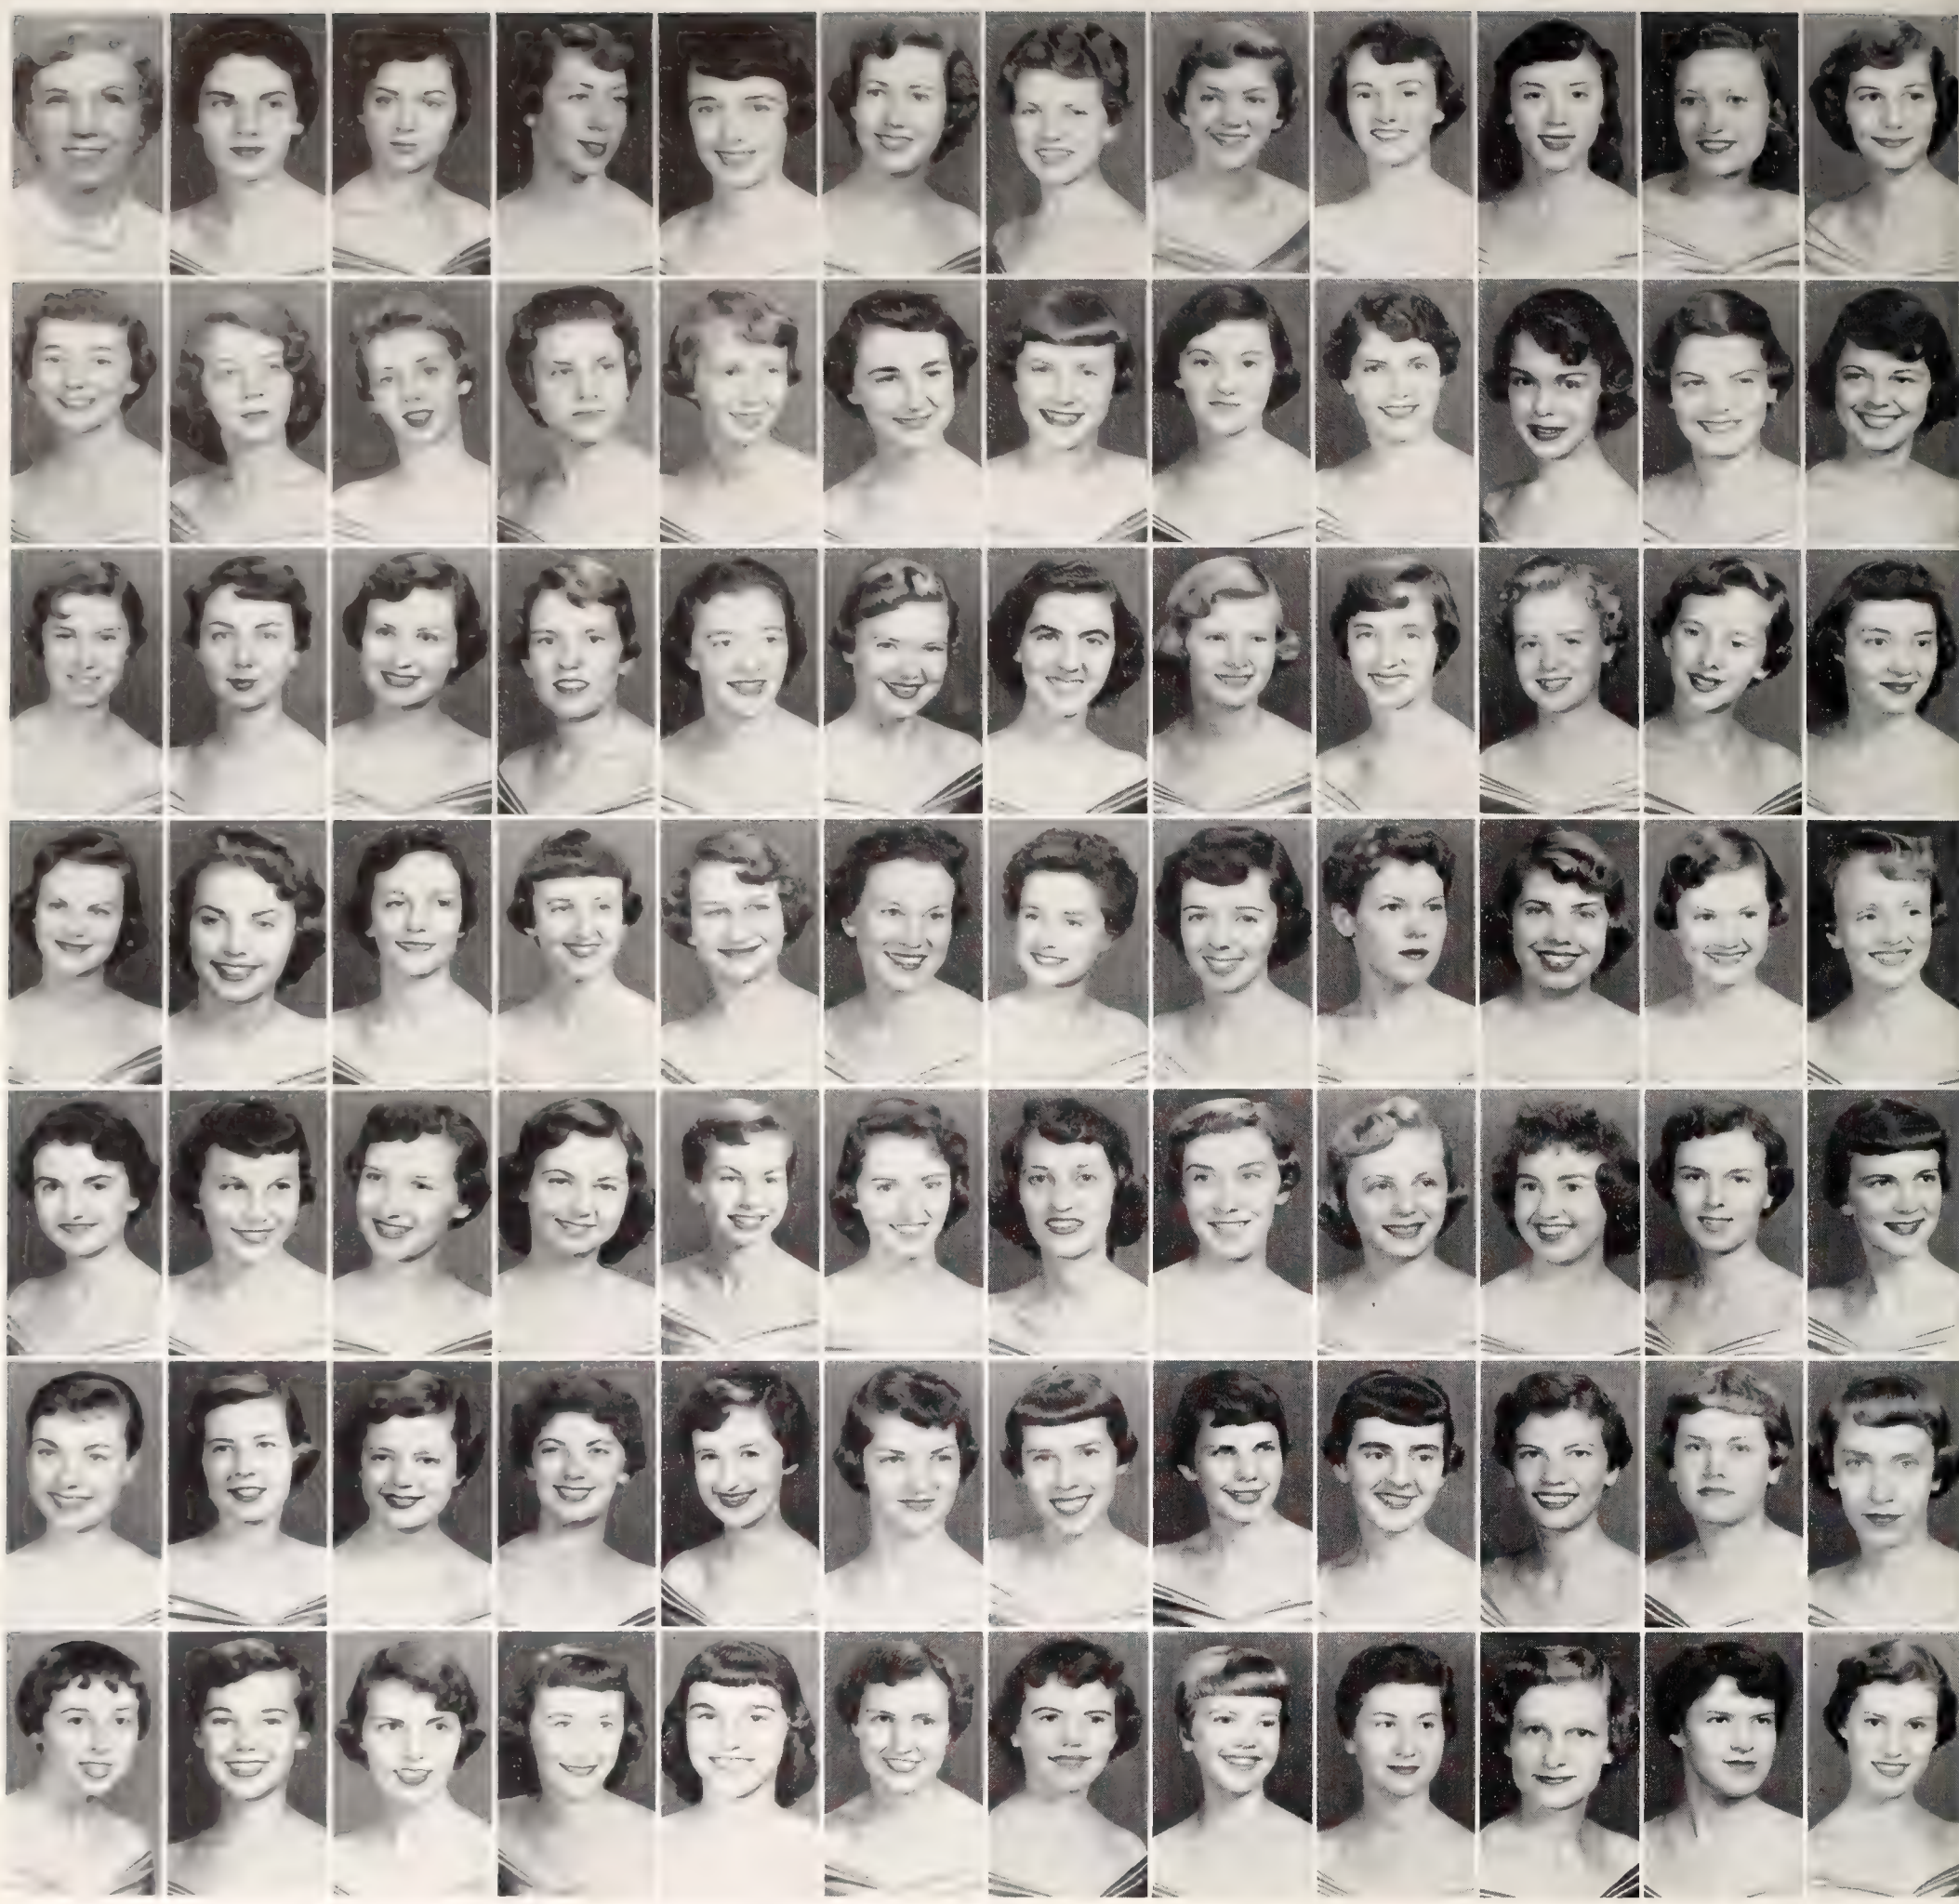

Numerous Beta varsity athletes bolstered the Aggie basketball, wrestling and baseball squads this past year. Shafer, Fred Moomau, John Gillum and Ray Fields played ball for Coach Iba. Shafer held down the post position throughout the season. Myron Roderick, 137-pound NCAA wrestling champ, did his share in bringing the Cowpoke wrestling team through another victorious season.

THE CHI OMEGA icebox seems to be taking a beating again as Ann Tor-kinson, Carolyn Gee, Ruth Ann Dyer and Ada Lou Bailey raid it before bed

CHI OMEGA

THE BIG GRAY HOUSE ON Monroe street was busier than ever, the "USS Chi O" has been under full steam. They began the year by winning first place in the beauty division with their homecoming float.

Among campus royalty, Chi Omegas ranked high. Dairy Science elected Ada Lou Bailey as their queen, Donna Taylor was Block and Bridle queen, Joyce Denny finished among the top five REDSKIN beauties and La Juanna Sheets reigned over the 1954 Blue Key carnival. The Chi O's copped the School of Education's title of "Ideal School Marm" for two consecutive years—Mary Tanner in '54 and Pat Parks in '55.

The Chi O's held numerous presidencies. Lucy Griffin led the Future Teachers of America through a successful year. Dorothy Ritter presided over Household Arts club; Ada Lou Bailey over choral club and Panhellenic president was Myrna Jo Shelby. Orange Quill's president was Sally McElroy. Carol Larkin held the secretary's job of the Student association and vice-presidency of the arts and sciences student council.

DELTA CHI

DELTA CHIS ASSEMBLED in the Student Union clad in pajamas (that's right, pajamas) again this year for the second annual Sleepwalkers ball. The Sleepwalkers ball is an all-school costume dance held in the Student Union each year and sponsored by the fraternity. The costumes consist basically of pajamas. The variations from the basic oft times prove interesting.

A couple of Delta Chi pledges decided to invite Frances Langford out for coffee after her Allied Arts "B" performance here in October. No two pledges could have been more surprised when she graciously accepted. The two lucky freshmen, Ronald Russell and Bill Jackson, an amateur photographer, gleefully escorted her to a downtown cafe. Discovering that she and her troupe had no transportation the following day to Oklahoma City to meet her next engagement, the enterprising gentlemen quickly offered the services of their automobile. She accepted even more graciously this time.

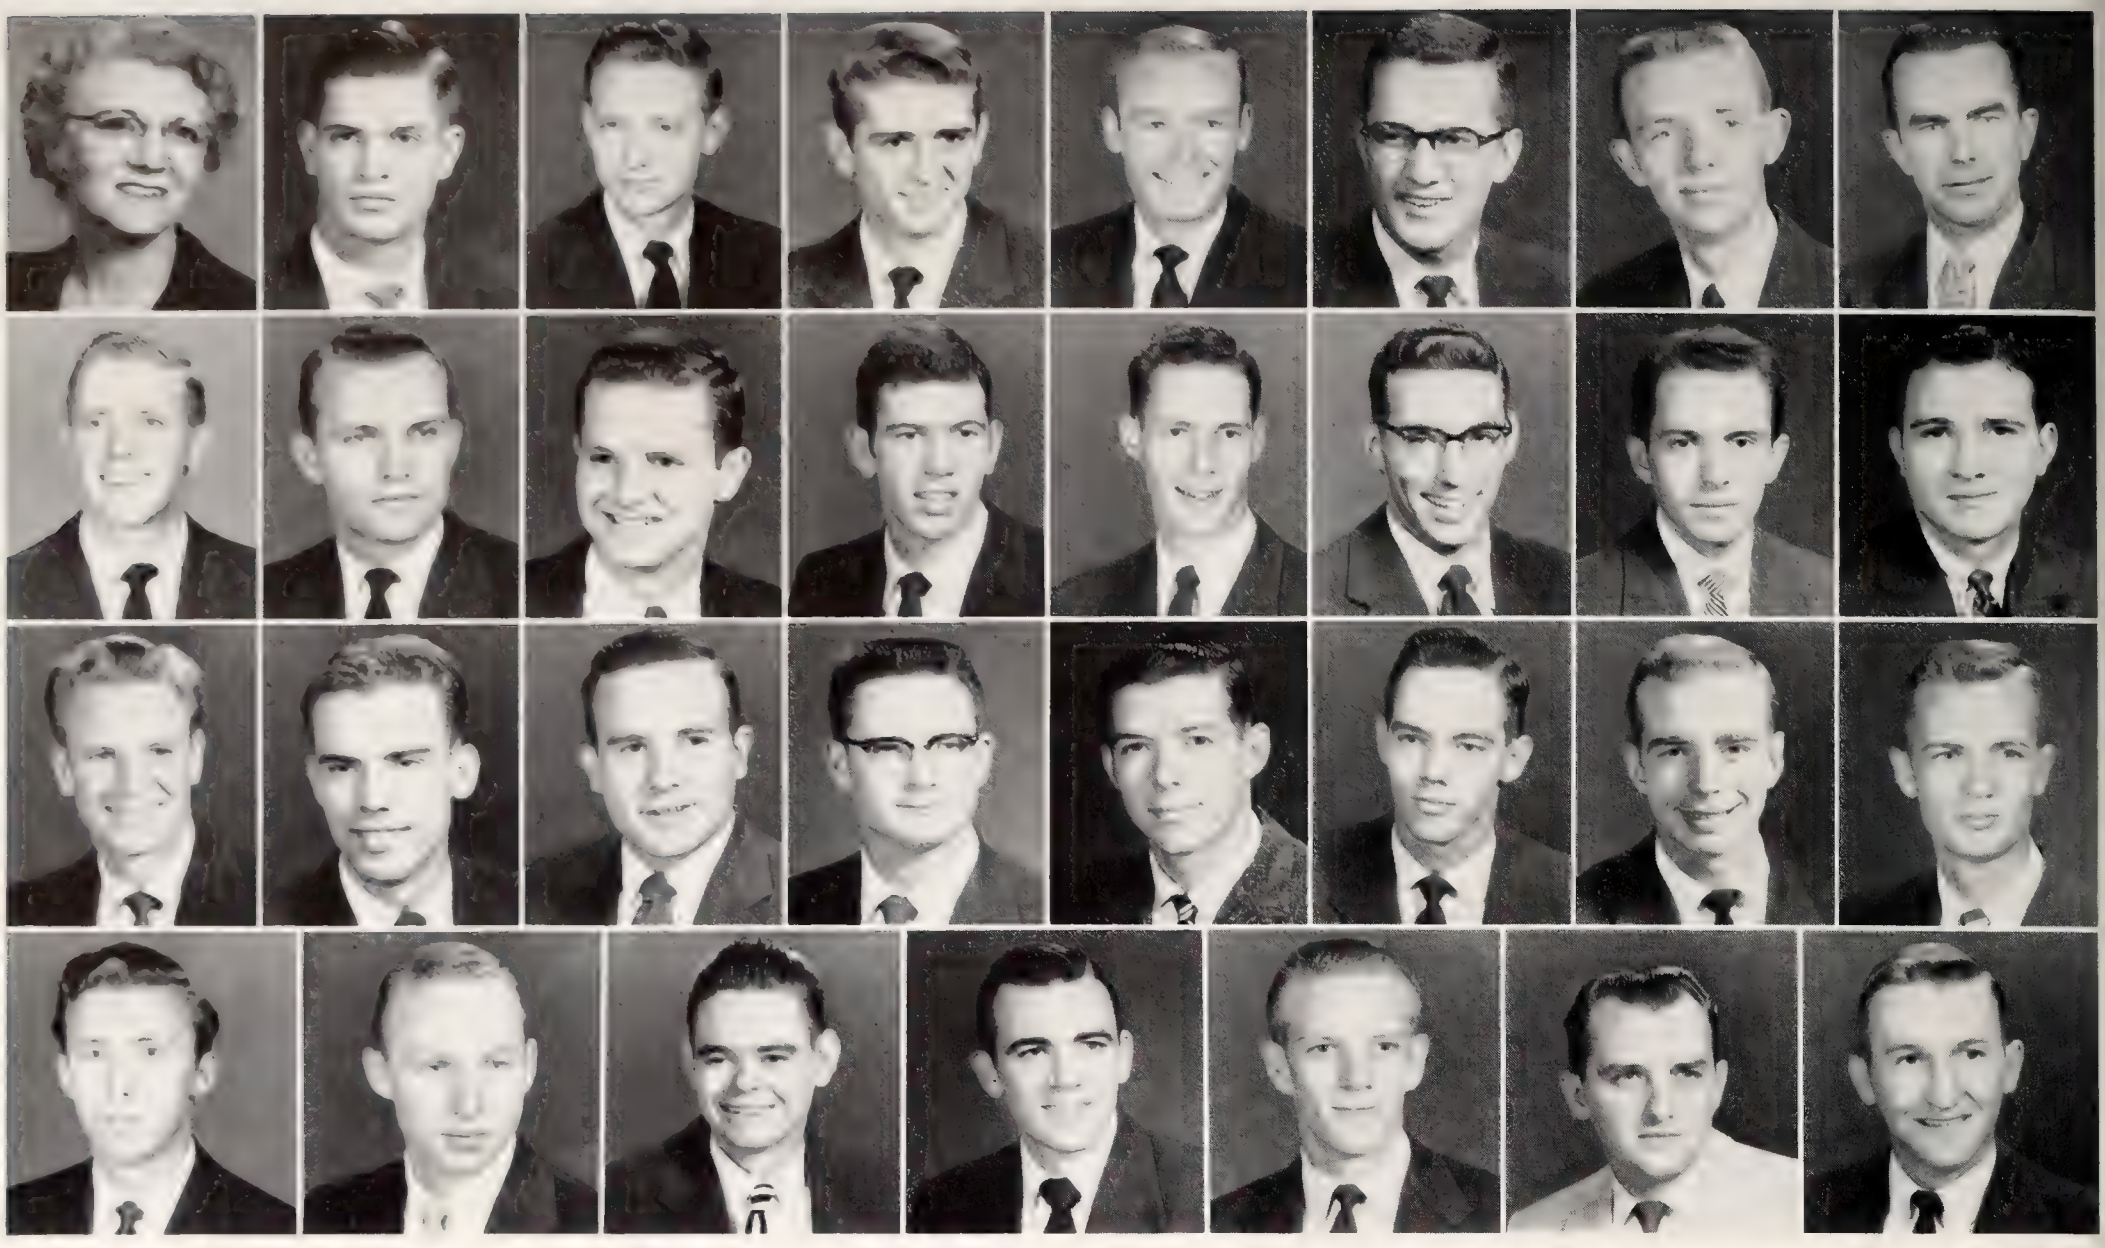

Delta Chi members who were active in campus organizations this year were Fred Capalongan, Sigma Tau; Marshall Baines, treasurer, Disciples of Student fellowship; Connie Fisher, member and past president, Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity; Carl Fisher, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geology fraternity; Bob Shannon, American Society of Industrial Engineers; Charles Scott, Cowpokes, and Jim Woods, Sigma Delta Chi and director of 1955 Varsity Revue.

DELTA TAU DELTA

Delta tau delta's most original addition to the college social calendar was their "Go-To-Hell party." Other Delt socials were the sweetheart dance, at which Joyce Clements was named Delt sweetheart, the "bundle party" and the annual "Mom's weekend."

Biggest wheel at the Delt house was John Leroy Folks—Blue Key, "Who's Who," Rhodes scholar, winner of the all-college debate and past winner of the Bob Cox award. The Bob Cox award, a jeweled pin awarded each year to the outstanding Delt at A&M, was presented to Bill Waters. Others in the campus spotlight were James Keefer, president of the Baptist Student center and member of Blue Key; Tom Mays, varsity cheerleader; Bill Vaughn, editor of OSE, and Bill Swim, Blue Key and "Who's Who."

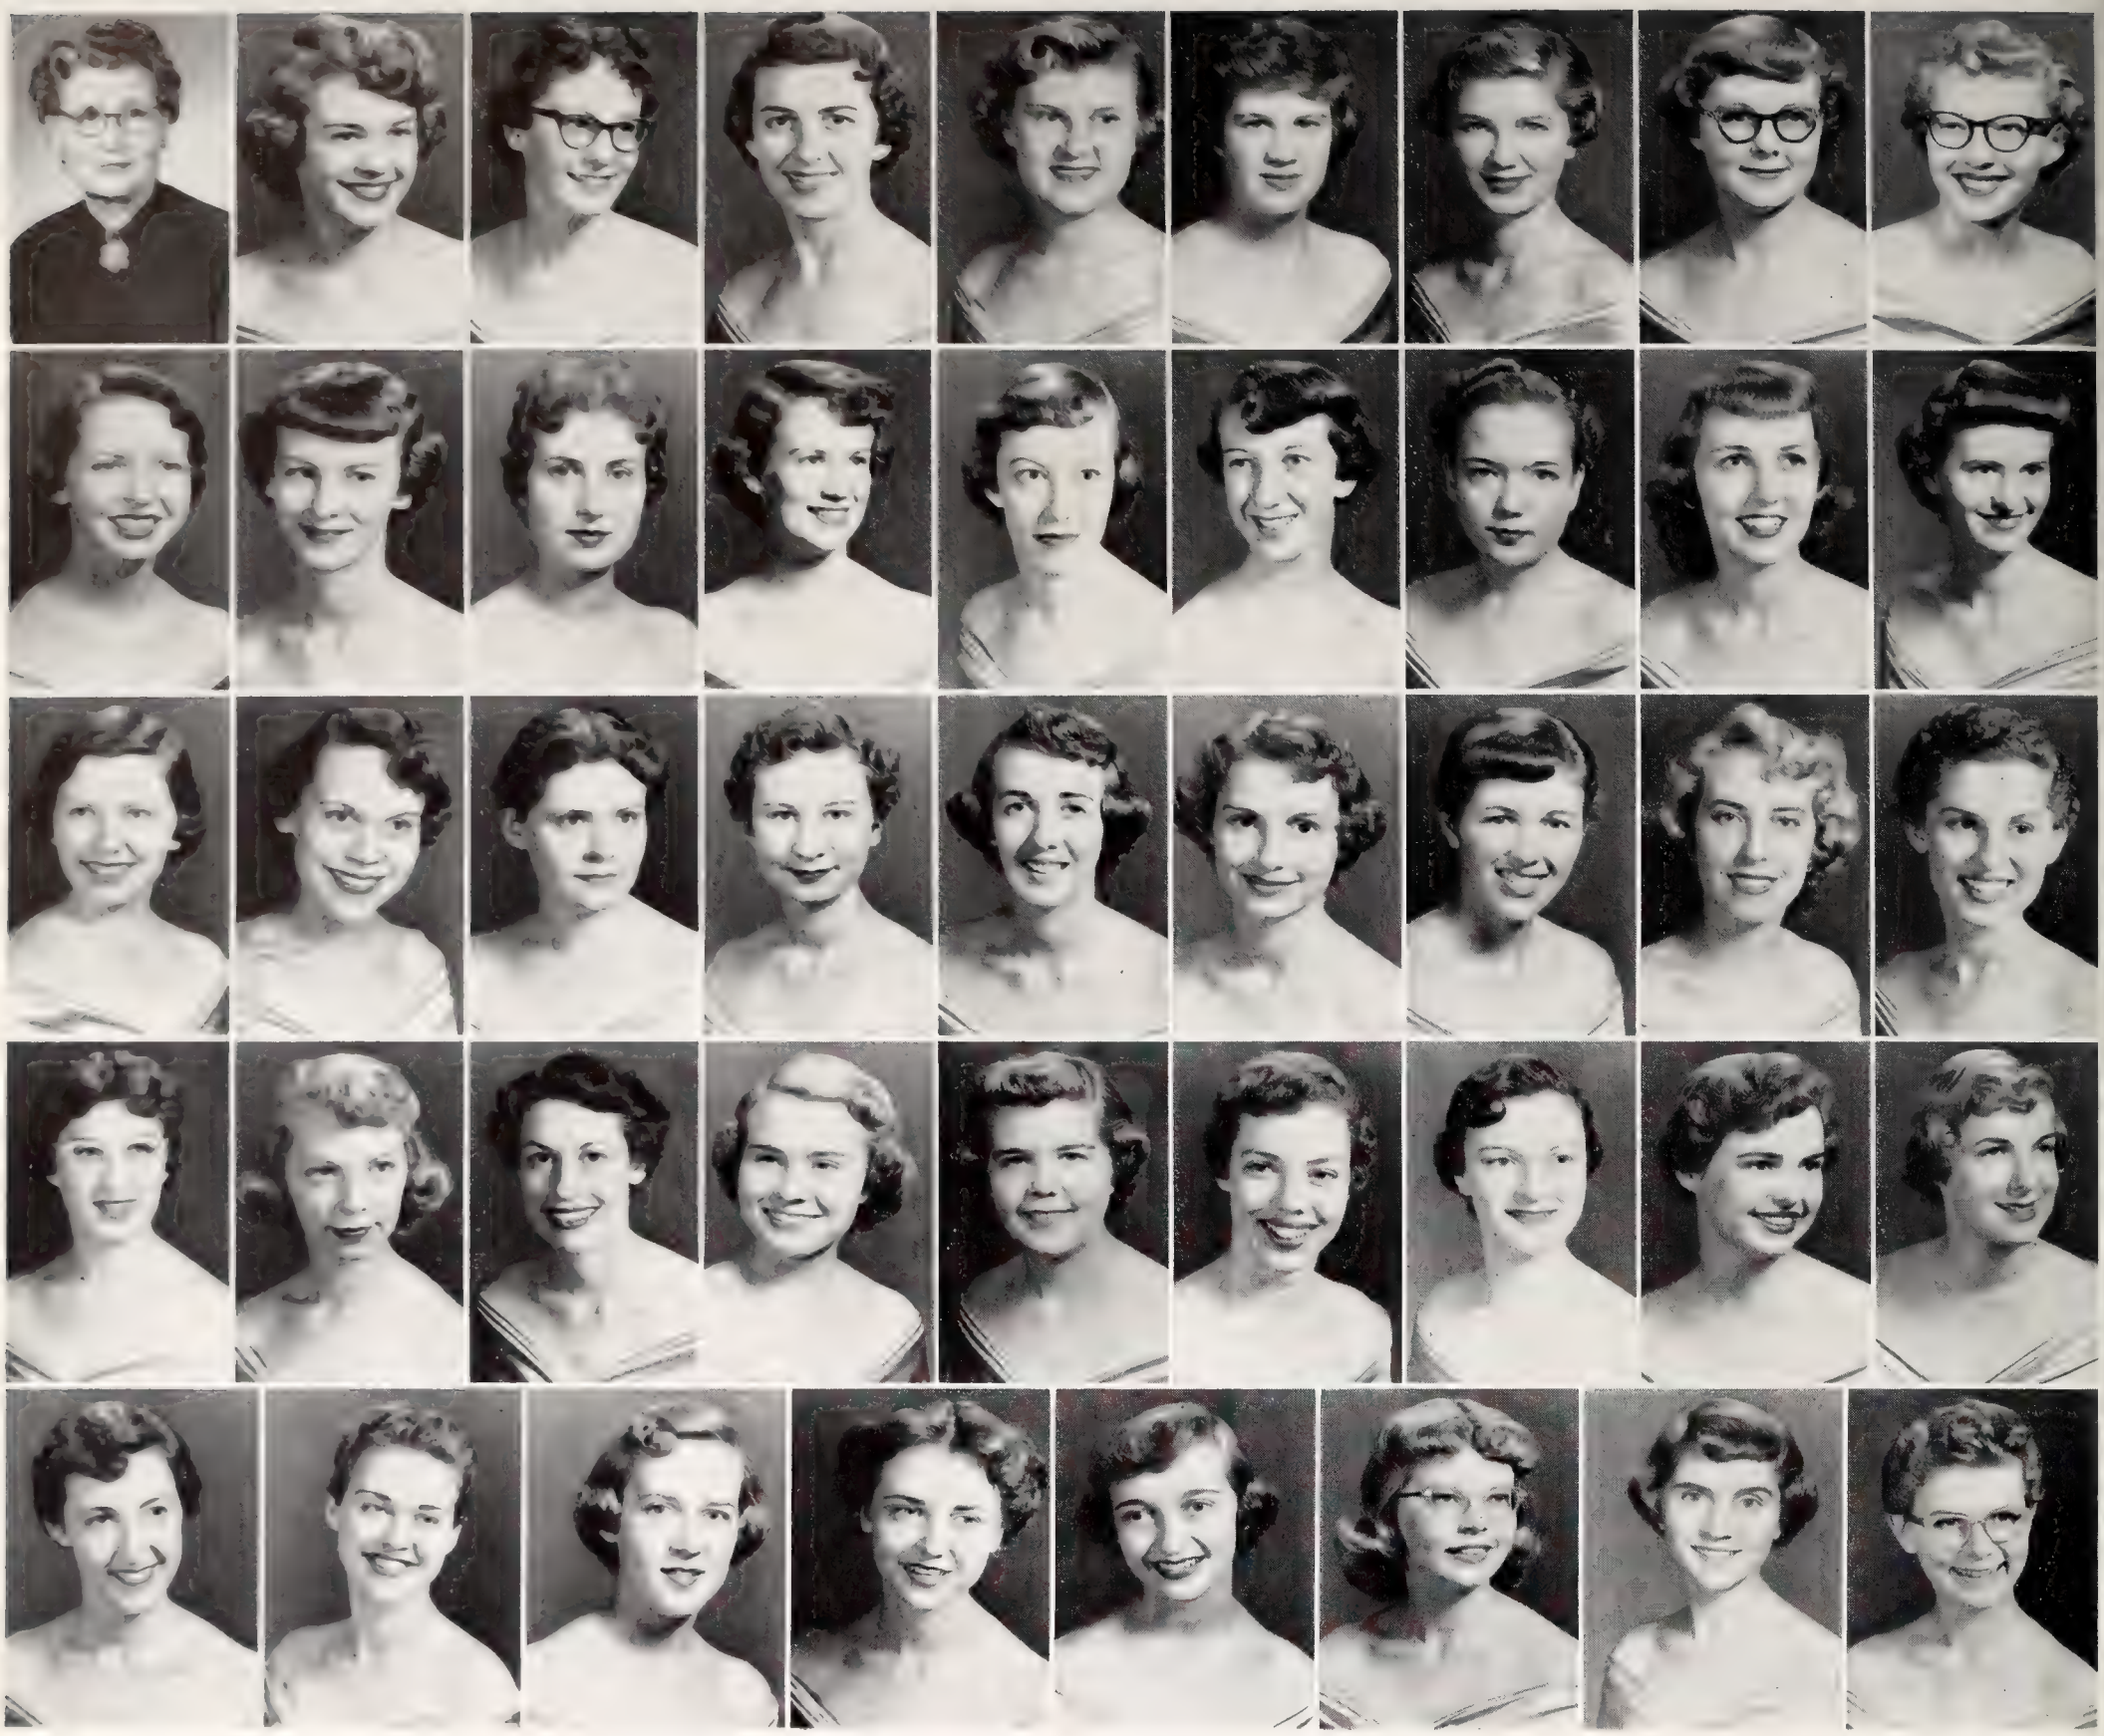

Led by mentor Don Doty, the athletic teams have made their greatest showing in the history of the chapter. With more than half the season over, the Delts had jumped from 20th in the all-point standings to ninth. Terry Starr was the leading bowler in his league for the first half of the season.

DELTA ZETA

DELTA ZETA WAS FOUNDED at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, on Oct. 24, 1902, for the purpose of promoting friendship among women of college age and graduates. Alpha Epsilon chapter was established on the Oklahoma A&M campus in 1941.

This chapter began its social activities with a party for its new pledge class. The theme of the party was announced by a sign hanging from a lamp post on the front lawn—"New York City Limits."

In November we held our annual barbecue at which we wore western apparel, ate barbecue and danced. After the party, the sorority serenaded the men's living groups. Our Christmas party was complete with a Santa Claus to hand out presents to the girls and their dates.

FARMHOUSE

One of the more enjoyable tasks of our being host to the biennial national conclave of Farmhouse was getting 200 blind dates. The three-day September affair was climaxed by the traditional conclave dance which gave us an early start, and we continued in high gear through the fall semester with the Halloween and Christmas parties, Farmers' frolic, parents' day, dance hours and dinner sneaks.

Agriculture judging teams representing A&M were boosted by George Nall and Gene Dalton in field crops; Don Gooch and Bob Zwingle, livestock; Don Flasch, soils, and Jon Patton, dairy.

Carl Caskey, IFC senator, was honored with membership in Omicron Delta Kappa and was elected national president of Sigma Theta Epsilon, men's Methodist fraternity, as well as serving REW as co-chairman. Charles Finch, president of Aggie society, and Jack Stout achieved American Farmer degrees at the National Future Farmers of America convention. The junior standing Danforth award was received by Caskey.

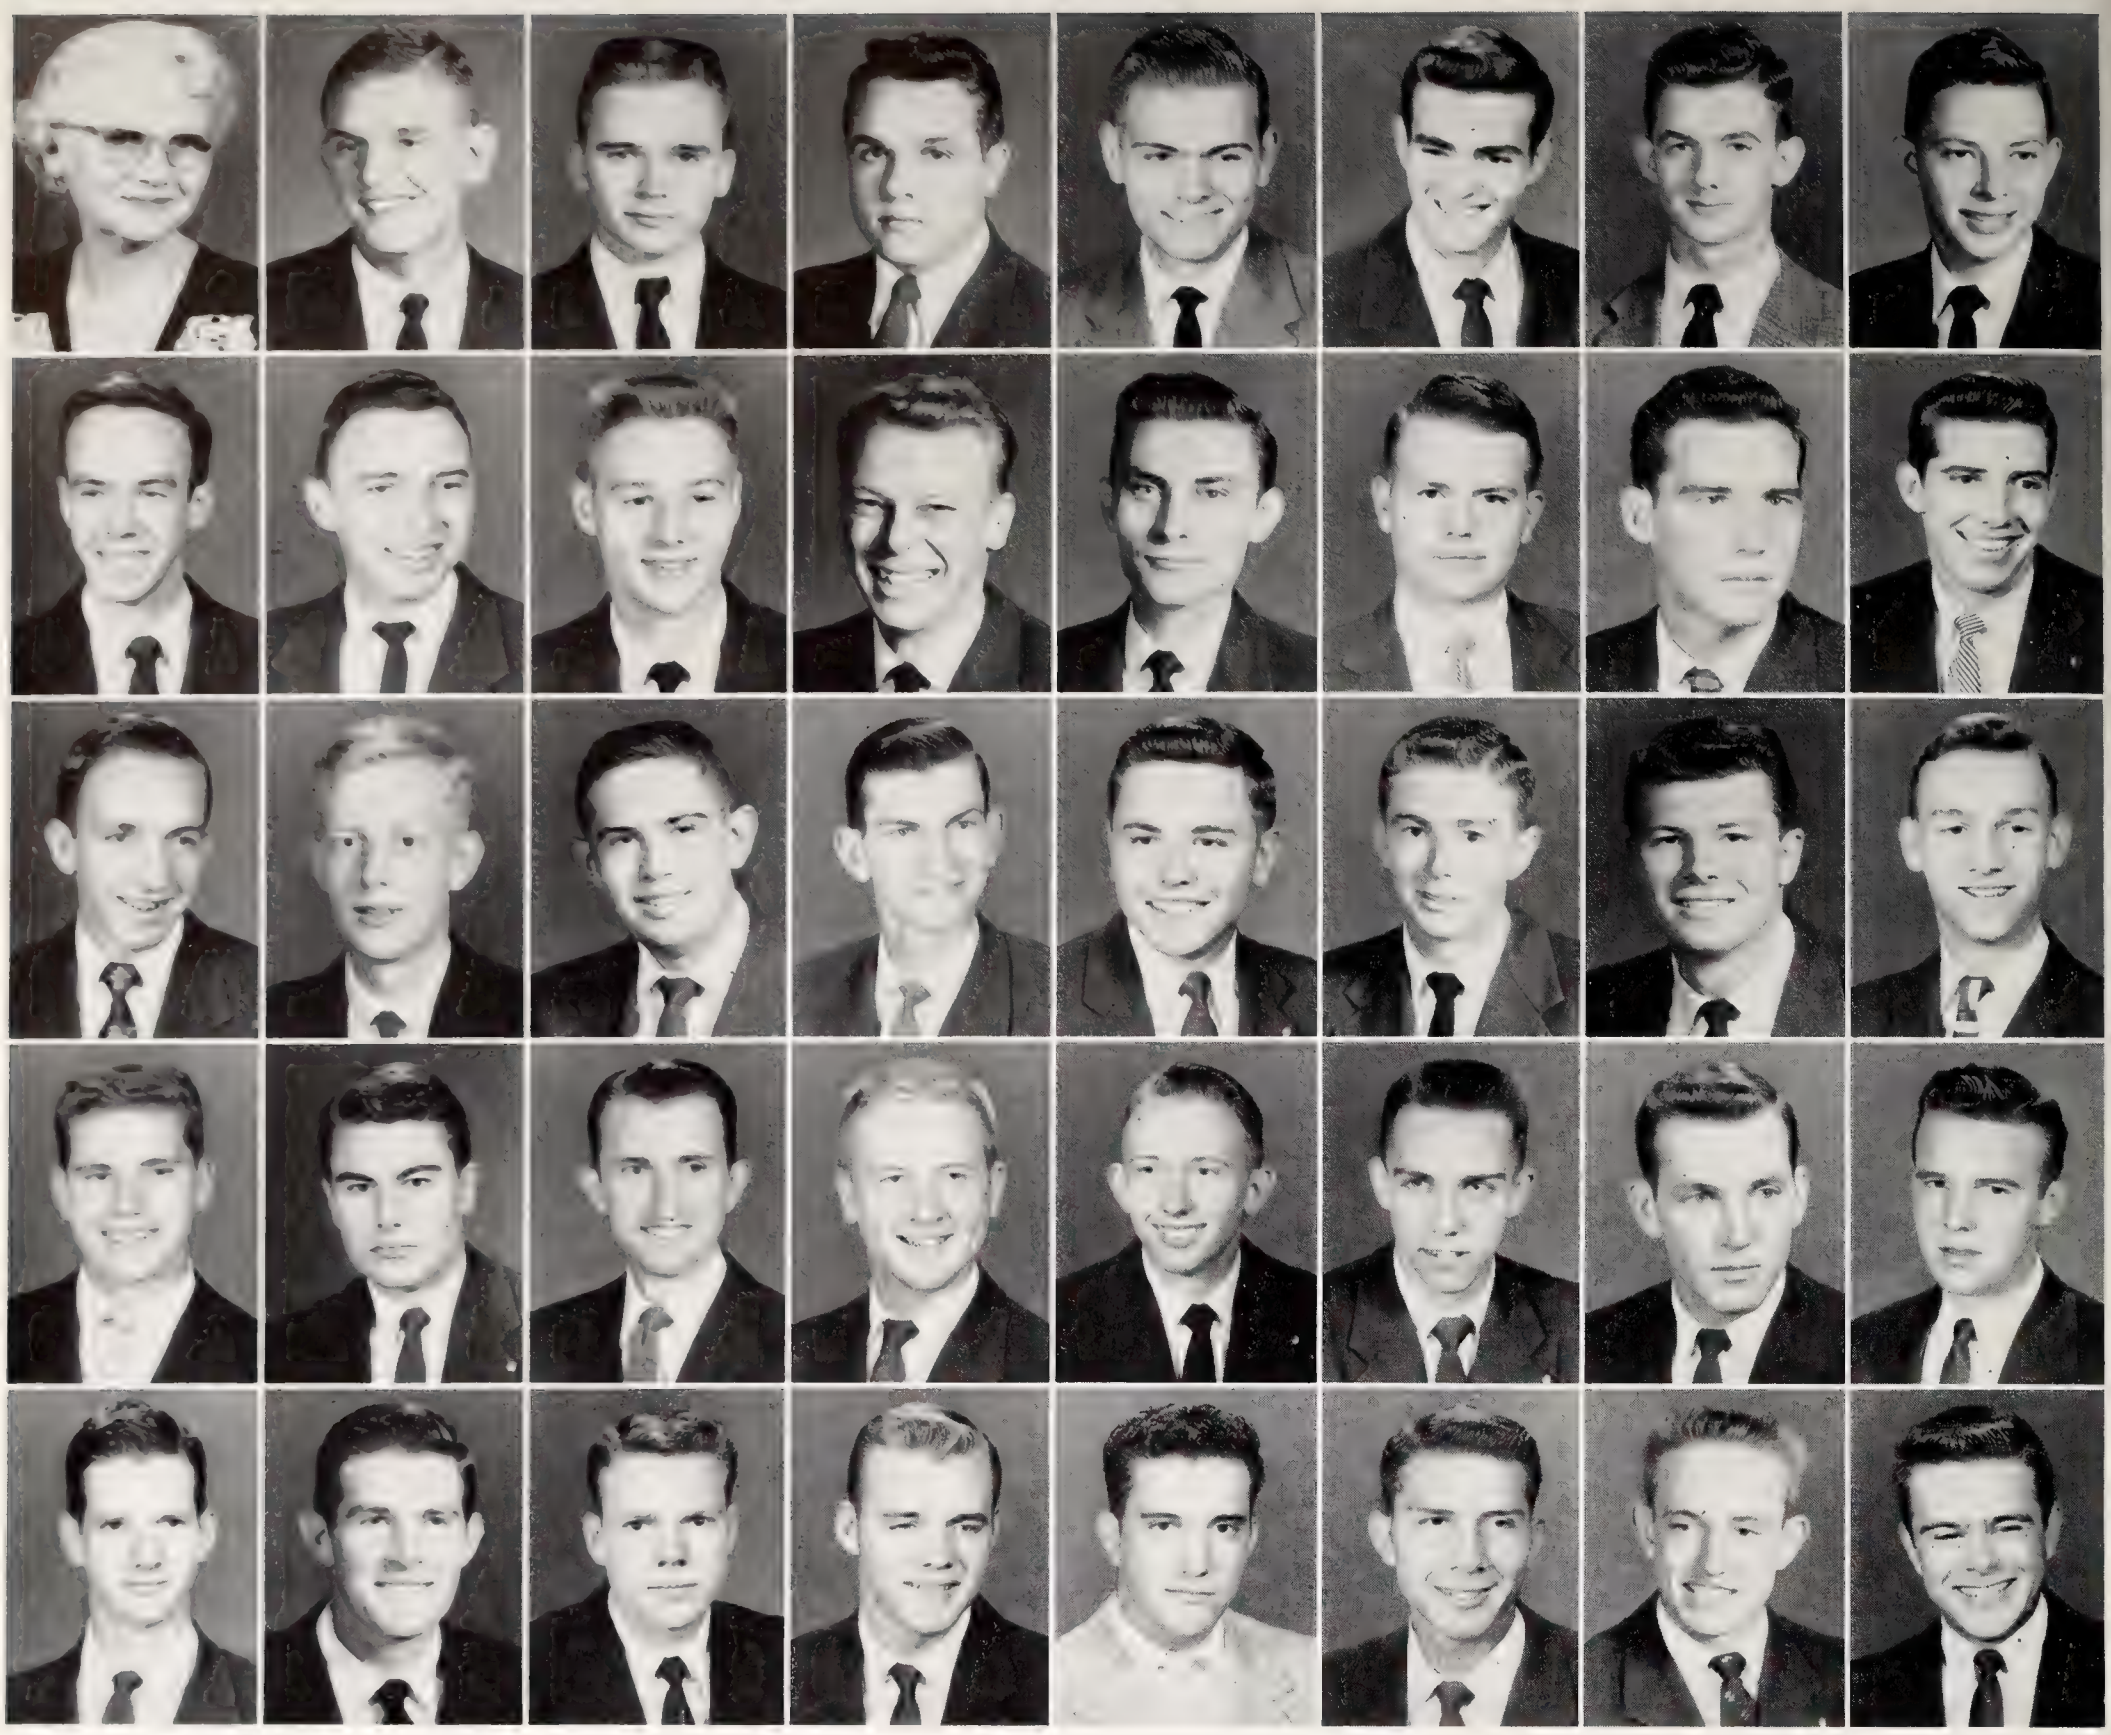

While the bowling team annexed a league victory, the "B" basketball team won its league too, only to be defeated in the second round of the all-college intramural playoffs.

KAPPA ALPHA

THE ANNUAL FALL WHING-DING, the "Pigalle party," was the usual riot; and, in case you are wondering, riot is the word intended. Needless to say, it was a great success. It seems that this year the costumes were even less in evidence than usual.

The Christmas party finally came off with the usual holiday cheer, though for a while the brothers had Al "Social" Hunt running in circles figuring out what to do next.

Since Kappa Alpha was founded in 1865 at Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Virginia, and its traditions are based on those of the ante-bellum south, it has become a tradition that all KA chapters have an "Old South weekend" capped by the Dixie ball. This tradition is carried out on the A&M campus with our annual spring party. It is awaited with much anticipation, and alums of long standing return to enjoy it again.

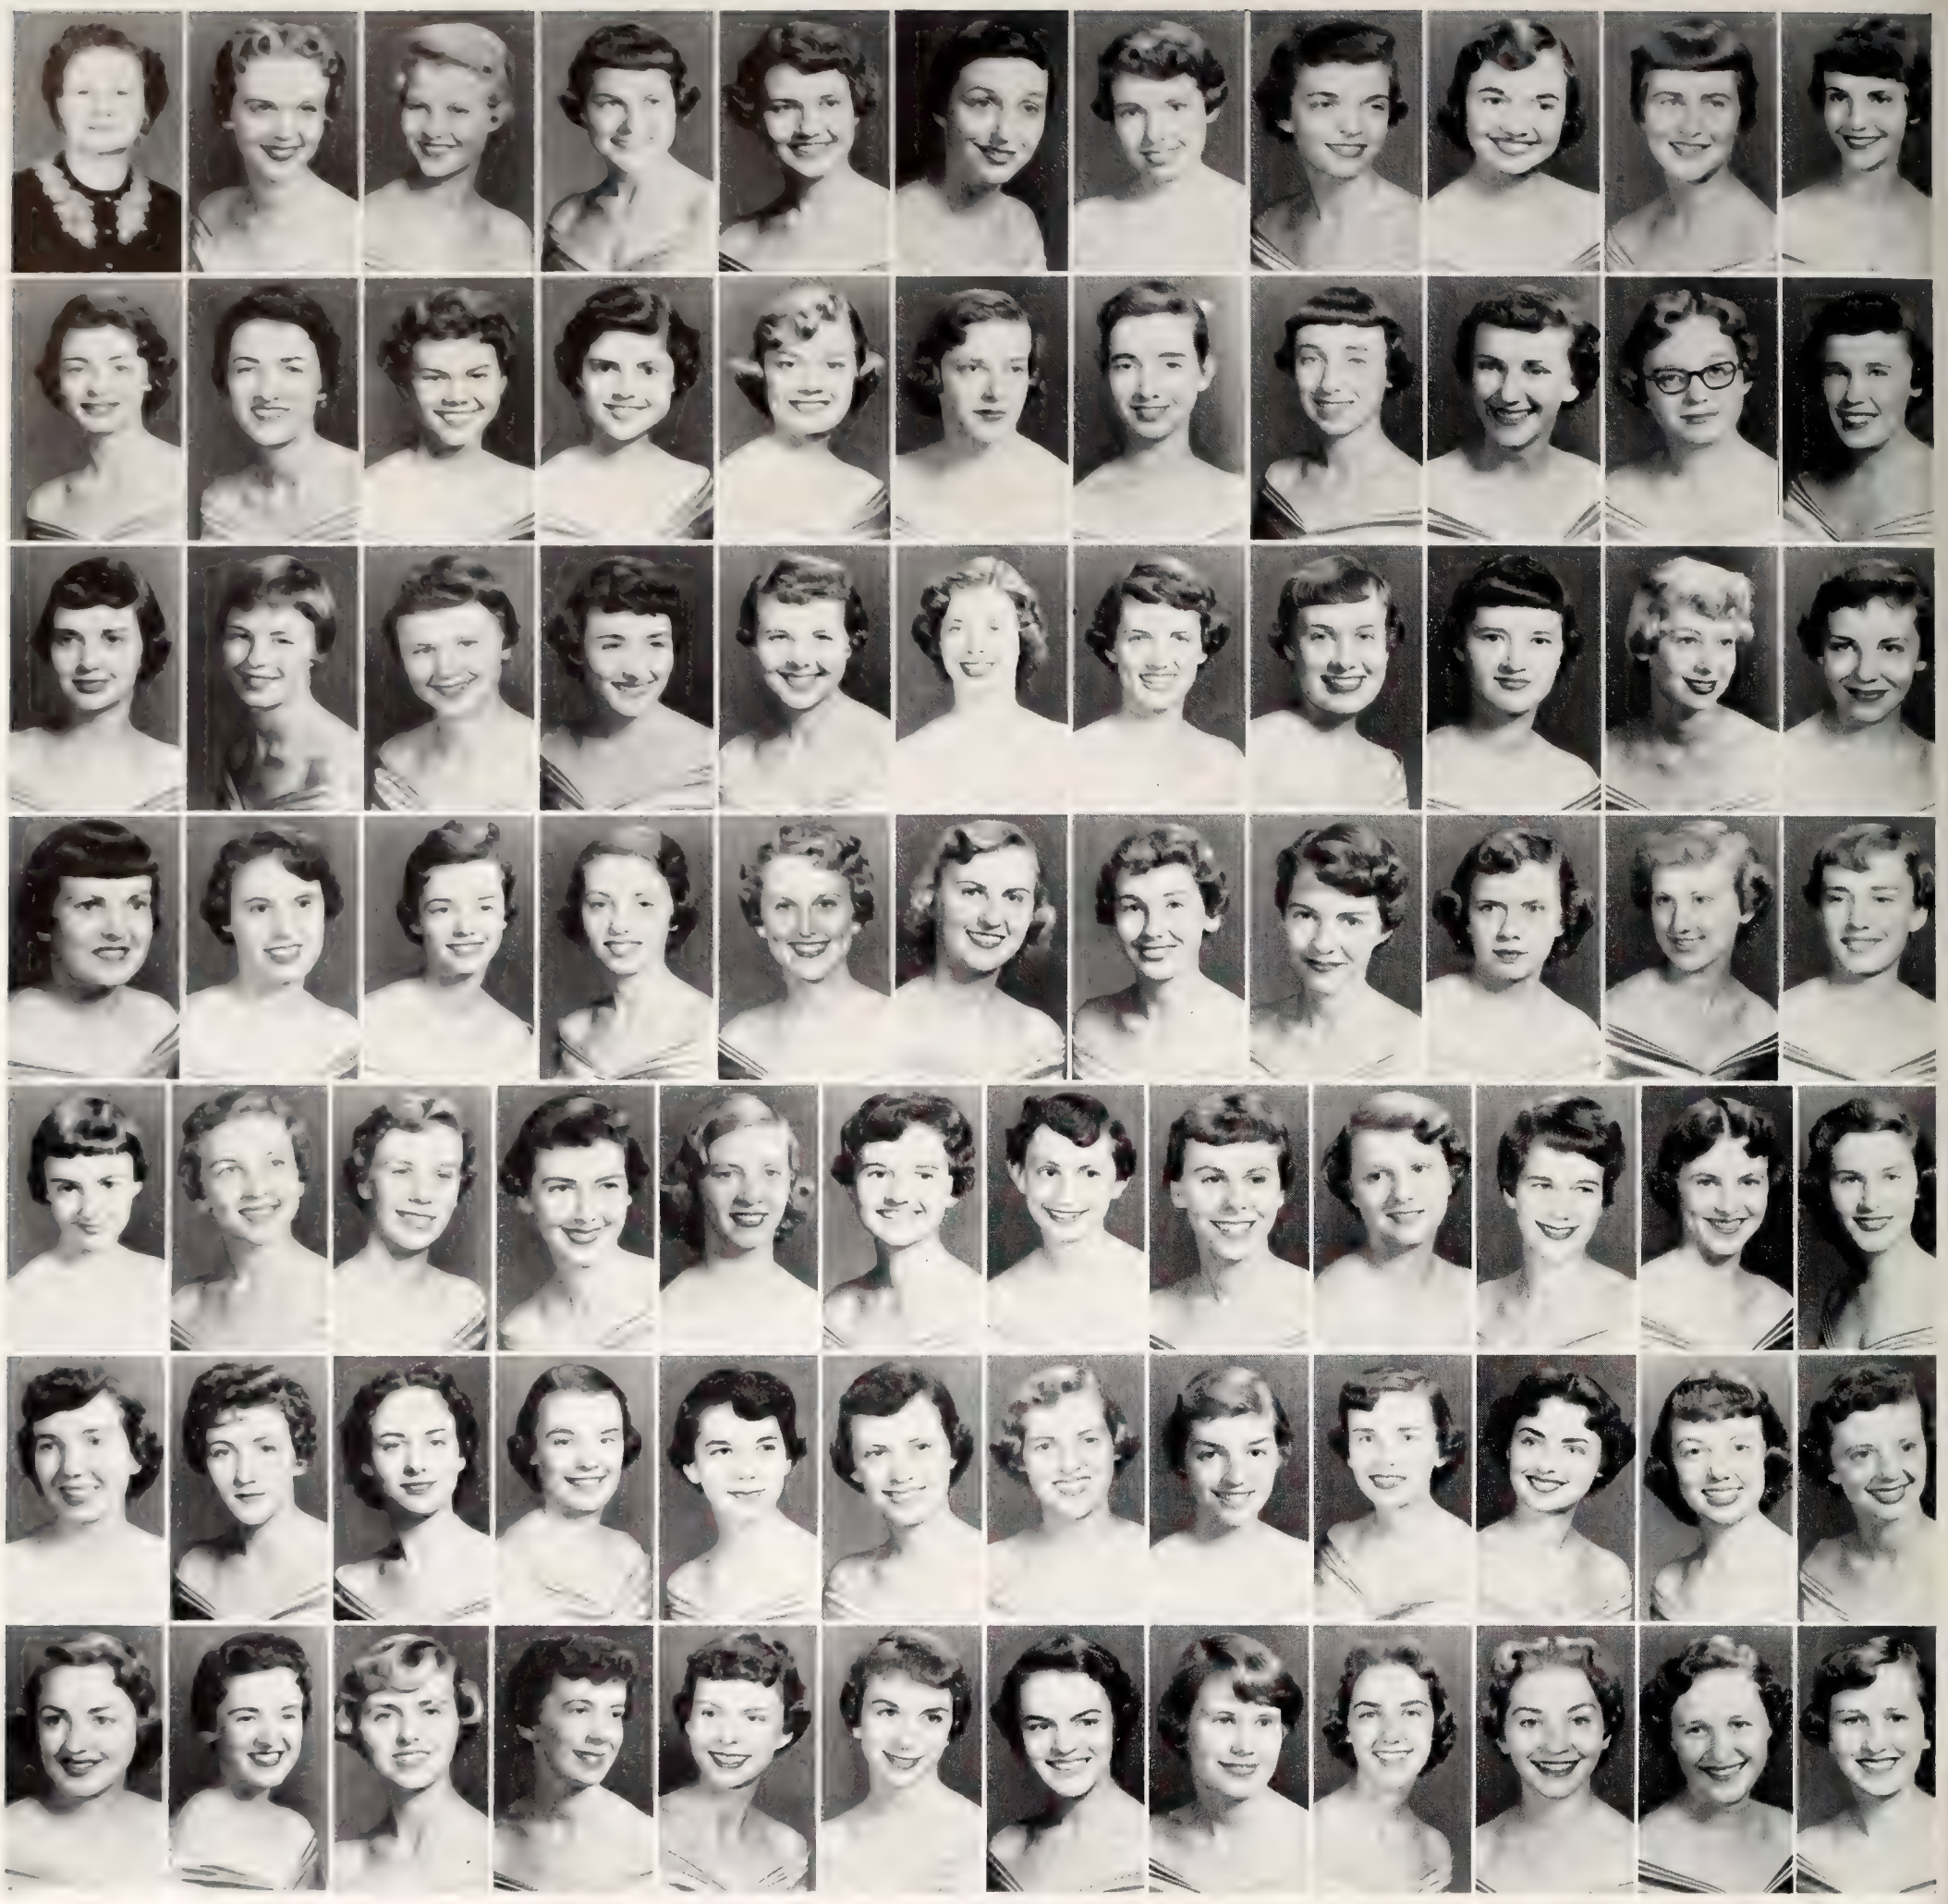

Beta Xi of A&M has been busily engaged with the other three KA chapters in the state planning for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of social fraternities in Oklahoma.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

The Theta house was in an uproar the night of Jan. 4, 1955, and for a very good reason. It had been announced over the radio that DeLois Faulkner had become the "1955 Maid of Cotton."

Another Theta queen this year was Donna Lou Ellis, who was named one of the Redskin queens. Toni Dryden was selected by the TKEs to reign as their sweetheart. Rae Crownover was elected Forestry club queen. Jan Smith was chosen cadet colonel for the ROTC. Shirley Kriewitz was named cadet colonel of the ROTC first regiment. Margaret Phillips reigned as Miami Triad queen. Diane Allen was chosen ATO sweetheart.

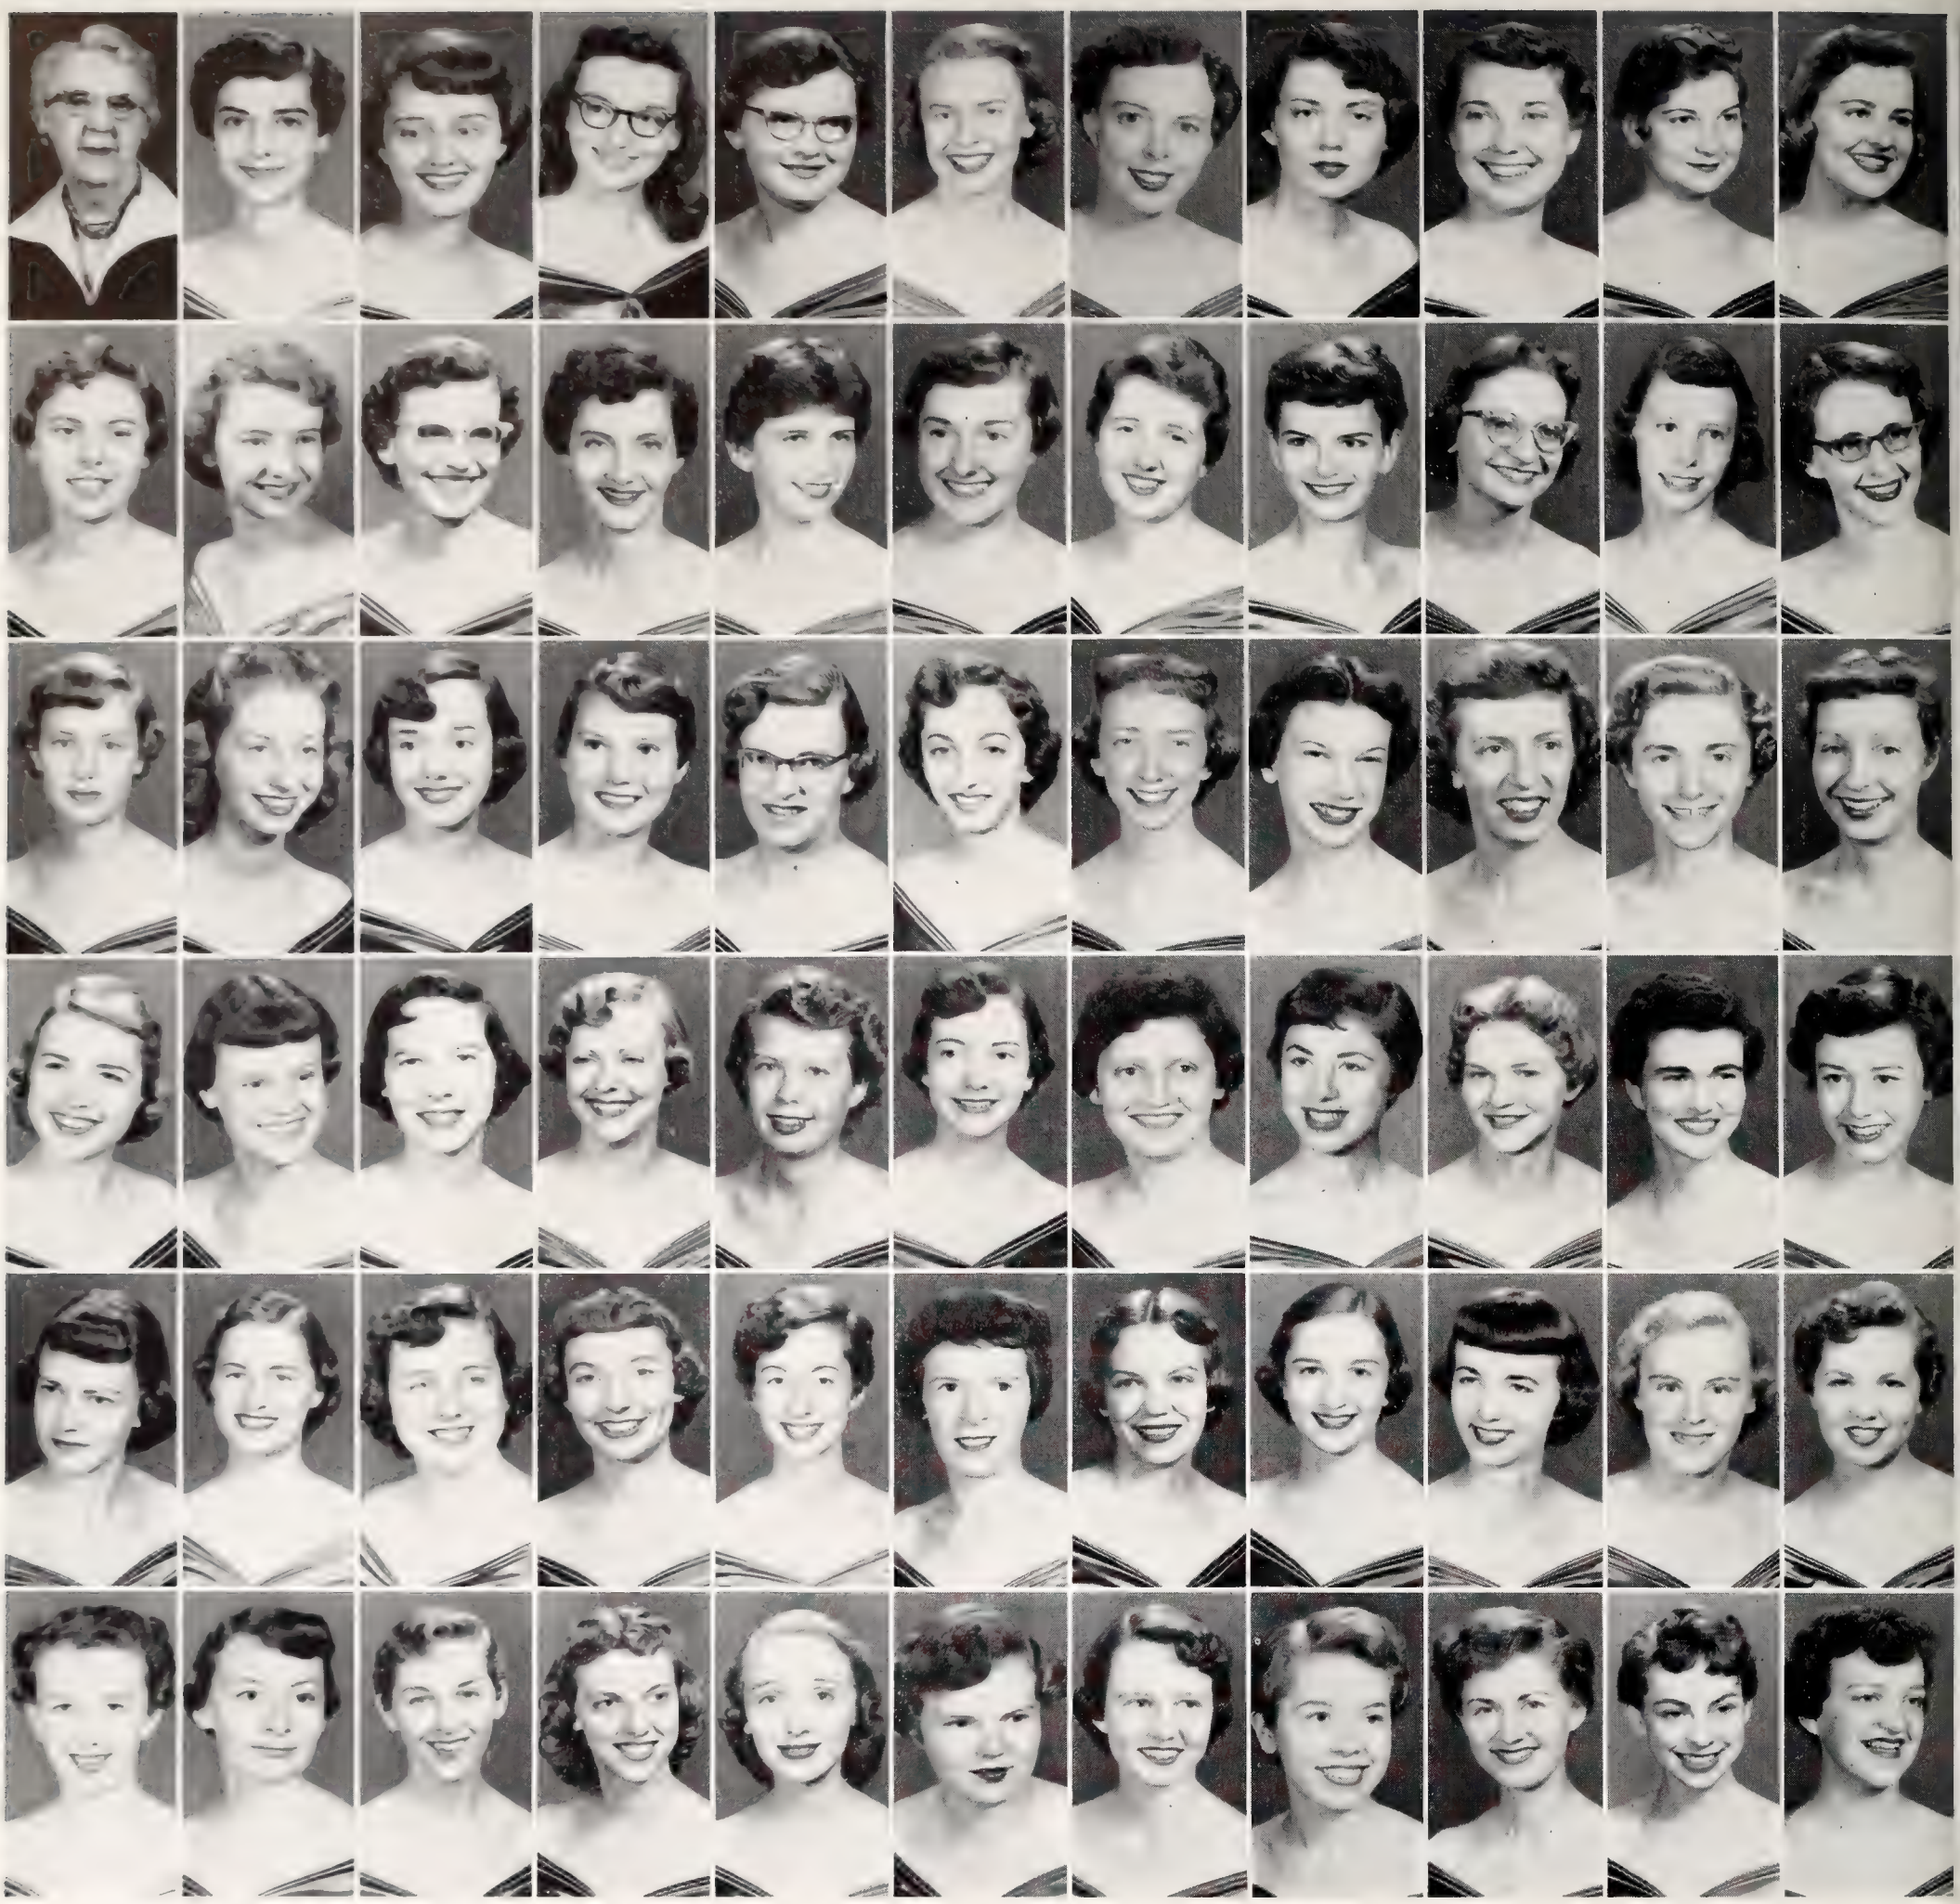

Three Thetas were members of Mortar Board. They were Pat Dryden, Nancy Pitts and Mike Whitaker. Mike was president of that organization. Four Thetas were eligible for Orange Quill and seven were eligible for Orange and Black Quill. Joanne Goff was a member of Phi Kappa Phi. Nancy Pitts served as AWS president. Varsity Cheerleader Martha Newman had a wonderful surprise when her pledge daughter, Ann Wendel, joined her on the cheerleader squad as the freshman cheerleader.

KAPPA DELTA

Kappa delta, first sorority on the campus, included on its social calendar for the year its annual "western party" which was held on the tennis court in back of the chapter house. A western swing band kept the ATOs and the Theta Chis and even some of the KAs and Lambda Chis from their beauty rest. The ATOs claim the Kappa Deltas were just getting retaliation for the ATO late evening basketball games.

Politics was predominant in the house this year with Carol Lee Montgomery leading off as arts and sciences senator, and Betty Dobbs was elected Panhellenic senator. In the lines of national politics, Jerrie Pugh served as president of the Young Republicans; Rita Copeland, Young Republicans treasurer, and Mary Ann Young, secretary of the organization. Jeanene Brandley was the vice-president and the college secretary for the state of Oklahoma for the Young Democrats.

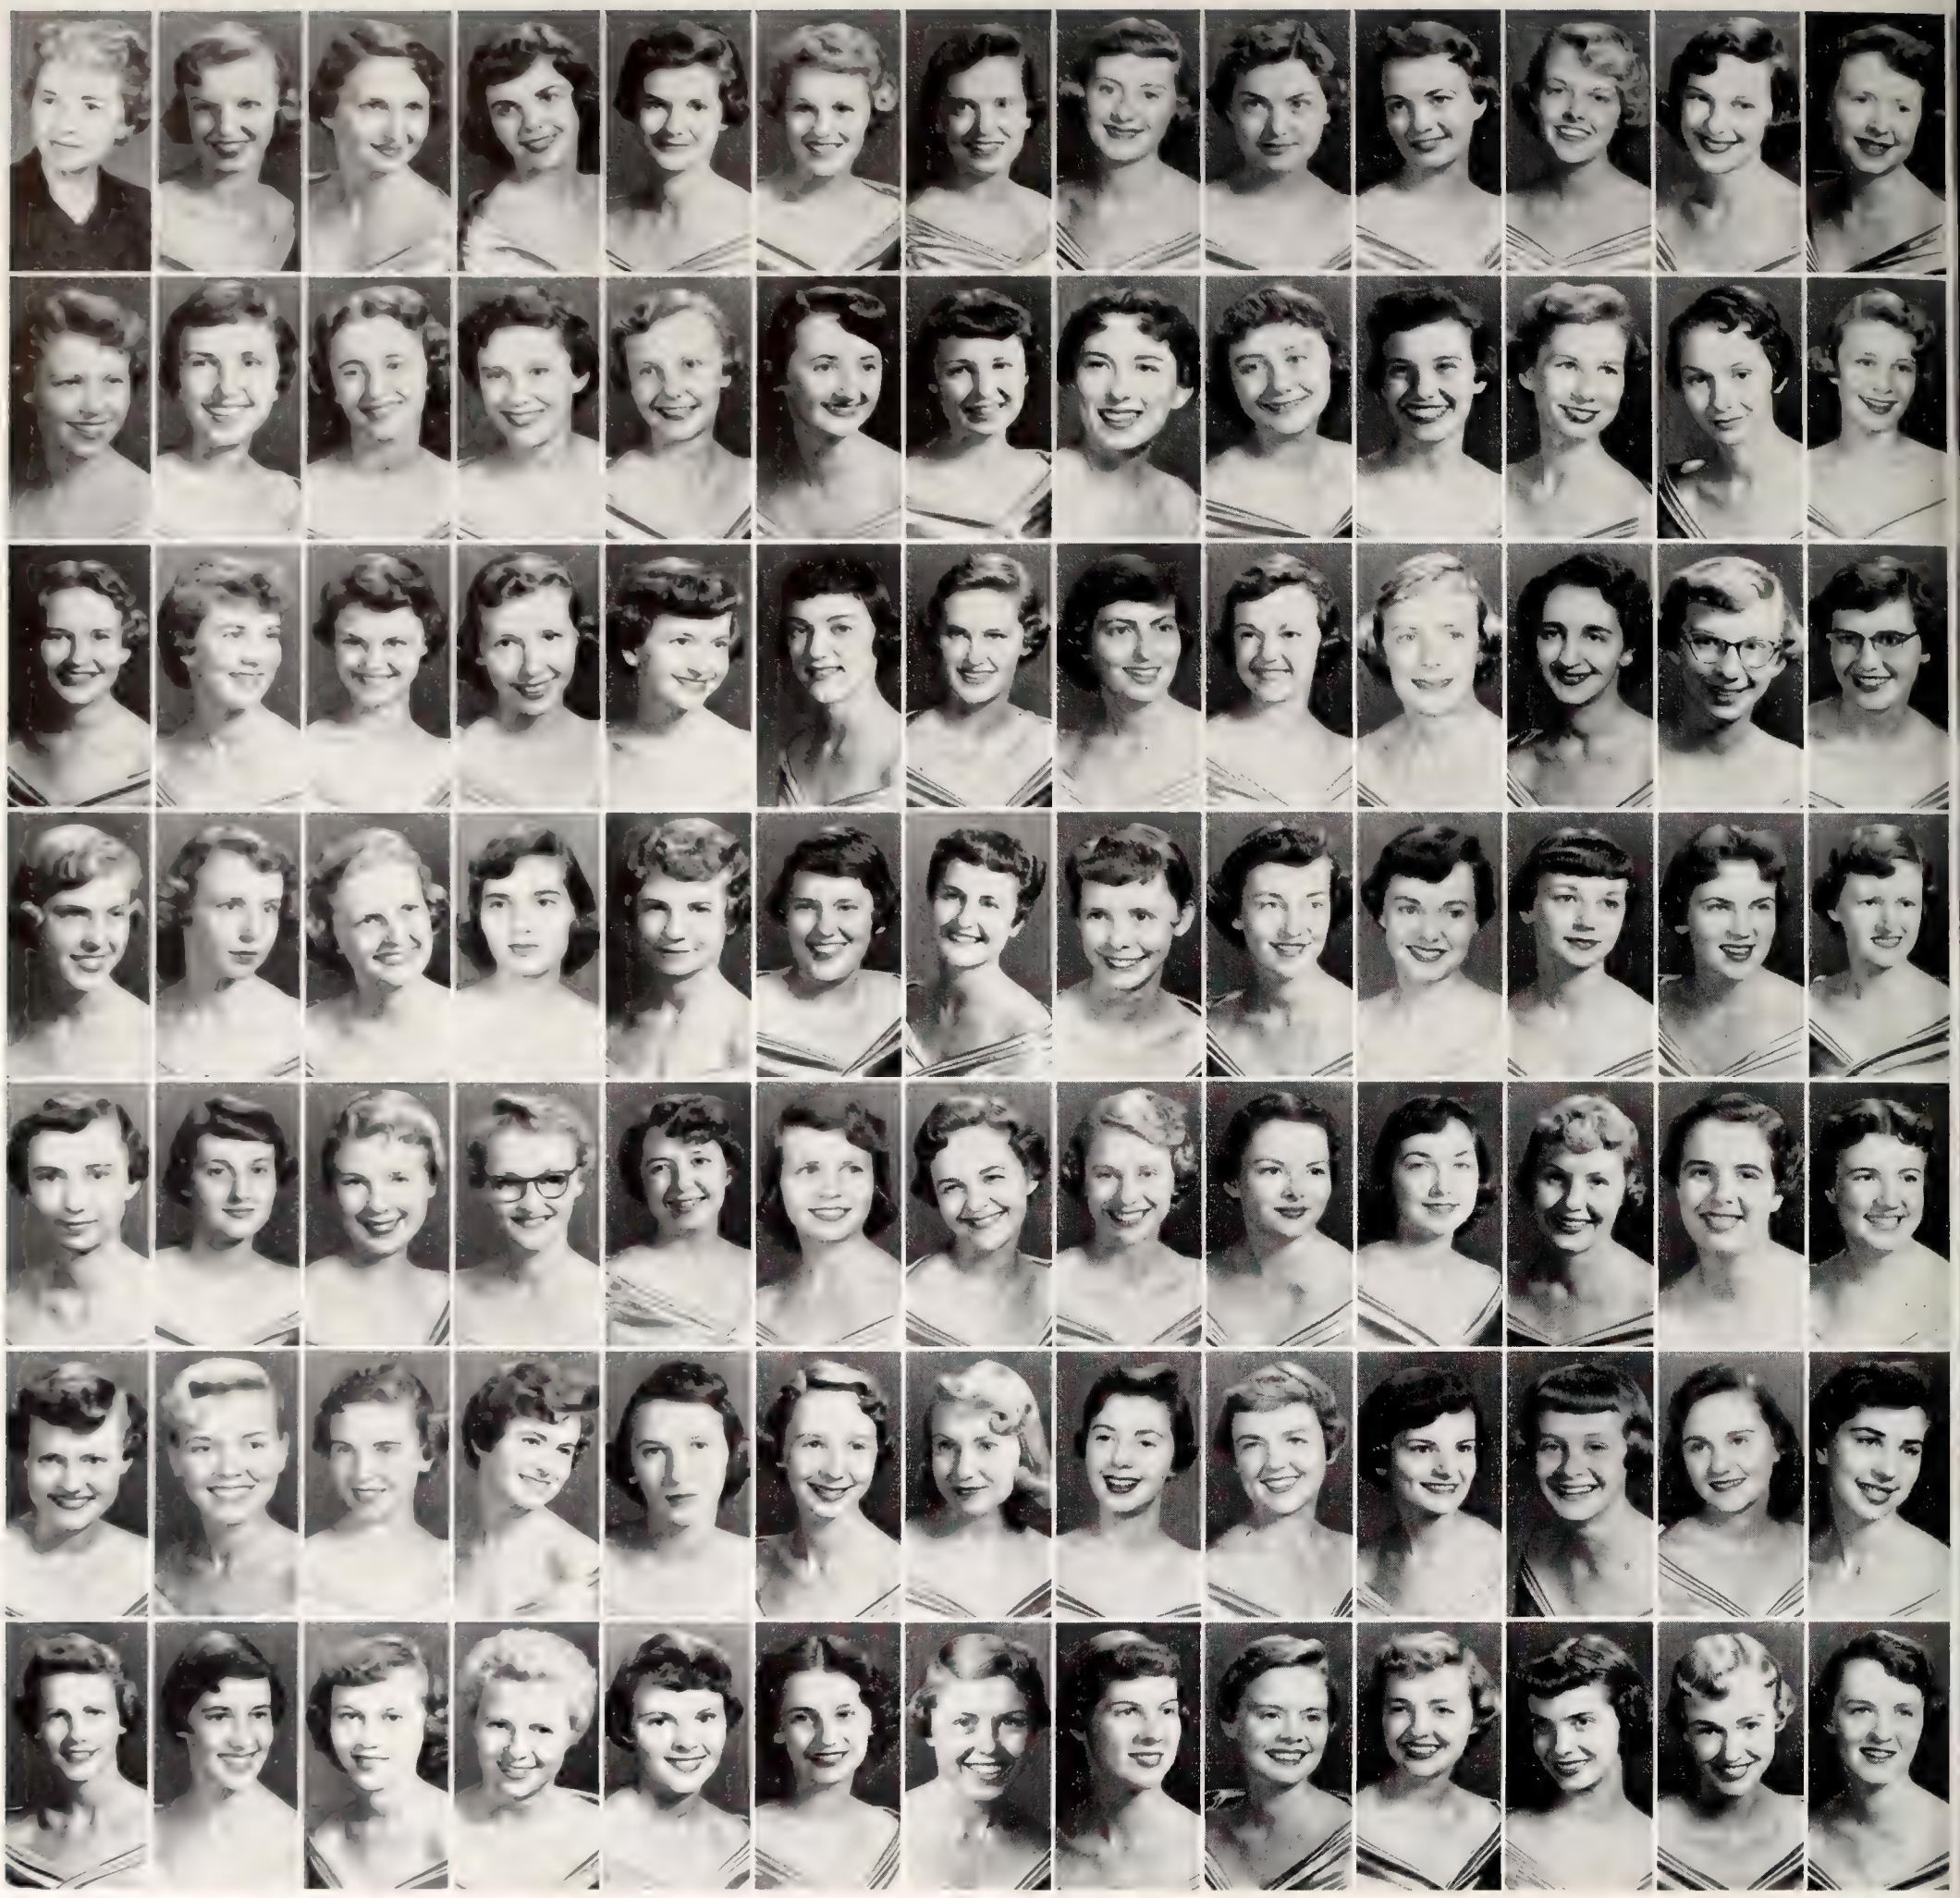

In Pepperettes, Betty Dobbs served as president and Earlene Windham was elected treasurer. Jennie Lou Steele, president of the chapter, was SUAB secretary; Susan Thornham, Terpsichorean president; Pauline Halley, Redskin secretary, and Jedeane Reeves, O'Collegian news editor.

The kappas returned to Oklahoma A&M college last fall to find their house had been newly redecorated. Refreshed, the Kappas started off the year with a record pledge class of 43 girls.

Participating in the fun at the Kappa functions were two Redskin beauty queens, Roberta Anthis and Suzanne Carlile. Also attending the parties were Margot Ellen Hass, "O" club queen attendant, and Karen Oldfield, Freshman queen attendant. Darlene Tillman and Haroldine Amis were selected for Mortar Board.

While floating by on the dance floor at the KKG house, you may have noticed the two new trophies. Jonetta Hart took top honors as Dream Girl of Phi Kappa Tau. Norma McLain represented Delta Sigma chapter at the Kappa biennial national convention at Jasper Park, Canada, where she accepted the trophy for scholarship improvement.

It's a woman golfer's world. The Ben Hogans of 1123 College, Jo Ann Grimes and Wah-Leeta Smith, took first and second places, respectively, in the golf tournament. Also in the sports world, the Kappa volleyball team won the all-college championship.

KAPPA SIGMA

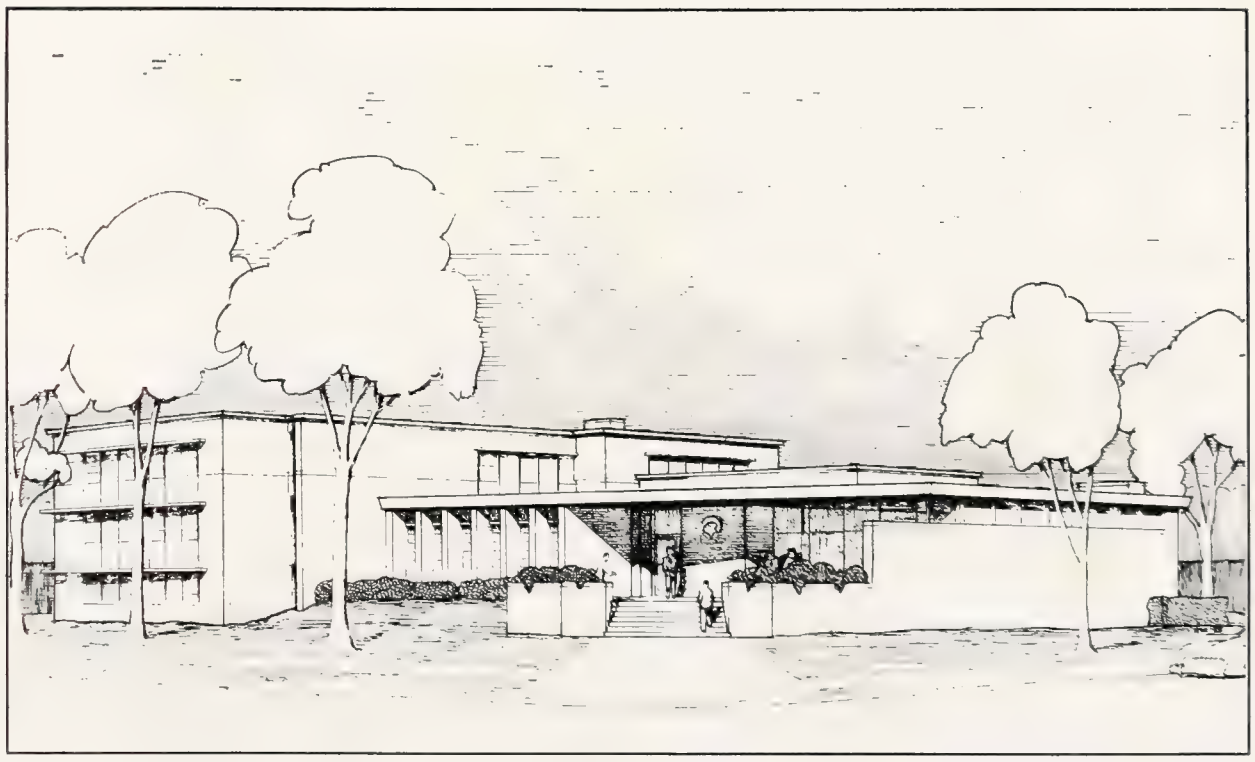

Years of work and planning are about to bear fruit as members and pledges of Kappa Sigma fraternity prepare to move into a new chapter house at 1400 College avenue, on which construction work began in September, 1954.

One of the busiest men in the fraternity was Larry Wright, who maintained a high grade average and still found time to manage a dance band, broadcast a record program afternoons, serve as president of the education student council and teach a few English classes. It was no surprise when he was named to "Who's Who."

Tom Crewson, Kappa Sigma's president, also handled the presidency of the inter-fraternity council, the vice-presidency of SUAB and many other campus offices. Mack Carter was on the varsity basketball team.

Kappa Sigma was well represented in student publications this year with Norman Moore editing the Aggievator and Neil Goble as editor of The Daily O'Collegian and also named to "Who's Who." Backing up Goble on the O'Colly was Louie Geiser, assistant editor. On the Aggievator staff with Moore were Harold Brown, Dick Danne, Jim Hefner, Don Whitaker and Tom Hall.

SAY, BOYS, IS THAT in the rules? It looks like John Goetzinger, Ken Nichols, Bob Austin and Hank Wilde are off with the Lambda Chis dinner.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

MUSIC OVER THE YEARS has become an integral part of fraternity life and the Lambda Chi Alpha house is no exception. In addition to serenades, the usual after dinner songs and barber-shop quartet, the Lambda Chis hear occassionally a unique program when Harrell Nunn entertains on the Pilophone.

And the Lambda Chis honored a brother and a sister. John Wilkerson was voted the chapter's "outstanding member" and was given the Campbell award at the Christmas formal. At the same time, sister Celia Wilkerson, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority who goes steady with Lambda Chi Ken Nichols, was crowned the chapter's Crescent girl.

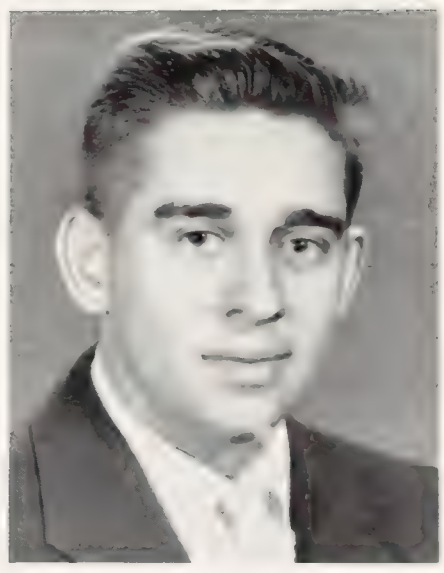

Best known of the fraternity's campus personalities are Benny Allen and Bob Rives. Allen was named student senator from the School of Commerce and was elected to Who's Who. He is a member of Blue Key, Gamma Sigma and Alpha Kappa Psi. Rives, a senior in arts and sciences, was editor of The Daily O'Collegian the second semester and is a member of Blue Key, Sigma Delta Chi and Officers club.

PHI DELTS Bill Tronnier and Charles Evans prepare for that important Saturday night date. How do you like Bab-O for talcum powder, boys?

PHI DELTA THETA

LIFE AT 901 COLLEGE was supplemented by a busy social calendar that featured three dances. The fall festivities were inaugurated with eccentrically attired dancers dressed in half formal, half casual costumes populating the annual "Half Formal" open dance.

Jimmy Hawkins' "Cry, Cry, Tears" dance band was such a success at the Sigma Phi Epsilon dance that Social Chairman Eddie Hutcheson contacted the group to play for the skirt and sweater dance.

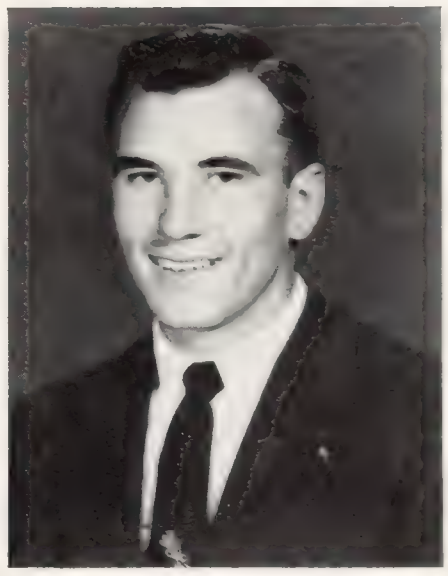

The combination of Alan Lower's ideas and directorship and the appearance of three beauties who were going with members—Karen Moller, Pat Brant and Nancy Strickland—supplied that little something to give the Phi Delts their second homecoming championship in the last three years.

Phi Delta Theta's jinx of annually finishing second and third in the intramural sports was finally snapped when the duo of pledge Tucker Moore and member Charlie Hollar won one of the "major" athletic events of the year—the badminton title. Jerry Shipley, president of the chapter, was awarded a berth on the all-college dream touch football team for the third straight year.

PHI KAPPA TAU

Beta kappa chapter of Phi Kappa Tau started the school year with the usual amount of eagerness and confidence.

Activities of the year included the winning of the publication award for having the outstanding publication of all the chapters of Phi Kappa Tau and the winning of the trophy for the best booth of the Blue Key carnival.

Also included in Phi Kappa Tau's achievements for the year was the winning of the domain chief's scholarship trophy for having the highest scholastic record of all the schools in this domain. The domain includes chapters at Colorado university, Colorado A&M, Nebraska Wesleyan, Kansas university and Oklahoma A&M.

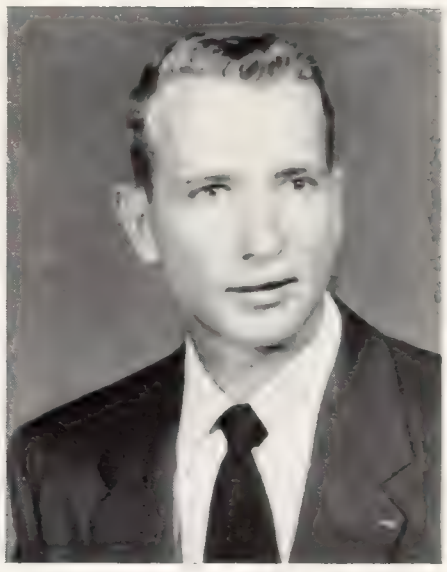

With the graduation of A. L. Rose, chapter president for two semesters and member of Blue Key, outstanding men's fraternity, election was held to determine the new president. Dick Green, architecture major from Pampa, Texas, was elected president of Beta Kappa chapter of Phi Kappa Tau at the beginning of the spring semester. Brother Green, who has served as rush chairman, assistant chaplain and engaged in numerous activities of this chapter, stands among the outstanding members of this chapter.

Another outstanding member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity was Don Conner, who handled public relations activities for the fraternity and was the chapter's IFC representative.

PI BETA PHI

TAKING THE PLACE OF HONOR in the Pi Beta Phi new trophy case, which was a gift of the pledge class, was the Panhellenic scholarship cup for the highest grade average among the sororities.

When the sophomore council had its first class dance in A&M's history, it elected a queen to reign at the event. Elected to this honor was JoAnn Hankins. Other awards captured by the girls included Mortar Board members Jean Ranck and Betty Taylor, who both were named to "Who's Who." Julianne Hardin was elected the first woman president of Mu Kappa Tau, while Sue Ann White was secretary of Religious Emphasis week.

Social events featured the Christmas formal, spring dinner-dance, "Heaven and Hell party" and the Valentine dance. Climaxing the February social events was a campus serenade to all the fraternity houses and men's dormitories. Spontaneous house parties were frequent.

For the second year in succession, Pi Beta Phi took a first place in homecoming floats. Entered in the originality division, the float was a gigantic replica of a pink and black argyle sock, displaying the slogan, "Argyle's Sock 'em."

PI KAPPA ALPHA

AFTER BEING SCATTERED over the campus during the first semester, the members and pledges of Pi Kappa Alpha moved into a beautiful and spacious new house after the Christmas holidays. The Pikes spent a hectic period of moving in and cleaning up their long awaited new home.

A successful social program was enjoyed by the fraternity during the year. The first social event of the season was the annual PiKA Dream Girl formal, which was held in December. Elizabeth Tonini, a member of Delta Zeta sorority, was crowned as the "Dream Girl" of Pi Kappa Alpha. The next major dance was the Shipwreck ball held in March. The Shipwreck ball, which is one of the most unusual costume dances on the campus, is an event at which everyone must be clad in clothes that he supposedly was wearing at the moment of the shipwreck. The annual PiKA Spring formal dance rounded out the social program for the year.

Bill Carson represented the fraternity in Blue Key and was also a member of the O'Collegian staff.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Starting the year off right, the Sig Alphs won first place in the homecoming house decorations when Keith Rinker engineered the beautiful circus decorations that drew the attention of the entire town.

Eddie Fisher has been outstanding in agriculture, both locally and nationally, having won the American Farmer degree. Fisher won the Fort Worth livestock judging contest which warranted a feature article in Time magazine. SAE had three members on the Oklahoma A&M first place livestock judging team—Bill Hancock, Vic Carey and Fisher.

Robert Curnutt represented SAE as interfraternity council senator. Keith Hinchey was selected cadet colonel of the first regiment of the army ROTC at A&M.

Athletically, the Sig Alphs were well represented. Claudell Wright was a member of the varsity wrestling team; Melvin Wright, only sophomore on the varsity basketball team; Skip Woolfolk, track, and John Jacobs and Forest Campbell, freshman halfbacks who made a name for themselves. Their fraternity brothers are expecting a great performance from them next year. The SAE team came in first in the bowling league, and the "B" team won first in intramural football and basketball.

SIGMA CHI

SIGMA CHI FRATERNITY was founded in 1855 on the campus of Miami university at Oxford, Ohio. Sigma Chi, along with Beta Theta Pi and Phi Delta Theta, comprise the famous Miami Triad. Each year a dance is held by the three fraternities in memory of their foundings.

Sigma Chi was represented in Blue Key by Bill Baker and Bill Jackson. Also, Baker was selected to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Sigma Chi is very proud to have as housemother the "Outstanding Housemother" of all Sigma Chi chapters. "Mom" Hollingsworth received this well deserved honor from Sigma Chi national headquarters last spring. She received an expense-paid vacation to the housemothers' convention at Purdue university during the summer.

Sigma Chis at Oklahoma A&M are looking forward to their 100th anniversary celebration in Cincinnati, Ohio, in July.

SIGMA NU

SIGMA NU MEMBERS STARTED the school year a little early by attending their national convention at the Shamrock hotel in Houston, Texas, in the latter part of August. The 27 men received the honors for having the largest delegation.

The Sigma Nus were active in almost every phase of student activity. Jim Dickson, Franklin Forney, Tom Fowler, Dean Goates, Bill Gooden, Glen Lemon, Jim Pollard, Rex Ball and Dick Rucker represented Sigma Nu in Blue Key.

Pollard and Lemon were also named to "Who's Who." Pollard was president of SUAB, and Lemon was editor of the 1955 REDSKIN, with Gooden as assistant editor.

Sigma Nu President Forney represented the Junior class on the student senate and was honored in the "1955 REDSKIN Congratulates" selection as being the "best all-round male student on the A&M campus."

Sigma Nu won the all-college softball championship for 1954. The fraternity's float, designed by Latimer Epps, was highlighted by three A&M coeds—Dorothy Gage, Karen Oldfield, and DeLois Faulkner.

SIG EPS HARMONIZE together. (l. to r.) B. Kietzman, B. Nicholas, D. McNaire, T. Sheffield, J. Ralston, J. Welsh, B. J. Hargis and R. Lindsey.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

With summer gone and fall rush out of the way, the boys returned to the campus with bulging pockets of loot, eager for more of the three C's—cards, cokes and courtship.

The first big dance of the academic year, and hailed by many as the best, "The Brawl," as the Sig Eps know it, gave the boys a chance to live it up before the onslaught of serious studies reared its ugly (or beautiful) head. This by no means should indicate Sig Eps to be adverse to studies, as the impressive number of those in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" was Chuck Norman and Bob Kietzman, while Don Tubb, Carl Hopper, Randall Lindsey, Jack Givens, Kietzman and Norman comprised Sigma Phi Epsilon's representation in Blue Key.

"The Girl of the Golden Heart" dinner-dance is the first on the campus commemorating the unofficial beginning of Aggieland's favorite season. The Girl of the Golden Heart was pretty Fay Lee Matheny, pinmate of the mighty Sig Ep potentate, W. T. Dingler. Fay Lee will reign for one year.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

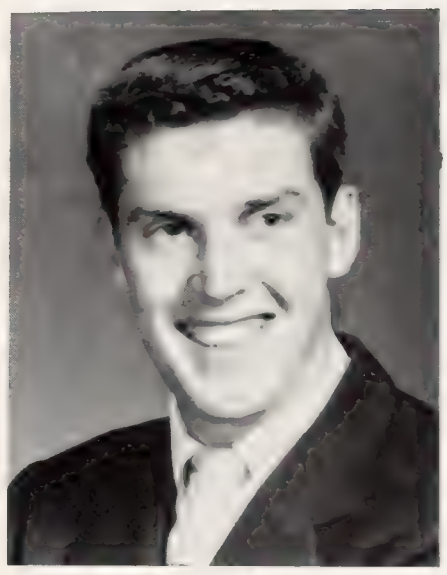

BETA GAMMA CHAPTER of Tau Kappa Epsilon was installed at Oklahoma A&M college Feb. 1, 1947. It represents a fraternity of 106 chapters and 25,000 members.

It's not all work at the Teke house as shown by the numerous house parties and dances. Social functions included a Winter Sweetheart formal and a French Cabaret. A French Cabaret is a dance depicting life in that gay European country. The costumes of the dates varied, but brevity seemed to be the rule rather than the exception.

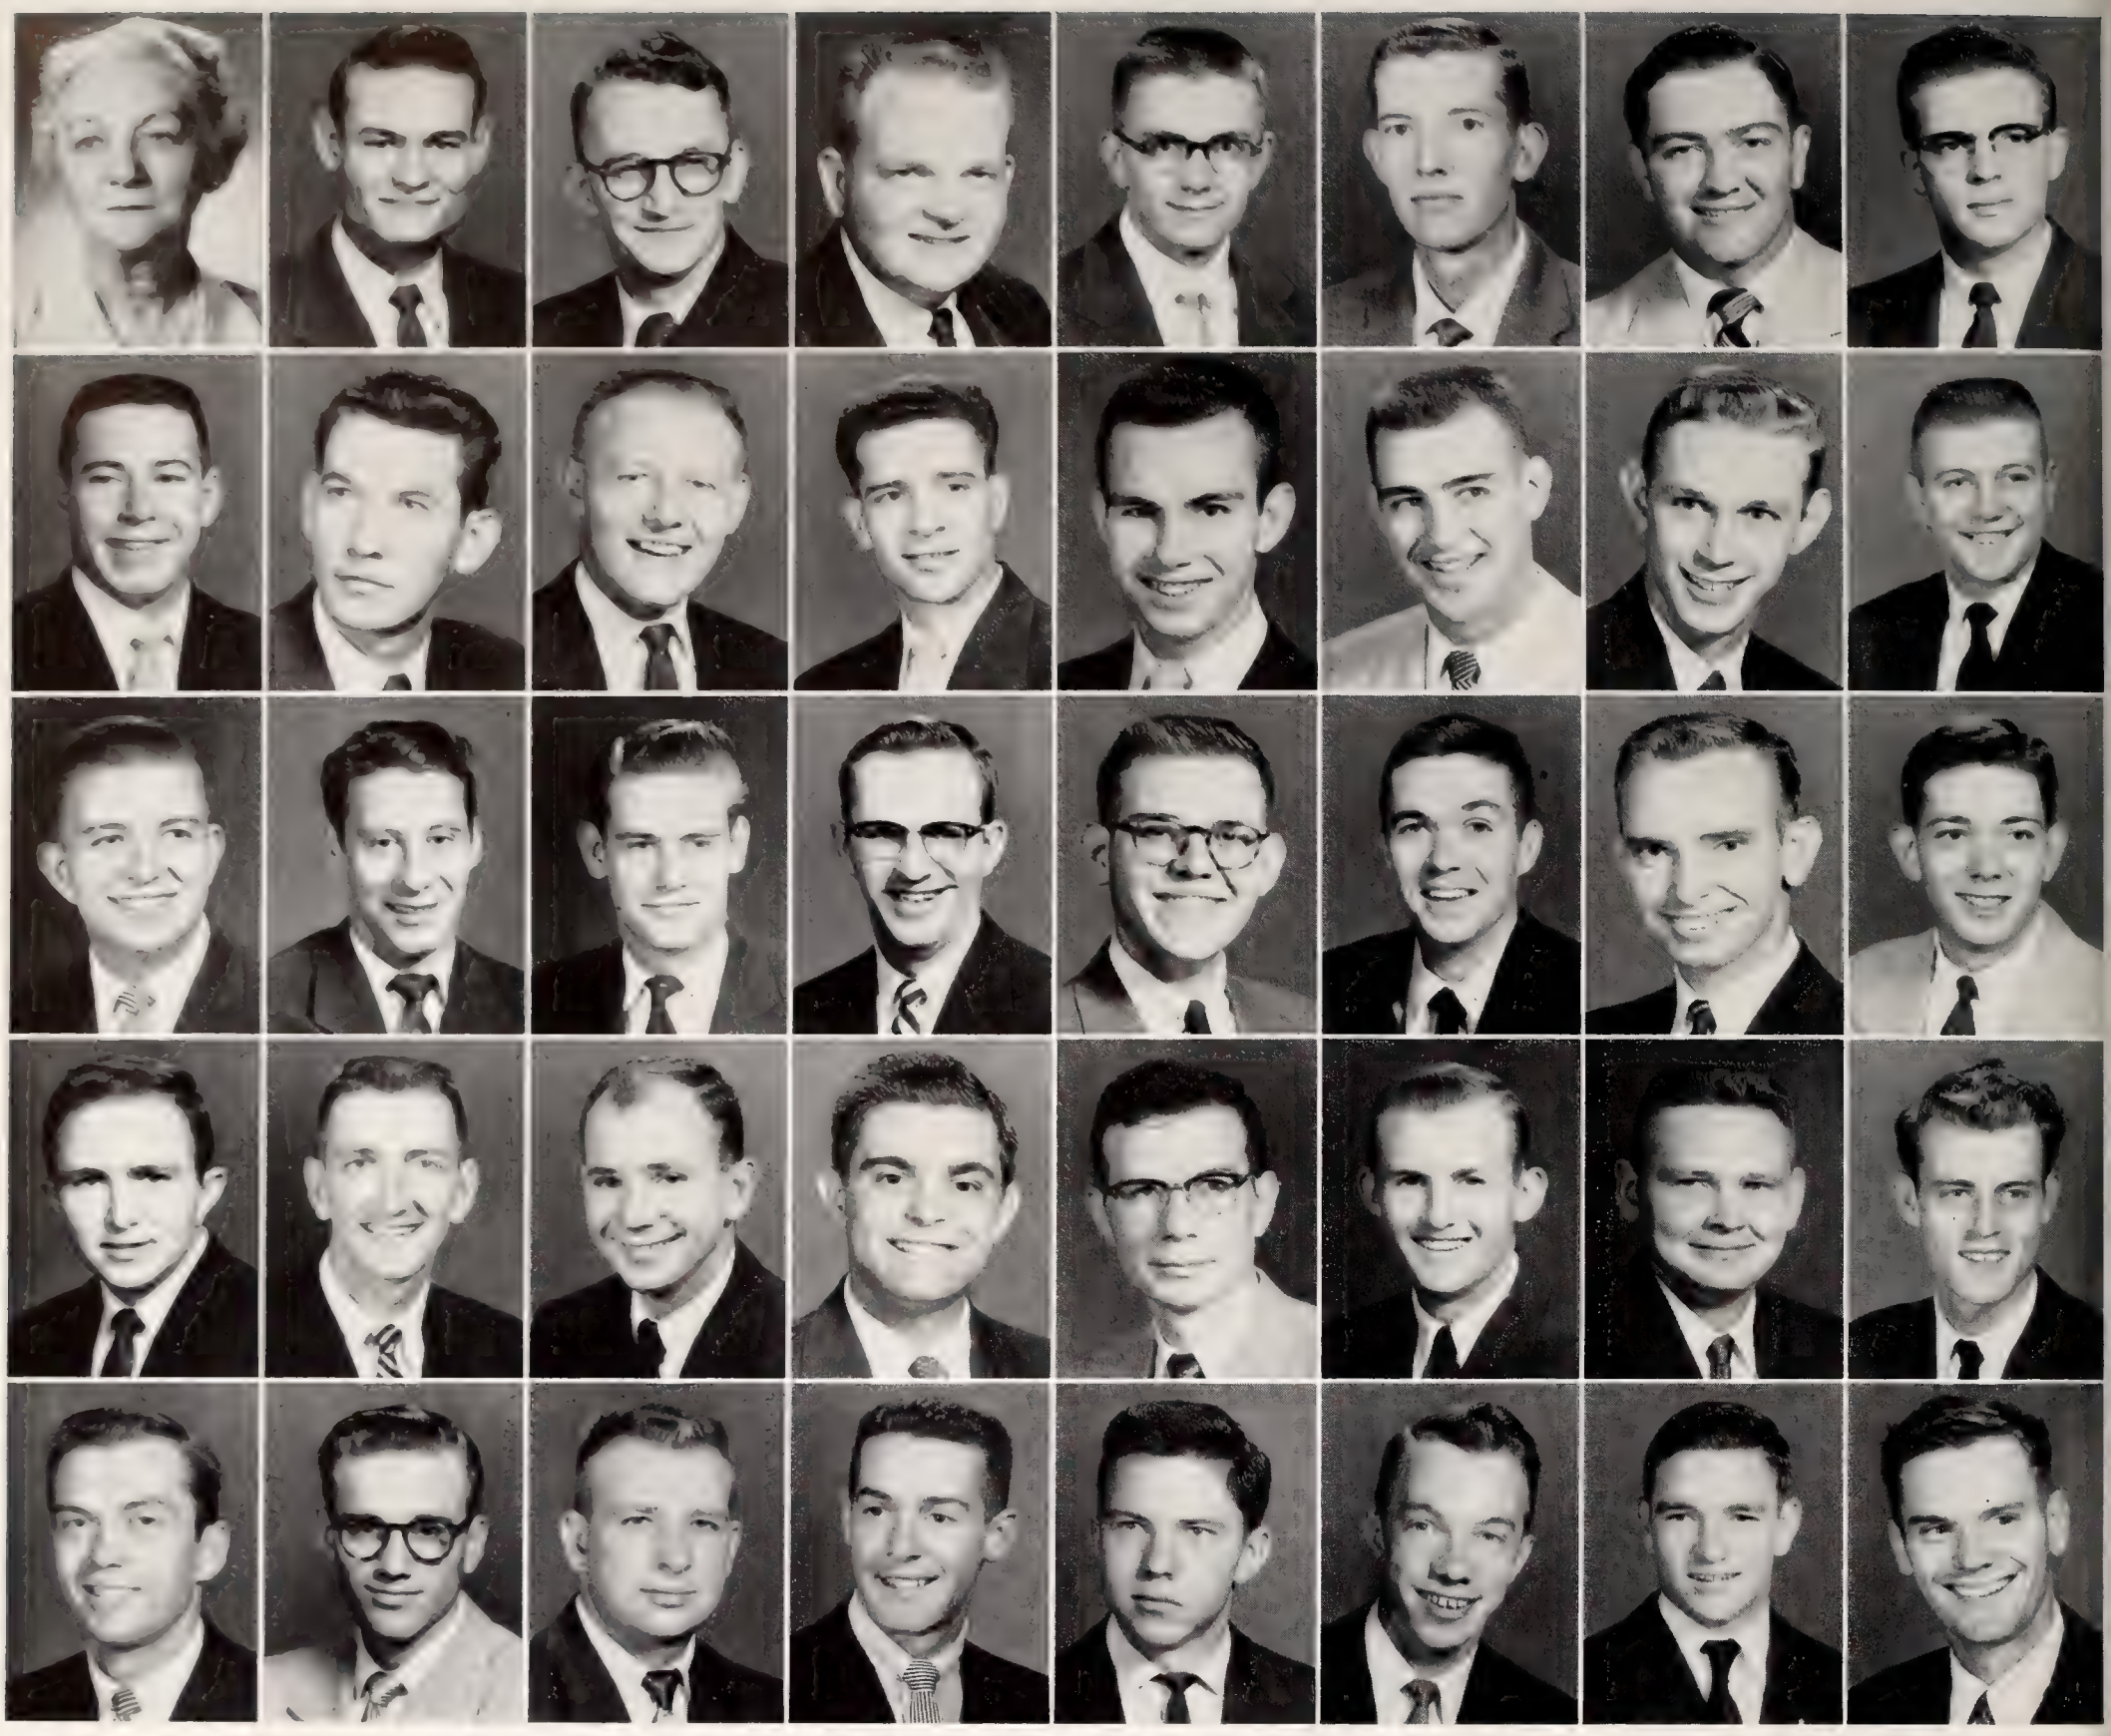

The Tekes were well represented in campus activities. Bill Baker was vice-president of IFC, secretary-treasurer of Cowpokes and student advisor of IRC. George Williams led the house in the music department, and Paul Pataky had his interests in Pershing Rifles. Tekes were represented by George Williams, Blue Key, Phi Eta Sigma and men's glee club; Joe Taylor, IRC and National 4-H club fraternity; Robert Andrews and Baker, Mu Kappa Tau; John Posey, Scabbard and Blade and Agronomy club; Dick Rhoades, Diesel Tech club, and Dick Karam, Baker and Rhoads, campus radio station, KVRO.

FORE!! Theta Chis Gerald Austin and Bob Cox practice a little golf with the assistance of willing pledges Charles Berry and Brice Crim.

THETA CHI

THE PLEDGES OF THETA CHI were a very thoughtful and considerate group. On each occasion that they successfully accomplished a dinner sneak, they were kind enough to leave the members an invitation to join them. Unfortunately, probably due to an oversight, they invariably forgot to specify the place where the dinner was to be held.

In the past, several men in the house have been the unlucky victims of a remarkable occurrence. It seems that each time a Theta Chi, whether a member or a pledge, became pinned, engaged or started "steadying," he has had the unfortunate experience of falling into Theta pond. The banks of the pond are certainly slippery.

The highlight of the spring semester was the Carnation ball at which a "Dream Girl" was crowned. Since the "Dream Girl" was selected by a vote of the entire house, both members and pledges, this motivated violations of practically all ethical vote-soliciting procedures.

Under the energetic leadership of President Bill Arrowood and the other capable officers of the fraternity, Theta Chi has taken an active interest in the events and functions of the Aggie campus.

THETA KAPPA PHI

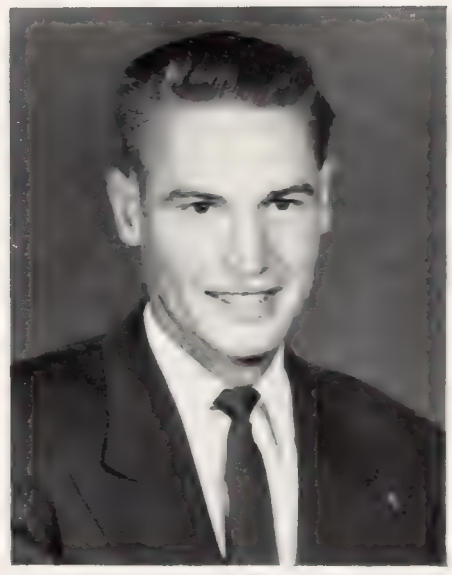

IT IS BECOMING APPARENT that certain restraints will have to be put on the ag and engineering students at the Theta Kappa Phi house if harmony is to prevail. With "farm price support" as the sword, the engineers wage war on the ags only to be countered by such terms as "slide rule robots." The tide of battle seems to be running in favor of the engineers for they have gained support from other members through the achievements of John Harvey, James Zeiders, Tom Determan and Gene Nestle, who during the past semester were initiated into Sigma Tau. Tom Determan and Gene Nestle also became members of Pi Tau Sigma, honorary mechanical engineering fraternity. James Zeiders gained the ranks of Chi Epsilon, another engineering fraternity.

Nu chapter of Theta Kappa Phi was especially fortunate this year to obtain the service of Mrs. Marion Wagner as our new hostess. It was evident at the Woodchoppers ball that Mrs. Wagner displayed those particular traits that make for an exceptional housemother.

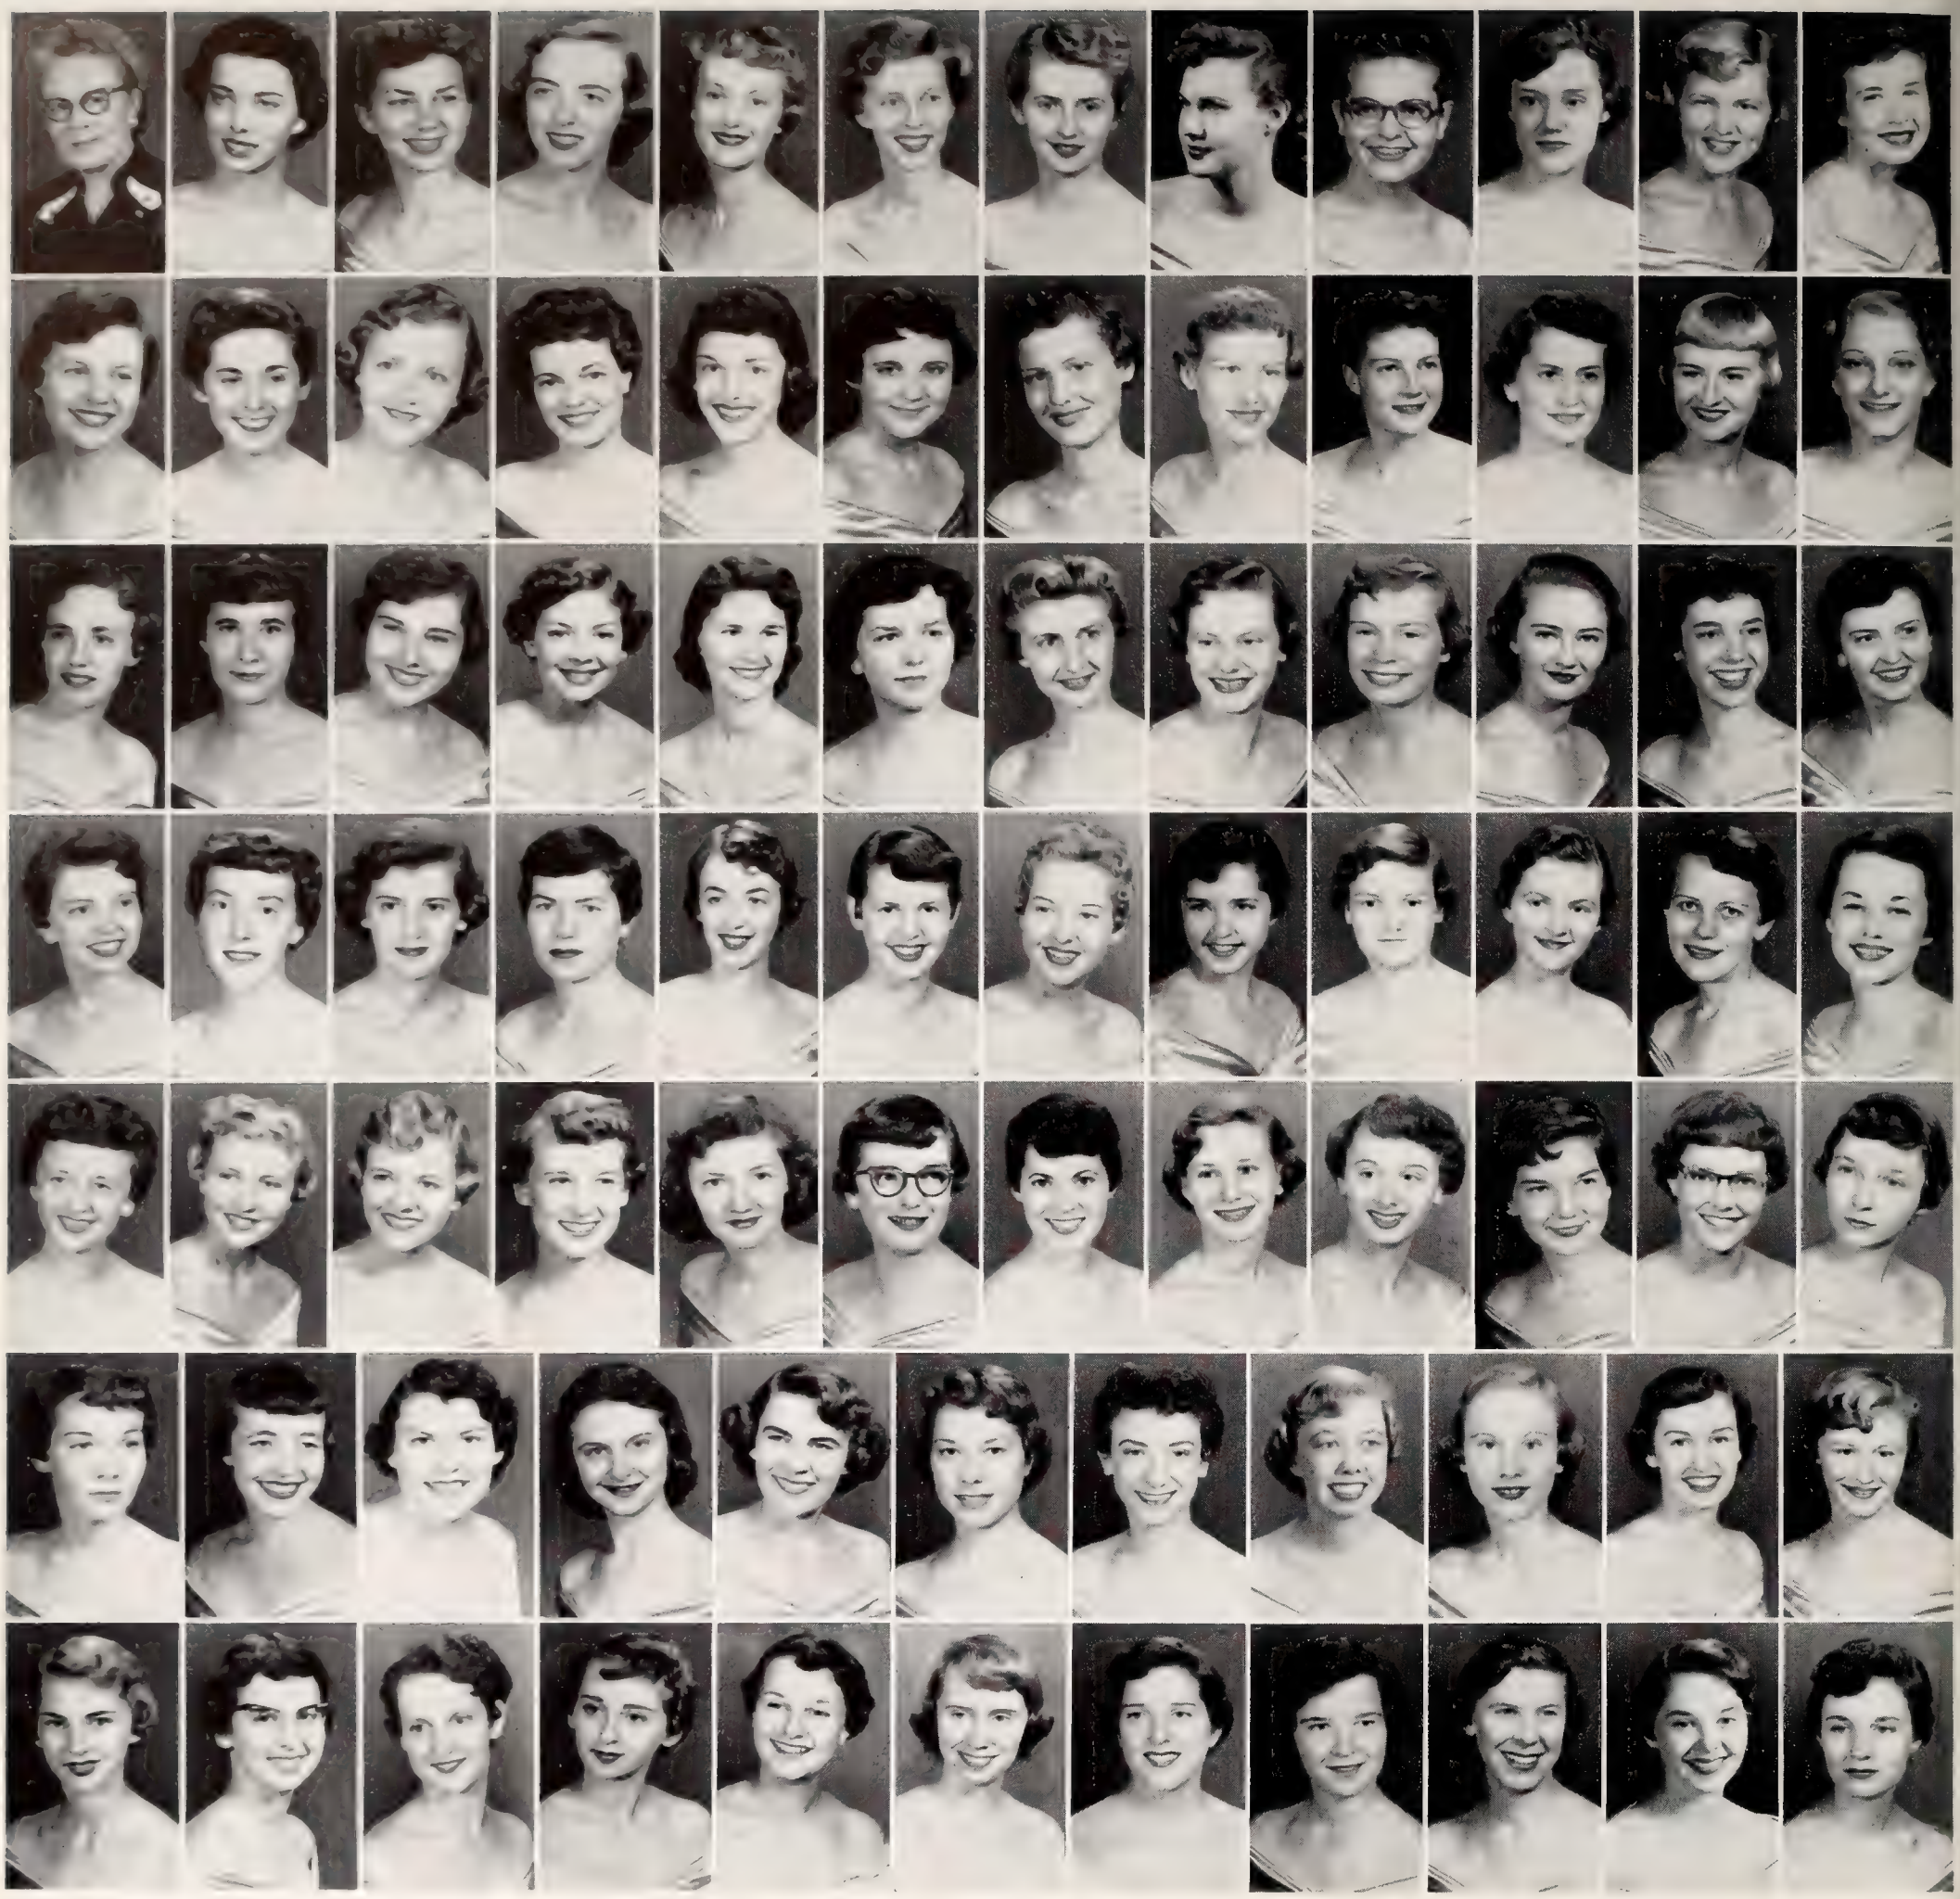

Theta Kappa Phi is a national social fraternity for Catholic men designed to bring this group of men together under common bonds for the mutual good of the group and the benefit of each individual.

ZETA TAU ALPHA

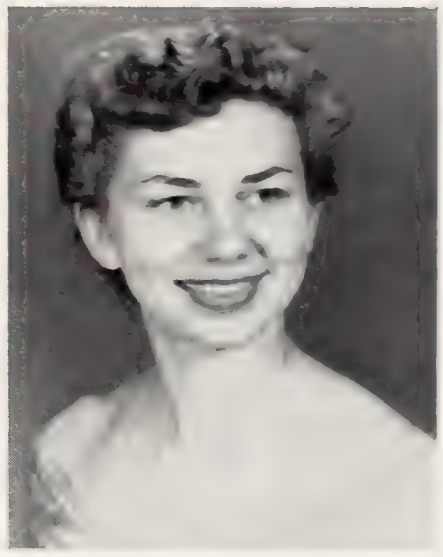

ZETA TAU ALPHA, founded at Virginia State Normal college, Farmville, Va., on October 15, 1898, has grown into a chain of 97 chapters.

The house at 1001 College, with its commanding view of the campus (including frequent pond parties!) holds many fond memories of the 1954-55 school year. Homecoming brought top honors to the Zetas for their house decorations, "Let's take the wind out of their sails." Social festivities began with a hayrack ride during the prolonged Indian summer and ended with the spring formal. A spring picnic, sock hop given by the pledges and the traditional Christmas smorgasbord helped round out the social program. Once a month the Zetas forgot their homework and had a house costume party.

In addition to a busy social life, the Zetas found time for extra-curricular activities. For example, Barbara Ramey was elected to the presidency of the newly organized home economics student council; Sue Stankewitz served on the student senate, and Joy Alexander was named in "Who's Who." Faye Lee Matheny was named the "Girl of the Golden Heart" by Sigma Phi Epsilon.

There's More Behind Your Gas Service Than Just a Well

This business of serving you natural gas 24 hours a day is no small task. You don't just hook up pipe to a gas well and figure that's it . . . no, sir! Good gas service demands careful thought and planning. It means coordinating the efforts of over 1,800 employees—each with a separate task to do . . . and all of us here at Oklahoma Natural are ready to do our jobs so that your community, your family and you will have the best of gas service at all times.

FARM BUREAU BUILDING, OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma Farm Bureau, like Oklahoma A. and M. college, building for the future—the new five-story building shown above is the best evidence of growth of this farm organization and its service company. It is a source of pride to Farm Bureau members to watch the state's main agricultural school keep pace with the growing needs of a growing state.

Naturally, being a farm organization, we draw heavily on Aggie graduates for our personnel. A large number of Aggie students come from Farm Bureau families over the state, too, promising outstanding leadership for the agriculture of tomorrow.

"Down East" Chowder is Downright Good!

DID you know that "chowder" means kettle in French? Yes or no, New England clam chowder smacks of old-time Down East cook stoves and kettles where this classic "brew" originated.

Today, Sexton New England style Clam Chowder—faithful to the original recipe—is made in the gleaming kettles of Sexton's Sunshine Kitchens. Better food stores have it—better lunch counters and restaurants serve it.

The end has come. With the exception of this sheet of copy, we have completed every cutline, every headline, every piece of copy and every picture. It is now your book--the 1955 REDSKIN. About 560 pages. Thousands of individual pictures.

It has been quite a year. There will be no more evenings spent in the Student Publications building. No more classes will be cut; no more tests will be missed. The book is finished.

The big job is completed for 1954-55 and this editor is leaving his desk for the last time. From now on, you'll find Charlie Wieman behind the editor's desk as he starts planning another REDSKIN for 1956.

As you scan the pages of this REDSKIN, you will see that it isn't the editor's book. Nor does it belong to the untiring staff which produced it. It's your book. Perhaps you even worked on it by identifying a group picture, signing a contract, filling out a data sheet, or even by waiting a half-hour for some staff member to appear with a photographer. This book could not have been put together by any one person or even five. It has used a large segment of the Oklahoma A&M student body. There have been photographers, typists, file clerks, pasters, and even stamp lickers. But all have done their job. A few staff members have even made their home here for several days at a time--not forgetting classes and the things we came to college for, but just trying to meet those many deadlines.

But the editor's mind is not left with clear thoughts about production schedules, major difficulties, or the book itself, but it is left with a maze of abstract impressions. The day that first picture was taken. The cold winter nights when five people worked a little later. Sleeping in classes. The face of a watch and the number of picas in an inch. These are the things we will recall. These are the things which have made our experience interesting.

Well, staffers one and all, you have finished the 1955 REDSKIN. My sincere thanks go to each and everyone of you. May you have the best of luck, always. Coffee, anyone?
